LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

From Yesterday's Evening Gazette.

Union Meeting in Armstrong County.

SOUTH BUFFALO TOWNSHIP, March 27, 1863.

A meeting of the citizens of South Buffalo Township, Armstrong county, was held this evening in School house No. 5, without respect to party—nearly all taking an active part therein. The object of the meeting was to adopt some means of discouraging the secesh sympathizers. W. W. Hill was called to the Chair and James B. Hill to act as Secretary.

A Committee of four was appointed to draft resolutions for the purpose of appending the signatures of good Union citizens thereto, and also to draft resolutions.

The Committee consisted of Messrs. Jas. Hill, James Shields, Davis Rogers, and Wm. Vickers. The Rev. Wm. Galbreath was then called to address the meeting. He gave a lengthy and able address, claiming to side with neither party, but going in with every might in him for the speedy suppression of the rebellion. He denounced those who were continually carping at our government for the employment of negroes as soldiers, as unfriendly to the government. He stated that the negro is not more sacred than the white man, nor should he be held as such, and that they should be the ones now employed to fill up our decimated ranks.

The Committee then reported the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, A virtue was is now in our midst convulsing our beloved land, disregarding the laws imperiling our dearest interests. To preserve these laws thousands of our most noble and patriotic citizens have volunteered, yielding up all their natural ties and the endearments of home, and are imperiling their lives and their fortunes; therefore,

Resolved, That we join hand in hand as a unit to stand by our general government in maintaining its laws, and restoring our country to its former glorious position among other nations.

Resolved, That while our government is putting forth every effort for the speedy suppression of this Southern rebellion; we will lend it our aid.

Resolved, That while false friends there from our midst to shed their blood, if duty requires, in binding together this broaking Union, we will lend them our aid, and when in distress, we will administer to their wants.

Resolved, That while many men in the North, by their sympathies for the South, are encouraging them in our country their nefarious designs, that we put the traitor's brand upon them, and spurn them with indignant contempt.

Resolved, That at such a time as this, when our Government is likely to be rent asunder, there can be but two parties, in respect to our government, and that he who seeks to be neutral deserves a traitor's doom.

Resolved, That our Government has at last found the only effectual means of breaking the traitors' strongholds, and consequently binding our Union together as never.

The following pledge was then presented, which received the signatures of nearly all present:

We, citizens of South Buffalo township, believing that there can be no permanent peace established with the Southern traitors now in arms, but on their unconditional submission to the authorities of the United States, we do hereby declare that we will cordially support the Government in its efforts to suppress the rebellion, and restore the territorial boundaries of our country.

James Shields and R. J. Hill were appointed a Committee on motion to procure a speaker for the next evening.

On motion, it was agreed to that the proceedings of this meeting be published in the Kittanning papers and also in the Pittsburgh Gazette.

On motion, it was agreed that the meeting adjourn to meet next Friday evening.

Gen. Burnside Insulted at Altoona.

One day last week Gen. Burnside with his staff passed through Altoona, for the west, accompanied by Col. Scott, Vice President of the Pennsylvania Central Railroad. While the General was detained for breakfast, Col. Scott introduced a large number of citizens to Gen. Burnside, by whom he was cordially greeted. A man, styled Gen. Potts, filling some responsible station at Altoona in the employ of the railroad company, being present, Col. Scott attempted to introduce him to Gen. Burnside, but instead of extending his hand in a fighting General, this man Potts, General, was highly insulted, swearing that he would not take the hand of such a man as Gen. Burnside. This of course created a great excitement. Potts was ejected from the room, but made considerable noise outside. General Burnside paid no attention, however, to the insult, and went on to his destination. A day or two after, a train of soldiers passing through belonging to his corps, and having heard of the insult offered to their commander, were anxious to take a look at this "Potts," but fortunately for him he was among the missing, otherwise his life might have been in danger, as the troops swore vengeance. It is scarcely necessary to write that Potts is styled a regular "copperhead." Another copperhead working in the shop, remarked to one of the soldiers that he was only fighting for $13 a month and the nigger. He had scarcely uttered these words when he took to his heels at the rate of 2,40; the soldier pursuing with fixed bayonet. The copperhead, better a running than fighting, escaped with a slight bayonet wound.

General Potts received, on Saturday last, his discharge from the railroad company for his indecent behavior, and we hope this rule may be applied to other shops where hands are employed no better than this man Potts.

The Late Cavalry Fight on the Rappahannock—Capture of the Rebel Major Breckinridge and a Private, by an Allegheny County Veteran.

OLINTON, March 28th, 1863.

EDITORS GAZETTE.—In reading over the account of the different papers of the late fearful cavalry conflict on the Rappahannock, in the honorable mention of the names of a number of brave men who distinguished themselves, there is no mention in any of the accounts that I have seen of the brave patriot and soldier who captured the rebel Major Breckinridge. By a letter just received from the army of the Rappahannock, it appears that this brave man, who was not only a patriot for the civil cause, rebel Major, but for a private besides, is a volunteer from Findley township, Allegheny county. His name is JAMES MCCULLY. He volunteered in August, 1861, joined a company of cavalry, under command of Capt. S. H. M. Tomlison in the Fourth Pennsylvania Cavalry as a private, but has been promoted to first sergeant. He passed through the battle of Malvern Hill, was in the seven days' fighting before Richmond, and I think the battle of Antietam, where he had his horse shot under him. He is still safe without a scratch. John Smith, who was shot in the foot, is also from the same township and same company. Enclosed you will find a letter just received from McCully by his wife, in which he details the capture of the two rebels. Of the truth of what he says there is no doubt, as I have known him for years, and I know that what he says is reliable. As it may be interesting to his friends in this county, you are at liberty to publish so much of it as you see fit.

ORDER SIGNS.

DROWNED.—Two deck hands on the steamer Starlight were drowned from that boat on her recent trip to Yazoo. One of them was a German named Louis Kump, who is supposed to have a wife and family in Freeport, Armstrong county. He was drowned at Ohio on the night of March 31st. The deceased, together with some of his companions, were engaged in taking a cow on the boat, which, becoming frightened, struck Kump and knocked him into the river. On the night of March 15th, Peter Gegan, an Irishman, about 25 years of age, fell overboard, just below Hamilton, and about 150 miles above St. Louis. He is said to have been asleep at the time. He shipped on the boat here, and, it is thought, has an aged mother residing in this city.

ARE THEY TRAITORS?—A gentleman just from Westmoreland County, informs the Indiana Register that recently a meeting was held in the vicinity of Pleasant Unity, in that county, at which resolutions denouncing the war and the President—encouraging desertion—advising armed organization to resist the proposed draft, and asking the assembling of all kinds of weapons at some convenient place, for this purpose, were passed. We hope our good neighbors of Westmoreland county will make a record of this meeting, and the names of the actors, and present the whole matter to the authorities at the proper time, and in proper form.

POLOPTICORAMA OF THE WAR.—As will be seen by reference to our advertising columns, Clapp, Stanley & Co.'s Peloptioramas of the War, is announced to give a short series of entertainments here, commencing on Monday evening next at Masonic Hall.

The Pennsylvania Canal.

It was the intention of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to let the water into the Eastern Division of the Pennsylvania Canal on the 1st of April, and the other divisions on the 15th. This division, which extends a distance of forty-six miles from Columbia, as far as Junction, where the Pennsylvania Canal is connected with the canal on the north and west branches of the Susquehanna river, has been recently very extensively repaired. Many of the old locks have been removed, and others, of a larger and more massive frame of workmanship, substituted; and the locks have all been widened to admit of the passage of two boats, either in the same or opposite directions, at one time. To accommodate the increasing wants of the people trafficking on the upper and lower Juniata divisions of the canal, the repairs have been very heavy. The entire bed of the canal has been rebuilt on the Upper Juniata, from Hollidaysburg down to Huntingdon, a distance of forty-four miles. Formerly, the greatest tonnage that could be passed on this division was about 140,000 tons; but, the bed of the canal has been deepened to admit of the passage of boats drawing nearly six feet of water, and the substitution of new locks for the old worn-out ones has been more extensively pursued than ever in the lower sections of the work.

AMONG the prisoners captured by the negro regiment at Jacksonville was a son-in-law of that notorious traitor and accomplished thief, John B. Floyd.

LATE TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

(FROM OUR EVENING EDITION.)

THE BATTLE NEAR SOMERSET, KY.

DISPATCHES FROM GENERAL GILMORE.

Four Hundred Rebels Taken.

OUR VICTORY COMPLETE.

The Entire Rebel Force Driven from Central Kentucky.

CLUKE'S GUERRILLAS DISPERSED.

&c., &c., &c.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—The following has been received at Headquarters of the Army:

LOUISVILLE, KY., April 1, 1863.

To Major General Halleck, General-in-Chief:

The following dispatch has been received from Gen. Gilmore, giving the details of his successful attack upon the enemy in Central Kentucky:

Somerset, Ky., March 31.—I attacked the enemy yesterday in a strong position of his own selection, defended by six battery, this town, and fought him for five hours, driving him from one position to another and finally stormed the position, whipped him handsomely and drove him in confusion towards the river. His loss is over 200 killed, wounded and prisoners.

The enemy outnumbered us two to one, and were commanded by Pegram in person. Night stopped the pursuit, which will be resumed in the morning.

We captured two stands of colors.

Our loss is killed, wounded and missing will not exceed thirty.

Scott's famous rebel regiment was cut off from the rest and scattered.

(Signed) GILMORE, Brig. General.

The entire rebel force has been driven out of Central Kentucky, and much of their plunder recaptured. Their reported force has been greatly exaggerated, as well as the amount of plunder taken by them.

I have this moment received this second dispatch from Gen. Gilmore, dated this morning, from Slaughter's Ferry, on the Cumberland River, April 1st:

I underrated the enemy's force in my report of yesterday's fight. They have over 5,000 men, outnumbering us more than two to one. During the night their troops re-crossed the Cumberland at two places. We have taken between 300 and 400 cattle. Pegram's loss will not fall short of 500 men.

(Signed) GILMORE, Brig. Gen.

The alacrity with which the troops were concentrated, and the vigor and gallantry of their attack are highly commendable.

(Signed,) A. E. BURNSIDE,
Major Gen. Commanding.

CINCINNATI, April 2.—A Lexington dispatch says that Gen. Gilmore arrived from the battle field of Somerset this morning.

The enemy numbering twenty-six hundred, were overhauled four miles north of Somerset, when skirmishing commenced, the rebels falling back to Somerset, where they made a stand.

The battle then began in earnest. After five hours' fighting, the rebels fled, pursued by our cavalry to the river.

Night coming on and their arrangements having been previously made, they effected a crossing, leaving four hundred cattle. They had no train.

Their loss was fifty killed, nearly four hundred prisoners, including twenty commissioned officers.

Our forces numbered twelve hundred. Loss, ten killed and twenty-five wounded.

Cluke's rebels have been completely dispersed by the 10th Kentucky cavalry.

Excitement in California—Punishment of Traitors—Mining Companies Organized, etc.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—The excitement continues in Napa and Solano counties. It is believed that many of the secessionists have a secret organization, and are contemplating some horrible movement. Many of the loyal citizens have armed themselves. Gen. Wright has ordered a detachment of troops to increase the garrison at Benicia. Nothing but recklessness, amounting to insanity, could induce the secessionists to make any hostile demonstrations.

The State Assembly has passed a bill punishing privateers and aiders and abettors of treasonable enterprises, fixing death as the penalty.

During the month of March two hundred gold, silver and copper mining companies were organized in San Francisco for the purpose of developing the mines of California, Nevada and Northwestern Mexico, having a capital of upwards of $60,000,000.

The ship Lookout sailed to-day for Manzanella.

Legal tenders are quoted at 62.

The Attempt on Point Pleasant, Va.—The Sunflower Expedition—Gen. Sherman in Possession of Haines' Bluff.

CINCINNATI, April 2.—The attack on Point Pleasant was made by the hundred and fifty of Jenkins' Cavalry. They ransacked several houses and stores, and burned seven thousand bushels of Government corn. They were finally driven out, after a conflict of several hours.

There is no news direct from Vicksburg.

The reports from Memphis are conflicting. The Argus says that the Sunflower expedition is a failure and the troops have returned to Young's Point.

The Bulletin says that General Sherman is in possession of Haines' Bluff.

Prompt Delivery of Soldiers' Letters.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—The Postmaster General is making arrangements to secure the prompt delivery of letters to and from the soldiers in the vicinity of the Potomac and those in the neighborhood of Washington. Particular directions have been given to the postal agents in this section.

The Hon. Wm. Whiting, Solicitor of the War Department, will be in Boston on Saturday of Monday next on Government business, and will remain there a few days.

The Rhode Island Election.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 1.—The Republican Unionists have carried every county in the State, and every town in the eastern congressional district except Newport. J. B. Smith was elected Governor by about 2,800.

TARTARIC ACID.—500 pounds powdered for sale by
R. A. FARRINGTON, 108 Wood st.
Corner of Water and Wood streets.

GORDON—21 male assorted Gordon Setters for sale by
A. M. COMMON,
Corner of Water and Wood streets.

COMMERCIAL RECORD.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH DAILY GAZETTE,
THURSDAY, April 2, 1863.

There has been no further change to Gold, our New York dispatches still quoting at 157¾. There our bankers continue to pay from 150 to 152 for Gold and Demand Notes, and 130 for Silver. Eastern Exchange is steady at par buying and ⅝@¾ per cent. selling.

The produce market is dull and unsettled with but a limited demand for any of the leading articles.

FLOUR—Is more active, which is always the case when there is a prospect of an advance. We note a sale of 50 bbls Extra Family at $7.20; 48 do at $7.00; 150 do do at $7.40; and 150 do do at $6.25 for Extra, and $7.25@7.50 for Extra Family. Rye Flour is selling at $5.00.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is firm with sales in lots of 15,000 lbs at 6c for Shoulders; 7¾@8c for Sides; 8¾c for Plain Hams, and 10c for Sugar Cured. We note small sales of City Lard at 11c, and Country at 10@10½c ⅌ lb.

GROCERIES—The market is steady but unchanged. Sales of 10 hhds Porto Rico Sugar at 12c; 10 bags Coffee at 33¾c; 10 bbls Golden Syrup at 70 to 75c—the latter figure for Extra; and 10 bbls India Rice at 6¾c.

BUTTER & EGGS—Butter is firm with a sale of 4 bbls choice Roll at 30c. Eggs have advanced with sales of 23 bbls at 20c.

SEEDS—Clover is selling in the small way at $5.50 and Timothy at $2.25@2.50. Flaxseed has declined to $3.50.

FISH—Sale to the trade of 20 bbls No. 3 Mackerel at $9.50. Lake Herring may be quoted at $5 per half bbl, and White Fish $6 to $.25.

CORN—Sale on track of 1 car Ear at 85c per bush.

BROOMS—Sale to the trade of 150 dozen medium at $2.50 per dozen.

SALT—Sale of 100 bbls No 1 Extra from store at $1.75 per bbl.

POTATOES—Sale of 200 bush Peach Blows at $1.

HOMINY—Sale of 10 bbls at $6 per bbl.

WHISKY—is quiet with small sales at 47@48c per gallon.

The Oil Market.

April 2.—There is but little change to notice in crude petroleum since our last report. Buyers and sellers are still apart in their views and feelings, and the market is unsettled and prices irregular. The current rates are from 7 to 7½c in bulk, and 15 to 13¾c in bbls, buyers offering the inside figure, and holders contending for the outside. We note sales of 530 barrels at 13c—bbls included; 400 bbls in bulk at 7½c, the buyer to furnish the packages, and the seller to fill and put it in shipping order; and 600 bbls to be delivered in Philadelphia, at 16½.

Refined is dull, inactive and neglected, and the demand is limited and almost entirely local. In the absence of sales we quote at 24@25c, in bond, for good city brands, and 32@35c free.

Benzine is nominal with an occasional small sale of deodorized at 25c. In tin packages it may be quoted at 35c.

Allegheny Live Stock Market.

April 2.—We have but very little change to make from our last week's quotations. Good retailing cattle, suitable for butchers, continue to rule high, all other kinds dull to selling at from 5 to 6c, gross weight, equal to lightly, net. There was but a limited demand for stock cattle and only at low prices. Myers & Brother, government contractors, bought about 500 head of very good cattle, such as they need not be ashamed of, and we are glad to state that they are willing to give a full equivalent for what they receive. A great many contractors labor under the impression that almost anything bearing horns will answer for beef, but we think that this is a erroneous idea, and these men have found it out. The prospect for good cattle, and no other kind should be received from contractors.

There was a moderate demand for stock cattle and about 10 head changed hands at 3 to 3½c for sheers weighing from 900 to 1,100 lbs.

The following are the current quotations for the different grades of cattle:

Premium	7 @
Extra	6½@7
First quality	5 @6½
Second quality	4½@5
Third quality	3½@4
Inferior	3 @3½

Below will be found the number of cattle sold at the different yards, and the States they were from.

Missouri	27
Kentucky	100
Illinois	27
Indiana	280
Ohio	32
Pennsylvania	22
Total number sold	497

The whole number sold last week was 633, being 272 head less than this week. Most all of the cattle sold this week, were in very bad order, and almost all of those retained were owned by drovers or speculators, and to find, no doubt, may be attributed the extreme prices which were obtained.

Below may be found a correct report of the leading sales:

Joe Myers & Bro, retailed 180 head of good cattle at 5c.

Rahm & Co, 100 head of heavy Western fat oxen, wholesaled to government contractors, at 6¾.

Marks & Co, 80 head of good Allegheny steers, at 6¾.

H. A Merrick, sold 40 head of small Ohio stock, for 1 Donat at 3@3½; also 16 head for Wm Pickering, at 3@3½, and 280 head good Northern Ohio cattle on his own account, at 5@5½c.

Greenwalt & Co, 100 head good Kentucky cattle, wholesaled at 5c.

Crooks & co, 80 head of good western stock sold at 4½@5c.

Mason & Co, 80 head of Ohio cattle, a mixed lot, sold at from 3½ to 5c.

Felt & Co, 200 head of small Indiana steers and cows sold at 3@3.

HOGS.

There seems to be less activity in the hog trade than for many months, and there is next to no demand for anything but strictly prime. This hogs can be sold only at very low prices, say 4½@4¾c gross, and the best heavy at from 4¾@5c. $6.50.

SHEEP.

Sheep have declined fully ½c ⅌ lb, since our last report, and the tendency is still downward. We quote at 7 to 7½c, as the highest price that can be realized for strictly prime, and 6@6½c for inferior to fair.

Toledo Market.

March 31.—There is for corn a firmness noticeable in our market to-day, but we do not look for any change in the views of dealers, as regards the future. Corn is better—holders are firm at former figures, and buyers have nearly quite reached the views of sellers.

Flour—Soft sale. Wheat is quiet; 150c for Michigan White; 145c for No. 2 White; Red Winter, No. 1, Red 135c; No. 2 do 133c. Corn—There was a lot offered at 60—some could be obtained below that figure, but the price was not made public; holders are firm at 60—some could be obtained below that figure, but they were sold. Rye—60c. Oats—There was a lot on the market, at 60c, but they were sold. Hay—$8. Seeds—Clover, $5.00; Timothy, $2.25; Flax $3.50.

New Orleans Market.

March 21.—Cotton—Yesterday, not previously reported, a lot of 12 bales middling sold at 58 ⅌ lb. Sugar—The market is nominally steady, and prices firmer. To-day sales are confined to 300 hhds of Louisiana at 6c—common, 5½c for fair, and 6½c for fully fair new crops, and large fermenting, 5½c. The supply is very light.

Molasses—Is nominally steady, very quiet to-day, and Rigaud and New Orleans, 32@35c per gal. Sales of 1100 bbls, in numerous lots, at 32@35c, and 30@32c for fair to good common, and 35c for fine fermenting. Prime second hands at 40c; 100 half bbls inferior, at 25c. Freight—The rate of demand is nominal at $1.50@$1.75 for square, and $1@1.50 for extra.

RIVER AND INTERIOR INTELLIGENCE.

The river still receding at this point, with eight and a half feet in the marks. The gain of yesterday will doubtless be lost, in part, and may, possibly, result in another rise. The Ohio river is in fine navigable condition from this point out, and the Allegheny river packets are making regular trips to and from Olil City.

At the wharf there is nothing transpiring worthy of notice. Business continues dull and inactive, both as regards sales and receipts, the shipments being limited. There is plenty of freight offering for various points, but the rates are low. Know in the scarcity of boats, now in the city, and those below in the Ohio and Mississippi rivers, the Allegheny Belle, from Olil City, also arrived, the Belle Rogers, from Oil City, and the Kate, today. The Exchange, for Cincinnati, and the St. Cloud, for St. Louis, left last night, with a good trip, and a fair quantity of freight and passengers. As with the rest of the fleet, there is plenty of room on board the fine packet Belle Rogers, for freight or cabin passengers. The Belle is complete in every respect, and is considered one of the fastest crafts on the Western waters.

The Cincinnati packet, of Wednesday, says: The Arabian came up from Louisville yesterday, bringing 170 bales cotton, and with the usual passenger list. The Rachel Sellers left for Parkersburg, at 4 o'clock, with a good trip. The Jennie Rogers, Lexington packet, left for Louisville, with a full trip. The Ben Lewis, a new boat called the North West, having a capacity of about 150 tons, proceeded up yesterday, with a load of supplies, for the Government, and, we understand, she will be employed in hauling the soldiers of the Ohio regiment, stationed at points lower down the river, on the Cumberland and Tennessee rivers. She is a very fine boat, and will be a valuable acquisition to the government service.

The Lady Pike left for Louisville, at 3 o'clock, this afternoon, with a good trip. The Belle of Pittsburgh left for Louisville, at 4 o'clock, with a good trip, and a fair quantity of freight and passengers. The Belle is a very fine boat, and is well adapted to the trade she is now in.

The Kate Swan left for Louisville, at 4 o'clock, with a good trip. The Kate is a very fine boat, and is well adapted to the trade she is now in.

The Lady Pike, for Louisville, and the Belle of Pittsburgh, for Louisville, are due here to-day.

The Ben Lewis, for Louisville, and the Kate Swan, for Louisville, are due here to-morrow.
