PILES OF TWENTY YEARS STANDING CURED

Below will be found a certificate from the one of most respectable citizens of Wilkins township in regard to Dr. Keyser's Lindsay' Blood Searcher. The Doctor's certificates are within reach, and no one need be deceived in regard to his preparations.

DR. GEO. H. KEYSER:—I became afflicted with Piles about twenty years ago, and every year they were growing worse, so as to trouble me very much, so much so at times as to unfit me for work. Sometimes I was so bad that I could do ot anything account of them, they came out on me as large as a hickory nut. I had tried a great deal of medicine for them. I used to buy and take whatever I could hear of or read of in circulars and pamphlets that fell in my way, but I could not get cured, sometimes they would do me some good for a little while, but afterwar they would return again as bad as ever. I also applied to two Doctors who visited me at my house and gave me some medicine but it would not do, I could not get well. Over a year ago not an advertisement of your Lindsay's Blood-Searcher, made by yourself—when you sold it t me you told me one bottle would not cure me, and that my whole system would have to be renewed by the medicine before I got well." I bought one bottle and took it home with me and used it according to your directions. I then call d to see you again, when you said I could n expect much benefit from one bottle, I bought it on, one bottle at a time, until I ha bottles. After this quantity had been used, I was entirely well of the Piles, which had tortur d me for twenty years. In other respects my health is improved, and I am as well as could be expected for one of my age, being sixty year past. I have been well now for six months, and there is no appearance of a return of the disease; I can do any kind of farming work now without the Piles coming down and hurting me. I can pitch hay, chop wood, lift, or do any kind of work which before used to hurt me. When I found out your Blood-Searcher I kept on taking until I got entirely well. I consider it my duty to make my case known to the country for the benefit of others who may be suffering as I was and do but know the value of your medicine. You may publish this if you like—I live in Wilkins Township, and will be pleased to satisfy any one of the truth of this certificate if they wish to call on me. ELLIOTT DAVIS.

December 24th, 1864.

Be careful to see the name of DR. GEORGE H. KEYSER on the cover of the bottle and pasted over the cork; also, his stamp on the United States stamp on the top of the bottle to prevent being imposed upon by a worthless article which is in the market.

MEDICAL.

MANHOOD,

THIRD EDITION, FIFTY THOUSAND, 96 pages, cloth covers, by

Robert E. Bell, M. D.,

Member of the royal College of Surgeons, London, addressed to youth, the married and those

CONTEMPLATING MARRIAGE.

Sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of ten cents. A careful perusal of this small book has been a boon to the afflicted, and has saved thousands from a life of misery and an untimely grave. It treats on the evils of Youthful Indiscretion, Self-Abuse, Seminal weakness, Emissions, Sexual Diseases, Genital Debility, Loss of Power, Nervousness, Premature Decay, Impotence, &c., &c., which unfit the sufferer from fulfilling the OBLIGATIONS OF MARRIAGE, and illustrates the means of cure by the use of

DR. BELL'S SPECIFIC PILLS,

and other treatment necessary in some cases, and which never fails to cure, and can be relied on. They do not nauseate the stomach, or render the breath offensive, and they can be USED WITHOUT DETECTION.

They do not interfere with business pursuits, and are speedy in action. No change of diet is necessary. They are warranted in all cases to be effectual in removing and curing the disease. Upwards of two thousand cases are on record that have been cured by using BELL'S SPECIFIC PILLS, and certificates can be shown from many that have used them.

No Case of Failure ever Occurs.

Upwards of a Hundred Physicians use them extensively in their practice, and they cannot effect cures without them.

IMPORTANT NOTICE,

BELL'S SPECIFIC PILLS

Are the original and only genuine Specific Pills. There are a host of imitators—BEWARE OF THEM.

These are Warranted.

They are adapted for male or female, old or young, and are the only reliable remedy known for the cure of all diseases arising from

YOUTHFUL INDISCRETION.

In all Sexual Diseases, as Gonorrhea, Stricture, Gleet, and in all Urinary and Kidney complaints,

They Act Like a Charm!

Relief is experienced by taking a single box; and from four to six boxes generally effect a cure.

Sold by Druggists generally, in boxes containing six pills, price $1 or six boxes, $5; also in large boxes, containing four of the small, price $3.

If you need the Book, or the Pills, cut out this advertisement for reference; and if you cannot procure them of your druggist, do not be imposed upon by any other remedy, but enclose the money in a letter to the proprietor,

DR. J. BRYAN, BOX 5079,
76 Cedar street, N. Y.

who will take all risk if properly addressed, and will send the Pills, secured from observation, by return mail, post paid.

For sale at JOSEPH FLEMING'S.

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS GENERALLY.

NOTICE TO ALL CONCERNED.—Among a certain class of self-important people there is a peculiar feeling of contempt attached to all physicians that advertise and treat the diseases named in this card, (PRIVATE DISEASES,) why, this should be, they nor no one else can tell. Are they not aware that all physicians treat the cases of every denomination, in fact solicit just the very diseases that are so obnoxious to these very refined parties. I suppose they would rather one of their family go to a party that has devoted years of their best energies, beside he advertises the fact, and their family physician says he is a humbug so he can get the case. Often he has almost deprived the party of his life. He comes at last to the physician that advertises—how else are they to know? Are they not aware that Sir Astley Cooper, Sir Benjamin Brodie, Sir Charles Ball and M. Paul Ricord devoted 47 years in the treatment of these diseases? These men are held up as shining lights in the medical world. I don't assert that all men are worthy that publish, still there are a great number of them that are. I have devoted myself to the study and treatment of PRIVATE DISEASES upwards of 40 years, and without egotism can say I have saved hundreds from years of misery and untimely death. My treatment is confined to the vegetable altogether, as I think it is the best and most certain. It is in my power to bring hundreds of certificates if I thought it necessary to certify to my general success; but my long residence in this city is sufficient proof without adding more. Spermatorrhœa and all diseases arising from it are cured in a much shorter time than heretofore. It behooves every young man and woman to be careful in selecting a physician. The different advertisements that are seen in our papers are of no worth, and no benefit will arise from answers than only loss of health and money. Hundreds are cured annually by my new remedies. ROBBINS'

HERMETICAL BARREL

VALENTINE'S FREIGHT, EXPRESS AND THROUGH TICKET OFFICE,

NEW YORK, November 26, 1864.

A. A. TAYLOR, Actuary,
158 Broadway.

We have received at our Yard at Penhorn City New Jersey, an invoice of Refined Petroleum from Titusville, Pa., one of the barrels having the Brand of the "Hermetical Barrel Co," (Robbin's patent.) A careful examination of his cask showed it to be in perfect order, no evaporation or leakage, and the wood as dry as before it was filled. The other barrels of the invoice were in fair order, but had leaked or evaporated two gallons each. We cheerfully recommend the Hermetical Barrel to Refiners and Shippers of Petroleum.

TREMBLEY, PHLEPS & Co.

NEW YORK, October 28th, 1864.

A. A. TAYLOR, Actuary,
158 Broadway.

We received at our Depot, Jersey City, on the 12th of October last, an invoice of Petroleum from Titusville, Pa., of which were four barrels having the brand of the "HERMETICAL BARREL COMPANY, ROBBINS' PATENT." A careful examination of those barrels shows them to be in perfect order. No evaporation or leakage. The outside of the wood of the barrels is as dry as before they were filled. We understand the above shipment was three weeks on the road, and was transhipped three times since they have been at our Depot. They have been subject to a considerable rough treatment and exposure to sun and rain. A few days ago they were gauged and found to contain all the Oil that was originally put in them. The loss of Petroleum from ordinary and evaporation between here and Oil Creek amounts to from five to twenty per cent. We have no doubt the ROBBINS' HERMETICAL BARREL would save this entire loss, as well as all losses of Petroleum when on storage.

E. H. VALENTINE,
Superintendent.

We will be prepared in a short time to furnish to Refiners, Barrel Manufacturers and Dealers in Crude Oil, Samples of Barrels prepared by ROBBINS' process, which will demonstrate to all interested that this Barrel is all that is claimed for it, a HERMETICAL BARREL that it will hold Crude Oil, Refined Oil, Naptha, Spirits of Turpentine, &c., without leakage or evaporation for months, and without injury in the slightest degree. The process of preparing Barrels by ROBBINS' method is very simple and cheaper than most other processes in use, and is effectual. Applications for licenses for using the above process through LIPPINCOTT, FRY & CO. For particulars see pamphlets, which can be had at our office.

DICKINSON.

All hail, fair Anna! Shoddy's biggest gun!
Columbia's Pallas! glorious Dickinson!
All hail, fair Anna! now our iron-town
Beholds an angel with a warrior's frown!
Thrice welcome thou! our men and maids upstart
To greet a woman with a tiger's heart!
Behold she comes, destruction's fiery star,
Bellona roused, a thunderbolt of war!
She comes with corslet, "cotton clad" and curls,
And battle's mistaken thunder hurls!
She comes with laurel round her brow of snow,
The civic wreaths discerning leaguers throw;
She comes with glory—and a black value;
She mounts the rostrum and she speaks, a piece!
"A Plea for Labor!—women's labor—now,
Fair Anna, we will briefly tell you how
To meet the evil you so much deplore,
Get married, and you'll harp on that no more;
At least we've heard some thrifty housewives say
Their ceaseless labors wore their lives away.
But heaven defend the man you deign to bless,
And "stoop to conquer" by your dread caress!
Lice, Æsop's lioness that wed the mouse,
You may bring fatal honors to his house.
When you full streams of eloquence shall pour
He'll think him gasping neath Niagara's roar.
But fancy fails me should your temper break,
And you, in towering indignation, shake
Your little dimpled fist beneath the nose
Of Benedictus, shivering to his toes!
Or, should some friends detain the luckless wight
Beyond the moment, long prescribed, at night,
You'll labor then, and rent your tangent silk
Delivering lectures—in the curtain style.
Now we retire—to linger yet, were mean—
And draw the curtain on the awful scene.
You come, like Sheba's wise and wildest queen,
To tell us what the late elections mean;
And should not we respect an I deference lend
To one on whom our highest church depend?
O land of Adams, Washington and Penn!
Once hope of freedom and the pride of men,
By statesmen, scholars and by heroes trod,
Revered of nations and beloved of God!
Thy counsels then, the grave and reverend led,
Which now are guided by a woman's head;
Thy sons who once of wisdom's accents hung
Now cheer the clatter of a girlish tongue;
Thy Senate—ere those fateful days were fled—
That laid the mighty with the deathless dead—
We named with pride, with reverence and love,
Now learn hate's teachings from our warlike dove.
And he who first of all the world should stand
The chosen ruler of a noble land,
Sut rome, as well in intellect as place,
And crown the column with a peerless grace—
Falls prostrate from his high dishonored seat,
And takes his lessons at Alecto's feet!
Why wonder now that bloody discord reigns,
When skirted fury such attention gains?
Why wonder now our land to ruin runs?
And folly urges her degenerate sons
When glens of wisdom are so rife, that we
Perforce must seek them from a babbling she?
When men are voted to obscure retreat
And doubtful gender to a Jackson's seat;
When all are banished of the grand old school,
And "perfect ladies" of both sexes rule.
O! all the "Age" back to Eden's away,
This "Age of Women" bears the palm away!
Great girl! you are beyond all natures law!
A better man than ever your daddy was;
You reach our Abram "Honest," "Wise" and "just,"
But yet (with some anxiety) we trust
Although you may his sweet precepts tree,
He has not taken all his jokes from thee!
Sublime; thy mission! with that eagle's beak
That left Assyria's marauding hosts in reek!
You fly to vindicate the rights of man,
And save your country—in the end by plan.
Ye gods! whom once our warring race adore,
Now in effect, if not in deed, restored,
Behold ye ever from Olympian towers!
A nation saved in such a mode as ours!
Yes, classic Greece was in such manner saved,
When Spartan zeal and Athenian valor braved
When local hate to fierce contention roused
And Greek met Greek in battle's furious close,
And patriots struggling with brave hearts of oak
Preserved their country from the Persian yoke.
But in this age of science, it is true
Great Anna's skill may bring us safely through.
By her we hope to heal the nation, sick—
Grave doctor to the body politic,
She scans the symptoms, and with practised art,
Explores the pulses of the Northern heart—
Then plies her treatment, the similia similibus—
As fighting sickened, fight along can cure;
She knows the base, the antidote she gives,
An hour's chatter—and the patient lives.
When such sweet talk expels our mortal ills,
Oh! who would grumble at his doctor bills.
No maid of classic or more common fame,
Can rival Anna's now immortal name.
'Tis true, glory, purest as diamond sparks
Enshrines the memory of Joan of Arc;
And of the maid of Saragossa, bold,
While great Napoleon's fiercest thunders rolled.
Zen she of Carthage, whom the pious son
Of old Anchises, so lonely "done,"
Deserved her praise; so fair Aspasia, too,
Well won the meed to glorious women due,
And left it doubtful, whether Greece should boast
Her solid wisdom or her beauty most.
Sad Boadicea, who rude warriors hurled
Against the matchless conquerors of the world;
And Helen, Phryne, Sappho, Nourmahal,
Belle Boyd, Moll Pitcher, and such others, all
Shall live in envied or ennobled fame:
But thou art first, thy glorious sex among,
To win such honors by a humble tongue!
A tongue that will the curtain on future strike,
When among all women never was the like.
If famous now what, Hermes, will it be
When its fair owner takes to drinking tea!
O shade! where martles now thy burning blush!
What gorgon charms th' indignant murmurs hush,
On every lip that felt a mother's kiss,
And heap scorn for such a scene as this!
When men, strong men, and lovely women quit
Beneath the bursting of that frolicy wit
That spurs the party passions of the times,
And prudent floating over nameless crimes,
And view with pleasure, all unmoved, unvexed
The hideous figure of a girl unsexed.
A syphil, phrenzied with her spurious throes,
The truckling peddler of her country's woes!
No colder horror through the bosom thrills
Than woman void of woman's instinct chills;
A would-be Desdemona in her love,
Confounding natures classified above;
Consenting, shameless, in the nation's face,
To take a blackamoor to her brother's place!
Let men and maidenseheck this moral quack,
A taste so monstrous and a heart so black.
Farewell, fair Anna, we must bid adieu,
Farewell, forever—and we tender thus
The parting compliments of—Caroline.

The Bones of the Bourbons.

"No man," says the Koran, "knows the spot on earth where his grave shall be made." The Bourbons thought they knew, but, like meaner folks, they were out of their reckoning, so far, at least, as related to their final place of sepulture. In vain they built themselves a mighty mausoleum. For eleven hundred years the abbey church consecrated to St. Denis held the bones of Capets, Carlovingians, and the descendants of the good king Dagobert, "but the revolutionary storm of 1793 swept away all before it, and scattered these and all the other relics till then held sacred. There are few events of that terrible time more completely demonstrating the subversion of the royalty which had endured so long, than the decree of the convention of the 6th of August, 1792, six months after the execution of Louis the Sixteenth, which sent the rabid populace of Paris trooping to St. Denis, to obliterate the recolection of the kings of France by destroying their very tombs and burying their remains in the common fosse. In the tombs of hollowed stone of the earlier monarchs, very little worth notice was found. In that of King Pepin there was a small quantity of gold wire, nothing more, but each coffin bore the simple inscription of its inmate on a leaden plate, and the greater part of these plates were much oxydized, and in a very bad condition, so that the names were, in many instances, nearly illegible. The plates however were not wanted for preservation, but, together with the leaden coffins of Philippe le Hardi and Isabella of Aragon, and the leaden roof of the abbey church, were taken to the Hotel de Ville of Paris, and there melted down and cast into musket balls. The most remarkable object discovered was a silver seal, of ogive form, belonging to Constance of Castile, the second wife of Louis the Seventh, which, when weighed, three ounces and a half, and silver money being out of fashion, was not converted into either cash or bullets, but found its way to the municipal stronghold, and was thence transferred to the cabinet of antiquities of the National (not the Imperial) Library. Though only three days' labor was actually bestowed, the work of demolition was, from various causes, suspended from August till October, but on the 12th of that month it was resumed, and with renewed vigor the destroyers forced their way into the vaults of the Bourbons. The first coffin they met with, was one which might have demanded forbearance, had there been any forbearing spirit in the midst of so much unhallowed ruffianism. It was that of Henry Quatre! His body was in a good state of preservation, and his features were perfectly recognizable, the winding sheet by which he was enveloped was also in good condition. For two days his remains were exposed to public view, and then they were remorselessly cast into the yawning trench which awaited them. The same fate awaited the bones of Louis the Thirteenth and his descendants. The first named monarch was recognized by his moustaches, and Louis the Fourteenth by his prominent features, but his face, that face which had received so much adoration in his lifetime, was now black as ink. To this complexion, had it come at last! The bodies of his immediate family, and especially that of the Grand Dauphin—oh, grandeur!—were in a state of liquid putrefaction. The hearts of some of the princes were found under the coffins, encased in lead, with enameled inscriptions, the lead was carefully taken away, the withered hearts were tossed with howls and execrations into the common fosse. On the fifth day, after having taken all the bodies, which were regularly interred in the royal vault, the depredators came, at the further end, to another coffin, placed on a stone bench about two feet from the ground, in a recess formed in the thickness of the wall. The situation of this coffin showed that it was that of the last king who had died, which always occupied the recess in question till his successor came to replace him. In this instance the successor never came. As if open day were necessary for fully satisfying his vengeance of the revolutionary mob, eager to wreak their fruitless fury on all the Bourbons in the person of the one, ill called 'Le bien aime,' the coffin of Louis the Fifteenth was dragged from the crypt to the trench and there opened. The body taken out of its leaden case and swathed like a mummy, appeared to be in good preservation, but the instant the bandages were removed, the royal corpse took its revenge on the surrounding multitude. It burst, as might have been expected, considering the disease of which the profligate king died, in a state of the direst putrefaction and from the loathsome carcass came so pernicious an odor that all present fled from it in dismay. And length, in order that the Jacobin body-snatchers might complete their purpose, recourse was had to the firing of muskets, and burning of gunpowder to purify the air, and when the fumigation had lasted long enough, the blackened fragments of royalty were buried into the quicklime—somewhat different from the sumptuous couch of Epicurus—and quickly concealed from human senses.
