JAMISON MURDERED BELIEVE THE POLICE

Think Harrisburg Man Was Knifed and Thrown Down Stairs by Assailant

Investigation now being made into the death of Charles Ellis Jamison, of Harrisburg, by police authorities at Sabreton, West Virginia, indicate that he was murdered.

It was reported yesterday that Jamison had tripped over a carpet and fell down stairs, breaking his neck. It is now believed that he was stabbed and thrown down the stairway. The murder suspect is missing.

The body of Jamison was brought to the home of his father, 614 Verbeke street, lastnight.

Mrs. Jamison this morning stated that the police have strong evidence of murder.

A dispatch from Morgantown, West Va., to a Pittsburgh paper yesterday said that Jamison, who has been managing a hotel at Sabreton, had gone to a room at 2 o'clock Saturday morning to yarn a guest about his making too much noise. There were words and Mrs. Jamison was awakened by someone falling down thef stairs. She found her husband dead at the foot of the staircase. He was bleeding about the head, and had a cut on the back, resembling a stab wound.

The funeral will be held to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Services will be conducted by the Rev. Henry W. A. Hanson, pastor of Messiah Lutheran Church. Burial will be made in Paxtang Cemetery.

PAST WARS THAT EXPLAIN THE PRESENT CONFLICT

"The Story of Europe" Includes a Vivid Description of Historic Battles That Have Influenced the Present Situation

While universal peace is the declared ambition of civilization, and much has been accomplished through diplomatic channels in the settlement of great international issues, war has been the great spectacular factor in the fate of nations. This is true since the dawn of history, and has remained quite as true during the century of circumstances that have led up to the stupendous conflict now in progress. It is necessary, therefore, that in tracing the thread of these circumstances. "The Story of Europe" should describe the great battles on land and sea that have been fought by European nations in the last hundred years. The book contains the comprehensive and thrilling account of the great battles which have made and remade the map of Europe and which have germinated conditions which are now ripe for a greater war than all its predecessors. In contrast with the modes of warfare practiced by the great military leaders of the past century, the book traces the development of modern warfare as it is now being put to the test in a baptism of fire. It describes the origin and perfection of the airship, the submarine, the tremendous guns capable of projecting their missiles twenty miles and more, and other engines of destruction devised by science waging war. It discusses the effect of these refinements of scientific warfare and points out some of the changes which they have made necessary.

Every reader of this paper has the opportunity now, for a limited time, to obtain a copy of "The Story of Europe" under the plan of distribution which we have arranged. Be sure to cut out the coupon printed on another page and get your copy of the book to-day.—Advertisement.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

In business it may mean a fortune. Repetition makes reputation. Therefore it is essential that the name of your establishment stands out prominent with the merchandise you have for sale. An attractive name plate not only serves to embellish your advertisement but it makes the name stand out in decided contrast from the sameness of type in the group of advertisements around yours.
