The Daily Post.

MONDAY MORNING::::::JUNE 27, 1859.

☞ DEMOCRATIC STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE—There will be a meeting of the Committee at BUEHLER'S HOTEL, Harrisburg, on WEDNESDAY, the 29th inst., at 2 o'clock, P. M. All the members of the Committee are earnestly requested to be present, as business of importance will claim their attention.

ROBERT TYLER, Chairman.

THE REDUCTION OF THE MAIL SERVICE.

After the 30th of the present month, the Post Office Department has issued orders, that instead of daily mails from this city to Erie, and Franklin, and between here and Steubenville, via the old stage route, the mails shall be carried tri-weekly. The mail from here to Independence, in Washington county, is to be changed from a tri-weekly to a semi-weekly.

This alteration in the Erie mail will affect Butler, Meadville, Mercer and West Greenville. The change in the Washington mail will affect Green Tree, Hernotsville and Canonsburg. That in the Franklin mail will affect Zelienople, Perrysville, Wexford and Brownington.

The Postoffice Department makes these changes in pursuance of a general system of retrenchment, now being carried out by Mr. Dundas, the head of the contract office, under the direction of the Postmaster General. He is just now cutting down the postal service in some of the Middle and Southwestern States, and as fast as time will permit, the process will be carried out generally upon the principle of reduction, established by acceptances of contracts at the recent lettings for the Atlantic States, south of Maryland.

The magnitude of this labor of retrenchment is seen in the fact that the status of most of the routes, in an aggregate of more than 6,000, has to be carefully considered with a view to the abolition of many, and the cutting down of others from daily to tri-weekly or semi-weekly service, and from the latter to weekly. In this way expenditures may be retrenched to the point that they would be, had what is called the "star system" been carried out in years past. The compensation required by railroad companies for carrying the mail is regarded by the department as exorbitant, but it has no power to fix the rates for want of authority of Congress. The State Legislatures that have essayed to aid the department in this respect by legislation have failed of their object, upon the plea of its being violative of chartered rights.

As Congress failed at its last session to make the usual Post Office appropriations, these reductions are necessary. Those referred to as being about to take place in this vicinity will be some what inconvenient, but we must be placed upon an equal footing with other parts of the country.

The discontinuance of the daily mail to Steubenville, will be less felt, from the fact that we shall have a daily mail to that point by the Railroad.

BEAUTIFUL FIRE WORKS.

On Saturday night, Messrs. Reymer & Anderson treated their fellow citizens to a splendid display of Fire Works, on the bank of Allegheny river. The weather was fine, and at the smallest calculation, men, women and children to the number of five thousand people, must have witnessed the display. The pieces set off were of the most splendid description. We never saw such rockets; they went higher, staid up longer, and burned brighter than any ever sent up in this city before.

Messrs. Reymer & Anderson, deserve great credit for the liberal manner in which they have entertained the public. They are the agents of a Cincinnati Pyrotechnic manufactory, which turns out fire works of every description, far surpassing in excellence any which we have ever seen. They have at their store on Wood street, opposite the St. Charles Hotel, a most enormous stock of these splendid fire works for the Fourth of July. As the city authorities here, do not, as in other cities, make any provisions for public amusements of this description, we suggest that some of our liberal fellow citizens get up a subscription, to purchase a lot of these fire works, to be set off on the evening of the Fourth, for the amusement of Young and Old America generally. There are hundreds of persons who would be willing to contribute to such an object, and we hope a subscription paper may be at once put in circulation for the purpose.

Messrs. Reymer & Anderson, are prepared to supply heads of families, with all descriptions of fire works, for the amusement of their little ones at home, in addition to confectionary and fruits of all descriptions, with which to celebrate the Fourth.

Excursion Tickets.

Excursion tickets, good from the 27th to the 30th, on the Pennsylvania road, for those who wish to attend the school exhibition at Loretto and St. Xaviers, near Latrobe. A special train will also leave on Wednesday morning, at 5:50 for Latrobe, and returning, leave for this city at 7, P. M. This will prove an excellent arrangement for those who desire to attend and return with comfort.

Clarion County Democratic Convention.

The Democracy of Clarion country held their Convention and nominated their ticket on Monday the 26th inst. The ticket nominated is an excellent one.

Mr. John M. Fleming, who faithfully represented his constituents in the last legislature, was re-nominated for the Assembly.

James T. Burns, Esq., who as County Commissioner has proved himself a worthy public servant, was nominated for County Treasurer.

Mr. Samuel Kifer, a skillful mechanic and architect, and an upright and honorable Democrat was nominated for County Commission.

Isaac Neely, Esq., a substantial business man, was nominated for County Auditor.

Christian Reichart, a gentleman practically familiar with the business, and who has already filled the office for three years, was nominated for County Surveyor.

With such a ticket, Clarion will give a good Democratic account of herself at the next election.

THE True Press of Saturday, in a post mortem examination of the recent libel suit, in which J. B. Kennedy played the part of plaintiff, deals some heavy blows upon courts and juries, which betrays a very unforgiving disposition accompanied with a hardness of heart, his country subscribers, some of whom were on his jury, will not relish. Think of the True Press calling a jury of eleven men under oath; (the twelfth could not restrain his indignation until the jury retired and was permitted to leave) "fellows who do not care for law." We are sorry for the plaintiff who has to pay the costs, and Mr. Williams who assisted materially in losing the cause. Verily the way of the repudiator is hard.

Two Days' Work at Magenta.

The two days' battle of Magenta swept from existence and placed hors du combat more than twice the standing army of the United States. The whole standing army of the Union numbered, on the first of January, 12,948 men of all ranks, from general officers down to privates. Making every allowance for exaggeration, the losses on both sides must have been between twenty-five and thirty thousand.

What "Consols" Are.

Every one who reads the accounts of the European money markets no doubt desires to know what Consols are. They are three per cent English stock, which had its origin in an act of the British Parliament consolidating (hence the name) separate government stocks into one general stock called in the act "Consolidated Annuities," and commonly quoted for brevity, as the principal of the several funds thus merged amounted to nine millions, one hundred and thirty-seven thousand, three hundred and twenty-one pounds sterling, but, by the fund of additional and subsequent loans and parts of loans into this stock, it amounted, on the 6th of January, 1835, to three hundred and fifty-six millions, seven hundred and sixty-eight thousand, two hundred and seventy-eight pounds sterling. Since that period only one loan has been raised that for compensation to the West India planters, on the emancipation of slaves—twenty million pounds sterling—and a few millions have been paid off. The total at the present time is between three hunred and seventy, and three hundred and seventy-five million pounds sterling. This stock from its amount, and the immense number of its holders, is more sensitive to financial influences than any other, and is, therefore, the favorite stock for the operations of speculators and jobbers. Its dividends are payable semi-annually.

Wheat from Abroad.

The following letter will explain itself, and, perhaps, ease the minds of some of our farmers, who appear to be most troubled on the starvation question:

MERCHANTS' HOTEL,
PHILADELPHIA, June 23, 1859.

MR. BARR—Dear Sir:—It may be of interest to many of the citizens in the "frosted district," and others who have predicated their opinions in regard to high prices of breadstuffs in the future season, to learn that a cargo of wheat from Havre, France, amounting to sixteen thousand bushels, was this day landed and duties paid, at the Custom House, in this city. Such is the fact.

Chambers McKibben, Esq., has furnished me with a sample of the wheat procured from the vessel. It is of fine quality and in regard to cleanliness would put to shame many of our western farmers. It has been sold at about ten cents per bushel above our best western wheat, and affords a good profit to the shipper.

It is more important from the lesson it teaches us, that whilst we have been indulging in the prospect of enhanced prices for our bread stuffs in consequence of the "fighting armies" of Europe, there is being shipped us wheat at a profit, and that from a close proximity to the theatre of war.

Yours, truly,
L. WILMARTH.

A Naturalized Woman.

The application of a German woman, in Lancaster county, Pa., for naturalization, has elicited a number of editorial scintillations on the general subject of woman's rights, "spheres," etc., etc. Whether the individual in question is "strong minded," desires to vote, an office-seeker, or an humble advocate of equal rights, and "no taxation without representation," there is nothing very remarkable in the proceeding of naturalizing a woman. It has been frequently done in this country. Indeed, the process is, we believe, precisely the same as for the other sex. Citizenship, however, does not carry with it the elective franchise. The right to vote is conferred on citizens, or on certain of them, by special statutes. All native-born women are citizens socially, but not politically. Each State has the right, legally, to permit women to vote, as it has naturalized foreigners.

Death of Dr. Bailey.

The Persia brought intelligence of the death of Dr. Bailey, editor of the National Era, who died on the Arago, on the 5th inst., while en route to Europe, for the benefit of his health. Dr. Bailey was born at Mount Holly, N. J., in 1807, but was educated in Philadelphia, where his father removed when he was a child. Receiving the degree of M. D. at the age of twenty-one, he went to Canton as ship surgeon, and returning, took charge, at Baltimore, of the Methodist Protestant, as editor. In 1836 he assisted Mr. James G. Birney as editor of an Abolition journal in Cincinnati. In 1847 he was selected as the editor of the anti-slavery paper at Washington, in which position he continued to the time of his death. The novel of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" first appeared in his columns. The death of Dr. Bailey will be regarded as a serious blow by a large circle of friends and admirers.

ANTONIO AND WILDER'S WORLD CIRCUS.

As far as announcements have yet been made, the only public amusement which we shall have in our city on the Fourth, except the Theatre, is to be Antonio & Wilder's Great World Circus. It will commence its exhibitions on the Trimble Hotel lot, on Friday of the present week, and will continue until the Fourth. On that day it will give a series of capital performances, and all persons from a distance who may visit the city will have an opportunity to see the Circus without interfering with any other amusements which they may have laid out for the day. The World Circus numbers many of the best performers in the country, and in addition to the equestrian, acrobatic and gymnastic performances, has a Fire King who executes the most astonishing feats. The entertainment which Messrs. Antonio & Wilder offers is a first class one in all respects.

Fourth of July.

Arrangements on a large scale have been made by the managers of St. Paul's Orphan Asylum for a monster pic-nic, at Denny's Grove, on the fourth of July, for the benefit of the Orphan Asylum. Trains will run to the grounds every half hour all day.

Mrs. Partington and Ike.

A new book by Mrs. Partington is one of the most agreeable literary announcements which we can make to the thousands who have laughed and grown fat over her unique sayings. The old lady has been sometime preparing a volume, which she has christened "Knitting-work, a Web of many textures," and in a few weeks Messrs. Brown, Taggard & Chase, the fortunate publishers, will issue it in a very attractive form. It will be handsomely illustrated by Hoppin, who has caught the spirit of the work, and represented both Mrs. Partington and Ike in many of their peculiarities, with unusual felicity.

A CHANCE FOR A FOURTH OF JULY "SPLURGE."—The following sophomoric flight taken from the letter of Hon. John M. Botts, in reply to Secretary Cass, on the naturalization question, will do for some youngster who may be ambitious of making a "splurge" on the coming fourth:

"When one plants himself under the protection of the American eagle, which he is pledged and sworn to support and defend; when he enrolls his name on the ample folds of the stars and stripes of this great American Union, he is free to go wherever the winds and waves may carry him: the eye of that eagle watches over every step, that flag waves proudly over his head, whether he is upon the land or upon the water, in a palace or a dungeon; and the power that dares to interfere with his personal liberty whilst he is engaged in lawful enterprise, and not offending against the criminal or penal code of that power, dishonors that eagle and disgraces that flag to which he appeals for his deliverance, if it does not afford him prompt relief and redress."

We'll back that against any sophomoric flight of the next holiday.

GOV. BANKS, of Massachusetts, is at the Astor House, New York.

A VOICE FROM THE SPIRIT LAND

By a defunct cow, of good promise, who came to her death in a most cruel and heart-rending manner, on Saturday the 18th of June, 1859.

Why this everlasting killing,
Killing of the gentle cattle;
Cattle, railroad-men do cut off,
As they carry inland trade on.
Wretches are you! thus to kill us,
And to cause the tears of women,
Ever kind and gentle women,
To flow out in endless torrents;
Torrents deeper far and darker,
Than e'er flowed from Alpine gorges,
When the stream beneath the sunshine
From the avalanches rushes,
Rushes headlong to the main.
Women, (Railroad-men), will curse you;
Curse you now and evermore,
Use their influence to secure you,
On the dark "Plutonian shore,"
All the hottest, hellish places,
The Dominion will afford.
Capt. B——n, Mac and C——n,
P——k S. and all the rest,
Will you listen to our crying?
Will you hear the cry of orphans,*
Orphans starving and forsaken;
And the tears which women shed,
Shed above us night and morning,
When their children cry for milk?
If you don't, then, by the shadows,
Shadows deep upon the shore,
We will haunt you with our bawling,
Bawling, bawling, evermore;
Bawling as you pass the rock-pit,
In the gloomy winter night;
Bawling, as in Summer twilight,
Spectral horns rush on the track—
Bawling as you near the city,
Bawling in the dead of night.
Beef and butter, "cheese" and "Ice Cream,"
Ne'er shall pass your guilty lips.
But a sound, like loudest thunder,
Fiercer than the "Bulls of Bashan,"
Fiercer than the Lion's roaring,
Shall salute you, all astounding,
Bawling, bawling evermore.

*The calves.

The above lines were found upon the Head Board of the newly dug grave of the animal complaining. They are attributed, (conjecturally) to a young lady of "Wit," and that, as will be seen sharp "set," residing in the neighborhood of the scene of the tragedy, which, although not a hundred miles from this city, shall be nameless, as it is not intended to lay specially to the charge of one Railroad, the coward crimes which all alike commit.

Dead Letters.

An article in the Constitution, of June 22d, pronounces the Postoffice Department blameless for the accumulation in such large numbers of dead letters, and says that the evil is almost entirely beyond the control of the Postoffice Department, or of Congress, except in so far as they may direct the attention of the public to its cause. The cause of this the writer attributes to negligence on the part of persons in misdirecting letters, illegibility of writing or want of prepayment of postage.

Death of an Old Pittsburgher.

We learn with regret the death of John Forsyth, formerly Sheriff of this county, at his residence in Minnesota, in the town of Cleveland, where he had removed about two years since. He was seventy years of age at the time of his decease.

GENERAL JOCHMUS, who has recently entered the Austrian army with the rank of Field Marshal Lieutenant, is a soldier of fortune. He is a native of the free city of Hamburg, and was, during the Greek struggle for independence, an ardent Philohelfenist, having entered the Greek service at an early period. Afterwards he served in the English army in the Peninsular war, then in the Syrian campaign, and thereupon he was appointed Turkish General of Division and pasha of two tails. Subsequently he returned to Germany, and in 1849, was appointed Minister of Marine under the late Austrian Archduke John, then Regent of the German Confederation.

A CINCINNATI PAPER says that an economical couple from Iowa, arrived at Alexandria, Mo., a few days ago, to get married. The groom had neither hat, coat nor waistcoat, but Justice Spencer kindly loaned him those needy garments, and then tied the knot for the pair. When the ceremony was over, the groom told the "Squire" that he "hadn't a red" but would like to trade him a pet wolf, if they could agree on the terms. The "Squire" took the varment and gave the happy bridegroom one dollar to boot.

DESCRIBING the opening of Parliament, the London Times makes happy allusion to the United States Minister. It is satisfactorily personal: "All the space allowed to the Diplomatic Corps is full, and blazes at every point with ribands, stars, and orders of every kind. Conspicuous among them all, in his plain evening dress and snow white hair, is the American Minister, Mr. Dallas, a striking type, if we may so call him, of the simple institutions of the great Republic which he represents so well."

WALTER HUNT, the most extensive American inventor and experimenter, died in New York last week, at the advanced age of eighty-three, a poor man. His useful record is thus summed up by the city papers, and what more could be said to establish his claims to the world's regard?

He originated the sewing machine, spinning flax by machinery, the first nail machine, the first machine for cutting brads by one operation, placing plugs in leather for the soles of boots and shoes, a method of constructing docks by concrete, preparing a paper pulp so as to form boxes by one operation; the vapor baths, the ball known as the minnie ball for the rifle, many improvements in fire arms, printing by rollers instead of balls, and so many other things our space will not admit of details. Walter Hunt, like most inventors, devoted his life to his friends rather than to himself, was liberal to a fault, and none knew but to love him. He struggled with that monster, the dollar, all his life, in hopes of mastering; but his numberless experiments kept him always poor.

OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES sent two poetical letters to the "postoffice" of an Episcopal Fair at Pittsfield, Mass. In one of them the first stanza was:

"Fair lady, whose'er thou art,
Turn this poor leaf with tenderest care,
And—hush, O hush thy breathing heart—
The ONE thou lovest will be there."

On turning the "poor leaf" there was found a one dollar bill with some verses, beginning:

"Fair lady, lift thine eyes, and tell
If this is not a truthful letter.
This is the one (1) thou lovest well
And nought (0) can make thee love it better.
(10.")

A German Israelite on the War in Europe.

The Cincinnati Israelite, whose editor, Dr. Wise, is a German, is amazed and indignant at the German sympathy for Austria. He says:

"But, as a German, we can sympathize only with Italy and France in this struggle, as Kossuth, Vogt, Klapka, Garibaldi, and even the democrats of Vienna do. As long as Austria can hold Italy and Hungary in bondage with Bohemian, Moravian, German and Styrian regiments, and vice versa, she is too powerful to think of a change of her perfidious and priest-ridden policy. Her political machine operates so wonderfully that change is imprudent. But let her be driven from Hungary and Italy, and she sinks down to a second-rate power, even in Germany; she must make concessions to maintain herself as a German power; she must become as liberal at least as Prussia, and much is gained for the people. But let her be victorious in this struggle, and the nations will again groan under the crushing weight of priestcraft and iron despotism."

BISHOP ODENHEIMER has accepted the appointment to the vacant bishopric of New Jersey, and will soon be consecrated at Richmond, Va. The suggestion of his friends in Philadelphia in regard to the establishment of a permanent fund in the New Jersey diocese, to insure the payment of the Bishop's salary, has been listened to, and a subscription for that purpose already opened.

Effects of Naturalization.

The New York Tribune, in a dignified and common sense article on the above subject, concludes:

"Practically, however, the inconveniences likely to arise from the doctrine of perpetual allegiance, are confined within narrow limits. There seem to be only two cases in which the naturalized citizen is likely to find himself in danger from the claims upon him by his native country. So long as the country of his birth, and the country of his adoption, remain at peace with each other, and so long as he avoids going back to set up in his native country his acquired rights as against his original obligations, no claims seem likely to be made upon him on the part of his original sovereign. During the war of 1812, between us and Great Britain, the latter country set up a right on her part to treat and punish as traitors such native-born British subjects as might be taken in arms against her, notwithstanding they might at the same time be naturalized citizens of the United States. Twenty-three Irishmen found among the prisoners taken by the British at the battle of Queenstown, were denied the treatment of prisoners of war, and were sent to England to be tried for treason. This movement was promptly met by the passage of an act of Congress authorizing the President to retaliate on British prisoners of war any treatment which these naturalized citizens might undergo; and under the authority of this act the President ordered the close confinement of twenty-three British soldiers, to abide the fate of the Irishmen taken at Queenstown. Gen. Provost, then commanding in Canada, responded, under special orders from England, by the close confinement of twice the number of American officers and non-commissioned officers, with a threat, if this practice were continued, of unmitigated severity against the American cities and villages. President Madison replied by shutting up a like number of British officers, and with threats to retort any further severities in which the British might indulge. Thereupon Prevost ordered all his prisoners into close confinement—an example which Madison immediately followed. Happily, however, this aggravating system soon came to an end. Some of the imprisoned American officers were released on parole, and were made the bearers of a message that the twenty-three Irishman sent to England had not been brought to trial, but remained on the ordinary footing of prisoners of war. This speedily led to a dismissal on parole of all the officers, prisoners on both sides. But the British Government, in thus receding, sought to cover its retreat by a proclamation, recalling all its subjects from foreign service, granting pardons for all past treasons of this sort on the score of probable ignorance, but threatening to punish as traitors all subjects taken in the service of any hostile power after four months from the date of the proclamation—an empty threat, never attempted to be executed. Nor, indeed, is it likely that this claim to the exclusive military service of its natural born subjects will ever again be revived.

On the other hand, our Government has conceded that naturalized citizens returning to their native country, thereby subject themselves to the fulfilment of and obligations of military service which existed against them at the period of their emigration. Mr. Cass, however, in his latest announcement on this subject, makes the distinction that, though if actually in the army or drawn for service at the period of emigration, the obligation to serve still remains good against them; they are not, after their return, liable to any new enrollment, but are entitled to plead against it their acquired American citizenship.

Soldiers of the Revolutionary War.

The Pension Office had upon its rolls on the 30th of June, 1858, the names of 253 revolutionary soldiers. Of this small remnant of heroes, information has been received that during the succeeding half year 46 went to their long account, leaving upon the first day of the present year 207 survivors. The ages of some of these soldiers are stated to have been from 100 to 103 years. Thus is dwindling away the small number of that gallant band which has come down to us from a former generation, to pass forever from the earth before this generation shall have finished its work.

At the period above referred to, there were 4,209 widows of revolutionary soldiers upon the pension rolls, and in six months death diminished that number by 295. Of those living at the beginning of this year 45 were the wives of revolutionary soldiers before the termination of the great struggle.

Hon. Robert J. Walker.

Within a few days we have observed that several papers have alluded to the reconciliation which has recently taken place between the President and the Hon. Robert J. Walker, and have sought by innuendo to make it appear that the renewal of friendly intercourse between these gentlemen was the result of certain conditions and concessions. We know that such an inference is utterly untrue; and that while the President is deeply gratified that amicable relations with his valued friend and former colleague are restored, no terms were made and no political concessions of any kind were proposed or agreed to either by Mr. Walker or himself.—Constitution.

A CASE OF THREE MONTHS STANDING CURED.

GEO. W. I have had one attack since, but found almost instantaneous relief in the same medicine. It is in my opinion, a sure remedy for Rheumatism."

Read Carefully.—The Genuine highly Concentrated Boerhave's Holland Bitters is put up in half pint bottles only, and retailed at one dollar per bottle. ### Vegetable Substitute for Calomel and Blue-Pill.

BRANDRETH'S VEGETABLE UNIVERSAL PILLS, by restoring the bowels to their original daily and natural action, give strength to the stomach, purify the blood, re-establish the healthy condition of the digestive organs, and thus cure dyspepsia, colds, coughs, rheumatisms, dropsies, and sickness generally, whether chronic or recent. The celebrated Abernethy says:—"After having cured the derangement of the bowels, debility and all diseases generally disappear of their own accord, even in a short time." The experience of a century has established the worth of these Pills beyond dispute, as a purgative anti-bilious medicine; and their use by upwards of 4,900 conscientious physicians, and by over a million of families, shows that they are supplying one of the wants of humanity, and are in advance of medical science. The above pills, although purely vegetable, are now known and used as a substitute for calomel (Hydrargyri Chloridum Mite) producing all its alterative and other indications, with none of its disorganizing effects upon the solids—often crippling for life—or its distressing action upon the teeth and gums. The prepared concentration from the same principles—the Life Addition Pills—is a substitute for blue-pill (Pilulæ Hydrargyri) possessing the peculiar action on the secreting organs, of that preparation from mercury, but none of its salivating or other injurious effects. Those who have used them, as a blue-pill substitute or otherwise, award to them the highest praise. They come nearer to a concentrated Essence of Life than anything yet made, in the way of medicine, by man. A single pill given daily, when all hope has fled, has often restored health. In fact, they supply an organic principle to the blood, always wanting in extreme cases of sickness. Old people have the secretions of early youth restored by the Life Addition Pills. Their value as life preservers is beyond estimate.

Brandreth's Vegetable Universal Pills remove from the bowels and blood of a sick person the cause of death. THE LIFE ADDITION PILLS SUPPLY THE ORGANIC NECESSITY OF THE BLOOD'S VITALITY—the minute globules of vegetable essences, of which they are but the concretion, have their exact counterpart in the vital globules of the blood. And from whence does the blood derive its life, its globules? verily from the same source from whence Dr. Brandreth derives the life principle of the Life Addition Pills—from the Vegetable Kingdom!

These pills, as also the Universal, are warranted purely vegetable. Retailed respectively at 25 and 50 cents. Physicians and the public supplied by the gross, or single box, at No. 294 Canal street, Brandreth's Principal Office; by Thomas Redpath, No. 27 Diamond street, Pittsburgh, Pa., and by all respectable dealers in medicines. je27:1mdaw
