HARDEN & CO continue to bring persons from any part of England, Ireland, Scotland or Wales, upon the most liberal terms, with their usual punctuality and attention to the wants and comfort of emigrants. We do not allow our passengers to be robbed by the swindling runners frequent at this port, as we take charge of them the moment they report themselves, and see to their well being, and despatch them without any detention by the first ships. We say this fearlessly, as we defy one of our passengers to show that they were detained 6 hours by us on Liverpool, while thousands of others were detained months, until they could be sent in some old craft at a cheap rate, which too frequently proved their coffins.

We intend to perform our contracts honestly, for what it may, and not act as was the case last season, with other officers,—who either performed not all, or when it suited their convenience.

DR. JAYNE'S CARMINATIVE BALSAM

FROM the Rev ASA SHINN, a well known and popular Clergyman of the Protestant Methodist Church.

The undersigned having been afflicted during the past winter with a disease of the stomach, sometimes producing great pain in the stomach for ten or twelve hours without intermission, and after having tried various remedies with little effect, was furnished with a bottle of Dr Dayne's Carminative Balsam. This he used according to the directions, and found immediately that the medicine reached the seat of the disease, and in fifteen or twenty minutes every vestige of pain was entirely removed. The medicine was administered when the pain was at its height, and the pain was instantly prevented. The medicine is to be taken every morning and sometimes a little in the evening, and in a few weeks then the case so far restored, that the sufferer was relieved from a large amount of constant pain. From the benefit he has received, he can confidently recommend Dr Dayne's Carminative Balsam as a salutary medicine for diseases of the stomach and bowels.

Dr Swayne: Dear Sir: I feel it a duty I owe to the cause and to the afflicted generally, in order to render a double testimony in favor of your Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry. Some years since I was attacked with cold and inflammation of the Lungs, which was accompanied with a distressing cough, pain in the breast and side, and a very constant cough, pain in the breast and side, and a very constant cough, which was attended with a very copious discharge of the lungs of the sweetest, bowels night. At length upon change of weather, I was confined to my room, and was greatly reduced, and was rapidly going into consumption, convinced that I was in imminent danger of death. I grew daily weaker, and could speak above a whisper, so very feeble was my voice, and so great was the excessive weakness of my lungs. During this time I had tried various preparations and remedies, but I had tried various preparations and remedies, but I had grew more and more worse. Just when I was advised and persuaded by a dear friend in Wilmington to make trial of your Syrup of Wild Cherry, I was so much worse that I had previously I had been prejudiced against patent medicines, and I am still against those coming out of the hands of persons who have never been educated in the profession and practice of medicine, and having imposed upon the confidence of my friends, I found myself in a state of despair. Yet, at the urgent request of my friends, I took the medicine and commenced to use. My disease was at that time of 30 or 35 months standing, consequently I was very weak. I found, however, sensible relief from the use of the first four or five bottles. Before I had taken the fourth bottle, I commenced to expect health, by increasing strength, and thereby ruptured the vessels that had already begun to heal in the commencement of my disease. I continued to use the medicine very sparingly, and in a few weeks then it was so far restored, that the sufferer was relieved from a large amount of constant pain. From the benefit I have received, I can confidently recommend Dr Dayne's Carminative Balsam as a salutary medicine for diseases of the stomach and bowels.

Just when I was advised and persuaded by a dear friend in Wilmington to make trial of your Syrup of Wild Cherry, I was so much worse that I had previously I had been prejudiced against patent medicines, and I am still against those coming out of the hands of persons who have never been educated in the profession and practice of medicine, and having imposed upon the confidence of my friends, I found myself in a state of despair. Yet, at the urgent request of my friends, I took the medicine and commenced to use. My disease was at that time of 30 or 35 months standing, consequently I was very weak. I found, however, sensible relief from the use of the first four or five bottles. Before I had taken the fourth bottle, I commenced to expect health, by increasing strength, and thereby ruptured the vessels that had already begun to heal in the commencement of my disease. I continued to use the medicine very sparingly, and in a few weeks then it was so far restored, that the sufferer was relieved from a large amount of constant pain. From the benefit I have received, I can confidently recommend Dr Dayne's Carminative Balsam as a salutary medicine for diseases of the stomach and bowels.

MURDOCK'S PATENT DASHER CHURN.

BUTTER IS THE PRODUCT IN 3 OR 10 MINUTES FROM NEW MILK

THE attention of the public is invited to this very valuable Churn, which has the advantage of all others in combining the old and new inventions together.

The utility of the invention is apparent as soon as the public see the air is forced beneath the dash, and does away with the necessity of purchasing a new churn when cream has to be applied to any churn in use and for one dollar can be made to do the business of the age combined with those of gathering the Butter in the churn.

The public are invited to call and judge for themselves before purchasing elsewhere at M'Cready's Market house, Fifth street, or at 63 Diamond alley, between Wood and Market streets, Pittsburgh.
