DEMOCRAT.

Bloomsburg, Pa.

SATURDAY, JULY 14, 1849.

Democratic Candidate

FOR CANAL COMMISSIONER,

JNo: A. GAMBLE,

OF LYCOMING COUNTY:

The World as it Moves.

The June number of this work, now on our Desk, is a very valuable periodical. It is well gotten up, neatly covered and handsomely embellished. The lithographic miniature portrait, of Capt. Sir John Franklin, Commander of the Arctic Expedition in the Polar Seas, is a creditable artistical effort and an ornament to the Magazine

☞ The "New York Globe" comes out in a brau new suit, under the title of the "Globe and Democratic Union," containing an address numerously signed by members of both branches of the Democratic Party. This, we hope, is the harbinger of better things. The great progressive Party of the nation will again come up in order, and work shoulder to shoulder for the prosperity of their country.

☞ The Democratic State Convention held at Portland, Maine, on the 25th, selected Mr. John Hubbard as the Candidate for Governor. Mr. John Hodgon was his competitor. After the result was known, Hodgon come out in a letter to the President of the Convention, pledging himself to support the nominee.

This is right. So we go.

☞ United we stand. We are most heartily gratified at the glorious prospects opening before the noble hearted Democracy of the Empire state. The time is at hand, when in United Phalanx they will bear down upon usurping whiggery, and sweep her from the places so wrongly occupied.

☞ We acknowledge the receipt, at the hands of a friend the "Eighth annual report of the Philadelphia Sabbath Association and find it a highly interesting Pamphlet. It is filled with the reports by the clergymen employed as missionaries on the Canal.

It contains the most interesting facts in relation to running boats and railroad cars on the Sabbath, which by the way, is a subject in which all should take a part. Read the proceedings of the "Sabbath Convention," in our paper of to-day.

Still deficient—Major Frank, our particular military friend of the Germantown Telegraph, has not yet started on "that Southern tour" with President Taylor, nor has he quit misnomerizing, by calling us a Major. We now give him notice, that we wont accompany him on his voyage, nor stand to his continued misapplication of our hard earned military laurels. We won our military honors after a hard fought though bloodless conquest, and hope that the "Major" will excuse us, if we are a little tenacious to maintain untarnished the glory of the "military escutcheon!"

☞ Think of this and us, "old chap," when faraway!

To the Public.

Mr. Tate.

Some time since, a communication appeared in your paper, proposing the name of Dr. John M. Hatcock, of Orangeville; as a candidate for the Legislature this fall. No better selection could be made. The Doctor is the very man we want. The fact that he has energy, decision and talent, his present position incontestibly proves; he having risen in it, by his own unaided exertion.—Wherever the Doctor is known, he is sure of undivided support. He is perfectly sound upon all questions.

For fifteen years, we have not had a Representative up the creek. Not, if my recollection serves me since Esquire Kline was a member. It is time that the up creek end had one, and since the lower end have the Senator, now is the time.

An up Creeker.

The Epistle of Henry--2.

Mr. Editor:

You remember I wrote you a letter on the 4th of July telling you I had lost my heart. Well, as I was entirely unwilling to do without one, I made the excursion, I told you I contemplated, and as luck would have it on the third drive I accidentally came across the residence of my charmer. I need not tell you a long story about the matter, for the whole thing was done in a hurry. She had seen me at the celebration and we were mutually pleased with each other.

It was "love at first sight," and no mistake.—Perhaps, Mr. Editor, you dont believe in that sort of thing. If you dont I pity you. Well, I talked with Jane, an hour or so, and then took my leave; promising to call again soon. I did call. You know that these are moonlit nights, (well they are) great for making love, and with this heavenly aid, you may be sure I did not idle my time.

I boldly accused her of having stolen my heart and taking it away with her. She denied the soft impeachment" but I was firm. She was not guilty of having such a thing in her possession, and thought from our short acquaintance it could not possibly have happened. We discussed the matter for some time, and I finally succeeded convincing her of the fact and proving the theft. She was somewhat astonished to receive it, and inquired what I intended to receive in exchange. We are now totally married, and I am,

HENRY

A Roman woman's first virtue was chastity, and decency was a point of honor. A man was considered worthy of expulsion, who kissed his wife in the presence of his daughter. Not a divorce occurred in Rome during the space of five hundred and twenty years

☞ Mr. White, the Secretary to the meteorological society, has predicted that it is probable England may feel the shock of an earthquake between the 18th and 22d of July.

☞ During a thunder storm at Newton Upper Falls, Mass., three men were passing under a tree which was struck by lightning, when one of them, and a horse were instantly killed.

☞ Prince Albert lately attended the annual festival at the London Merchant Tailors' School Association, and was voted a member. He accepted the honor.

The collection for the Pope was very small in Boston. At New York it was quite large.
