FROM VICKSBURG.

The Baltimore Sun, of Monday, says:

The advices from the Southwest indicate that another severe battle took place in front of Vicksburg on Monday last. A general attack was made on the Confederate works, but failed to carry them. Gen. Grant then concluding that the position was too strong to be taken by assault, opened a heavy fire upon the works with his artillery. The latest advices state that the fight was not resumed on Tuesday.—The Confederates under Gen. Johnston are reported to be fifteen thousand strong at Jackson. The Big Black river bridge is also reported to be in their possession, and large bodies of troops massed there. It is also reported that Gen. Pemberton, reinforced with twenty thousand men, was immediately in Gen. Grant's rear. At last accounts most of the Confederate river batteries had been silenced, but the most dangerous were in operation. An official report of the capture of Haines's Bluff states that besides the guns and stores taken at that point the Confederate navy-yard at Yazoo city was captured and three rams and other property destroyed.

Since the above was written a dispatch was received from Washington stating that unofficial dispatches have been received from Gen. Grant, dated Tuesday last, representing that no material change had taken place since the day previous. On the evening of Monday the Confederate General asked for a truce to bury his dead, which was granted. This goes to confirm the report of a great battle on Monday.

Southern papers have advices one day later. According to these Gen. Grant also sent in a flag of truce on Wednesday last in reference to the killed and wounded. The loss of life on the Federal side is reported as greater than in any battle of the war. Two of the Federal gunboats are said to have been sunk. Gen. Banks is reported as having crossed his army at Bayoo Sara, about fifteen miles above Port Hudson. Colonel Grierson's cavalry made another raid from Baton Rouge recently, capturing and destroying a Confederate camp.

The Sun, of Friday, says:

The dates from Vicksburg are to Sunday last, and the news is important. Gen. Johnston was reported to be advancing between the Yazoo and the Big Black rivers, with the intention of retaking Haines's Bluff, and breaking the Federal communication on the North. On Wednesday, the 27th, one army corps took seven days rations and marched out to meet him. His force is variously estimated at from fifteen to thirty thousand. It is reported through Confederate sources that General Grant, having been unsuccessful at every point of the Vicksburg defenses, had fallen back upon the line of the Big Black, and was fortifying his position there to prevent Gen. Johnston from crossing. The siege operations on the river side were kept upon Saturday last, the mortar boats firing day and night upon the confederate works. Another dispatch, however, states that there had been no material change in affairs up to Sunday, and that there had been no fighting for several days, but that the siege works were being energetically pushed forward by Gen. Grant.

Federal advices up to Sunday represent that the siege was progressing with reasonable satisfaction, and that there was no immediate pressure upon General Grant's rear. Gen. Banks was investing Port Hudson.

THE NEXT GOVERNOR OF PENNSYLVANIA.

Without presuming in any way to meddle in the politics of a sister commonwealth, we may record the gratifying news which reaches us from Pennsylvania, that its Democracy seriously entertain the idea of nominating Major General WILLIAM B. FRANKLIN as their candidate for Governor. With such a nomination, it is not rash to say that victory is certain, and such a victory will be attended with consequences which no one will now pretend to measure. General Franklin's name is associated with all that is glorious in this war, and cannot be defamed by the imputation of any act of illegal violence or unnecessary outrage. With no offence to others, he may be described as McClellan's "right-hand man." He has shared danger with McClellan, and he has shared obloquy and injustice with him too. Pennsylvania looks upon them both, and especially upon Franklin, with interest and pride as her sons and her soldiers. The spontaneous feeling which is now expressing itself among the Democracy of Pennsylvania on this subject seems not only strong and generous popular impulses, but the far seeing sagacity which in all times has characterized the ancient national organization of the Democracy, and which has secured to it so many triumphs. At a moment when they might so easily be discouraged by the fear of military ascendancy, or the suspicions which in the present unsettled state of things might be infused into the popular mind, the Democracy of Pennsylvania look steadily ahead, measure the fluctuations of public sentiment and opinion accurately, and provide for the coming danger by selecting a man as their candidate who, should the evil day arrive, will be strong enough, and brave enough, and wise enough to meet it. Such a man the history of the last two years proves Gen. Franklin to be. In the canvass he will be unassailable. He can have no enemies but the enemies of his country, the wretched crowd of parasites upon executive favor, or the wild fanatics of the North—of whom, by and by, there are relatively few in his own State. His friends will be earnest and enthusiastic. He can command the unbought suffrages of the hundreds and thousands of gallant men who have come home from the war, and whom the memory of hours of common trial will cluster around him. Should other dangers threaten, the freemen of Pennsylvania will feel—what for two years they have not felt—that they will be safe in their persons and property, and that neither will Brigadier General Wadsworth be suffered to capture editors, nor General Stuart to capture towns and stampede horses with impunity. To us in New York the election of such a man—to be associated in the defense of the Constitution with Seymour and Parker—will be a boon and a security beyond all price. The whole free North will breathe more freely on knowing that with such a leader Pennsylvania has resumed her advanced posts in the phalanx of Democracy. We sincerely trust that General Franklin may be nominated, and that he will accept the nomination.—N. Y. World.

☞The Richmond papers of the 28th ult. contain the following:

"TULLAHOMA, Ala., May 26.—Vallandigham is now at Shelbyville, Tenn."

CINCINNATI, May 29.—Vallandigham is the guest of Bragg, at Shelbyville. It is reported that Bragg telegraphed to Jeff Davis as to what he should do with him. Davis replied, "if he'll take the oath of allegiance to the Confederacy, receive him; if not, send him back."

☞General Ewell, who succeeds Stonewall Jackson, has but one leg, and is strapped to his horse while on the field.

☞As several regiments of the Pennsylvania Reserves marched through Washington, the other day, they cheered vociferously for Gen. McClellan, in the hearing of President Lincoln.

☞There is a fair prospect that the California Democracy will unite on a common platform and ticket at the ensuing State election.

☞Dayton, Ohio, the residence of Mr. Vallandigham, is still restive, and the military have been again employed to keep "order."

☞If the Administration would pay more attention to the work of whipping the rebels in the South, and less to the enslaving of the people of the North, "the country would be the better for it."

THE DEMOCRACY OF HUNTINGDON AROUSED!

Immense Mass Meeting.—The Democracy of Huntingdon county held an immense mass meeting at Huntingdon on Friday afternoon week, to take action in reference to the gross outrage perpetrated on the Monitor Office—the Democratic organ of the county—by a Black Republican mob about two weeks previous. The meeting was presided over by General Spear, a gallant officer of the present war, now at home on account of ill health. On taking the chair Gen. S. made a few eloquent and pertinent remarks, and the vast assemblage were further addressed by R. L. Johnson, Esq., of Cambria, Hon. George Sanderson, of Lancaster, J. A. Orvis, of Bellefonte, J. Milton Spear, Esq., of Huntingdon, and others. A series of patriotic and able resolutions read by R. Bruce Petriken, Esq., were adopted by acclamation, and the meeting adjourned with three hearty cheers for the Union and the Constitution. Nearly $1,000 was raised and paid over to Mr. Owen, the proprietor of the Monitor, to enable him to purchase new materials, &c., to again start the paper without delay. The utmost harmony and good order prevailed throughout the day, and the meeting was most enthusiastic. The Democracy of Huntingdon county will give a good account of themselves at the ballot-box.

Sheriffalty.

ENCOURAGED by numerous friends, I again offer myself as a candidate for the office of SHERIFF, subject to the decision of the Democratic County Convention. Should I be nominated and elected, I pledge myself to discharge the duties of the office with promptness and impartiality. GEORGE BUSHMAN.

Cumberland tp., March 30, 1863.

☞Having been informed of a report in circulation to the effect that I intend to run as an Independent candidate should I not be nominated by the Democratic County Convention, it is due to myself that I at once brand the said report as utterly false. I have never entertained such a thought, and feel myself in honor bound to abide by the decision of the Convention, as announced in my card above.

June 8, 1863. GEORGE BUSHMAN.

A Soldier's Opinion of "Union Leagues."—An officer in an Iowa regiment, who formerly resided in this county, thus gives his views in regard to the "Union Leagues:"—"I think that 'Union Leagues,' made up of men pledged to enter the army at their country's call, would be of some benefit; but 'leagues' composed of men pledged to stay at home and vote the Republican ticket, or, in other words, prepare for the campaign of '64, cannot be of any use to the Administration, as far as soldiers are concerned. If we are compelled to fight the South into the Union, it is soldiers we want.—These meetings are very good places for loud talking patriots to go and talk about suppressing the rebellion, and calling all those men who happen to differ from them, 'copperheads,' and exterminating the white race of the South and liberating the black. One of these meetings is the last place to go for recruits. Perhaps some of them may be drafted; then the three hundred dollars would be paid quickly, as it is presumed a 'league' is able to fork over; but would that benefit the war power?"—Chillicothe Advertiser.

Eureka, Eureka!

THE "EXCELSIOR WASHER!" is acknowledged by all who see it, to be the most complete, and without exception, the most perfect Labor-Saving Washing Machine ever before invented. Its superiority over all others consists in the simplicity and durability of its construction, the rapidity and completeness of its work, and the almost incredible ease with which it is managed. A child of ten years, possessing ordinary judgment, can learn to work it in five minutes time, and manage it as well as a grown person, except for very heavy goods. In a word this is the machine that is destined to take the place of every other now in use. Persons intending to get a machine will find it greatly to their advantage to examine this one before purchasing.

The undersigned have purchased the Patent Right for Adams County (excepting one township) and are making extensive preparations for their manufacture. Every machine will be built in the best manner and warranted. Price $8 00. In connection with this machine there is a Patent Wringer, which performs this laborious part of washing with the greatest ease and much better than it can be done by hand. They may be attached to a common Wash Tub, and are sold with the machine or separately as desired. Samples of each may be seen at our Gallery, in East York Street, opposite the Bank, Gettysburg, Pa.
