A CONVENTION of Republicans of the Southern States will meet at Atlanta, Ga., on October 12, "the object being to set forth to the nation the true condition of the South."

PROF. TYNDALL declares that Christianity stands, and has for centuries stood in the way of the advancement of science, and thus he has opened the way for a great discussion.

THE New York Herald is emphatic when it announces that President Grant will be a candidate for the "third term." The New York Times has followed the Herald through its tortuous course and at last landed on the precious morsel that was the cause of the positive declaration of the Herald, and this is the summing of it all: "The President visited his aunt, and his aunt met her son-in-law, and her son-in-law met his Presidential kinsman," and then and there President Grant said he was for a "third term." Is it not as clear as noon-day?"

THINKING men are predicting that when the mist that yet to a certain degree envelopes the real cause of the "Brooklyn trouble" has been cleared away, it will be seen that the philosophers of Free love caused it all, and for no other purpose than to extend the borders of their cause. Once get the public mind to believe that there is a price for the virtue of every man and woman, which they would have believed, is found under certain circumstances—for one individual it may be this, for another it may be that—then the road to general free-love will be short and easy. Thinking men believe at this phase of the case, that this terrible moral heresy lies back of the persecution of Beecher.

"THE directors of one of the school districts in McLean county, Illinois, resolved to build a separate school-house for the accommodation of the colored children, four in number, of which four but half finally attended at the new school house. For these two a separate teacher was hired. Several taxpayers of the district thereupon prayed the Court for an injunction against such a misappropriation of the public funds, and the case being carried up the injunction was affirmed and made perpetual. Thus ended the separate-school experiment in Illinois, as the opinion of the Court was general in its terms and will block all future attempts to set up the separate system."

THE Beecher scandal within the past week has somewhat abated. The only mention of it worth repeating are the newspaper statements that Tilton and Moulton, both, are preparing new statements relative to the trouble.—Doubless these forthcoming statements will prove to be just so many more nice coils around their necks to hang themselves on. Their statements are already too voluminous, as will be demonstrated if the case ever goes to court. These men are a good deal like the old gentleman who told all people who visited his house that his residence had a haunted chamber. The whole community became more or less exercised over his tales. Finally a company of ladies and gentlemen visited him and asked that they be shown to the haunted room so that they might see and hear for themselves. Their clever old friend, when thus confronted, showed the place where the "spook" ought to be, and wove a harrowing tale, but alas! for him, no ghost appeared. Exit host, guests and story.

Huntingdon county has a reputation for political phenomena that is State wide.—Last week, according to the Huntingdon Monitor, the field of phenomena was enlarged to embrace agriculture, and farmers were represented as engaged in making hay. It did not say that they were trying to gather it on Spears.

THE Press calls the people who would rob the name of Shakespeare of the authorship of the "plays" ascribed to his pen, "hogs."

Louisiana Outrage.

Within the past few weeks terrible outrages have been committed in a number of the Southern States. In the closing days of August an appaling massacre took place at Coushatta, in Red River parish, Lousiana. Governor Kellog, of that State, has issued a proclamation placing a reward of five thousand dollars a head on all persons implicated in the Coushatta affair, and accompanied his proclamation with the following statement, which gives the reader some knowledge of the state of society down there:

"To the Public:

"Having felt it my duty to issue my proclamation offering a large reward for the apprehension and conviction of the murderers in the Coushatta outrage, and to the end that law-abiding citizens of the State may fully comprehend the magnitude of the crime committed, and to induce and to render more active assistance to the officers of the law, I deem it proper to make the following statement. These facts are gathered from reliable information received at the Executive Department:

"On or about August 28, a body of persons belonging to a semi-military organization known as 'the White League of Louisiana,' assembled in the town of Coushatta, parish of Red River, in this State, for the purpose of compelling by force of arms the State officers of that parish to resign their positions. These officers were men of good character, most of them largely interested in planting and mercantile pursuits. They held their positions with the fully consent of an admittedly large majority of the legal voters of the parish, this being a heavily Republican parish, as admitted by the Fusion returning boards. The only known objection to them was, that they were of Republican principles. Frank Edgerton, the duly qualified sheriff of the parish, in strict compliance with the laws of the State and of the United States, summoned a posse comitatus of citizens, white and colored, to assist him in protecting the parish officers in the exercise of their undisputed rights and duties from the threatened unlawful violence of the White League. His posse, consisting of sixty-five men, were overpowered by a superior force assembled from adjacent parishes, and finally, after several colored and white men had been killed, surrendered themselves prisoners, with the explicit guarantee that their lives would be spared if more prominent Republicans would agree to leave the parish, and those holding office would resign their positions. These stipulations, although unlawfully exacted, were complied with on the part of the Republican officials, who were then locked up in jail for the night.

"The following-named persons were amongst those who surrendered and resigned: Homer J. Twitchell, planter, and tax collector of Red River parish, and deputy United States postmaster in charge of the post office at Coushatta; Robert A. Dewees, supervisor of registration De Soto parish; Clark Holland, merchant and supervisor of registration of Red River parish; W. F. Howell, parish attorney, and United States counsel; Frank S. Edgerton, sheriff of Red River parish, and M. E. Willis, merchant and justice of the peace. On the following morning, Sunday, the 30th of August, these persons were bound together, two and two, and conducted by armed guard to McFarland's plantation, just over the parish line of Red River, within the boundaries of Bossieur parish, about 40 miles east of the Texas line. There they were set upon and deliberately murdered in cold blood. On the night before the murder a body of forty members of the White League of Caddo parish, masked and armed, left the city of Shreveport, and were seen riding in the direction of the place where the murder was subsequently committed. The bodies were buried where they fell, without inquest or any formality whatever.

"W. P. KELLOGG, Governor."

Lawlessness, as described by Governor Kellog, has induced the Administration at Washington to issue the following to U. S. officers in the South:

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE, September 3, 1874.—Sir: Outrages of various descriptions, and in some cases atrocious murders, have been committed in your district by bodies of armed men, sometimes in disguise, and with the view, it is believed, of overawing and intimidating peaceable and law-abiding citizens, and depriving them of the rights guaranteed to them by the Constitution and laws of the United States. Your attention is directed to an act of Congress passed April 9, 1866, entitled "An act to protect all persons in the United States in their civil rights, and to furnish means for their vindication," and to another passed April 20, 1874, entitled "An act to enforce the provisions of the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, and for other purposes;" also to one passed May 6, 1870, entitled "An act to enforce the rights of citizens of the United States of this Union, and for other purposes," which, with their amendments, make these deeds of violence and blood within the jurisdiction of the General Government. I consider it my duty, in view of these circumstances, to proceed with all possible energy and despatch to detect, expose, arrest and punish the perpetrators of these crimes, and to that end you are to spare no effort or necessary expense. Troops of the United States will be stationed at different and convenient points in your district for the purpose of giving you all needful aid in the discharge of your official duties. You understand, of course, that no interference whatever is hereby intended with any political or party action not in violation of law, but protection to all classes of citizens, white and colored, in the free exercise of the elective franchise and the enjoyment of other rights and privileges to which they are entitled under the Constitution and laws as citizens of the United States. These instructions are issued by authority of the President, and with the concurrence of the Secretary of War.

Very respectfully,
GEO. H. WILLIAMS,
Attorney General.

Letter from Wisconsin.

MONROE, WIS., Sept. 1, 1874.

Editor Juniata Sentinel and Republican: Dear Sir—Monroe, the county seat of Greene county, is a beautiful town of about 3500 inhabitants, situated in the southern part of the State It is the terminus of a branch of the Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad. It is not built compact, like most of the eastern towns, but each house is surrounded by a yard planted with shade trees, &c., which adds greatly to the appearance of the town; but the style of the buildings look rather odd to an eastern person, being mostly one story or story and a half with one story attachment. The surrounding country is rolling, about equally divided between prairie and woodland. Timber heavy enough for building purposes is quite plenty; the different varieties are burr oak, white oak, hickory, walnut, bass wood, cotton-wood, quaking asp and sugar maple. From the latter in some parts of the county a great quantity of sugar is made. Wood for fuel is worth from $3.50 to $5.00 per cord, delivered. There are very few springs or running streams, but good water can be obtained by drilling to a depth of from 50 to 100 feet through limestone rock, at a cost of from one to two dollars per foot, according to the size of the bore. For drawing the water the windlass is in general use, but wind-mills are be coming quite an institution in this country; most of the large stock owners having them attached to their pumps, the price of which is from $150. to $200. The soil is very fertile, needs but little fertilizing as yet, though some are beginning to manure for corn, they generally raise from 20 to 25 bushels of wheat and from 60 to 75 bushels of shelled corn per acre, and that year in the same field, as crops are not farmed in regular rotation like in the east.—Grain of course is some cheaper than in the east, but as one man can farm more here than there, he makes more with less labor, provided it is a good season, which this has not been, for the drouth and chinch bugs destroyed the wheat and oats crop almost entirely. Some farmers with over 400 acres did not have a single bushel of wheat; some had only five or six bushels, others got about their seed; and five or six bushels per acre was considered a good yield. Corn is also injured a great deal, especially when adjoining a wheat field. As soon as the wheat was cut the bugs attacked the corn, where they first entered the field they killed it completely; but on the whole it is thought it will make something over half a crop. Indeed, I have nowhere seen in this western country as good corn as I saw on Jonathan Keiser's farm between Salem and Thompsontown. There are a greater or less number of these bugs here every year, but the present year their depredations have been greater than ever before known. Many persons in the east suppose them to be something like the potato bug, (of which there is also a liberal supply here,) but that is a mistaken idea; they are a small black fly with silvery wings, emitting an odor when crushed, some thing like a bed-bug. They do not eat the grain, but get on the stalks and extract the substance. The grass-hoppers have not visited this section yet, but they are expected in a year or so, as they are still drawing closer.

The climate here is considered very healthy, but I think the extremes are too great. The winters are long and cold, from 30 to 36 degrees below zero, and in summer it goes to the other extreme, from 110 to 120 degrees in the shade. If we had the western soil on the hills of Juniata I think it would be preferable in many respects to a great part of the west; but as the "mountain would not go to Mohammed, Mohammed had to go to the mountain."

D. W. W.

THE Lock Haven Republican says: "On Sunday morning of last week, says a correspondent, at Farrandsville, a little boy made its appearance at that place, begging for something to eat for his parents, who, he said, were in waiting for him some distance up the road, in a very destitute condition. Several persons went up to learn the truth of the story, and found it to be too true. The mother, who had just given birth to a child, was lying on the ground with a stone for a pillow, suffering from hunger and exposure, and the father was too loyal to leave her even to secure food for herself and those dependent on him. The kind-hearted neighbors did all they could to alleviate the sufferings of the strangers, and made them as comfortable as was possible.—The child lived about two hours, and was buried at Minersville, a little town up in the mountains. No one seems to know anything about the party, who appeared to have walked a long way."

The Democracy don't say White Man's Party, but they are anti-civil rights and mixed schools, and that's the same thing.
