The Fire on Oil Creek.

We copy the following account of the late fire on Oil Creek from the Oil City Register:

It would appear that on yesterday afternoon about three o'clock a fire broke out on the Blood farm, at its intersection with the Tarr farm. The fire first broke out in the tanks of Mr. H. D. Filkins. As to how the fire originated there is considerable diversity of opinion. Without any prejudice, we merely think it must have caught from some of the numerous engines in the immediate vicinity of the Filkins well.

The space burnt over embraces from eighteen to twenty acres. Most of this was on the Blood farm, it what was called Maple Grove. In this grove was the Filkin, Lloyd, and several other wells. Oil has been stored in this locality for the last three months, and of course a large quantity was on hand. Here, as well as above, the oil tanks were standing close together, intermingled with engine-houses, offices, &c. On this territory were stored some 30,000 barrels of oil, in tanks and barrels, beside some ten wells, seven of which were flowing. All that human foresight and exertion could do was done, but it was all in vain. It is true that some houses, and the refineries of Messrs. Barrows & Scott and Battles & Co., were saved, but the remaining portion of the ground was burnt over.

About six o'clock the fire ceased raging, for the simple reason that there was little or nothing left to burn. The whole space before occupied by tanks, wells, engine houses, offices and dwellings was swept clean. Maple Grove, which we have often admired as one of the finest ornaments of Oil Creek, is no more. The charred and blackened trees will long remain a monument of this sad disaster.

During the conflagration Oil Creek took fire and presented a grand sight. By the united exertions of the people assembled, the fire was put out. From a hasty examination, we should think the loss will not fall far short of $100,000. Some 25,000 or 30,000 barrels of oil were consumed, together with numerous engines, &c. The oil men took their losses cooly, and were re-building their derricks amidst the smoking ruins. During the fire there were no explosions, thus clearly demonstrating that crude petroleum is non-explosive.—But we shall attend to this matter at length in our next. The following are some of the principal sufferers:

Tarr Farm.—American Petroleum Co. Loss $1,000. Smith & Curwin—Loss $3,000. Densmore, Bros. & Co.—Loss $2,500.

Blood Farm.—Lehigh Co.—Loss $5,000. Collins well.—Loss $3,500. Burning and Crane and Stowe well, Barrows and Scott Loss $2,000. Steele Jackson & Co.—Loss $2,500. C. J. Loyd & Co.—Loss $5,000. Filkins well—loss $5,000. Painter and Lauffer—Loss 6,500. Lee's well—Loss $2 500. Maple Grove well—Loss $3,500. Celley and Patterson Refinery—Loss $4,000. Arner's well—Loss $1,200.—Duncan well Loss $1,500. Richardson & Copeland—Loss $1,800.

Seasonable.

A new work from the press of Carleton, New York, has just made its appearance and is for sale here by Henry Miner, Fifth street. It is entitled "The Slave Power; Its Character, Career and Probable Designs" and is an attempt to explain the real issues involved in the present contest. The author is J. E. Cairns, M. A., Professor in Queen's College, Galway, late of the Dublin University, and is very ably written. It may throw new light on the all engrossing subject.

Horses.

The Neptune Fire Co. have procured a fine team of horses for their new steamer.

Their Last Rally.

The Republicans, comprising "all the loyalty," held their last meeting yesterday evening on Smithfield street, in front of the Custom House. The crowd was not large, (though it embraced many Democrats) and exhibited little enthusiasm. Ex-Mayor Wilson presided. Speeches were made by Gen. Moorhead, who replied as best he could to charges made against him during the campaign, and soundly berated the "traitorous Hughes Democracy," alluding to the contest of to-day as one between the United States government and the rebel Confederacy; by Dr. M'Cook, who followed in the same vein, and called himself a Douglas Democrat, while acknowledging in the same breath that he voted for Lincoln; and by Thomas M. Marshall, who boasted loudly of what he would do if interrupted, and dissected the speech of Mr. Witte on Saturday night, which seems to sit heavily upon the opposition.

The principal achievement of the evening, outside of the speeches, was the arrest of a soldier, wounded in one of the battles on the Peninsula, who presumed to propose three cheers for Gen. McClellan, and was quite unceremoniously taken to the tombs by one of the Mayor's police.

Democratic Meeting at Sharpsburg.

Pursuant to a call a meeting of the Democrtic citizens of Sharpsburg and vicinity, which was organized by calling Francis A. Klein to the chair and John Eberle as Secretary, after which A. J. Baker was introduced (one of the candidates for Assembly,) who made a very able and affective speech, advocating the Constitution as the only safeguard of the Union. The meeting was adjourned with three cheers for the speaker, the Union, Constitution and three cheers for our able commander, Gen. Geo. B. McClellan.

No Draft.

The County Executive Committee have completed a list of 4,000 volunteers to whom they have paid bounty during the past two months. This is to be carefully compared with the enrollments and all whose names do not appear there will be added to the roll of enlisted soldiers. It is confidently believed that 1,500 to 2,000 new names will thus be found, for which the county has yet received no credit. As we will, with the credits in the Third Ward and elsewhere, have a deficiency of only about 500, this will give us an excess of at least 1,000 over our quota of 10,653. We can now assure our readers that they need be under no apprehension of a draft in Allegheny county. For this we are indebted to the active exertions of many citizens, but more particularly to the gentlemen of the Executive Committee, who, when all other means had failed to show the number for which we are really entitled to credit, came up, after weeks of hard labor, with a record that cannot be disputed and which must give us an overplus.

The First Virginia Regiment.

What remains of this fine body of men, some 320 rank and file, reached the city yesterday morning and left for Wheeling in the afternoon to join their brigade, Gen. Milroy's. The First Virginia was one of the earliest regiments in the field and has seen hard service, conducting itself creditably in the recent battles in Virginia and Maryland. Major Weltie was in command, Col. Thoburn being dangerously ill. The Subsistence Committee furnished the regiment with a substantial dinner and sent them on their way rejoicing.

Charity Concert.

The Turners gave an exhibition at Concert Hall last evening for the benefit of the inhabitants of New Ulm, Minnesota, a settlement destroyed by the Indians last August. All the singing societies of the city took part and the entertainment was an excellent one. The attendance was large and the progeeds will reach a handsome sum.

The Arsenal Sufferers.

Nancy Fleming, another sufferer, by the arsenal explosion, died on Sunday, at the residence of her parents in the Ninth Ward.

Messrs. Vierheller & Roessing have collected $37 for the fund, which will be paid over to the committee.

Surgical Anatomy.

Dr. John Hatch Power is the author of a valuable work to the student of physiology or medicine, entitled "Surgical Anatomy of the Arteries," just published by J. B. Lippincott & Co. It is ably written and the illustrations, with accompanying descriptions, give the unprofessional reader a very clear idea of the structure, position and nature of the veins and arteries. The book is for sale by Kay & Co., Wood street.

No More Lint Wanted.

The following is an extract from the letter of the Secretary of the United States Sanitary Commission, Washington, Oct. 7th, to the Superintendent of the Philadelphia depository:

"Lint bandages and old linen have reached us in such enormous quantities that we have been obliged to hire a storeroom for no other purpose than to store away the surplus five hundred barrels. Please, therefore, discourage their further manufacture in your district, and endeavor to turn the energies of the people toward the making of under-clothes and the knitting of socks instead."

Pittsburgh Soldier Dead.

Patrick Gallagher, co. H, 63d regiment, died in one of the hospitals at Washington on Wednesday. He was from this city, and his relatives reside here.

Passed Through.

J. E. McDonough, an actor of considerable note, passed through our city on Sunday, en route for Cincinnati, where he has an engagement. He plays here in January next.

Burglary.

On Sunday night Claney's carpenter shop, on East Common, Allegheny, was entered and robbed of a quantity of tools. The thieves escaped without detection.

Les Miserables.

The last number of Victor Hugo's popular novel is out, entitled "Jean Valjean." It will, of course, be read by all who have perused the other parts of this powerful fiction. It for sale by Henry Miner, Fifth street.

Meeting at West Newton.

A correspondent informs us that an enthusiastic meeting of the Democracy was held at West Newton on last Tuesday evening. Dr. M. P. McClauchan presided and Hon. John L. Dawson made one of his characteristic speeches, able, eloquent and pointed.

To be Returned.

Subscribers to the Corcoran fund can have their prorata share of the unexpended funds returned on application to Mr. A. McTighe, Treasurer, Fifth street.

Surgeon General.

Dr. John S. King, of this city, who has been for some time a Brigade Surgeon in the Pennsylvania Reserves, has been appointed to the position of Surgeon General, in the place of Dr. H. H. Smith, of Philadelphia.

Gens. Bragg and Cheatham Believed to be Killed

Important Papers Captured.

Beauregard's Plan of the Western Campaign.

Military Operations in Missouri.

THE NEW YORK BANK STATEMENT

&c., &c., &c., &c.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—It is understood that a dispatch from Gen. Boyle, dated at Louisville, 10 o'clock P. M., received last evening, says it is generally believed that the rebel Generals Bragg and Cheatham were both killed in the engagement of last Wednesday near Bardstown. Our loss in killed, wounded and missing was between 1,500 and 2,000, while that of the enemy was much larger. We held the field on that night and skirmished with them in their retreat. The next morning when this dispatch left Louisville, a carrier was expected to arrive in the course of the night bringing the details of the pursuit and the battle which was probably fought yesterday. Gen. Boyle expresses his belief in the truth of the account of the killing of Bragg and Cheatham in the action of Wednesday.

Important papers were sometime ago captured by General Buell while being transmitted to Brigadier General Thomas Jordan, Assistant Adjutant General of the rebel army, at Chattanooga, Tenn. These papers include confidential letters from General Beauregard, both to Adjutant General and Inspector Cooper and General Bragg, specifically laying down plans for military operations in the West and South-west, by which our forces were effectually concentrated to meet the demonstrations recently made in pursuance of it. According to Beauregard's programme the offensive point of the rebels were first Louisville and then concentrate, and he was particular in stating how best to reach them from Chattanooga, with Buell at Huntsville. It was his opinion a detachment could take Louisville, while the main body would be marching to Cincinnati. He contemplated the construction of a work at the former city for the command of the Ohio and the canal, and the destruction of the canal as soon as possible so completely that the future traveler would hardly know where it was. To keep the command of Cincinnati he would construct a strong work heavily armed at Covington. Copies of these important letters will soon be furnished to the country through the press.

It will be gratifying to the public to know that arrangements for the organization of the camp hospital and ambulance corps of the well matured and systematic plan of Mr. H. M. Pierce, will be completed in a few days. Only the best material will be received into this important body. It will consist of at least 12,000 men. Each member will have to give a testimonial of good moral character and sound mind and body. Mr. Pierce will be happy to receive any suggestions and facts concerning the wants, materials and organization of his corps until 259 Insts., at No. 437 Fifth Avenue, New York. His manual for the instruction and drill of those enlisting in the service will form a part of Gen. Halleck's new military work of the United States Army now about ready for press.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., 13.—Papers and dispatches dated as late as the 6th inst., have been received by Gen. Combs, from Arkansas. Hindman was then at Duval's Bluffs. Parsons was represented as moving towards Northern Missouri, and seeking to unite his forces with Steam and McBride, at Pocahontas.

The rebel commander Holmes was at Little Rock.

Gen. Schofield had arrived at Cassville, in Barry county, near the Arkansas line. Southwestern Missouri is once more cleared of rebel forces and the telegraph communication is complete to Cassville.—Two divisions of the army are left at Helena under Gen. Carr.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13.—The Pennsylvania Railroad Company have recieved a dispatch from an irresponsible source, conveying, on the assertions of a reliable gentleman, information of the same nature as the Inquirer's dispatch in relation to invasion; but they have received no confirmation from any official on the road, and place no confidence in it. The rumor is supposed by some to be gotten up for political purposes.

BUFFALO, October 13.—The propeller Tonawanda, of the Western Transportation Line, on going out of the harbor yesterday ran on an obstruction, causing her to leak badly and obliging her to put back. She was loaded and bound for Chicago. The damage to the cargo is said to have been about $30,000.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 13.—The combined armies of Missouri and Kansas is an army corps in the field, now commanded by Brigadier General Schofield, will hereafter be denominated as the Army of the Frontier. By order of Major General CURTIS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The bank statement for the week ending on Saturday indicates an increase of loans of $617,856; increase of specie, $937,499; increase of deposits, $5,027,493; decrease of circulation, $200 62.

The steamers New York and Hansa have arrived below and will be up at 6:30 this evening. The steamer Hibernian arrived at Quebec this evening.

SEDALIA, Mo., October 13.—The Sixth Missouri State Militia, Col. Catherwood, have, in several scouting expeditions within the last few days, broken up various bands of guerrillas, killing the notorious Captain Joe Kirk, who has murdered so many private citizens, and captured Capt. Loudene, of the 3d Missouri and Lieut. Alexander, 3d Missouri and some fifty bushwhackers. They also brought into camp this morning, Col. Wm. H. McCarold, C. S. A., who escaped from the St. Louis Military Prison some time ago by blackening himself, and thus passing the sentinel. They have also captured a large correspondence of interest,

ALBANY, Oct. 13.—No day has thus far been fixed for the draft, but it is understood that an order will be promulgated to-morrow directing that volonteers be received till the 1st day of November, and that the draft take place on the 10th of that month.

Hon. Erastus Corning was re-nominated for Congress to-day by the Democracy of the Albany district.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

The Intrigues Against M'Clellan

Mr. Halstead, of Newark, New Jersey, has returned to the city. At first sight this announcement may seem not particularly interesting to your readers; but the fact assumes more importance when it is announced that Mr. Halstead is the possessor of General Phillip Kearny's letter containing severe strictures against Gen. McClellan. This letter was mentioned some time since in several of the New York journals; but as a distinguished relative of General Kearny wrote a note denying the existence of such a letter, the affair was supposed to have ended. Not so, however. The letter does exist, and is a document blaming in the most positive terms General McClellan's peninsular campaign. The writer affirms that upon several occasions our forces might have marched into Richmond had the Commander-in-Chief have exerted a little boldness or better generalship. His tendency to take up strong positions and fortify them, the enemy, of course, having no intention of attacking any such strong hold, is ridiculed, while, to sum up, McClellan is pronounced "burnt out." The writer affirms that when Manassas was first evacuated General McClellan should have followed the enemy into Richmond; that after the battle of Williamsburg our troops might have entered that city, and also after the seven days' fighting—opportunities lost, says General Kearny, from a want of decision of boldness, on the part of General McClellan.

Mr. Halstead has in his possession letters from General Kearny, dated from Williamsburg, and the letter in question dated Harrison's Landing. Both these letters blame severely the military course of General McClellan. His [McClellan's] enemies are in hopes these letters may be the instruments whereby his ruin may ensue.

Mr. Halstead came last week to this city with the original letters in his possession. He obtained audiences of Secretaries Stanton and Chase, and read to them General Kearny's strictures upon McClellan. Secretary Chase—so I am assured upon good authority—at once took up the case. He advised Mr. Halstead to read the letter to the President, and had him accompanied to his Executive by Governor Sprague. The letter was duly discussed with the President, and a copy of it left in his hands. Mr. Halstead then called upon the Altoona Governors, at that time here, and read to each of them Gen. Kearny's letter, leaving with each a copy. He also called upon General Hooker, and read to that officer the letter of his old friends and comrade in arms—Kearny. The letter is to be published at no remote date but not, I suppose, until it has been duly used in a private manner. No one can doubt that the object of the prime mover, in the affair is a bitter hostility against McClellan.—The meshes of this seemingly insignificant net are surely closing around the young commander. The letter is made use of to prejudice against him officers hitherto favorable, as it is well known that the opinion of an officer like General Kearny will carry great weight with it. It must, however, be borne in mind that the letter was written at a period when the gallant General Kearny was chafing under the mortification of a retrograde movement of the army, and that he may have blamed Gen. McClellan, when, had he have known all the circumstances, he would have laid his censure at other doors. Be that as it may, the enemies of McClellan are now working energetically against him with the weapon furnished them by Kearny, whose chivalric spirit would have scorned such a use of his epistle. Gen. McClellan has, however, in his grasp, a sure means whereby he may escape the machinations of his enemies. He must at once strike a terrible blow. Let him but attack and rout the rebel armies, and, as a sure result, the intrigues I have just mentioned will collapse. Another period of inexplicable delay may cost the young commander the high post he once before lost, because the people could not brook inaction. He must on to Richmond now, or his enemies here will surely ruin him.

CONSUMPTION.
DR. SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,
FOR THE CURE OF COUGHS, COLDS AND CONSUMPTION.
DR. SCHENCK' SEA WEED TONIC,
FOR THE CURE OF DYSPEPSIA AND ALL DEBILITATED CONDITIONS OF THE STOMACH.
DR. SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS,
FOR DISEASES OF THE LIVER, OR TO ACT AS A GENTLE PURGATIVE.

All of these three medicines are often required in curing Consumption, though the Pulmonic Syrup alone has cured many desperate cases. The Sea Weed Tonic and Mandrake Pills assist in regulating the stomach and liver, and help the Pulmonic Syrup to digest and scar it through the blood vessels, by which means a cure is soon effected.

These medicines are conscientiously offered to the public as the only safe, certain and reliable remedies for Pulmonary Consumption, and for all those morbid conditions of the body which lead to that fatal disease. Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia are often forerunners of Consumption, and when they manifest themselves they require the most prompt attention.

The Pulmonic Syrup is a medicine which has had a long probation before the public. Its value has been proven by the thousands it cures; it has made its way through a period of more than twenty years, in all of which time its reputation has constantly increased, and the most obstinate skepticism can no longer doubt that it is a remedy which may be used with confidence in all cases which admit of a cure.

If the patient will perseveringly follow the directions which accompany each bottle, he will certainly be cured, if his lungs are not too much wasted to make a cure possible. Even in cases supposed to be incurable, when friends and physicians have despaired, the use of this medicine has saved the life of the patient and restored him to perfect health.

Dr. Schenck himself was cured in precisely such circumstances; and many others have been equally fortunate by judiciously making a timely use of Dr. Schenck's remedies.

Dr. Schenck does not say that all cases of Pulmonary Consumption are within the reach of the medicine but he emphatically asserts that often, when patients have the most alarming symptoms, such as a violent cough, creeping chills, night sweats and general debility, even to such a degree that they are obliged to lie in bed, and worn down and given up by their physicians, they may still be cured. No medical treatment can create new lungs, but when the lungs are very badly diseased, and to some extent destroyed, a cure may be effected by Schenck's medicines.

Also, in Scrofulous diseases these medicines are equally efficient. Dr. Schenck has photographs of a number of persons who have been nearly covered with running sores and now all healed up. This shows its purifying properties, which must be done to heal cavities in the lungs.

In the treatment of Consumption it is of the utmost importance to give vigor and a healthy tone to the system. Hence it is necessary to strengthen the digestive powers and to improve the digestion. Proper nourishment is required, together with such means as will make the food easily digested. The articles most suitable for the diet of Consumptive patients are designated in Dr. Schenck's pamphlets, which are distributed gratuitously. In general, the most highly nutritious articles are to be preferred, but the digestive organs must be strengthened in order to make either food or medicine serviceable. This requirement is met by the Sea Weed Tonic, and for this purpose it was designed.

When the digestive powers are put in good order the food has its proper effect, the system of the patient is invigorated and the lungs begin to exercise their functions in a normal and healthy manner. Then the healing powers of the Pulmonic Syrup will complete the cure.

Pulmonary Consumption is almost always complicated with Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint. Schenck's Mandrake Pills are intended to remove obstructions from the liver and to restore its healthy action. They have all the efficiency which is ascribed to calomel or "blue mass," and are warranted not to contain a particle of any mineral poison. These pills cure the most obstinate costiveness, sick headache, jaundice, bilious affections and all other diseases that arise from a torpid or obstructed condition of the liver. One box of these pills, called a dose, costs 25 cents, will prove the efficacy of the medicine.

In Consumption, the Sea Weed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are invaluable auxiliary medicines. They relieve the sufferings of the patient, and assist the Pulmonic Syrup in effecting a cure. They have been found useful in advanced stages of Consumption, where all hopes were almost entirely destroyed and all symptoms, according to the judgment of the physicians indicated speedy death. The lives of patients who were actually in a dying condition have been preserved for months by the use of Dr. Schenck's three great remedies.

Dr. Schenck pledges himself to effect a cure if the patient will apply to him before his case is altogether desperate; that is to say, before the vital organs are too far gone to admit of any cure, except by a miracle.

Dr. J. H. Schenck is the inventor of that celebrated instrument, called "Schenck's Respirometer," with which he makes examinations of the lungs, with the certainty of discovering their true condition. The charge for an examination with the Respirometer is three dollars.

As stated above, Dr. Schenck, himself, was cured of Consumption, in one of its most hopeless stages, by the use of the Pulmonic Syrup. Experienced physicians declared that he could not live a week; yet now after a lapse of twenty-five years, he is in perfect health, and weighs more than 200 pounds.

Satisfactory evidence of all these statements is exhibited at Dr. Schenck's Office, in Philadelphia, No. 22 N. Sixth street. For particulars, see the pamphlet, which is supplied, without charge, to all applicants, at Dr. Schenck's office.

BURKE & BARNES' SAFES
AGAIN TRIUMPHANT!
READ THE FOLLOWING VOLUNTARY testimonial in regard to BURKE & BARNES'SAFE.

Messrs. BURKE & BARNES—Gentlemen—On the night of the 22d of February, 1860, all our Machine Shops, Paint Shops, Wood, Material, Engine House and all the Warehouses of the Southwestern Spoke and Carriage Manufactory, all being entirely filled with dry combustible material, were burned down. In a room of the Paint Shop where the heat was most intense, was one of your make of Safes, containing all our papers, insurance policies, &c., amounting to over $30,000, which, on being taken out, all were entirely safe.

We most cordially recommend the Burke & Barnes Safes as being very superior.

Your friends,
PLATT, MARTIN & GORDON.

MORGAN HOUSE DROVE YARDS.—The undersigned has opened the MORGAN HOUSE for the accommodation of drovers and stock dealers, at the corner of PASTURE LANE and TAYLOR AVENUE, near the stock depot of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railway. He has extensive stock pens, well covered and commodious feed and sale yards, abutting upon the railroad platform, thus giving great convenience in loading and unloading. The pens have been enlarged so as to accommodate 3,000 to 4,000 head, and the yards as many more. Comfortable accommodations are provided in the house for owners of stock, and the subscriber respectfully solicits a share of their patronage. Terms of boarding and rent of yard moderate.

SOMETHING NEW AT
No. 88 FOURTH STREET.
I would invite the attention of ladies and gentlemen to that beautiful piece of art so much esteemed lately called the ILLUSION PARTING, and my mode of inserting the same in Wigs and Madonna Bands.

It gives them a light and life-like appearance hitherto unattained; I have also just received a large and carefully selected stock of the best French Hair, purchased for cash, and my motto is quick sales and small profits.

CAMERON'S EXTRACT OF FLOWERS, or Botanic Cream, for softening and beautifying the hair, is too well known to need comment. Also, my new HAIR WASH for family use; it prevents the hair from falling out and getting prematurely gray. Ladies do you want to have a clear, beautiful, white and healthful skin? If so, get a bottle of my Philodermie, or Skin Cleanser, and take a little healthful out door exercise. This is no humbug, but will preserve your beauty to old age—Discard all poisonous skin paints.
