THE Sin of Ignorance is easily forgiven. Many of the "nostrums" of the present day are put out by persons who have no knowledge of the science of medicine in theory or practice, and in order to hide their ignorance cry out loudly against the "Ignorant Pretenders," and bribe others to boast for them, which oft times has gulled the unsuspecting, and for want of a proper knowledge of the diseases they pretend to cure, no doubt think they cure when they do not, therefore they are to be pitied, but not half so much as those who take their "miserable compounds," but they not only lose their money, but miss the advantage of that necessary advice which the real practical physician, is always able to give. We look to the tailor for an improvement in the mode of dress; to the medical man for an improvement in the science of medicine—and this accounts for the great superiority of Dr Swayne's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry over all other medicines ever offered to the public for the cure of all diseases of the Lungs and Breast, Coughs, Colds, Consumption, Asthma, Spitting Blood, Liver Complaint, Pain in the Side and Breast, Broken Constitution, &c. Remember always to inquire for the name of Dr Swayne, as all preparations which have the name of Wild Cherry attached were stolen from the great original preparation. The genuine is only prepared by Dr Swayne, corner of Eighth and Race streets, Philadelphia. For sale by WM. THORN, Agent.

WARRANTED GENUINE.—Dr. WILLIAM EVAN'S CAMOMILE PILLS.
CERTIFICATES.—Letter from the Hon. Abraham M'Clellan, Sullivan County, East Tenn., Member of Congress.
WASHINGTON, July 3d, 1845.
Sir—Since I have been in this city I have used some of your Dyspeptic medicine with infinite benefit and satisfaction, and believe it to be a most valuable remedy. One of my constituents, Dr A Carden, of Campbell county, Tennessee, wrote to me to send him some, which I did, and he has employed it very successfully in his practice and says it is invaluable. Mr Johnson, your agent at this place, thinks you would probably like an agent in Tennessee. If so, I would recommend Dr A Carden, as a proper person to officiate for the sale of your celebrated medicine. Should you commission him he is willing to act for you. You can send the medicine by water to the care of Robert King & Sons, Knoxville county, Tennessee, or by land to Graham & Houston, Tazwell, East Tennessee. I have no doubt but if you had agents in several counties in East Tennessee, a great deal of medicine would be sold. I am going to take some of it home for my own use, and that of my friends, and should like to hear from you whether you would like an agent at Blountville, Sullivan County, East Tennessee; I can get some of the merchants to act for you as I live near there. Yours respectfully,
ABRAHAM M'CLELLAN, of Tennessee.

During that month residing in the county of Talapoosa, dered by the "inhuman savages;" large number of the peaceful citizens women, and children—excessively sternation seized all!—"Shrieks in air! - The more remote from the scene greater the noise. The yeomanry of those to whom, we are annually told, the with confidence in all her perils—packed up and wagons, and "incontinently peaceful regions! We think we see them along the road," a day or two after the the massacres below had reached the Captain Suggs! There goes old man Simmons his wife and three daughters, together with er beds, a few chairs, and a small assortment and ovens, in a cart drawn by a bob-tail On the topmost bed, and forming the apex of of animate and inanimate "luggage," sits cat, whom the youngest daughter would remain lest he might come to harm. she exclaims, "what they might do to the On they toil the old man's head, over and ed back to see if they are pursued by the foe; while the wife and daughters every ten minutes, as they discover in the cow or a hog—"Oh, they'll kill us! they'll tar us all to pieces! Oh, Lord! But the old tom-cat sits there, gravely very incarnation of tom philosophy!

It was on Sunday that the alarm was "Suggs settlement" and most of the attendance upon the "preaching of the er Snufflenosy, at Poplar Spring meeting the "runner" who brought the woful tidings them at old Tom Rollins', by yelling as horse before the door,—the Injuns is body below! But no mind comprehend the purport of the words out than she sprang out of the house, "accoo was" shrieking at every bound, 'the Injun' —nor stopped until with face, neck, and bo as a strutting gobbler's snout, she burst into ing house, and having once more screamed fell exhausted, at fell length, upon the floor. ny of the breething lend me a horse?" asked end Mr. Snufflenosey, wildly, as he bounded pulpit, in very creditable style—"Wont lend me one?" he repeated emphatically; no answer, dashed off precipately afoot! up to Heaven the screams of fifty frightened one vast discord, more dreadful than the an hundred cats in fiercest battle. Men, too, pale and trembled, while, strange to relate, dozen young babies in attendance silently astonished eyes—struck utterly dumb at being nally beaten at their own peculiar game!

At length an understanding was somehow that Taylor's store, five mile thence, should be of rendezvous, for that night at least; and le nosey's congregation tumbled itself forth as tiously as was possible.

Simon was "duly" at the store with his when the wagon, cart and pony loads of "badly mortality began to arrive in the afternoon. there of course, and he was in his element. Suggs is particularly fond of danger—albeit, here—but because he delighted in the noise fusion, the fun and the free drinking incident occasions. And he enjoyed to the uttermost cause he was well informed as to the state of of the Indians, in all the country for ten miles and knew there was no danger. But Simon disclose this to the terrified throng at the store he! Suggs was never the man to destroy his tance in that sort of a way. On the contrary, nified the danger, and endevored to impress minds of the miscellaneous crowd "then and sembled, that he, Simon Suggs, was the only whose hands they could expect a deliverence the imminent peril which impended.

"Gentlemen," said he impressively, "this critticle time; the wild savage of the forest are nin, a bloody, hostile war, which they're not spar nither age or sex—not even to women and dren!"

"Gracious Lord above! what is a body to do" claimed the portly widow Haycock, who was ted wealthy, in consideration of the fact that a hundred dollars in money, and was the undi owner of one entire negro—"we shall all be and our truck all burnt up and destroyed! What we do?"

"That's the question," remarked Simon, as he ed to draw a glass of whiskey from a barrel of that ticle—the only thing on sale in the "store"— the question. Now as for you women-folks"—here Suggs dropped a lump of brown sugar in his whiskey, and began to stir it with his finger, looking intently in the tumbler, the while—"as for you women folks, its plain enough what you've got to do"—here Simon tasted the liquor and added a little more sugar—"sweet enough." "You've only got to look to the Lord hold your jaws; for that's all you kin do! But where the 'sponsible men"—taking his finger out of the bler, and drawing it through his mouth—"of this to do? The enemy will be down upon us right and before mornin'"—Simon drank half the whiskey —"blood will flow like—like"—the Captain was bel ered for a simile, and looked around the room for one, but finding none, continued—"like all the world! Yes —like all the world"—an idea suggesting itself—"and the Tallapussey river! It'll pour out," he continued as his fancy got richly to work, "like a great ocean!—d—d ef it don't!" And then Simon swallowed the rest of the whiskey, threw the tumbler down and looked around to observe the effect of this brilliant exordium.

The effect was tremendous!

Mrs Haycock clasped her hands convulsively, and rolled up her eyes until the "whites" only could be seen, Old Mrs Rollins, who by this time was fully clothed—and her two daughters had, when Simon ceased, the "high-strikes" in one corner of the room, and kicked up their heels at a prodigious rate; while in another, a group of young women hugged one another most affectionately, sobbing hysterically all the time. Old granny Gilbreth sat in the middle of the floor, rocking her body back and forth, striking the palms of her hands on the planks as she bent forward, and
