PASSING EVENTS.

It is said that one of the last letters written by SILAS WRIGHT, to his friend in Washington, was an earnest exhortation not to abandon the Wilmot Proviso, and not to submit to the encroachments of the Slave Power. This appeal, it is also said, was accompanied by a wish that his name might not be mentioned in connection with the Presidency, and with a pledge to lend his hearty co-operation to the election of any suitable man for the office. Hard upon the heels of this letter and the sudden death of the distinguished Ex Senator and Governor, comes the party appeal of James Buchanan to the Democracy of Pennsylvania, coupling the interference of National politics with our State affairs, and worse than this, the proposition to abandon the ground of Silas Wright and others in defence of a great principle of public liberty.

Will the Democracy of this State prove themselves in the (Wright) right or in the wrong? Shall James Buchanan, the ambitious, time-serving, principle-sacrificing, office-loving, Slave-wooing Secretary of State, be heeded in his appeal, or shall Silas Wright, speaking, as it were, from the grave, be heard in his? Let Pennsylvanians answer, for to them the appeal is made, and by one holding a high position of power in the Councils of the Nation.

On whatever side Pennsylvania is heard, her weight must tell with tremendous force. We are morally and numerically a great State, the second in power in the Congress of the United States, and capable of yielding an influence at least equal to our strength. Often the weight is with us of making and unmaking Presidents,—of creating or destroying good or bad laws,—of deciding alike the fame of men and the fate of measures. Occupying this position, shall Pennsylvania listen for a moment to her secret and seductive foe,—presenting himself clothed in the majesty of power, and with persuasive words, such as the evil one of old used, to tempt from virtue? What has Pennsylvania to gain by yielding to the tempter? We can see why Mr. Buchanan should be ready to barter away, like another Esau, his inheritance for a mess of pottage in the shape of favor and of office. The West he disgusted by his truckling policy upon the Oregon question, so much so that he dare not trust his fortunes to the Senate upon a proposed nomination to the vacancy upon the Bench of the Supreme Court of the United States, and, therefore, it is, we presume, that he advertises himself, as Ships sometimes take a clearance, "for Cowes and a market." We read of one Mephistophiles who sold himself, body and soul, to the devil, in consideration of a little worldly enjoyment, and a deeper insight into the mysteries of the hidden world than is usually allotted to mankind. But behold a greater, or rather a worse than Mephistophiles is here. The past pictures the ideal only as drawn away by the evil curiosity of the times and the love of superhuman power. He dragged no one with him to that deep depth whence he journeyed for a knowledge of mystery profound. But Mr. Buchanan, with his own moral and physical transfer, would barter away friends, State, country and all. He would make Pennsylvania tributary to the Slave States and Slave Power.—He would ask her and us to build up a natural enemy to our own welfare, and to encourage a great principle of evil to the Government itself.

Strange it is, that men in a free State should forget,—even if there were no question of morality involved in the subject,—that Slavery and free labor are of themselves natural enemies. Slave Holders are forever cheapening labor, and seeking to bring that of the free States into competition with that upon their own plantations. Hence the Southern love of free trade, hostility to Protection, and the general war upon whatever appreciates free labor at home. Were it not for the innate curse attendant upon the institution of Slavery itself, there would be no power in the free States to compete with that labor which is clothed in homespun alone, and which is fed, year in and year out, upon the hominy and hogs of a plantation. These are the wages of labor at the South, and we are compelled not only to compete with such, but men like those who now hold power at the Capitol, would subject us to the mercies of every European innovation, and open against us the sluices of Free Trade to overwhelm and drown the well paid labor of the Free States. We beseech men to look at this subject, not as a party question, but as one of Political Economy, in which is involved the most sacred rights and interests of mankind. Examine the subject of Labor, its rewards and toils in the free States, at the South and in Europe, and see if the result is not as we state it to be.

Mr. Buchanan is not alone for adding to the moral evils of Slavery by enlarging the area of Slavery, but he is for enabling the South to enhance the Slave power at a sacrifice of the interests of the North. He is for new compromises and new concessions where none are necessary and none are wanted.

Seasonably do we warn our friends and all men in the free States, of the effects of this new policy. We doubt if Mr. Buchanan would have had the nerve to hang out his black flag, had Mr. Wright lived, and we think it better for him never to have been born than to have raised such a standard.

THE MAILS SOUTH AND EAST are in general confusion. Mr. Cave Johnson has proved himself the worst Postmaster General who has occupied a place within the Department. "Penny wise and pound foolish," he loses more than he saves, and continues to keep himself in hot water all the time. As a member of Congress he prated by the day of high salaries and extravagance, yet he [illegible] with even fierce eagerness into a salary of [illegible]. Manufacture of Woolens.

We gave in our last paper an article setting forth what manufactories had done for Lowell, and were particular in stating the statistics of that city, for the purpose of showing the benefits of a proper encouragement of "home manufacture," and of inducing, if possible, capitalists to embark in the manufacture of Woolen Goods in this city. We have here every facility, and are we to reap any advantage from such productions. Wool, motive power, labor, capital, provisions, industry are here, and all these in the centre of the best market in the world, and with a people disposed to embark in any enterprise tending to advance the general good.

If labor and capital combined in manufacturing in a sterile section of the country, where all the raw material must be obtained from a distance, can rear a city and give all the appliances of wealth and comfort to its inhabitants, without any extraordinary channels of communication with the world at large, in the short period of twenty or thirty years,—what ought it not to do for a city like this, located as it is in the very midst of a large territory, possessing agricultural, mineral and commercial advantages unsurpassed by any other in the country?

It has been urged that Pittsburgh is largely engaged in iron manufactures—that her capital and physical energies are all employed in this branch—that she is to America what Birmingham is to England, the great iron market. This is only true in part. We are glad to bear testimony to the industry and prosperity of our citizens, in making available many of the resources which surround us. At the same time we would be glad to have it said that Pittsburgh manufactures her own Woolens, and supplies the neighboring country. We presume all our citizens are employed,—profitably we trust,—principally in the manufacture of iron, but let other factories be constructed, inducements held out to laborers, and how rapidly would the population, wealth and business of our city increase! Wherever there is a demand for labor, there it will flow, and, generally speaking, as rapidly as required. On the score of labor being already employed, there need be no apprehensions of difficulty. The supply will be co-extensive with the demand. The experience of all ages warrants us in this assertion.

Let the manufacture of Woolens be commenced, buildings erected, laborers employed, Wool purchased, and our city will soon present a different aspect to the public. Its population will be increased, its markets extended, its boundaries enlarged, its capital increased, its commerce promoted, and all that can interest the highest energies of our nature greatly stimulated.

It is not for us to repose in the Delila lap of indigence, till shorn of our strength, because Nature has filled our hills with mineral, and surrounded us with every advantage of agricultural products.

The state of Texas claims Santa Fe as a part of its territory. The Hon. David Kaufman, in his capacity as representative of that State, says the Governor of Texas sent on a formal protest and remonstrance against Gen Kearney's civil government at Santa Fe, and the representative from that state would have presented it, but for the special message of Mr. Polk denying that Gen. K's. act had been approved by the Government, and promising to correct any excess of power exercised by that officer. The statement is made by Mr. Kaufman to correct a counter statement in the National Intelligencer.

Here is another evidence of the Texas iniquity. First in the establishment of a Civil Government upon the authority of elective and military power alone, and secondly, in the claim of Texas to the Santa Fe country, as a part of the State of Texas. Every body knows that Santa Fe was an integral part of the Government of Mexico, owing and paying due allegiance to the Mexican authorities, until these authorities were rendered powerless by an invading army of the United States. Texas now claims Santa Fe, and beyond, and seeks to hold within her embrace the whole land lying east and south of the Rio Grande. Because the Government set up a monstrous claim to the country between the Nueces and the Rio Grande, Texas keeps a little ahead of the Government and says all this was hers before annexation and the Government is bound to protect her in the same. Now it is notoriously true that Texans were never at Santa Fe, except as prisoners of war, or as visitors to the province of a Government of which Mexico was the acknowledged head. Texas has no more right to Santa Fe than to New South Wales or the city of Dublin, or any other place as remote. Nor has the Government of the United States any claim to Santa Fe, or any portion of New Mexico except such as may grow out of the war, and this is a claim rather of power than of justice.

PORK.—The Louisville Journal of Commerce says, that the great crop, now looked to with more than ordinary interest, is the hog crop if we may so call it. With the abundance of corn and potatoes, hogs we believe, will be as fine as they ever were.

In reference to this subject, we find the following in the Cincinnati Price Current:—

"Friends who have traveled the country represent the corn as looking unusually good, and the number of acres as great beyond comparison,—a fine chance for fattening hogs during the approaching season. A gentleman from Indiana, well acquainted with the country and the Pork trade, expressed to us the opinion that the number of hogs the coming season will exceed that of the past by forty per cent. The number of hogs in Ohio will be larger than that of last winter, but the difference will fall short of 40 per cent."

In view of these facts, we think we may safely rely upon abundant supplies of Pork and Bacon in the western markets next spring; and that at rates comparatively cheap.

The Cincinnati Pork merchants may have been too fast in purchasing Pork now at $4 and $4,25, to be delivered in November.

Vice President Dallas.

The Vice President of the United States is to visit Pittsburgh upon an electioneering tour,—and to make a speech to the people,—another evidence that the Government at Washington designs to interfere with the politics of the State. After Mr. Dallas shall have concluded his speech to the People of Pittsburgh in favor of the Tariff of 1846, and the Sub-Treasury Law, perhaps we shall give the antidote in Mr. DALLAS'S speeches in FAVOR OF THE UNITED STATES BANK AND THE TARIFF OF 1842! ! We shall see how skilfully this high functionary can eat his own words, and in the mean time we can only hope that "good digestion may wait on appetite."

STEAM STOCKING LOOMS.—A young man named John Pepper, of Portsmouth, New Hampshire, has hit upon a plan by which, with a trifling cost, steam or water power may be applied to the common stocking looms. This disideratum has cost the weavers of England much time and money, without being successful.

Twelve pair of stockings is a girl's day's work on the common hand loom, but on this they make 23 pairs, and as many drawers per day, with much more ease. In proportion to the work manufactured, there is a saving in expense of over $5 per day.

EX-PRESIDENTIAL QUARREL.—Ex-President Tyler has a reply to Ex-President Houston, in last Saturday's Richmond Enquirer. The object of controversy seems to be to show which of the two Ex-officials humbugged the most successfully on the annexation of Texas. Houston confesses himself the humbugger, by successfully allowing the Tyler Administration to be duped in regard to the designs of England. Tyler in turn aided by Calhoun, humbugged the people, and the whole scheme proved a cheat from beginning to end.

FROM CALIFORNIA.

SUFFERINGS OF THE EMIGRANTS.—By overland express we have files of Californian papers to the 22d of May last. The accounts contained in these papers relative to the sufferings of the emigrants are most appalling. The one-half of those detained by the severe snow storms in the California mountains died of starvation! The remaining portion would inevitably have perished, but for the timely succor extended by seven American Californians, who heard of their distress and braved the inclemency of the weather, with provisions on their backs, to extend relief. On the 19th of February this gallant band crossed the summit of the Californias and reached a portion of the party of Emigrants about sun down of that day. Ten of their number had died, from starvation and several were expected to die before morning forward, as they were too low to resuscitate.

The whole party had been living on bullock hides for four weeks. On the morning of the 20th the party of relief visited Donner's camp, and found them with one hide left for provisions.—They had determined when that was consumed to dig up the dead bodies of those who had died of starvation and use them for food! They had great difficulty in preventing them from eating too much, and exhausting their scanty store. They were so ravenous for food that they stole the buck skin thongs from their snow shoes and devoured them!

After leaving with the party all the food they could spare, the little band commenced retracing its steps, accompanied by 26 of the emigrants, carrying four of the children on their backs.—They succeeded in arriving in safety at the settlements.

Capt Kerns of the fort had sent out a small party with provisions for the relief of the remaining sufferers, who succeeded in getting all but three safely across the mountains. One of the three died of excessive eating.

The wagons belonging to the emigrants were all buried in the snow.

The California Star says the full story of the sufferings of the emigrants will never be written, nor can the agony of mind, the despair and phrenzy the crushed hopes, the desire for relief, the torturing thoughts of being shut out from all succor, and surrounded by impenetrable snow drifts, ever, be portrayed in the English language. They make a sum of horrors too dreadful for human endurance.

The cannibal, Kelsburg, it is supposed, killed Mrs. Donner, in order to gratify his whetted appetite for human food, and he stated to the party who found him engaged at his horrid meal, that he preferred it to cattle beef.

A small party of volunteers were attacked in the night, at their camp at St. Johns, by hostile Indians, supposed to be of the "horse thief tribe."

A Yankee has established a ferry across the Bay of Francisco. He charges $1,00 for the ferriage of a horse—the same for a horse and rider, and 50 cents for a footman.

Gen. Kearney, by decree, has conveyed all the right, title, interest and claim of the United States and the Territory of California, to the beach and water lots on the East front of the town of Francisco, to the corporate authorities of that town. The lots were to be sold at auction on the 24th June, last. [Where did Gen. Kearney get the power to sell these lands.]

The California Editors say that this will be the "New York" of the Pacific Country. That the position of the town is unrivalled for commerce. That Ships can at all times enter the Harbor which is of sufficient dimensions to contain in safety the navies of the world. It is surrounded by the fertile countries, watered by the Sacramento and San Joaquin Rivers, and numerous navigable streams, putting into the bay; and all the produce and luxuries of the country, as well as the gold, silver, quick-silver, copper and iron minerals which abound in that country, will be concentrated at San Francisco for shipment and manufacture.

A young Philadelphian who has just returned from California, after having journeyed about 4000 miles, states that the Indians had grown so bold as to shoot inhabitants at their very door's.

The young man referred to was a Lieut. in the California Army, his object in travelling, was general reconciliation. During his tour he visited most of the ranchos of the middle district, and found the inhabitants kind and hospitable, but defficient in the comforts of civilized life. He stayed three days with a Don, who was the proprietor of 60,000 or 80,000 acres of land, and several thousand head of cattle. He was kindly received, but complains that the fair was very primative. For example, at dinner he was seated on a rough hewn log in front of the ranch—a small stool placed before him—one plate, (the only one on the premises,) an iron spoon, a bowl of water, some ribs of mutton cut from a sheep hanging near and yet bleeding—some old cheese and some tortillas, constituted the furniture and the repast. The floor of the ranch was clay, the walls adobe, tile roof, and no sash or glass to be seen.

He states that their connection with the United States will much improve the Californians, but doubts much whether they will ever enjoy that dolce far niente state of existance which has heretofore characterized them.

News Items.

HENRY CLAY has returned to White Sulphur, much improved in health.

THE ELECTION for members of the Texas Legislature takes place on the first Monday in November. The most important business that will devolve upon the new body, is the election of a U. S. Senator. It seems to be well settled that Gen. Houston is to be re-elected.

ILLINOIS CONVENTION.—This body adjourned last week, having signed the Constitution which they had prepared for the consideration, and final ratification or rejection of the people.

Mr. DORR is not dead. The Providence Transcript says that he will probably recover.

THE NUMBER of deaths in Philadelphia, last week were 135,—79 of whom were children.

THE QUEEN OF SPAIN.—At La Granja she devotes herself to music, painting, the theatre, and the chase. She is a very tolerable performer herself—that is for a Queen—sings and plays, and has usually artists of the first celebrity to accompany her. She is especially devoted to the chase, in which she outstrips her stoutest courtiers. She rides fiery steeds in the most fearless manner, and handles the rifle in a style to make a backwoodsman stare. The other day she took down with her own hand two fat bucks besides a vast amount of smaller game.

The royal husbandmen, meanwhile, continues as before doggedly to decline dwelling under the same roof with her, or even having an interview with her. He still resides in the hunting lodge of the Pardo, not far from Madrid. When the Queen of Spain quit Madrid for La Granja, she announced her intention to return to the palace the day after she quit it. The ministers, thinking this scarcely decent, and fearing that the palace would be made (as indeed was intended,) a focus of intrigue against the sovreign, interposed and requested the Prince to relinquish his intentions; but all entreaty proving fruitless the gates of the palace were shut against him and his suite by royal order. A divorce continues to be talked of but nothing definite has been done towards it. The French ambassador at Rome uses the utmost influence against it. Still, it is probable with the peculiar character of the present pontiff that if he sees the justice of the measure he will grant it in spite of diplomacy.

GIGANTIC PLANK ROAD PROJECT.—A company has been formed at Utica, and the stock subscribed, to construct a plank road from that city to Watertown, or Sackett's Harbor, in Jefferson county. This road, when constructed, will pass through one of the heaviest and most valuable lumber districts in the State, and open rapid and easy facilities of communication through a section of the State that has heretofore been almost entirely passed by and neglected.—Albany Argus.

LIVINGSTON'S ADMINISTRATOR'S vs Cox, argued by Thomas Williams Esq., for Plaintiff in Error, and Dunlap for Defendant in Error.

DAGUERRIAN PORTRAITS.—We called into Porter's Daguerrian Gallery yesterday, for the purpose of examining some of the numerous specimens of the art there collected, and were shown several recently taken by Mr. Samuel Hoge, an artist of great skill, which rivalled the best steel engravings. One was Miss B. of Allegheny city, a perfect picture, another of two children, most beautiful in the lights and shades which give individuality to portraits.

Mr. Hoge, we understand, has introduced some improvement in the art which greatly facilitates the operation of taking and perfecting daguerrian portraits.

WESTERN UNIVERSITY.—This institution of learning opened for the Winter Session, on Monday last. We are informed that those who have charge of the instruction of students, are perfectly capable, and the public can, with the fullest confidence, entrust children to their tuition. We shall rejoice in the prosperity of this University.

THE PRESBYTERIAN SYNOD of Pittsburgh commences its annual session on Wednesday, the 15th inst. at the 1st Presbyterian church in Allegheny city. The opening sermon by Mr. McMaster, the Moderator of last year will preach in the evening of that day.

THE TENTH.—Great preparations are making to celebrate the 10th of September. Fancy dress balls, the Circus, Concerts, and other places of amusement will be open for the reception of visitors.

FIRE.—A fire occurred in one of the large warehouses on the Canal, on Wednesday, but was extinguished befor any material injury was sustained, and before the fire apparatus arrived.

SUDDEN DEATH.—A man named William Doyl, while at his breakfast, on Tuesday morning, at the "Right of way House" in the Fifth ward, fell from the table and died in a few minutes.—The Inquest held by the Coroner returned a verdict in accordance with the facts.

MARKET WAGONS.—The city councils have authorized the Mayor to permit wagons to stand in any place along the side of Fifth street so that the business of the Street be uninterrupted.

ACCIDENT.—At the fire in the Fifth ward on, Tuesday afternoon, a boy named James Reidy was severely cut on the head, by the falling of a fence, on which he with others had climbed to see the fire. His wounds were dressed by a surgeon in the neighborhood.

LARCENY.—A negro man by the name of Gasmere, was arrested on Wednesday, and taken before the Mayor, charged with taking a vest and cravat, belonging to William Jones, from the American House. In default of bail, he was committed to answer the charge, at the next Court of Quarter Sessions.

DIVINITY RUN MAD.—The Rev. Mr. Maffit is lecturing in New York, in favor of annexation, not of Texas,—for that deed is done, and acquiesced in by those who could not help it,—but of the whole of Mexico to the United States! Mr. Maffit may be a very good minister, but he is a very poor politician. We advise him to remember the good advice of Appelles to a critic of the arts: Ne Sutor ultra crepidam.

As flowers of fancy are not matters of fact, so one, with a reverend title attached to his name, should learn the truth before seeking to teach what is true to others. Hear, now, what an infinite deal of nonsense and bombas tis contained in the following extracts:

And now upon the spicy gales that fan the brow of the Sierra Madre, floats the banner of the United States. Oh it was grand to watch the events of the day! The waves of empire hiss and roar as they struggle against difficulties, up-swelling from the sea, deep and cavernous, and anon meeting smoothly with an anthem, not unlike the choral music of the stars.

The speaker looked higher than earth. The Providence of God was above all. There were old and hoary crimes yet unatoned for. Who had avenged the conquest of Mexico by the banded legions of Cortez? Had the dews and storms and wondering showers of centuries washed out the sin? It was yet to be avenged! The speaker had also learned from study of the past, that wars of conquest were often followed by the spread of science, religion and the arts. As to the Mexican war, it was not his province to speak.

He would not presume to say whether it was just or unjust. But as a Minister of Peace, he had the right to express his unbiassed opinion in regard to the great design of Providence, so long as he did not rail against the powers that be.—And as far as he could read those designs, they were that Mexico was a doomed nation, unless she took shelter under our Eagle, and became an integral part of the United States. (Prolonged applause.)

It was unnecessary for him to argue that this could be done. If we could annex one country, we might annex a great many more!! He did not speak as a politician, but as a christian philanthropist! He fully accorded with the eloquent sentiment of Mr. Calhoun, that there was a mysterious connection between Mexico and the United States. [Great applause.] He spoke his own free and honest thoughts, as they swelled up from his heart of hearts. He had, he thanked God, no party to serve. He was not subject to any party influence. His relations to Church and State [here a particularly bland smile stole over the features of the speaker, and he made a significant gesture with his right arm] were those of a private citizen, a free, warm-hearted, enthusiastic, Christian Irishman.—[Applause.]

The speaker having reiterated his idea of the annexation of all Mexico, and the extension of our institutions over its people, with every variety of embellishment, finally closed his oration to the apparent great delight of his auditory, as far as their clapping and stamping could be taken as evidence.

Mr. Maffit's reasons are as three grains of wheat to as many bushels of chaff. Isn't it really "very grand" to see a Minister of the Gospel turning his Bible into wadding, his prayers into powder, his exhortations to repentence into glowing descriptions of battle and murder, and his songs of praise into the blast of the bugle and the thundering of cannon. Is it the Gospel of "Peace on earth, and good will among men," that Mr. Maffit preaches, or an older creed, of an eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth. If Mr. Maffit's "heart of hearts" can echo any such doctrine as this, the sooner he has a new heart, or a changed heart, the better. We advise Mr. M. to study something more of the Savior and his Apostles, or else to leave the Church, as the Church has left him, and jump at once into the political arena.—Mr. Calhoun is known as the nucleus of the "Manifest Destiny" party in America, and Mr. Maffit shows himself a warm disciple of the faith.

COPPER AND SILVER ORE.—Two beautiful specimens of Copper and Silver Ore may be seen at the office of Messrs. Hussey, Hanna & Co., 4th street, from the Cliff Mine. The one weighs 70 lbs, and the other one half of cutting of pure copper which weighed between three and four thousand pounds. This immense mass was taken, as it may be seen, from the surface of the earth, and is not the largest specimen sent from the Mine. The more we see and learn of the mineral capacity of the upper Lake Country, the more amazed we are at its riches and beauty.

The Cliff Mining Company have shipped during the present season, three hundred and ten tons of ore of the value of about $77,000 in the Eastern market. All this has been pushed forward since the opening of navigation on the [illegible] of June, and none has been sent to market valued at more than fifty per cent.

From the first of June to the 23d of August the actual products of the mine were [illegible] tons of pure copper, and this at an expense to the Company of not more than $5000 a month. The value of this copper is $58,000 or a nett of $43,000. Such facts need no comment.

NEW BOOKS.

We acknowledge the receipt of the American Journal of Science and Arts for September, 1847, which may be had of the Agent, W. W. Wilson. To men of science, this work is invaluable, and no good, scientific, or miscellaneous library, can do without it.

Hunt's Magazine for September has also been received, and with it the "Olden Time" for Aug., a work for which our citizens and the West should feel a local attachment, and which is worthy a liberal support.

The Mail due at 8 o'clock last night, from the East, had not arrived at 12.

The following lines were written some years since by the late Col. HARDIN, killed at the battle of Buena Vista, while in Washington City, and enclosed in a letter to his wife. They are replete with the most touching eloquence:

Bury me not, when I am dead,
Amidst the city's glare—
Where thoughtless, careless mortals tread,
And wealth and misery are wed;
Oh! bury me not there.

Bury me not, when I'm no more,
High on a mountain bare—
Where nought but eagles o'er it soar—
And storms and tempests round it roar;
Oh! bury me not there.

Bury me not, when I'm at rest,
Where martial pennons glare—
For empty show and gorgeous crest
Can never sooth an icy breast;
Then bury me not there.

Bury me not, when I shall sleep,
By ocean's rocky lair;
Where winds and waves their vigils keep,
And ever moans the restless deep—
Oh! bury me not there.

Bury me not, when I am gone,
In boundless prairies, where
The buried dead are left alone;
Unmarked except by a cold grave stone—
Oh! bury me not there.

Bury me, when I shall die,
'Midst woods and flowers rare,
Where o'er my grave the winds may sigh,
The birds may sing, and friends are nigh,
Oh! bury me then there.

No Cure! No Pay! Piles! Piles!—Dr Jackson's Embrocation is the only medicine that will cure this so very common and troublesome disease. It not only immediately allays pain and inflamation, stops all bleeding, subdues that intolerable itch ing, but effectually cures, in a very short time persons whose lives have been rendered miserable for years.—Its application produces no pain, but rather an agreeable and pleasant sensation. If persons afflicted will call and hear of the great number of cases that have been cured, they will be astonished. A gentleman of this city, who had been under the knife of the surgeon for two or three times without being cured, has by using 9 bottles of the Embrocation, been eradically cured. It sells beyond precedent!!—[Phil. Saturday Courier.

Salter's Ginseng Panacea.—MEDICAL TESTIMONY—We beg leave to call public attention to the following, from Dr. Wm. Doan, of Withamsville Clermont Co., and one of the very first practitioners in the county in which he resides, and late Senator in the State Legislature. It is cheering thus to see the leading men of the profession, bursting the bonds of professional prejudice, and giving merit its due:
"Sir: I have in my practice been using some of your Ginseng Panacea, and, so far, am well pleased in its effects in Catarrhal and Bronchial Complaints. Please send me half a dozen bottles—put them as low as you can; as I expect if it continues to render as general satisfaction as it has heretofore, to keep it constantly on hand. Respectfully, ap17 WM. DOAN, M. D.

We invite the attention of our readers to the extraordinary cures of Scrofula performed by Dr. Cullen's Indian Vegetable Panacea, which they will find recorded in another column of to-day's paper. They are without doubt the most wonderful on record, and have so been pronounced by many of our most respectable physicians. The afflicted and others interested, are requested to visit them at their several places of abode, and learn from their own lips the wonderful effects of the medicine. The first one named is Mr Isaac Brooks, who may be seen daily, between the hours of 9 A. M. and 4 P. M. at the office of Rowand & Walton, No 37 Market st. Philada. oc8

WELCH'S NATIONAL CIRCUS! FROM THE OLYMPIAN AMPHITHEATRE, Philadelphia.
THIS splendid equestrian company composed entirely of STAR PERFORMERS, will exhibit under their splendid Water Proof Pavilion, commodiously furnished for the comfortable reception of 3000 persons, at Pittsburgh, on the 10th, 11th, 13th, 14th, 15th and 16th, of September next. Independant of Willis' celebrated Brass Band, the company will be saluted on their arrival, by Mr Wallace's String Band, playing airs from the most popular Operas. In the evening the pavillion will be illuminated by the patent sylvic Gas, invented by B F Caston, Esq. of the United States Navy Department, Washington. It is an entirely new method, giving a superior light; free from all nauseous effluvia, the fault of all other attempts, and casting a light scarcely less brilliant than the noonday sun. Constituting this company will be found Mr J G Cadwallader, who will ride his much admired acts of the Russian Envoy, the Terror of a Sorcerer of Siam, and the beautiful episode of the Sprite and his last wing, on 2, 3 and 4 horses. Madame Louise Howard, the great NATIVE FEMALE EQUESTRIAN, whose admirable personations, on a single horse, charm and delight all who behold her, justifying public opinion in awarding to her the high position she has so successfully held amidst a host of rival stars. Clown—Dan Rice, the mirth-provoking Dan, whose infinite JEST and FUN, sustained by no rudeness and vulgarity, places him far beyond the reach of imitation. Mr Horace Nichols, the Prince of Ring Masters. The Rivers Family, whose union of talent is without a parallel in the world. Chas. Rivers the most finished artist in his arrangement and execution of scenes and gymnastic groups. Frederick Rivers presents every kind of Foreign act that can surprise by novelty, and Richard Rivers (the 'inimitable,') will perform his act on a single horse, as performed before the President and Senators of the United States, and by all present declared the most perfect union of wonder and grace the world ever knew. Master T Neville, who has acquired the rare art of riding, and executing the most difficult feat backwards, on a single horse. Mr Wm Stout will ride his fine classic acts on 2, 3 and 4 horses, forming a pyramid of five persons, whom he will bear above his horses at lightning speed. Signior Germani, the mighty Italian equestrian will ride his incredible necromantic scenes, [illegible]. Mr W Howard, the Spanish Scenic rider, and great representative of the Red Man of the Forest. Mr Chas Foster, who rides a great dramatic scene, and a Grand Military act, entitled HONOR TO OUR HEROES, or, All for our Country, in which by the aid of correct costume, he will represent the Chief Patriarch praying for his country, GEN JACK TAYLOR, at Monterey, HIRAM SMITH, a yankee volunteer, Santa Anna, the commander of Mexico, concluding with the Soldier of FREEDOM, bearing the memorable resolve,—"General Taylor never surrenders." Madam Brown, of the Cirque Olympique, will introduce the Arabian Dancing Mare, 'Haidee,' whose beautiful dances far surpass anything of the kind ever yet brought before the public. Also the comic ponies, Romeo and Juliet, will, by their comic dancer scenes, leaps and counterleaps, prove their insulative bent for drollery. Parents and guardians may with confidence bring their families, as under the watchful care of the proprietor, nothing approaching a shade of vulgarity can find its way among the choice representations of the Arena. The afternoon and evening performances entirely varied. a23d
