Induced by the extensive sale and universal popularity of Hoofland's German Bitters, (purely vegetable) hosts of ignorant quacks and unprincipled adventurers have opened upon suffering humanity the flood gates of Nostrums in the shape of poor whisky, vilely compounded with injurious drugs, and christened Tonics, Stomachics and Bitters.

Beware of the innumerable array of alcoholic preparations in plethoric bottles, and big-bellied kegs, under the modest appellation of Bitters; they instead of curing only aggravate diseases and lead the disappointed sufferers in despair.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS!

Are not a new and untried article, but have stood the test of fifteen years trial by the American public, and their reputation and sale are unrivalled by any similar preparation.

The proprietors have thousands of Letters from the most eminent

There are many preparations sold under the name of Bitters put up in quart bottles, compounded of the cheapest whisky or common rum, putting from 25 to 40 cents per gallon, the taste disguised by Anise or Coriander Seed.

This class of Bitters has caused and will continue to prevail as long as they can be sold, hundreds to the death of the drunkard. In them are the seeds of the Rum shops and the influence of Alcohol. Liquor is created and kept up, and the dearest form of the horrors attendant upon a drunkard's life and death.

For those who desire and will have a Liquor Bitters, we publish the following receipt: Get One Bottle Hoofland's German Bitters, and two Quarts of Good Brandy or Whisky, and the result will be a preparation as fine as any of the numerous Liquor Bitters in the market, and will cost much less. You will have all the virtues of Hoofland's Bitters in connection with a good article of Liquor, at a much less price than those inferior preparations will cost you.

ATTENTION SOLDIERS,

AND THE FRIENDS OF SOLDIERS.

We call the attention of all having relations or friends in the army, to the fact that "HOOFLAND'S German Bitters" will cure nine tenths of the sickness incident to campaigning and private life. In the lists, published almost daily in the newspapers, not this arrival of the sick, it will be noticed that a very large proportion are suffering from debility. Every case of that kind can be readily cured by Hoofland's German Bitters. Diseases resulting from disorders of the digestive organs are readily removed. We have no hesitation in stating that, if these Bitters were freely used among our soldiers hundreds of lives might be saved, that otherwise will be lost.

We also call special attention to the following remarkable and well authenticated cure of one of our country's heroes, whose life, we use his own slang, has been saved by the Bitters:

PHILADELPHIA, August 23d, 1862.

Messrs. Jones & Evans.—Well, gentlemen, your Hoofland's German Bitters has saved my life. There is no mistake in this. It is vouched for by numbers of my comrades, some of whose names are appended, and who were fully cognizant of all the circumstances of my case. I am, and have been for the last four years, a member of Sherman's celebrated battery, under the immediate command of Capt. R. B. Ayres. Through the exposure attendant upon my arduous duties, I was stricken in November last with inflammation of the lungs, and was for seventy two days in the hospital. This was followed by great debility, heightened by an attack of dysentery. I was then removed from the White House, and sent to this city, to await the termination of "Stage of Grime," from which I landed on the 28th of June. Since that time I have been about as low as any one could be and still retain a spark of vitality. For a week or more I was scarcely able to swallow anything, and if I did force a morsel down, it was immediately thrown up again. In this condition, I should not say or keep a glass of water on my stomach. Life could not last under these circumstances; I accordingly the physicians who had been working in vain, though unbounded kindness, frankly told me they could do no more for me, and advised me to see a clergyman, and to make the most of my limited time. My best friend, Mr. Frederick Steinbron, of 6th below Arch Street, advised me as a forlorn hope, to try your Bitters and kindly procured a bottle. From the time I commenced taking them the shadows of death receded, and I am now, thank God for it, getting better. Though I have taken but two bottles, I have gained 10 pounds, and feel sanguine of being permitted to return my wife and daughter, from whom I have heard nothing for eighteen months. Yours, gentlemen, in a loyal Virginian, from the vicinity of Front Royal. To your invaluable Bitters I owe the glorious privilege of again clasping to my bosom those who are dearer to me than life.

Yours, truly, ISAAC MALONE.

We fully concur in the truth of the above statement, as we had despaired of seeing our comrade, Mr. Malone, restored to health.

DAILY POST.

Rumored Removal of Halleck and Recall of McClellan—Great Excitement Among the People—Scenes on Board one of the Jersey Ferryboats—"Little Mac" Receives a Tremendous Reception—Inflammatory Placards in the City, &c.

Madame Rumor had a busy time of it in this city yesterday. From morning till night stories of the most exaggerated character were circulated and believed, as usual, by that numerous class of people who seem never tired of being gulled and humbugged. It would be idle to reproduce in print all the of silly rumors afloat in the city yesterday; but one of them, owing to the great sensation which it created, should not be omitted. We refer to the report which gained the most extensive circulation all over town, to the effect that General Halleck had been removed and McClellan appointed commander-in-chief of the Union army.

The announcement containing this report was posted on some of the newspaper bulletins, and even in the Merchants' Exchange in Pine street. As may well be imagined, it caused a profound seasation, though it was generally looked upon as "news too good to be true."

Whether there was any real foundation or not for the rumor, could not be ascertained by the most diligent inquiries in this city. One of our reporters paid a visit to General McClellan's house in Thirty-first street, and was informed on pretty good authority that the General had not up to that time received any official intelligence regarding his supposed appointment to the position so long occupied by Halleck.

The whole story, perhaps, grew out of the fact that some of the intimate friends of General McClellan had been in several dispatches to his country residence in Orange, N. J., advising him to come to this city, in order to be in readiness, to act promptly in case his services should again be required at Washington by the President.

McClellan Again in Town.

He returned to this city yesterday morning; but whether in obedience to the dispatches of his friends, or merely on one of his usual flying visits, it is very difficult to state with any degree of positiveness. His return, however, was the occasion of a spontaneous ovation which must have surprised him greatly. Whatever the powers that be may think of McClellan, the demonstration of yesterday indicates the estimate in which he is held by the people.

Scene on one of the Jersey City Ferryboats.

About ten o'clock in the morning the New Jersey ferryboat John S. Darcey started on one of her usual trips from Jersey City to the foot of Cortlandt street.—The boat was densely crowded with people, who were conversing quite freely on the war, Hooker's removal, Meade's appointment, the invasion of Pensylvania and other kindred topics.

"Have you heard the rumor of General Halleck's removal?" asked a gentleman who was conversing with a small group in reference the rebellion.

"Halleck's removal!" echoed a hundred voices.

"Yes; Halleck's removal," continued the gentleman, "and what is more, it is said on good authority that General McClellan has been appointed General-in-Chief again of all the armies of the Union."

The effect of this announcement may be more imagined than described. The vessel was almost in an instant in the most intense excitement. The gentleman who had created it immediately became the centre of a crushing crowd of people anxious to learn all about the rumors, and questions were put to him with a rapidity which rendered it impossible for him to answer more than one in a hundred. All he could do was to repeat, in a somewhat nervous manner, the announcement which he had made to his small lot of friends, that he had heard, on good authority, that Halleck had undoubtedly been removed and McClellan put in his place by the President.

The news went from one end of the little vessel to the other almost with electric speed, and the enthusiasm evoked soon found vent in a series of cheers and hurrahs that caused the cabin windows to tremble.

McClellan on Board.

In the midst of the excitement, it was discovered that "Little Mac" himself, the subject of the cheering and enthusiasm, was on board the vessel, in propria persona. At such a time nothing could have been imagined more calculated to add to the enthusiasm of the moment. It was all was needed to set the people enthusiastically wild.

The hero of Antietam was in the ladies' cabin, in company with some fair companions. When the excitement began he made several efforts to sink into some secluded corner; but all to no purpose. His fellow-passengers were determined to see him, and he was compelled to stand forward and receive the flattering homage of his fellow citizens so lavishly bestowed upon him. All he could do under the circumstances was simply to bow his acknowledgements, without uttering a syllable.

When the boat neared the foot of Cortlandt street, the cheering was caught up by hundreds of people assembled in the ferry house, and the cry was

"Hurrah for Little Mac," and three cheers for the Napoleon of America," "McClellan's the boy for the rebs," and such like exclamations were heard in every direction. As soon as the boat was fastened to the dock the people crowded in such a formidable numbers around the part of the boat where McClellan was standing that it seemed doubtful for some moments whether he would get to shore at all or not. At last, however, the front ranks were induced to give way, and General McClellan, accompanied by his lady companions, with some difficulty, succeeded in getting through the excited crowd who held possession of the front portion of the boat and lined the ferry house out to the street, where another mass had assembled.—Herald.

The Rebel Invasion—To the Rescue All—To Arms!

We see that the Governor of the patriotic little State of New Jersey has called out its militia en masse to aid in expelling the rebel hordes which have invaded Pennsylvania. This example should be immediately followed by the Governors of all the loyal States, but more especially by those of New England, which have had such a large share in bringing about the calamities by which the Pennsylvanians are now visited. And not merely on ex-active action must we rely for the means of protecting Northern soil against pillage and devastation. Every loyal community and association, the corporations of the different cities, the merchants, the various trades and the members of the learned professions, should come forward to aid in this work of self defence. If ever, in each, there was a time when the calculations of prudence should be cast aside, it is at the present moment. The men who are able to shoulder a musket should, if they have any regard for those who are dependent upon them, hasten to enroll themselves, whilst those who have wealth, and are chary of their personal safety, should make large sacrifices of their means in order to induce others to take their places in the ranks of our gallant defenders.

In this connection we cannot help expressing our dissatisfaction at the terms of the order that has just been issued by the War Department, providing bounties for the recruiting of veteran volunteers. The republic is perhaps in its last agony, and if we would save it from dissolution there must be no further faltering or dealing in half measures. Upon the men whom it is the object of this order to persuade to take the field much depends. Had McClellan been again called to the head of the army, there would have been no necessity for offering them inducements of this kind. So unbounded is their confidence in their favorite general that they would have re-enlisted to a man. But, as the jealousies and enmities of the leading members of the Cabinet have interfered to prevent a consummation so devoutly wished for by the country, they should at least have endeavored to give the new commander of the Army of the Potomac all the advantage of the efficient support that McClellan would have had.—N. Y. Herald.

Our War in Europe.

The London correspondent of the New York Times, of June 13th says:

There is another reason why the laws of war—I do not mean in the technical sense, but in a higher and more real one—should be enforced wherever the Government has power to enforce them. It is that I fore see that the successes of the National troops on the Mississippi will necessitate an attempt on the part of the South, to carry the war into Pennsylvania, and perhaps into Ohio. There have been stranger things than that rebel cannon should be seen and heard on the heights of West Hoboken. If I am not mistaken, it was the preparation for such a movement that left Gen. Pemberton so weak in Mississippi, and that made it so difficult for Gen. Johnston to gather forces for his aid.—Davis and Lee have been prudent—far too prudent to satisfy the Southern people up to this time. It is time for them to risk something. I am confident that before a month is past there will be a great effort made to carry the war into the Free States. It is to grow more fierce; fuller of revenge. I think the Southerners will carry out their threat respecting the officers of colored regiments and other worse threats.

Remarkable Echo.

Mountain echoes are often very grand. "The voices of subterranean demons calling from the bottom of the world," is what the Arabs call them. One of the very grandest exists on the Kening see, a picturesque lake in the Bavarian Highlands, at a spot where the naked cliff rises on one side to the height of five thousand feet, while the other is clothed with forest. The report of a pocket pistol fired here is first returned, faint and low, from the wooded side, and dies away. In a second more it is heard gathering along the cliffs on the other side, like a gradual roll of thunder, increasing in violence until it breaks over your head in a deafening crash, louder than the broadside of a ship of the line.

Efficiency of the Fifteen Inch Guns.

The tremendous effect of the fifteen inch gun in the recent capture of the iron-clad steamer Atlanta, (late Fingal) is regarded by the naval authorities as tending to prove their value and efficiency when properly handled. It has also been indisputably established, through many sources that they produced a very material effect upon Fort Sumter during the brief engagement with the Monitors, and had the attack been continued a short time longer, or speedily renewed, there is little doubt that the fort would have been practically destroyed. The rebels have been particularly unfortunate in their iron clads and rams, not having yet been able to manufacture anything in that line that could stand our heavy artillery, or our Monitors.

THOSE NINE HUNDRED THOUSAND.

AFTER TENNYSON.

Where, O Father Abraham, is that nine hundred thousand strong,
Which Governor Andrew said the roads of the Old Bay State would throng?
Up to the skies the clouds of dust soon he said he would descry,
The dust would seem by Andrew thrown and stuck in Abram's eye.

Go gather up the torches of the wide awaken'd band
That lit the fire of oil, war to desolate the land!
To light that party to their grave they next will needed be,
In '64 they'll be no more and white men will be free.

Scourge from your midst those false-tongued priests that led the people on,
Array'd brother against brother, and father against son;
We call upon you now again, as Moses did of old,
"To your tents, O Israel," return unto the fold.

Come back in time, save name and fame,
Serve with radicals no more—
Radicals! accursed name, be buried wholly in their shame,
If we are left to vote again in Eighteen Sixty-Four.

O Father, Father Abraham, when next you call for aid,
Ask it but of the loyal men, they'll meet the Southern raid;
On that fine hundred thousand men you surely will be sold,
They'll never help you, Abraham, they'll leave you in the cold.

The Philosophic Burner.

HAYDEN'S NEW DOUBLE-ACTING Philosophic Burner for Carbon Oil is now ready. It possesses many advantages over the Common Burner.

1. It makes a large or small light with perfect combustion.
2. It will burn any quantity of oil with safety.
3. It can be used with a long or short chimney.
4. It can be used as a taper night-lamp.
5. It can always be made to burn economically.
6. It is more easily wicked than any other burner.
7. It can be trimmed and lighted without removing the globe.
8. It throws all the white light above the opaque chimney, can be removed or lighted without touching the flame.

These burners are by common No. 1 size, and can be put on any lamp now in use. Every one using Carbon Oil should have a Philosophic Burner. Price 25 cents per dozen $2. Sold by

TO THE PUBLIC.

ESPECIALLY

Middle aged and ignorant and false notions, that cover and conceal delicate disorders, self abuse (the vice of youth) or the sexes, and adults, single or married. Because Dr. Brandreth publishes the fact of his doing so, the Religious and Fashionable are dreadfully shocked, and think it a great sin very immoral and for contamination and corruption among their wives, prudent food and daughters. Their ignorance that they do the same as Dr. BRANDRETH's Lozenges, should be cautious to keep them family. Whole families are poisoned by quacks and their victims, crying up as mushrooms and Dr. BRANDRETH's Vegetable Universal Pills, which have been used by upwards of

ONE HUNDRED PHYSICIANS,

in their private practice, with the entire success, superseding Quinine, Calomel, Antimony, or any compound hitherto known.

BELL'S SPECIFIC PILLS

are speedy in action, often effecting a cure in a few days, and when a cure is effected it is permanent. They are prepared from vegetable extracts that are harmless on the system, and never nauseate the stomach, or impregnate the breath and being sugar coated, all nauseous taste is avoided. No change of diet is necessary whilst using them nor does their action interfere with business pursuits. Each box contains six dozen Pills.

PRICE ONE DOLLAR.

Dr. Bell's Treatise on Seminal Weakness,

Self Abuse, Gonorrhea, Gleet, &c. a Pamphlet of 50 pages, containing important advice to the afflicted. SENT FREE. Six cents are required to pay postage.
