Historical Mistakes.

It is often asserted that "the Whig party died when it opposed the Government in its war with Mexico." This is urged, in connection with the facts that the Tories of the Revolution, and the Federalists of 1812, disgraced and ruined themselves by hindering their own country in the midst of war with its enemies, as a proof that the Democratic party has by a similar course committed suicide. Now, as regards Tories, Federals and Democrats, we admit both premises and conclusion—but we proceed to show that as concerning the Whigs both points are totally erroneous in fact.

1st. The party did oppose the annexation of Texas, because by that course we adopted as our own the existing war with Mexico, and because it was a part of the slaveholders' scheme (as foretold by Thos H. Benton) which culminated in the present Rebellion. Many Whigs would not vote for or justify the palpable lie that "war exists by the act of Mexico." Tho. Corwin echoed the ever-memorable sentiment of Wm. Pitt, Death to the foreign invader of my country! But when war was fairly inaugurated, neither the Whig party as such, nor any large or influential portion of it, laid any factious or disloyal hindrance in the Government's way. On the contrary, they urged its completion as soon as possible; they voted it money and men; and the annals of the conquest bear no brighter names than those of the illustrious Scott, Taylor, Gaines, Hardin, Clay, Webster, and thousands of Whigs who fell on the plains of Mexico!

2d. Nor did the Whig party perish at the close of that conflict. The very reverse is the fact. For after the war ceased, one of its most eminent sators, Gen. Taylor, was the successful candidate for President and with him the Whig party came into full power. Four years after, another Mexican warrior, Gen. Scott, was the Whig candidate for President. Thomas Corwin was a member of Taylor's Cabinet—was next elected to Congress—and is now the U. S. Minister to Mexico.

We assert, therefore, in view of these facts, that neither the Whig party nor its leaders suffered for their measured condemnation of the Texas-Mexico-Slaveocrats' plot. Subsequent events have shown that they were right in so doing. President Lincoln was a Whig, an opponent of the cause and conduct of the war, and the mass of his supporters, for thirty years of age agreed with him as they now do. Democrats who opposed that Slave plot, with Whigs and Abolitionists, make up a Republican party, whose four years of administration is endorsed (after a terrific struggle) by 400,000 popular majority! Moreover, the principles and measures of the Republican party of to-day have no antagonism to those of Henry Clay and the glorious old Whig party which is now so generally eulogized.

"What did kill the Whig party?" We answer in one word—SLAVERY! Its last National Convention bound it to a Fugitive Slave Law and kindred abominations. We "spit on the platform," in M'Clellan style: we ran for President the conqueror of Mexico, the greatest captain of the age, the immortal SCOTT. But, under the Slavery incubus, he could carry only four States. Vermont and Massachusetts, Kentucky and Tennessee, stand as head and foot-stones of the old Whig party!

Yes, having first separated the leading religious organizations, Slavery destroyed the Whig party in 1852—broke up the American organization in 1856—severed the Democracy in 1860—and now seeks, by perjury, violence and blood, the disruption of the blessed Union of our Fathers. May it die in the grave it has digged!

☞Uriah J. Jones, of Harrisburg, was instantly killed on Friday week, by a train from Baltimore running over him. His body was found beneath the cow-catcher, rolled up into an almost shapeless mass. He was a man of much talent, author of the History of the Juniata Valley, and connected with various newspapers at different times, once at New Berlin. For several years he was a reporter in the State Senate, and but for one bad habit might have been one of the leading men of his day.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—Wednesday last, at the Molly Bullion Spring, about half way between Lewisburg and Northumberland, Chester Eugene Snyder fell from a canal boat which struck against another. The wind was high, and in the confusion he was not rescued until life was extinct—probably not entirely killed by the shock, but so stunned and entangled by his overcoat that he suffocated. He was a son of Daniel and Elizabeth Snyder, formerly of Lewisburg, now of Chillisquaque, and was in the 14th year of his age.

☞Col. G. G. Hunt has been appointed Provost Marshal, and Dr. W. W. Sharp, Surgeon, for this Congressional District. Of the old Board, C. C. Rawn Esq. remains as Commissioner.

The Copperhead journals all agree in the admission that the splendid majorities of Tuesday are Abolition triumphs.

Vote of Union County for President.

In making out the Army vote in the following table, we have been aided by the fact that most of the returns are all on one side, so that there can be no doubt as to those. When the vote was divided, we made the best separation in our power, after consulting with persons from different parts of the county, and squaring each by the aggregate. The total Army vote is 206—less than we had hoped—but some soldiers are prisoners—many are minors and aliens—a few we know of who declined to vote—the proxy (Lincoln) of W. S. M'Cormick, Lewisburg, we did not receive in time to get in—and we doubt not many others came too late, while probably some returns reached Harrisburg and not Lewisburg, and are not counted at all. We think the following may be relied on:

	LINCOLN.			MCCLELLAN.
	Home.	Army.	Total.	Home.	Army.	Total.
Lewisburg	416	61	477	165	11	176
Brady	80	8	88	89	2	91
Buffaloe	176	23	198	122	8	130
East Buff.	128	9	137	63	5	68
West Buff.	83	15	98	132	5	137
Hartley	97	10	107	126	1	127
Hartleton	27	2	29	27	1	28
Kelly	157	14	171	41	1	42
Lewis	75	4	79	62	0	62
Limestone	73	4	77	88	3	91
Mifflinburg	76	20	96	103	5	108
New Berlin	67	4	71	64	2	66
Union	83	14	97	71	4	75
Wh. Deer	189	36	216	130	15	145
	1718	227	1945	1288	69	1357
	1288	69	1357
	465	158	588—Majorities.

The "Army" and "Total" vote are less as above detailed than the total's officially declared. The latter includes one name (Samuel Myers, for Lincoln) whose District is not returned, and also a few of both parties, outside of the county, whose votes were returned and counted with ours, but are not credited to any one district. The following are the aggregate MAJORITIES:

FOR LINCOLN		FOR M'CLELLAN.
Lewisburg,	301	West Buffaloe,	39
Kelly,	129	Hartley,	29
White Deer	71	Limestone	14
East Buffaloe	69	Mifflinburg	12
Buffaloe	68	Brady	3
Union	22
New Berlin	5
Hartleton	1

It will be seen that our loss from former years in the West end, where the changes of emigration have been against us, and where 25 or 30 of our Dunkard friends this year declined voting. Some of our party also were persuaded to vote the other side by the pressure of draft, taxes, &c.

INCREASED VOTE.—The emigration from Union county, West, is greater than the migration vote is from the East, and our small increase is from birth, only. Considering the numbers who have served in the present war, one might suppose it would be sensibly felt in the decrease of adult males. But, if we take our voters as a criterion, that is not the case:

Our whole vote for President in 1864 is	3207
(Governor in 1863. 3274)
Vote for President in 1860	2696
Increased vote in four years	611

☞In our Curtin jollification last fall, one transparency read—"Lewisburg 256 for Curtin in 1863—300 for Old Abe in 1864." The borough has given 301 majority—one over the pledge of last year. If our friends in every district worked as cheerfully, hopefully, untiringly as the staunch Republicans of Lewisburg, they would do better. They have no "worse Copperheads" than we have. Men are very much alike everywhere, and the same patient, well directed efforts will be rewarded in one locality as well as in another.

☞John B. Linn, Esq., is appointed Assessor of the National War Tax for Union county, in place of Major Charles H. Shriner, resigned. (This gives sufficient denial to the Copperhead electioneering assertions that Major Shriner would not resign.) The appointment was delayed by the number of worthy applicants, and Mr. Linn we suppose was hit upon as a compromise, not being among the original candidates. He will prove a faithful, competent officer, and no one has better deserved the post by laborious party services, night and day, during more than one campaign. Notwithstanding his defeat for another station (owing to a local quarrel) some years ago, Mr. Linn never revenged himself on the party or the country, but has stood to the Right with commendable integrity and energy up to the final triumph on the 8th inst.

☞The official canvass of New York State gives Lincoln 6,796 maj. over M'Clellan, and Fenton 8,453 maj. over Seymour. State Officers, Congress, and Legislature, Union, by a large maj.

☞In Wayne township, Clinton Co., Pa., were three veteran voters for Lincoln and Johnson—Joseph Montgomery, aged 93; Peter Poorman, 88; Wm. L. Montgomery, 86.

☞Rev. J. C Bucher, of Mifflinburg, has entered upon the pastoral charge of the German Ref. church in Pottsville, Pa.

Philadelphia, official, gives Lincoln 11,102 majority

An Absolute Majority.

Lincoln has carried 22 States, which give him of Electoral Votes	213
M'Clellan had 3 States and Electoral Votes.	21
Had the Rebel States voted—Alabama 8, Arkansas 5, Florida 3, S. Carolina 6, Georgia 9, N. Carolina 9, Mississippi 7, Louisiana 7, Texas 6, Tennessee 8, Old Virginia 10—and had they all voted M'Clellan—it would have increased his vote	78
M'Clellan's possible vote	99
Lincoln's actual vote	213
M'Clellan's possible vote	99
Lincoln's majority still would be	114
The actual number of Electors is	234
Of which a majority is	118
Lincoln has more than a majority by	76
The possible No (with Rebel States)	312
Of which a majority is	157
Lincoln has over that majority	46

Tennessee and some other States South would have voted for Lincoln. But, if we count them all against him, he has the majority in the Union as it is and also of the Union as it was. He also received a majority of the popular vote polled, and we think a fair vote throughout Rebeldom would still have left him the majority.

He is therefore not only constitutionally elected President, but he is the clear choice of the actual and possible majority. He can no longer be styled a "minority President," as he was before, and as Buchanan, Tafler, Polk and Van Buren were.

Tried, contested and endorsed as is the President, there should no longer be any factious or partizan opposition to executive efforts to suppress this wicked, causeless insurrection of the slavery aristocracy.

Remarkable Fact.—Of those who survived, who could have been again chosen, excepting Polk, all Southern Presidents were re-elected. But not one of the Northern Presidents was re-elected, until Lincoln won that distinction.

They Die Hard.

A Copperhead in Union county publicly invokes the Almighty to take the President out of power. Has not the verdict of Four Hundred Thousand majority satisfied the young rebel that he may possibly have a wrong impression about Abraham Lincoln? When did he ever pray for the downfall of Jeff Davis and his kingdom? We hope the light may reach all such benighted souls sometime before the last trump shall sound. * HEARER.

Confessions of a Democratic Editor.

A new and significant revelation of the infamy of the great Copperhead conspiracy in aid of the rebellion, has just been made. JOSEPH J. BINGHAM, editor of the Indianapolis State Sentinel, a well known paper, and chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee of Indiana, has confessed to the military commission now in session at Indianapolis, all that he knows of the great conspiracy which Mr. HOLT lately exposed. He has told enough to show that the present Democratic party is largely controlled by the worst men in the country. Mr. BINGHAM joined the Order of American Knights, one year ago; he was in the confidence of its leaders; he was aware of a plot to release the Rebel prisoners in all the Northwestern camps; he knew that a revolution against the Government was organized; he knew that Gov. Morton was to be assassinated. All of this time he was editing the leading Democratic paper of Indiana, and denying that this conspiracy existed. He was at once a traitor, and the Chairman of the Democratic State Committee. All this he has confessed. The damning fact will go into history to the eternal shame of the leaders of his party. Those who will not believe the mass of evidence of the existence of this horrible conspiracy, are not to be convinced by any proof. It was born in the Democratic party, controlled by Democratic leaders, and intended to advance them to power by the ruin of the country.

Obituary.

Died on the 8th day of November, instant, "The Copperhead Party." It had been severly afflicted with a disease called "Disloyalty" nearly three years. It was attended during its last days by doctors McClellan, Seymour, Vallandigham and others; but all the remedies administered only aggravated the disease. As a last and forlorn hope, several dry-goods boxes of fraudulent votes were given it, which brought on severe fits of vomiting. It then threw up so many loyal Democrats that life gave out, and it finally expired in most terrible agony. It died without any hope of resurrection. Its chief mourner is Jeff. Davis. Its remains will be buried among its friends in the South as soon as conveyance containing the same can pass through the lines of the Union army. The funeral sermon will be preached by Bishop Hopkins, of Vermont. The funeral expenses will be paid by one August Belmont, a Jew, who is agent of Rothschilds at New York.

Pennsylvania has 2,512 miles of railway, which cost $143,471,710. The canals are 1,047 miles in length, costing $30,811,700. The real and personal estate in 1860 amounted to $1,416,501,888. The State debt November 30, 1863, was $39,186,596, showing a decrease from the preceding year of $813,017

Ellinger and Foote's Great Moral Exhibition.

This popular entertainment exhibits at Independent Hall, Lewisburg, this week—on Friday and Saturday evenings, and Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Our readers will see by reference to bills of the day that an unusual variety of attractions are offered—prominent among which are Com. Foote and Sister, and Col. Small. These diminutive specimens of humanity are represented as being the smallest people ever exhibited—the most perfect in form, remarkably intelligent and chaste in their various performances. In combination with them, is their Preceptress, Miss M. C. Ellinger, Vocalist, Pianist and Composer—said to possess rare musical accomplishments—who is assisted by Messrs. Franklin and Smith of the Old Continental Vocalists, and Prof. G. H. Brooks, Violinist and Pianist, a pupil of the Philad. Institute for the Blind. This organization is evidently composed of sterling merit, while the respectability of it is well vouched for through our exchanges of influence and character. We are informed by the Agent that tickets will be for sale at Schaffle's Drug Store, for the convenience of those who wish to avoid the crowd at the Hall.

The Farmers' Vote.

The Tribune directs attention to the fact that in New York State the Farmers have voted for Lincoln and Johnson with a unanimity unprecedented in any resolute contest. The gains for M'Clellan have been in the cities, villages, and mining districts, where the foreign born voters are most numerous. The gains for Lincoln are in the rural districts, among American-born farmers and mechanics. The Tribune claims that without the foreign-born vote, Lincoln would have had at least one hundred thousand majority in Pennsylvania, and equally as large a majority in New York. This is said not in any spirit of hostility to adopted citizens, but only for the purpose of insisting that due weight be given to the substantial unanimity of the American-born voters in upholding the Government. The people—the sturdy yeomanry of the country—have pronounced most emphatically for sustaining the Government and crushing the Rebellion.

Weeping for Joy.

JOE HOOKER IN TEARS.—In the great Union procession in Springfield, Ill., last week, were ninety-three two-horse wagons loaded with wood. It was dumped in a place for distribution to soldiers' families. Gen. Joe Hooker, while riding up from the depot, met the procession, and was rather stunned by the ninety-three wood wagons. "Why, where can these farmers find a market for this immense quantity of fuel?" asked the hero. "Oh, General, it is a part of our procession. Every stick of that is going to the families of soldiers absent in the army." The tears gathered in Hooker's eyes, trembled a moment, then ran down the cheeks bronzed in a hundred battles, while he said, "My God! what a people you Illinoisians are. You not only furnish men without stint to fight the battles of the nation, but you take a father's care of their wives and children while they are absent."

Gen. Sherman, now in the South, is the earnest officer who, at the beginning of the Rebellion, little M'Clellan declared was "crazy," and caused his removal from a command in Kentucky. We believe the miserable Buel succeeded Sherman—and what an unfortunate successor!

It would have been a blessing to the country if M'Clellan had had one spark of Sherman's "craziness."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.

Information from the Army of the Potomac is to the effect that Thanksgiving Day was truly a festive occasion among the soldiers.

Since the news of President Lincoln's re-election has been circulated in the rebel army, their deserters have increased.

Attorney General Bates tendered his resignation, to take effect Dec. 1.

A large fire took place in Newbern N. C. consuming a number of stores and dwellings. The yellow fever has entirely disappeared.

"He made a few desultory remarks," said the schoolmaster. Mrs. Partington stopped suddenly in the bustle she was making around the table for tea, and gazed over her specs thoughtfully at him. Leaning on a plate edgewise, as if to enforce her views by the support it gave her, "I suppose it was because he was weak," said she, "but AYER'S PILLS will cure him. I never knew 'em to fail. They are very solitary in such cases." "Really, madam," replied he, "I can not guess your meaning." "You said dysentery," said she, laying down the plate and putting a spoon in the preserves. "I said desultory," said he smiling, "quite a different thing." "No matter," said she, looking up in time to box Ike's ears, who was putting paper down the chimney of the kerosene lamp. "The Pills are good for both. I dare say, for they cure almost all the diseases of the cornucopia."

In Connecticut several farmers are raising fine, large chestnuts from grafted scions.

The Rothschilds, for whom August Belmont is agent in this country, have $1,000,000 invested in the Southern Confederacy.

Latest News

Sherman's Grand March!

Through Rebel sources only, are many reports, from which we glean the following summary.

About the 15th inst., Gen. Sherman left Atlanta with 30,000 infantry and 7,000 cavalry, all picked and prepared for hard and rapid service. One Division of infantry, under Gen. Howard, took the railway directly Eastward towards Augusta, and the other, under Slocum, took the railway S. E. through Macon towards Savannah. The cavalry acted independently.

Sweeping eastwardly, these forces covered a tract of country 70 to 100 miles wide, which they deprived of everything of a warlike nature, and seem to have gone half way across the State of Georgia. The two railways they have seized completely isolate the South West from the Carolinas and Virginia. Macon and Milledgville (capital of Georgia) are reported in Sherman's hands, and little force to oppose him.

Beauregard and the Rebel leaders frantically appeal to the people to remove, burn and destroy everything, before the advance of the old Stars and Stripes through the Garden of Rebeldom.

It is rumored that the Governors of Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi have offered to surrender the cotton, arms and soldiers of those three States, and free the slaves, if the Union will assume their State War Debts.

Hood is advancing northward, and threatens Nashville and Paducah.
