COMMERCIAL RECORD.

PITTSBURGH BOARD OF TRADE AND MERCHANT'S EXCHANGE.

COMMITTEE FOR DECEMBER.

GEO. COCHRAN.....JOHN HANNA.....LEA. WILMARTH.

Review of the

PITTSBURGH MARKET,

FOR THE WEEK ENDING DEC. 24.

The market during the past week, has been generally very dull, and we have but few transactions worthy of notice to report. The weather for the most part, has been extremely inclement, so much so in fact, as to put to a complete stand every thing like business—The heavy rains of Saturday night, Sunday, and Sunday night, were succeeded by severe snow storms, but at the present writing, the weather is clear, cold, and bracing for the season.

Our rivers have again been at flood height, and should we have one or two more such rainings as we have had during the past month, there is every probability, from the present advanced state of the season, that the river will not be sufficiently low, as to be much encumbered by ice.

The receipts of all kinds of produce by river, have been very light during the past week, and from the continued bad state of the country roads, very little has been brought in by wagon. No material additions therefore, has been made to the supplies of the market and we need anticipate no change for the better, until the opening of the new year, when, should the weather be favorable, and the river continue at good stage, we may anticipate a lively winter trade.

We have, as yet, had no receipts of hog produce in consequence, but as the packing season at the various points in the west is now nearly at a close, we expect, as a consequence, soon to gain a look for larger receipts of those articles in this market.

The old year is now nearly at a close, and our most ardent wish is, that upon the dawning of the new year, our business men may find themselves well placed up in their various pursuits, and that they may be most abundantly able, from past success, to launch forth upon the new year, with renewed energy and brighter prospects.

ASHES—Nothing of importance has taken place in the market during the past week. Supplies are now fully equal to the present demand, and sales have consequently been on a restricted scale, with no marked change in prices. With moderate sales, we give the following as about the present ruling prices:—Soda Ash, 3¼@3¾; Pearl Ash, 6¼@6¾; Saleratus, 5@5½; Pot Ash, 4¼@4½; and Sectrblings at 3¼@3½ ⅌ lb.

APPLES—The receipts of green apples have come forward pretty freely, with sales on the wharf during the week, of some 600 to 1000 bbls, at prices ranging, according to quality, from 75 to $1 ⅌ bbl. Suppliers in store are now pretty full, with regular sales in small lots, at $1@$1.25.

ALE—Quite a brisk business is doing by our brewers at full prices—say at a range in prices, from $6 to $7, for the various qualities.

BACON—The reason for old bacon has been over for some time past, and none, to any extent, has made its appearance in the market, consequently we have nothing of interest to report.

BUTTER—We notice full supplies in store, and with the exception of prime and choice qualities; the market is dull. We notice a fair demand for choice roll, in bbls and boxes, at 14@15c; prime do at 12@14c, and good common do at 10@11c; keg butter is nominal at 9@10c ⅌ lb.

BEANS—Supplies are moderate, and we notice a good demand for choice new crop white, at $1.25 ⅌ bu. Common and mixed range from $7½ to $1.12½ ⅌ bushel.

BEESWAX—From first hands we may quote at 20 @21c, and from store at 23@24c ⅌ lb, with moderate supplies.

BROOMS—Brooms have come forward pretty firmly, and the market is now well supplied. The regular store rates are $1.75@$2 for the better qualities; $1.50 @1.62 for medium, and $1.12½@1.25 for common merchantable.

BRAN—The receipts by river during the past week, have been full, and sales have been heavy on the wharf, at 11@12c ⅌ bu.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR—Very little has come forward, and supplies are light, and held at high prices We hear of no sales from first hands, but may quote from store, at $1.12½@1.15 ⅌ sack of 50 lbs.

CHEESE—The receipts by river have been comparatively light, but we notice good supplies in store, with fair general sales at 5@6½c for ordinary; 6¾@7½ for good common, and 6¾@7½c for cream. The market is bare of Goshen.

REPORTED FOR THE PITTSBURGH DAILY GAZETTE

TWO HUNDRED AND TWENTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF THE LANDING OF THE PILGRIMS.—The members of the New England Society met, at the Saint Charles Hotel, on Tuesday evening, to celebrate the two hundred and thirtieth anniversary of the arrival of their pilgrim forefathers. At an early hour the sons and daughters of "gallant old New England" commenced assembling, and spent their time very pleasantly in social conversation until supper was announced, when they all retired to the dining room.

The assembly was called to order by Mr. H. W. Williams, and a blessing pronounced by the Rev. Mr. Howard.

After the guests had partaken of the good things so abundantly spread before them by their worthy host of the Saint Charles, Mr. D. R. Miller, H. W. Williams, Esq., rose and requested them to fill their glasses, and prepare for the regular toasts, which were then read in the following order.

G. F. Gilmore, from the Committee on toasts not being present, sent to the President the following:

Our Pilgrim Fathers—Their mission was to extend the domain of civilization, and lay the corner stone of a Great Republic.

Plymouth Rock—Some call it the "Blarney Stone of America." Let us all kiss it then and be eloquent.

The Plymouth and Jamestown Colonies, and the Colony of William Penn—The three germs of a mighty empire or, Freemen, whose bounds are the shores of a Continent.

Old Plymouth Colony—The mother of six Republics. These children are already of giant stature, but have not "done growing" yet.

The Yankees in Pittsburgh—We are native children of New England, and adopted children of Pennsylvania, and we are proud of both. We will never forget from whence we came, nor where we are.

New England Ladies—Too good to need flattery, too sensible to desire it.

"The Old Thirteen" Colonies—A baker's dozen of rebellious "Spirit" that nearly broke their old mother's heart.

The United States—A common origin, and common interests unite them. Patriot be the band that sever them.

The Surviving Patriots of New England: Starke, Cass, Woodbury, Webster, specimens of the soldiers and statesmen reared amid her granite hills, and nurtured in her common schools.

The Friends we left in New England—affectionate remembrance for the dead—love and good wishes for the living.

The President then rose, and said, that he felt deeply the honor conferred upon him, in calling him to preside over so large and respectable a meeting of the sons and daughters of New England, on an occasion so interesting as the present. It was an honor of which any one might be proud, but at the same time a position which involved no inconsiderable degree of responsibility, and he very much regretted the absence of the talented gentleman, who had presided over their last festive meeting. It was however the duty of all to contribute, however humbly, to the general entertainment, and he would freely give his mite.

This was not an occasion of mere festivity.—They had not assembled only to exchange friendly regards and greetings. Their purpose was higher and holier, since they had come together to show their regard for "the pilgrim fathers," their fathers, the early settlers of New England, and to commemorate their landing on Plymouth rock. This was an event worthy of commemoration in all future ages—it formed an epoch in the history of the world! He did not revere them simply because they were the first to settle on the bleak shores of New England—he loved them chiefly on account of the causes which compelled them to make that settlement—the glory of God, and the advancement of the Christian faith. Ardent lovers of freedom, they yet prized their religious views above all other considerations, and claimed their right to worship God according to the dictates of their own consciences. For this they suffered persecution at home—for this, they were compelled to fly and seek an asylum, first, on the shores of Holland, and next to cross the billows of the broad Atlantic, to find a home on a barren shore, among savage Indians, and beasts of the forest. They came not with an array of pomp and power. Their very name pilgrim was a term of reproach. No fleet protected their frail vessel, the Mayflower. No powerful harbor of the old world lent them aid—They came under the protection of Almighty God, with their bibles open, and their trust reposed in him. In the narrow cabin of the May
