fired about half-past 7 o'clock. The citizens of the town were gathered together at different points, and, of course, had to endure the mortification of being passive spectators of the scene. Some few straggling soldiers were in the town at the time the rebels entered, but either remained concealed or made good their escape towards Shippensburg or Harrisburg.

THE ESCAPE TO VIRGINIA.

The following is one of the "Associated Press" dispatches:

Frederick, October 13, 12 M.—I regret to inform you that my surmise last evening of the escape of the rebels across the Potomac, without any serious interference by the Federal forces, is fully confirmed.—They at first attempted to cross at Nolan's Ford, which is directly at the mouth of Monocacy river. They were driven from this point by the shells of our forces stationed there, and gave up the attempt without much opposition, as the road was open to them to reach the lower fords at Conrad's and Edwards' ferries, which are nearly opposite Leesburg. After being driven from Nolan's ford, they divided and crossed the river at different points, but principally at Conrad's ferry, which is fully six miles below the mouth of the Monocacy, and not far from Poolesville, in Montgomery county. This is the principal ford by which Gens. Lee and Jackson made the crossing with the rebel army.

The farmers taken prisoners at Mercersburg, Pa., were paroled by the rebels at the river. They arrived here this morning.—They report that Gen. Stuart and Gen. Hampton were both with the expedition. The cavalry consisted of detachments from Virginia and South Carolina regiments.

They seized no horses in Maryland, but swept the portions of Pennsylvania through which they passed of every horse worth taking. Mr. Clark's newspaper express man was captured by them, but escaped after they had crossed the river.

All is quiet here this morning, after a day of excitement yesterday. Much mortification is expressed in military circles at the failure to intercept the daring marauders. The importance of protecting Frederick and the Monocacy Junction and bridge, with millions of government property, however, necessitated the massing of a large force at these points, and, doubtless, required all the available troops. Gen. Pleasanton, with his cavalry and artillery, traveled 72 miles in 24 hours, in pursuit of them.

ARRIVAL OF A REBEL PRISONER—CAPTURE OF HORSES AND PROVISIONS THEIR OBJECT.

Harrisburg, Oct. 12.—The rebel prisoner captured yesterday at New Salem arrived here this afternoon. His name is Chausler, of the First Virginia Cavalry, and he is the only one of the invading party captured.—He is intelligent and talkative. He says that three farmers surrounded him and the major of his regiment, while in the advance after something to eat. The major escaped. Chausler has been eighteen months in the rebel service. He gives no rebel plans, except that the object of their raid was to procure horses and provisions. He is handsomely uniformed, in clothes smuggled to him from Hagerstown while the Pennsylvania militia were there.

The Washington Star, of Monday evening, says:

A man who arrived here this morning from near Conrad's Ferry, states that he was in the presence of Gen. Stuart a few minutes before he crossed the river with his marauding force, in his retreat from his late foray into Pennsylvania. Gen. Stuart informed him, in a sarcastic manner, that he had "fooled the whole party," but regretted that he had not accomplished what was intended when he started, as he expected to reach Frederick, Md., destroy the government stores at that point, and then destroy the bridge over Monacacy river; but that, all things taken into consideration, he "had carried out his programme with much success."

Stuart's men and horses looked extremely exhausted, but the former were in high glee, and from the looks of the clothing on their persons, and that which they had tied on their extra (stolen) horses, (which numbered about 1,000,) they expected and said that the change would be very acceptable, especially the shoes and boots, of which they had a large quantity. Gen. Stuart sent his compliments to a number of United States officers with whom he was acquainted in old times. Cool, decidedly.

ARMY LETTER.

CLARKSBURG, Va., Oct. 5, 1862.

DEAR COMPILER:—Clarksburg, our present location, is the county seat of Harrison, said to be the wealthiest county in Western Virginia. It is situated on the west branch of the Monongahela, distant from Parkersburg, on the Ohio, eighty six, and from Baltimore about three hundred miles. It contains a court-house, six churches and an academy, all of which, except the court-house, are used by the Government for guard house, soldiers' quarters, &c.

The people generally are for the Union, and like all Virginians, are open-hearted and hospitable, vieing with each other in making the sick and wounded soldiers comfortable. This is the birth-place of the rebel Gen. Jackson; many of his relatives live in and around the town, some of whom have been arrested and confined for a too free use of the tongue, in expressing secession sentiments.

Gen. Kelly, accompanied by his staff, consisting of Capt. Melvin and Lieut. Kelly, reviewed our Regiment yesterday, on a field adjoining our camp, and, as usual, made a splendid display; and at the request of the General, Col. Hay drilled the Regiment in the manual of arms, which elicited the commendations of all the military men on the ground, of whom there was a large number.

It has been determined, by permission of the commanding General, to send home from each company one man to recruit to the full standard, the different companies of our Regiment. Before this reaches you the glad face of your old friend Barney will be peeping in at your door, to tell you of things that I have forgotten or neglected to write, and I bespeak for him a hearty welcome from his old friends in Gettysburg. He deserves well of his friends and country, for a truer soldier does not live.

Sergeant Slagle has been detailed to recruit for Company I.

Let the young men of Adams county come out and fill up both the companies from there in this Regiment, and I am sure they will not regret their joining either the companies or Regiment, when their term of service is over.

A close intimacy of over one year with both the field and line officers of this Regiment, enables me to speak knowingly of the character and dispositions of all of them, and I do not hesitate to say that it is the most agreeable organization in the field.

Among the troops at this point are the Ringgold Cavalry, from Washington county, Penn. Lieut. Myers is in command, Capt. John Keyes being at home recruiting a full Regiment. 2d Lieut. Hart, who is every inch a true-hearted son of Pennsylvania, is now confined to his bed by a sprained ankle, which he received by the fall of his horse. The best feeling exists between our two organizations, and we all hope that we may not be separated during the continuance of the war.

The officers and men in the companies from your county are generally in good health. Lieut. Norris is with us, and looks well. Camp life agrees with Major Buehler, consequently he never complains and is always ready for any duty. He deserves a Colonelcy. Let him have one in the new Pennsylvania Regiments. Zoo Zoo.

CAMPAIGN SUBSCRIBERS.

This number of the Compiler fills our contract with Campaign Subscribers. We hope that many—all of them—will continue the paper regularly. A number have already so ordered, with the cash in advance. There is room for more. Come with a rush! In these times Democratic newspapers cannot be too extensively circulated. They act as an effectual antidote to Abolition poison, which "bold bad men" are seeking to fasten upon the vitals of the nation. Let the truth have wide range.

Persons desiring to continue the paper will please give us immediate notice to that effect.

Michigan Politics.—It is stated that the conservative Republicans of Michigan, alarmed at the progress of the radicals, have sided off from the faction which supports Senator Chandler, and put up candidates who are really for the constitution, and the Democrats have adopted their ticket.

☞ Governor Buckingham, of Connecticut, has ordered a draft for 800 men to fill up the regiments now organized in the army.

Special Notices.

Cleanse the Blood.—With corrupt, disordered or vitiated Blood, you must be sick all over. It may burst out in Pimples, or Sores, or in some active disease, or it may merely keep you listless, depressed and good for nothing. But you cannot have good health while your blood is impure. Ayer's Sarsaparilla purges out these impurities and stimulates the organs of life into vigorous action, restoring the health and expelling disease. Hence it rapidly cures a variety of complaints which are caused by impurity of the blood, such as Scrofula or Kings' Evil, Tumors, Ulcers, Sores, Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter or Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Cancer or Cancerous Tumors, Sore Eyes, Female Diseases, such as Retention, Irregularity, Suppression, Whites, Sterility, Syphilis or Venereal Diseases, Liver Complaints and Heart Diseases. Dearest Willice, here we miss thee,
Miss thee from thy childish play;
But thou art with the angels,
And thy pains are washed away.

We miss thy sweet and gentle smile,
That gave us joy while here;
But thou art now with God in heaven,
Removed from pain and death and fear. *

On the 11th inst., in Tyrone township, HARRIET EMMA, daughter of Samuel and Mary Houdeshell, aged 6 months and 11 days.

So blooms the human face divine,
When youth its pride and beauty shows;
Fairer than spring the colors shine,
And sweeter than the virgin rose.
Or worn by slowly rolling years,
Or broke by sickness in a day;
The fading glory disappears,
The short-liv'd beauties die away. *
