Jaynes' Expectorant.
SALEM, Columbiana Co., O., Apr. 24, 1848.
DR. JAYNES: DEAR SIR—I feel bound to you and the afflicted public to state the result of my experimenting of giving publicity to the extraordinary effects of your Expectorant on myself. Having been afflicted for several years with a severe cough, accompanied with pain and its concomitant diseases, and seemed only doomed to linger on a short but miserable existence, until the fall of 1847, when I became severely attacked, and having resorted to all my former remedies, and the prescriptions of two of the most respectable physicians in the neighborhood without effect, I had given up the consolation of surviving but a few days or weeks at furthest, and my friends gave me up as one doomed to vanish. I had recommended to me your Expectorant—and blessed by that being made the agent thereof in the hands of Providence to my restoration to health by my physicians and friends. I was in a few days raised from my bed, and was enabled by the use of a bottle, to be about my business. Spring came better health than I had for two years previous.
Respectfully yours, &c. Jas. W. Ewing.

B. A. FAHNESTOCK'S VERMIFUGE.
A FEW weeks since, one of my children, aged about five years, was unwell for several days, and the illness increased so alarmingly that I feared death would be the result. Having heard of the good effects of Fahnestock's Vermifuge when administered to the children of my neighbors, and thinking my child might have worms from some of the symptoms, I gave it one and a half teaspoonsfuls of the Vermifuge, and to my great astonishment it almost immediately discharged between 200 and 300 large worms. Its health was soon restored, and it is now remarkably well. Previous to taking the Vermifuge, the worms would occasionally rise in its throat, and I often feared it would die from strangulation.
