Physicians Say Boy Will Grow Out of Skin Discoloration

Rutherford Heights folks are accustomed to seeing a four-year-old boy whose face is continually a mass of ugly black-and-blue marks, looking a great deal as though some one had mistreated the youngster, but strangers are continually puzzled. And so were prominent physicians and surgeons of Harrisburg puzzled, when, at Polyclinic Hospital, the boy was produced by his attending physician and the clinic was asked to tell what was the matter with him.

A slight tap anywhere upon the person of the boy produces first an angry flush. This is followed by the blue-black-and-yellow marks which ordinarily follow a severe fall or bodily punishment of any sort. Several hours before the clinic the youngster suffered a slight fall. As a result his face and arms and body were covered with black and blue marks.

Two years ago the boy had dysentery. The resulting intoxication finally brought about a breaking down of the blood vessels. Insertion of a hypodermic needle, for example, brings on a bleeding very hard to control. Any extraordinary pressure on an arm or leg, for example, brings the black and blue marks.

There were a number of members of Polyclinic staff and of the Medical Club at the hospital when the clinic was held. All of the medical men gave it as their opinion that the boy would grow out of the ailment, which, so far as doctors have been able to discover, results only in this surface discoloration.

Stuart-Bunning to Be a British Labor Delegate Here

London, Oct. 28.—G. H. Stuart-Bunning, one of the most influential English labor leaders, an avowed enemy of "direct-action" extremists, will obtain his first impression of trades unionism in the United States as head of the British delegation to the World Labor Congress which opens in Washington October 29. He is a letter carrier, and an internationalist in his political sympathies. Mr. Bunning has retained his leadership in organized labor for a considerably longer period than any other responsible official of the British labor movement. For seventeen years he has been general scretary of the Postmen's Federation which has a membership to-day of 67,000.

Oak and Hickory Is Equal to Hard Coal

Washington, Oct. 28.—With a coal famine looming imminently above the horizon of the American public as a result of the threatened coal strike, headquarters of the American Forestry Association in this city are receiving inquiries from all parts of the country, seeking advice as to what trees should preferably be used as a substitute for fuel during the anticipated emergency.

A cord of either oak or hickory, declared Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the association, is equal in caloric value to hat of a ton of anthracite, and these are, therefore, much preferred to any other trees. With wood, however, quoted at present prices, its use as a substitute is almost prohibitive.

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 28.—The proposed zone trolley fare rate, offered as a compromise in the dispute over the zone system inaugurated on the New Jersey street traction lines, was rejected to-day by the Public Service Railway Company in a letter sent to the Public Utility Commission. The proposal of the commission was a rate of five cents for the first two miles, one cent for each additional mile and one cent for a transfer.

Miners Use Veto of Prohibition as Justification For Their Arguments

By Associated Press

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 28.—President Wilson's veto of the prohibition enforcement bill yesterday was advanced to-day by officials of the United Mine Workers of America here as an argument in favor of their contention that the "war emergency" has passed and that the miners therefore are no longer bound by wage agreements entered into for "the continuation of the war." It is hoped, they said, that the action will swing public opinion their way and aid in securing their demands for a thirty-hour week and 60 per cent. increase in pay, failure of which has resulted in an order for a strike of all bituminous coal miners on November 1.

Acting President John L. Lewis, of the mine workers, to-day was on his way from Springfield, Ills., to attend a meeting of the executive board of the organization here tomorrow.

MANY DIE WHEN SHIP IS CRUSHED

er was reaching apparent safety at the harbor entrance, an enormous wave caught it and swept it high upon the south pier. The force of the impact lifted the heavy craft out of the water and for a few minutes it hung partly suspended from the pier. It was at this time that Captain Edward Miller ordered the passengers to jump.

Drenched by waves that were pounding the vessel to fragments, a majority of the scantily clad passengers climbed over the rail. Those who hesitated went down with the steamer a few minutes later when another huge wave tore the vessel from the pier and sent it to the bottom of the channel.

The crash came almost within the shadow of the coast guard station but the heavy sea rendered futile efforts to launch lifeboats. Launching of boats and rafts from the steamer also was impossible.

The exact number of dead may never be known as the passenger list went down with the vessel.

Nothing is left of the steamer excepting tons of wreckage strewn along the shore of Lake Michigan.

Yeggmen Get $3,000 From Tioga Bank

By Associated Press

Tioga, Pa., Oct. 28. — The Grange National bank here was broken into by a gang of yeggmen early this morning and about $3,000 in money and stamps, the property of the Post Office here, were stolen. The gang, which consisted of five men, escaped after a lively exchange of shots with the town's police officer, who discovered them on his rounds of the town.

The bank's funds were not disturbed by the robbers, they being frightened away before they were able to blow open the vault. The money secured had been placed in the bank by the postmaster, last night, as was his custom, the Post Office being located in a small store nearby.

A posse was hurriedly formed shortly after the robbery but no trace of the men, who escaped in an automobile, could be found.
