The Salt Lake Tribune publishes a list of the divorces granted by the Probate Court of that place, and it foots up in the thousands. It is estimated that quite 5.000 divorces have been granted by the twenty Probate Courts of Utah, and most of them were to parties in the States and some in Canada. Among them is Brick Pomeroy, whose matrimonial ventures seem to have been unfortunate. It has been going on for several years, and has been so quietly conducted by professional divorce lawyers in the leading cities, who had the necessary legal connections in Utah, that the public had no knowledge of the wholesale separation of ill-assortedmarried pairs, that was flourishing among the Mormons. It's some satisfaction to know that these divorces have been set aside by the courts of the States whenever brought to the judical test.

THE READING RIOTERS. THE CHARGE TO THE GRAND JURY-FEELING RUNNING VERY HIGH.

Reading, October L.-The Criminal Court for the trial of the alleged rioters convened this morning at ten o'clock. Judge Sassamar on the bench. The excitement among the people was so great that it was almost impossible to gain admission to the court house When the grand jury were called they all answered to their names with one or two excep-tions. Immediately after they were called Judge Sassaman instructed them as to their duty in the present cases, and among other things he sald: "No one can be brought into the courts of criminal jurisprudence unless the grand jury first ascertain that there is probable cause against them. Everything which transpires in your room must be kept secret. You must have nothing to do with any attorney but the District Attorney, and you must allow no one in your room but wit. nesses, and then one at a time. There will be cases put before you which have engaged a great deal of public interest and attention, and because of the nature of the cases you should allow no outside parties to speak to you in reference to them. If you are approached by any such parties you will communicate the fact to the court immediately." After the jury had received instructions they retired to the grand jury room, and up to t o'clock this evening had found no bills. The cause of this is supposed to be owing to the great number of defendants in each bill of indictment, as it is proposed by the Common wealth to try all of the rioters on six bills. and consequently there may be some fifteen or twenty parties in each bill. It is understood, however, that the defense will object to this move. The leading counsel on both sides are working like heavers in the different cases, and they are all confident of success. J. H. Jacobs is retained by about forty of the prisoners, and is ably assisted by H. Willis Bland, and they claim they will be able to acquit most of their clients, but as they have one of the ablest counsel in the State, George F. Baer, against them, they will have to put forth their best endeavors. The cases pror ise to be the most exciting as well as interesting ever tried in our court. Feeling runs very high, and there is much speculation as to the result. The great battle will most likely begin in the morning in case the bills should be found to-night. It is reported that President Gowen, of the Reading Road, will be here to-morrow to take a hand in the case. If so there will be lively times. There are som five hundred witnesses subpænaed altogether in the different cases on both sides, THE RECENT FIRE IN THE PATENT OFFICE.

Washington, September 30.—The committee investigating the origin and causes of the Patent Office fire are pursuing the workssigned them with exactness and dillgence and do not fail to make note of every incident mentioned to them in connection with the disaster. It has been strongly intimated in some quarters that the fire was burning at least three hours before any alarm was sounded, and this, together with a report that certain records of the Indian Office were removed to the stable in the neighborhood of the Patent Office, which was also burned, will receive the attention of the committee in their deliberations The report of the committee is looked for with great interest. A gentleman hereto-fore long connected with the building says to his certain knowledge the building has been on fire three or four different times.

Mr. Hayes in the course of an interview with Hon. J. E. Leonard, republican mem-ber of congress from Louisiana, this morning, remarked that from what he had seen during his late trip in the south he believed that the whites of that section were ready and anxious to accord the colored people their full civil and political rights and that his trip had strengthened him in the conviction that his southern policy would re-bound greatly to the interest of the blacks and in whose welfare he had always felt and should continue to feel the deepest intsrest. Mr. Hayes also stated that he had lately received renewed assurances from leading republicans of their support of his southern policy.

A Gentle Temper. The New York Tribune tells this incident of a clergyman graced with a gentle temper: It is related by elderly deceased Letter of administration having been granted to the underoccasion the Rev. The next morning, as the good doctor stepped out upon his porch, one sweeping glance sufficed to furnish a full and appreciative conception of the desolation. Restraining any expression of unregenerate wrath, he stood for a space in silence, and then remarked, with mournful philosophy: "Well, you never can lay dirt to suit a hog !"

Four hundred men are employed on full time in the railroad shops at Renovo. Ten ocomotives damaged at Pittsburg during the riot fire are being repaired. The loco-motives injured in the collisions near Muncy, and the one wrecked opposite Williamsport, five in number, are also there undergoing repairs.
