CITY MATTERS.

The Flood in Jefferson County.

The Brookville Jeffersonian gives an account of the flood of the 27th ult., in that locality, as follows:

At dusk, the water in Sandy Lick and the North Fork began to rise rapidly, and in a very short time the lowlands were inundated. The bridge over the North Fork was torn away and borne down the current to the lower part of town, where it lodged and still remains. Litch's steam saw mill was filled with timber and drift, and the dam considerably injured: his machine shop was sadly disordered, and the old grist mill made a narrow escape.—Litch's loss is estimated to be very heavy; but, with that commendable perseverance which has always characterized the man, he has went to work with a lot of hands and is now rapidly repairing the damages, and we opine that before many days pass by, the property will have an entirely different appearance from what it has at present.

The foundry of Messrs. Brown & Wann was in great danger. O. H. and James Brown were in the foundry at the time, anxiously awaiting the subsiding of the water, while their friends felt intense anxiety fear for their safety. On Saturday morning they were released from their perilous situation. The foundry was filled with mud, and the patterns, machinery, etc, were more or less injured. A large frame dwelling house, occupied by John P. Wann and Mr. Barr, was moved from its foundation and carried to the lower side of Pickering street—the occupants, seeing their danger, had deserted the premises.—The loss to Messrs. Brown & Wann is considerable. The house recently occupied by Richard Espy and Mr. Engel was carried a considerable distance down the creek. Barr's grist mill was filled with water and his dwelling house was submerged—boards, pieces of rafts and logs lodged against the house, almost concealing it behind the huge pile. The White street bridge, though not swept away, received a hard shock, rendering it impassible without repairs. Philip Taylor's property shows the marks of the flood, it having sustained no little damage—a portion of the water at Taylor's dam seceded, cutting a deep channel east of the house. R. J. Nicholson's family were driven from their house by the destructive element and took shelter in the house of Lorenzo Haskell, who assisted them in their escape. Nicholson's house and furniture was badly damaged. The mill dam is also somewhat injured. A family named Doubles remained in their house until the fast rising water seemed to cut off all hope of escape—Alarmed at their situation, they gave vent to their fear in shrieks which brought Lorenzo Haskell and others to their aid, who carried the smallest members of the family through the water and the larger ones were placed on pieces of boards and thus conveyed to terra firma. That pleasant spot at Nicholson's appeared like one vast swamp. Many other persons have sustained heavy damages, but we have not learned the particulars, neither would we have room for its insertion. Suffice it to say that nearly every person living along the streams, or owning lumber in the streams or on the banks, have met with more or less loss.

HOW TO KNIT STOCKINGS.—As stocking-knitting is to be the fashionable employment of the ladies during the coming fall and winter, and as probably a few of our patriotic young ladies have neglected their education in this useful art, we copy for their benefit the following directions, which we find in an exchange, from an experienced knitter, how to knit stockings for the soldiers: "Set up twenty-eight or thirty stitches on a needle; rib two stitches; knit plain seven inches before setting the heel; form the heel by knitting twenty-three stitches each side of the seam, taking off the first stitch without knitting; length of heel, before narrowing, three inches; narrow the heel by knitting ten stitches plain; knit two together; knit plain to within three of the seam; knit two together, one plain, and turn the seam; knit one plain, slip and bind one stitch; knit plain to within twelve of the end of the needle; slip and bind; knit ten plain; knit back plain; knit thus until the narrowings meet; knit back on wrong side to seam; then double together on the wrong side; knit two together and bind off to one stitch; take up the loops to the left hand, and knit five stitches off to the instep needle on to that one, knit off the instep needle, and take five off the other end, to add to the right side of the heel, and then take up the loops; knit one round all plain; knit three stitches and widen, by taking up a loop between all across, to within seven of the end of the needle; then narrow on the first side, by knitting two together, and knit five off plain; knit instep needle plain; knit five, and narrow on the last needle by slipping and binding one stitch; then widen as before, but only this one round. Now narrow every other round, as before, until you have twenty-four stitches on a needle; knit plain four inches; narrow the toe on the needle to left of instep needle; by knitting one plain slip, and bind; then knit plain to within three stitches of the end of the needle; knit two together and one plain; then narrow, as before, knitting three plain rounds between each narrowing; then knit two rounds between, to twelve stitches on each needle; narrow every other round to the close."

AND STILL THEY COME.—Jefferson county has done nobly in raising volunteers for the defence of our flag, but is still going on with the good work. Another company is being formed for Colonel McKnight's rifle regiment, to be called the Jefferson Phalanx. It is proposed to have every township and borough in the county represented, and it will form the picked company of the regiment, and will be armed with the celebrated Springfield rifles. As an inducement to prompt and speedy action in the matter, Col. McKnight proposes to present a beautiful sword or flag to that township or borough which first reports the number of enlistments allotted to it.—In the same county Lieut. S. C. Arthurs, who was in the three months' service with Capt. Wise, is raising a company styled the United Eagles, which he intends marching to the seat of war as soon as he gets a full company. Lieut. A. was three months in actual service.

ARMY SURGEONS.—A misunderstanding seems to have existed in the minds of many as to the meeting of the Medical Board of Examiners, from this State, now assembled at Washington city. It meets only for the examination of surgeons and assistants in such existing regiments as are now there assembled, and for none others.

COL. WILSON, of Beaver, who had six companies in camp, has been authorized to take command of Camp Fremont, where Col. Hultz had four companies, and form a regiment with the two fractions. Colonel Wilson has accordingly been elected Colonel and D. B. Morris Lieutenant Colonel.

OIL REFINERY.—An oil refinery located on the bank of the Allegheny river, near Lawrenceville, took fire on Wednesday evening and six or seven barrels of oil were burned. The same establishment was burned down last winter, just after being put in operation.

PASSENGER TRAINS commenced running on the Pittsburgh and Connellsville Railroad yesterday, the first leaving the new depot, corner of Ross and Breckinridge streets, at 3:40 in the afternoon.

THE last detachment of Capt. McFarland's company, for the Thirteenth regiment, left for Washington at four o'clock yesterday afternoon.

1ST EDITION.

BY TELEGRAPH.

From Gen. Rosecrans's Army.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 10.—The Commercial's Kanawha advices say that Gen. Rosecrans is at Mountain Cove, a strong position, twenty-five miles beyond Gauley. He had advanced ten miles further, to Little Sewell, but the enemy was too well intrenched and too strong at Big Sewell, five miles further on, to be attacked, and Gen. Rosecrans fell back, as an invitation to come out and have a fair fight. There was no expectation of an attempt by the enemy to force his position.

The weather in Gauley region was terribly bad. Rain falls almost incessantly.—Rosecrans's troops are well clothed and have plenty of overcoats and blankets.

The fight at Chapmanville was a sharp and bloody affair. Five of Pistt's Zouaves were killed. The rebels lost 85 killed.

A dispatch from Gen. Reynolds to Governor Morton, dated Huttonsville, October 8, says: "The enemy in our front on Huttonsville road has been driven to Greenbriar Springs, twenty miles beyond Big Springs, their late rendezvous. They are about 50 miles from Elkwater and 120 from Great Mountain. The roads to Huttonsville are impassable for wheels. The enemy destroyed hundreds of muskets, tents, camp equipage, &c. Several wagons fell into our hands.

From Fortress Monroe,

FORTRESS MONROE, Oct. 9.—Brigadier General Williams has not yet left for Hatteras Inlet, the revenue cutter Cowin having been detained by the severe gale now prevailing.

The tug Young America, while engaged in sounding the channel of the James river yesterday, exchanged several shots with the Pig Point battery. Several shells exploded near the tug, but did no harm.

The Union gun is now mounted so as to sweep the roads between the Fortress and Sewall's Point.

General Wool and Quartermaster Tallmadge have recommended to the Quartermaster General the quartering of the troops at Old Point and Newport News for the winter in comfortable wooden houses, built so as to accommodate two or three companies each. This plan will doubtless be adopted.

General Lee Driven from Big Spring.

ELKWATER, Oct. 10.—General Reynolds has made two reconnoissances in force within the last few days against Gen. Lee and has driven him from Big Spring, the former rendezvous of his main forces. Part of the force is now at Elk Mountain and Greenbrier Bridge, respectively 30 and 40 miles from here, and part of it, under Lee, is said to have joined Floyd. At Big Spring they destroyed the camp equipage and ammunition and burnt several hundred muskets, wagons, &c. The road is absolutely impassable for wagons, beyond a point twelve miles from Elkwater.

The Pennsylvania Election.

ERIE, PA., Oct. 10.—Lowry, the Republican candidate, has been elected to the State Senate over the Union candidate, in the 27th Legislative District.
