This Ætna Insurance Company presents for publication the very satisfactory condition of a large income and the Assets in the further security of their policies all important features of safety and security, notwithstanding the present time of some depression in the standard of stocks. They are either private dividend paying stocks, or good, sound, and best investments, yielding immediate and ready income. The standard basis on which the Assets have been valued, is the market value of the stocks, and the Company calls attention to the statement, as one of the most complete systems of Agencies having the care of property, and the individual interests of Policyholders, which has worked for thirty-seven years, to the great profit to stockholders, and claimants for losses—and notices the fact that the Ætna Life Insurance and Trust Company, whose business than has not been reached by any really Mutual Insurance Corporation.
