Jayne's Expectorant.
SALEM, COLUMBIANA CO., Apr 21, 1841.
DR. D JAYNE. DEAR SIR—I feel bound to you and the afflicted public, to avail myself of this opportunity of giving publicity to the extraordinary effects of your Expectorant on myself. I have been afflicted for several years with a severe cough, hectic fever and the consumption, and seemed only doomed to linger out a short and miserable existence, until the fall of 1839, when, being more severely attacked, and having recourse to all my former remedies, and the prescriptions of two of the most eminent physicians in the neighborhood without deriving any permanent relief, consultation of surviving but a few days or weeks at furthest—then the last resort, I hope was about to vanish. I had recommended to me your Expectorant, and blessed by that I sing who does all things in the line of the miraculous, contrary to the expectations of my physicians and friends, I was in a few days raised from my bed, and was enabled by the use of a bottle to attend to my business, enjoying since better health than I had for few years past. Yours
Respectfully yours &c. Jas W LAYLE.

A few weeks since one of my children, aged about four years, was taken with violent pains in the stomach, and in the result. I treated them for a case of the good effects of Fahnestock's Vermifuge, which administered to the children of my family, and thinking my child might be affected with worms, I gave it, to my great astonishment it without immediately discharged several large and long worms. The child was soon restored, and it is now markedly well. Previous to taking the Vermifuge, the worms would occasionally rise in the throat, and I then learned it would the from stagnation.
