PLAYERS APPEAR IN JUNE PRESENTATION NEXT FRIDAY NIGHT

"Captain Applejack" Finally Perfected for Annual House Party Performance

MANY TICKETS ARE STILL ON SALE AT SHIRT SHOP

Elizabeth Mears '24 Will Make Last Penn State Appearance in Broadway Success

Working steadily for the past six weeks, the Penn State Players are now ready for their initial showing of "Captain Applejack" in the Auditorium on Friday evening at eight o'clock. The Commencement production, under the direction of A. C. Cloetingh, bids fair to be the best performance of the Players since their organization five years ago.

By the indications of the general ticket sale held last week, it is expected that a capacity house will greet the cast when the curtain rises. Many fraternity blocks were sold, and these blocks, and also many single seats, can still be obtained at the State Shirt Shop on Allen Street.

Kahan Does Good Work

B. B. Kahan '25 in the role of Ambrose Applejohn interprets in an able manner both his initial role as the English gentleman and his later appearance as Captain Applejack, the bold buccaneer, and his acting is certain to be one of the high lights of the play.

Miss Elizabeth Mears '24 will appear before Player audiences for the last time on Friday evening in the part of Agatha Whittcombe, the spinster aunt of Applejohn. Miss Mears has scored successive hits throughout the year in various Player shows, among which are "To the Ladies" and "Mr. Pim Passes By."

In the role of Johnny Dennett, an enterprising young salesman, Allen Bachrach '25 portrays a clever character sketch, although he appears in only the third act. The special scenery designed by S. B. Levy '24, with the assistance of Melvin Neff '25 and D. L. Kegaries '25, will be one of the features of the show. A special set has been constructed for the second act, in which the principal action takes place aboard the pirate ship.

The complete cast is as follows:

Ambrose Applejohn — B. B. Kahan '25
Agatha Whittcombe, Elizabeth Mears '24
Poppy Fake — Ninita Roof '25
Lush — N. D. Zimmerman '27
Anna Valeska — Lydia Grieve '26
Ivan Borofsky — S. B. Levy '24
Mr. Pengard — G. A. Kraber '26
Mrs. Pengard — Dorothy Musser '27
Johnny Dennett — Allen Bachrach '25

HOUSE PARTY PROGRAMS INCLUDE NEW FEATURES

Two and Three-day Affairs and One Joint Party Will Be Novelties of Period

June House Party and the ever famous "H. P. Q." will transform Penn State from a scene of "exams" and "All American" to one of fun and frolic when they enter Friday afternoon for the Commencement Week activities. The greater majority of the fraternities have been making extensive preparations for the event and varied forms of entertainment will figure in the week's festivities. In general, house parties will vary from three to five days in length.

Alpha Chi Rho and Cuheco will hold their party together this year, with Marburger's orchestra furnishing the music for the occasion. Friends Union will spend the week-end in the mountains around Stone Valley while Sigma Tau Phi will have a short "get-together" to conclude the term. Phi Lambda Theta will conduct a two day party with Wier's orchestra as entertainers.

The fraternities that will hold regular five day parties and their orchestras are: Alpha Chi Rho-Cuheco, Marburger's; Acacia, Swanees Serenaders of Altoona; Alpha Gamma Rho, Alexander's of Bloomsburg; Alpha Gamma Phi, Gallagher's of Norristown; Alpha Sigma Phi, Honey Boy Pep; Alpha Tau Omega, Peacock Alley of Pittsburgh; Alpha Zeta, Nesbit's Ramblers; Chi Phi, Barnard's of Syracuse; Chi Upsilon, Pat Riley; Lambda Chi Alpha, Virginia Pep of Lancaster; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Hollander's of York; Sigma Pi, McDonald's Californians of Wilkes-Barre; Delta Upsilon, Palais Royal of Altoona; Kappa Delta Rho, Quick's Pennsylvanians; Kappa Phi Delta, Brownagel's of Harrisburg; Kappa Sigma, Nittany Nine; Phi Delta Theta, Nesbit's of Sunbury; Phi Kappa Psi, Easton Twins; Phi Kappa Sigma,

RUNNERS STAR AT INTERCOLLEGIATES

Nittany Trackmen Win Fifth Place With Twenty-one Points---Capture Three Firsts on Cinder Path

Placing fifth in the I. C. A. A. A. A. track meet and tying with Penn for the highest number of first places, the Penn State track team scored twenty-one points in the Intercollegiate championships held in the Harvard Stadium last Friday and Saturday. First place was captured by Yale with a total of 28 points, Penn finished second with 27, Leland Stanford placed third with 24½ counters, Princeton climbed to the fourth position and the Blue and White followed.

No sensations were turned in on the cinder lines though some of the finishes were close and exciting. In the field events three records fell when Hartranft, Stanford's great weight man, broke the Intercollegiate records for the shot-put and discus, and when Comins of Yale sprang 24 feet 8 inches in the broad jump.

Helffrich High Scorer

Captain "Al" Helffrich led the Nittany scoring when he broke the tape first in the 440-yard dash in 50 1-10 seconds and finished second in the half mile event. The Penn State leader experienced little difficulty in capturing the quarter mile in good time, but the winning time for the half was almost two seconds slower than his time here two weeks ago when the college half mile record was lowered.

"Sky" Eack, now Intercollegiate one mile champion, ran a pretty race in his event and nosed out Cavanaugh of Boston College and Gerry of Cornell in an exciting finish. His winning time was clocked at 4 minutes 22 and 8-10 seconds and is considerably better than the college record of 4 minutes 26 2-5 seconds set here by "Larry" Shields in 1922.

Moore Scores Twice

"Chip" Moore fulfilled predictions when he carried off the honors in the high hurdle event and his fourth place in the low barrier race was won in fast company. Scatterwood of Princeton, carded to win in the latter event, was nosed out by Hess of Georgetown and Cole of Yale, and he was followed closely by Moore in fourth place and Bowman of Syracuse in fifth.

Hopes of a Nittany victory were blasted when Conway, Blue and White sprint champion failed to score in either of the straightways, and the sophomore sprinter fell considerably below the expected showing in form and speed. In speaking of the meet, however, Coach Cartmell said that his chief hope was to raise the total of points scored in last year's meet and to set a new record for Penn State runners in the Intercollegiates.

The Nittany mentor felt that the increase of seven points over the total of 1923 was good, and again he stressed the high calibre of Intercollegiate competition and the fast company in which the Blue and White runners were classed. It is his plan to strive to raise the average of points each year until, in the not far distant future, the I. C. A. A. A. A. crown comes to rest at Penn State.

MUSICAL CLUBS TO PRESENT CONCERT

Glee Club, Orchestra and Mandolin Club Join Forces for Saturday's Program

TICKET SALE IS CARDED FOR TOMORROW NIGHT

Coming at the close of a busy day of alumni activities the annual concert of the Combined Penn State Musical Clubs will take place in the Auditorium Saturday evening at seven-thirty o'clock. An excellent program has been arranged and the various organizations have been practicing regularly to make the concert a success.

The orchestra, Glee Club and Mandolin club will join forces on Saturday evening for the annual concert and each kind of musicians has something new in the way of musical entertainment. This combined concert has been exceptionally popular with students and alumni in the past and requests for advance reservations have been numerous.

Ticket Sale

Tickets will be placed on sale at Co-op tomorrow night at seven o'clock. Prices of admission are fifty cents, seventy-five cents and one dollar. In order that the entertainment will not interfere with the various fraternity dances or other activities of the evening, the length of the concert has been limited to one hour.

COLLEGIAN ISSUES FINAL PUBLICATION

This issue, accompanied by the annual pictorial, is the last number of the COLLEGIAN for the present college year.

STROLLING PLAYERS TO PRESENT ONE-ACT PLAYS DURING COMMENCEMENT

After a successful engagement in Mifflin last week, the Strolling Players, under the direction of J. Gordon Amend, are preparing for their Commencement repertoire when they will present six one-act plays at various fraternity houses during the house party festivities.

The personnel of the Strollers includes J. N. Stewart '27, G. A. Kraber '26, R. S. Covert '25 and Miss Dorothy Musser '27. For the Commencement shows Miss Virginia Kraber, a talented young actress of Pittsburgh, has been added to the group and she will make her first Penn State appearance this week-end.

The list of plays offered to the fraternity audiences will be "Sham," "The Angel Intrudes," "The Farewell Supper," "The Perfect Woman," "The Sequel" and "Suppressed Desires." Fraternities may make arrangements with the Strollers by calling G. A. Kraber at the Delta Tau Delta house.

ALAN HELFFRICH ELECTED A. A. HEAD

The ballot for the election of the A. A. head held last Monday resulted as follows: President, A. B. Helffrich '25, and Vice President, R. L. Schuster '25. D. M. Cook '25 was elected Secretary on the first ballot held last week.

PITT OPPOSES LION GOLFERS SATURDAY

Coach Rutherford's Men Shut-out W. and J. Last Week by 5-0 Score

FLOOR LEADERS PLAY IN PITTSBURGH MATCH

Penn State's traditional rival, the Pitt Panther, will furnish golf fans with plenty of excitement on the Nittany course Saturday afternoon at two o'clock when Coach Rutherford's men clash with the links aggregation representing the Blue and Gold. Captain "Benny" Kindt and his three teammates, Bob Gerhardt and Eap, have been practicing hard all week to avenge the defeat administered them by the Smoky City lads when the two teams met at Pittsburgh recently.

The Panther golf team has met with but one reverse this season, that coming at the hands of the Washington and Jefferson squad. Appearing virtually the Pittsburgh team will be Cannon, Pittsburgh player who teed off as number one man, King, Captain Lineve and Zimmerman. When the Panther met the Lion at Pittsburgh Cannon opposed Captain Kindt and managed to score a win over his man by playing sensational golf throughout the eighteen holes. He turned in a 71 for the round and only "Benny's" poor putting prevented a Blue and White

SENIORS GIVE PIANO TO COLLEGE AS MEMORIAL

The new concert grand piano which the senior class has presented to the college as a memorial has arrived and is now on the stage of the auditorium. The instrument is made by the famous House of Kuhn and represents the first word in piano construction.

The piano was chosen last week by C. E. Finley '24, chairman of the memorial committee with Director R. W. Grant acting as adviser and is the result of two days of intensive shopping among the well-known piano firms of New York City. The gift not only fills a long felt need for a new instrument in the auditorium but it will be for years to come a very tangible evidence of the generosity and good will of the Class of 1924.

Numerous Events Slated for Seniors' Last Days as Nittany Undergraduates

Following extensive preparations, all arrangements have been made and a final program of events has been completed for the senior exercises of next week. Sunday has been set as Baccalaureate Sunday, Senior Class Day will be held Monday and graduation exercises will take place Tuesday, June tenth.

The Baccalaureate Service will be held in the Auditorium at ten-thirty on the morning of June eighth. The program will be similar in many respects to that of preceding years but a new innovation will be used in the form of music by the Men's Glee Club, which will present the "Morning Hymn" by Henschel.

The Baccalaureate Sermon will be delivered by Dr. Leon C. Prince, head of the department of History at Dickinson College. Dr. Prince is a member of the Methodist ministry, an author of several books of history, has been admitted to the Pennsylvania bar and above all is a well-known and inspiring speaker.

Senior Class Day

All men of the senior class will meet on the campus in front of Old Main at nine-forty-five Monday morning following the last class meeting and will march to the Open Air Theatre for the Senior Class Day exercises. All women members of the graduating class will form at McAllister Hall and from there will proceed to the theatre for the exercises. All members of the class will be attired in caps and gowns for the festivities.

The program for the morning will include the president's address by D. V. Bender, the Class History by I. S. Wiant and the Pipe Oration by H. G. Hoehler. Class Honors will be presented, which will be followed by the dedication and acceptance of the Class Memorial. The address of the morning will be delivered by Dr. Thomas and the valedictory by D. V. Bender will conclude the program.

Graduation Exercises

Penn State's Sixty-fourth Annual Commencement will take place in the Auditorium at nine forty-five Tuesday morning. The members of the graduating class will form on the walk near the Carnegie Library and will march to the Auditorium. In charge of the Academic Procession will be Chief Marshall C. E. Ballinger '22, assisted by C. W. Borgerding '24, I. P. Brosious '24 and Z. M. Jones '24.

Following the Academic Procession there will be the Invocation by Dr. Fraser Metzger, the President's Address, the conferring of degrees, the singing of the College Hymn, and the presentation of commissions to reserve officers. The Alma Mater and the benediction, followed by the Academic Recession will conclude the exercises.

Numerous athletic events and entertainments have been scheduled for the observance of Commencement Week, the majority of which are tabulated below.

THESPIANS TO GIVE FINAL SHOWING OF PLAY NEXT MONDAY

Is Sixth Presentation of "Magazine Cover Girl"—Scheduled for Seven-thirty

SHOW WAS SUCCESSFUL ON ROAD APPEARANCE

House Is Sold for Second Penn State Appearance—Play Not To Be Repeated Here

When the curtain rises on "The Magazine Cover Girl" next Monday evening in the Auditorium at seven-thirty, the Thespian Club will be presenting its final showing of R. B. Voskamp's production.

The production was given its "opening night" performance at Penn State before the Easter recess and on the night of the dress rehearsal Ned Wayburn, whose studio directed and coached the play pronounced the show to be the equal of any amateur production on the boards this season. The welcome that the comedy received from its home audience was more than gratifying and the Club recognized the fact that it had registered a decided hit.

Other Presentations

The week after Easter vacation the show took its western trip and played one night in Greensburg and an afternoon and night in Pittsburgh. The newspapers of both places printed flattering comments and arrangements were made for return engagements next year at both the Greensburg showhouse and the Schenley Theatre in Pittsburgh.

Later, "The Magazine Cover Girl" was taken to Tyrone and its success at this place marked the last road engagement of the performance this year. Its history will wind up on Monday evening of Commencement Week when it will again be presented to a Penn State audience.

Playing the leads in the show are Robert Graham '26 as Jerry, John Huffman '25 as Billy Mallory and William Hess '24 as Gordon Bennett. The dramatic and vocal ability of this trio is said by the directorate has never before been equalled in a Thespian production.

Strong support is rendered these leads by Ewing Kennedy '26 as the Drunk and Edward Murray '24 as the Maid. Another sure hit is the team of J. W. Meyers '24 as Octavius and R. W. Armbruster '24 as Mummy. The work of John Vance '26 as Miss De Long and Joseph Etter '25 as Maltesta is also worthy of comment.

FRESHMAN STUNT WILL TAKE PLACE SATURDAY

Play Written and Directed by J. Gordon Amend To Appear on Drill Field

The Freshman Stunt will be given Saturday morning on the Midway at eight o'clock. It was written, and will be directed by J. Gordon Amend who has had charge of the first year men's stunt for the past five years.

Each year the freshman class gives a stunt to commemorate the passing of their customs, but this year, the play is a little different than it has been in previous years, being more elaborate in both theme and costume.

The play concerns a group of freshman "customs out on a frolic." They sing a little, and dance a little more and in general, they have a fine time. But the Judge and two of his most student councillors ride by and each of the customs is called to task for his capers during the year. The list of the customs is called the "Unknown Custom" and this is the real surprise of the show.

The stunt is in charge of Chairman James N. Stewart, the publicity is handled by Neil McCord and the costumes have been designed by S. H. Lister.

FRATERNITIES VOTE TO ENFORCE VISITING RULE

At a meeting of the fraternity presidents held at the Phi Kappa Sigma house last Thursday night, action was taken to enforce the Inter-fraternity Council ruling on the visiting of underclassmen and to improve conditions at the June House Party in accordance with the college regulations.

The I. F. C. ruling states that students not carrying a junior schedule are not allowed to visit other fraternities. A fine of five dollars will be imposed upon all offenders for each violation of the rule. The vote of the presidents was unanimous to uphold this ruling. Before the meeting the Penn State Players presented a one-act play entitled "Sham."

Lion Nine Faces Panther In Commencement Games

Blue And Gold Team Expects To Take Both Encounters From Coach Killinger's Athletes

An attempt will be made this week-end to break the jinx which seems to accompany the Nittany baseball team every year in its Commencement encounters with the Pittsburgh Panther. For the past three years the aggregation from the western regions of Pennsylvania have always been returned the victors from the two-game series staged on New Beaver Field. The first clash will take place Friday afternoon at two-thirty o'clock while the second number of the holiday series has been carded for Saturday afternoon at three o'clock.

Coach "Dick" Harley is bringing a strong, well-balanced nine to Penn State this spring. In the one game played with the Blue and White diamond team at Pittsburgh two weeks ago the Blue and Gold players came out on the long end of a 5-4 contest. A hit one more win is necessary to insure the visitors of the season's series with Coach Killinger's men, the Smoky City squad will be on its toes all the time. It is their hope to return from this trip with a clean sweep for the year.

Swetonic Is Captain

Swetonic, star slabbist for the invading squad is captaining the Pittsburgh team this spring. This fast the big right-hander has been having a very successful season, his two outstanding performances being those he turned in against Penn State and Bucknell. His team won both of these games by a one-run margin and the victories in each instance were due in large measure to the pitching of "Steve" Swetonic.

Besides Swetonic, there are several other reliable twirlers on Coach Harley's roster, the best of which are "Al" Schmidt, Hill and Carr. "Jake" Bohren, star quarterback for the Panther last fall, has been one of the stars on the Schenley nine, taking care of everything that comes his way in the left garden post. Parsons, a varsity basketball player, along with L. Hill, accompany Bohren in his roaming in the outer pastures.

A hard-hitting infield is boasted of by the visitors. Of this quartet of sluggers, Harding, the shortstop, has been the most consistent and dangerous in a clinch. He showed his ability in the Bucknell tilt when in the ninth

SOPHOMORES GIVE "PLASTERED AGE"

Play Is Parody on Recent Book "The Plastic Age"—Depicts Penn State Life

STUNT SCHEDULED FOR AUDITORIUM SATURDAY

With the selection of the cast daily rehearsals are being held for the Sophomore Stunt Play "The Plastered Age" which will be presented in the Auditorium, Saturday night immediately following the Glee Club concert. This year's stunt, is a two-act take-off on "The Plastic Age," the college novel that is causing so much popular comment at the present time. The play was written and directed by J. Gordon Amend.

"The Plastered Age" has a local setting and presents Penn State in all its glory. The first scene is laid in Old Main where a "session" is in progress during which the co-eds come in for their share of the attention. A bet results in which one of the supporters of the co-eds claims that the name of co-ed' is the worst disease that the girls of Penn State have to contend with. He further states that a girl at Penn State with another name than a "co-ed" would be much sweeter.

Fraternity Scene

After the bet is made, the play goes on and the second act find a house party in progress at the "Nu Delt" fraternity. A pledging scene is in pro-

STUDENTS AID IN SEARCH FOR BOALSBURG CITIZEN

Mulbarger Found in Stone Valley After Six-hour Hunt—Was Missing Three Days

Responding to the call of the fire whistle last Sunday afternoon over one hundred and forty Penn State students were largely instrumental in finding William Mulbarger, a sixty year old bachelor of Boalsburg who had been missing from his home since last Thursday.

Mulbarger suffering from a form of persecution, was found by a group of students at dusk on Sunday night in Stone Valley near the foot of Long Mountain. Though without shelter for almost four days, he appeared in perfect health when approached by his rescuers whom he greeted with little interest, explaining his absence by the statement that he "had been visiting friends."

Many in Search Party

More than one hundred were included in the searching parties, which scoured the woods about Boalsburg. The parties, organized by Charles E. Sohl, of the Boalsburg cavalry troop when the missing man failed to put in his appearance, were taken to the woods in motor trucks and within six hours had completed their quest.

It was stated by residents of Boalsburg that Mulbarger was subject to frequent attacks of mild dementia and that his flight was probably due to a fear of attack under which he had been laboring for some time.

ENGLISH INSTRUCTORS TO LEAVE FOR LONDON

J. Gordon Amend and George F. Horner To Take Two-year Courses in Literature

Resigning from their positions as instructors in the department of English at Penn State, J. Gordon Amend and George F. Horner have made preparations to sail for Europe on September first. Both men have enrolled in a two-year course at the University of London.

With their interest centered in literature, Amend and Horner plan to work toward the attainment of Master of Literature degree. Amend to devote his time to the Drama while Horner will major in the Essay and the Essayists. During the summer months of their two years in London they plan to travel over Europe.

J. Gordon Amend came to Penn State as a student in 1913 but work interrupted his college career and it was not until 1920 that he was graduated with an A. B. degree. He secured his M. A. in 1921. He began to teach in the fall of 1920 and has been here ever since.

Amend's activities outside of the classroom are well known. For quite some time he was connected with the Penn State Players, adding that organization greatly in the production of better plays. He has also taken an active interest in the Thespians, and it was he who organized the Strolling Players, a small group of students who have supplied much entertainment about the campus especially during the summer sessions.

George F. Horner first made his appearance at Penn State in 1917 and was graduated in 1921. He entered upon his active duties in the department of English in the fall of that year and has been constantly engaged in his profession here ever since. Both men plan to return to Penn State after their sojourn abroad.

The COLLEGIAN has made special arrangements whereby some feature articles on various phases of European student life will be written by these men for publication in its columns.

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR J. S. SCHOONMAKER TO LEAVE FOR SYRACUSE

It was with the deepest regret that the department of Music accepted the resignation of Assistant Professor J. Sherman Schoonmaker who plans to take up a similar work at Syracuse University next year.

During his year's service here he not only became very popular with students but also demonstrated in many ways his efficiency as a musician. He had charge of the pianoforte work and Director Grant paid high tribute to the progress the music department has made under his direction.

His work is organist at the morning chapel and as director of choir B has brought much favorable commendation. Mr. Schoonmaker, besides making an enviable record in his regular work has done much in the way of club work as was shown by his directing in Pinafore.
