LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Hollidaysburg has small-pox.

Isaac Etka is ready to do jobs of white-washing and plastering on short notice.

Mrs. Anthony Sandoe, of this place, fell on the ice on the pavement, last Wednesday, and broke an arm, in Huntingdon.

Philadelphia market quotations, Monday, March 29.—Wheat, western, $1.26a1.28; corn 84c; oats 68a70c.

When Mr. McKnight resigned the position he held on the railroad, the company lost one of the best men in its service.

In the list of announcement of patents granted last week is that of a grain binder to William A. Patterson of this county.

The sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered in Rev. Mr. Blackwelder's church in Licking Creek Valley next Sunday.

Because of the death of H. R. Graybill the entertainment of McAllisterville schools was postponed until Thursday evening, April 1st.

Every ravine was a rushing stream of water last Saturday and Sunday, just as if a great rain prevailed. The thaw of ice and snow caused it.

The snow banks on Gallaher's hill furnished water enough to run a stream along the pike to the basin sufficiently large to run a mill, last Saturday and Sunday, if one had been located there.

Bloomfield, Perry county, is discussing the cause of a shock that was felt by many people in their houses in that town, some mornings since. The question asked is, "Was it an earthquake?"

Miss Reynolds, while in the act of removing some articles from the top of a book-case in the house of Mr. John Kirk, a few days ago, lost her balance and fell across a chair, injuring herself so seriously that she has been quite ill since.

If a covering of snow during the winter months insure a large yield of winter wheat, the next harvest must needs be a full one, for the winter just closed kept the ground continually covered with snow. As yet the green does not show itself in the wheat. It looks browned, more dead than alive. It has time to recover itself if the roots have not been killed.

Some days ago Abram Moist's hired man, wishing to experience the exhilerating effect of riding down hill on the snow, procured a smooth board and a small bundle of rye straw, and with these article under his arms proceeded to the top of the hill south of the Mansion farm barn. The snow was crusted and smooth. The straw was spread and the board laid on it. The young man took his seat, and before he realized it was gliding over the eighth of a mile that intervened between the point at which he started and a post fence at the foot of the hill with such velocity that he lost his senses of seeing and hearing—he was in fact nearly unconscious—when he bounded against the stout fence referred to. Since then he has been confined to bed, both legs being severely sprained and bruised.

NOTICE.—There are still about 45 Sabbath Schools which have not sent in their reports for 1874. Brethren, we need your reports, in order to present our statistics in a satisfactory manner at the International Sunday School Convention, to be held in Baltimore, May 11th, 12th and 13th, 1875. Please send in your reports without delay, that I may be able to send our complete statistics to the State Secretary, and oblige

THE man named Burtnett, charged with forging the names of two of his neighbors to a note for $200, upon which he received $133, at the First National bank, Hollidaysburg, was arrested by a police officer and committed to the Blair county prison. The case will be disposed of at the April session. Burtnett, it will be remembered, forged the name of William Wertz and D. P. Tussey to a note. All the parties reside in Canoe Valley.—Altoona Tribune.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD COMPANY,
Office of Sup't of Middle Divison,
Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 23, 1875.

JAMES MCKNIGHT, ESQ., Supervisor No. 6, Middle Div., P. R. R.:—Dear Sir, Your letter of yesterday, tendering me your resignation as Supervisor, was received by me with feelings of most sincere regret—first, because of the reasons calling forth the resignation, and second, because the Company should lose the services of so old and valued an employee.

I have not been here long enough to know from my own observation of your true worth, but the high commendations that I have heard of you from those who have had such opportunity, and the condition of that part of the road that has been under your immediate charge, convinces me that I, as well as the Company, am losing a most valuable officer.

I will arrange to relieve you by the 1st of the month, as you request, and I sincerely hope that with the relief you will experience when freed from the cares of business, that you will rapidly regain your accustomed health; and in the future should there be anything in which I can be of service to you, I certainly hope you will call on me. Very sincerely yours,

JAMES McCREA,
Superintendent Middle Div. P. R. R.

A MILROY correspondent of the Lewistown Sentinel relates this of the death of Lieut. McLenahen, which took place last Saturday a week: From all that I can learn I sift the following facts:—Lieut. McLenahen rose as usual on Saturday morning, and proceeded to the barn to feed his stock. H. R. McNitt, a brother-in-law, has been assisting him all winter in doing chores, &c., about the barn. On Saturday morning he came as usual and asked if there was anything to be done to-day. Mr. McL. replied nothing but water the horses and feed the calves, and that he could do it himself. Mr. McNitt, however, took from the stable a pair of horses and watered them at a creek some distance away, leaving Lieut. McL. standing against the barn. When he returned he could not find him. He then went into the back entry to get some straw to feed the calves, and while passing through the entry (a dark and narrow one) stumbled over the prostrate form of Lieut. McLenahen. Having fainted at the corn-crib the day before, Mr. McNitt thought the same had again occurred, and after some difficulty with the deceased's dog drew him to the light in an adjoining entry.—Noticing blood on his forehead he thought he had fallen against the stones of the wall in the back entry, (he thinks he was breathing at the time he found his body), and then giving the alarm at the house, mounted a horse, came to Milroy, and returned with Dr. A. Harshburger. Before he returned, however, all was over with poor Hiram, and then he discovered for the first time that he was shot. Subsequent search in the entry revealed a large pool of blood and a navy revolver.—Lieut. McLenahen had used this revolver for shooting rats and cats, and kept it constantly about the barn. The ball entered high on his forehead, but did not go through the head—which leads many to believe that in getting it from the place he was accustomed to keep it—on a girder above his head—it discharged, accidentally, with this fatal result. He leaves a wife and five children.

THE Carlisle Herald says: Mr. Jesse Laverty, of East Pennsboro', living near Booser's Mill, was lately very much annoyed by rats, which carried off his eggs and made sad work with his corn in the crib, and then invaded his granary and commenced destroying a bin of wheat. Mr. L., on examination, found there was but one place where the rats got in. He thereupon resolved to kill the rats by an artifice well worthy of the cause. He strewed corn meal liberally on the floor of the granary, and about one hour later he nailed the hole shut; he then called his dog (a Spanish terrier) and armed with a club went forth to battle.

Now the door of the granary is fastened by a long wooden latch extending full across the door and can only be opened from the outside, and Mr. L., on entering the granary drew the door shut and heard the latch fall. He then thought the enemy was his, but this was an error, for the rats were more numerous than he expected, and, finding no way of escape, attacked both Mr. L. and his dog with great fury.—Mr. L. laid on his blows hard and fast, and one blow, aimed at a rat, unfortunately hit the dog on the head and killed him.

Mr. L., being thus deprived of his faithful ally, would have fled but could not. He then commenced calling for help, the rats meanwhile kept skirmishing around his legs, ran up his body, bit his hand, and one bolder than the rest bit his nose. It is impossible to say what the result of this unequal contest would have been had not a passing neighbor, attracted by the noise and cries, went to the relief of Mr. L., who presented a shocking spectacle, his face and hands bloody, and his clothes torn into shreds.

Mr. L., being washed and rehabilitated, sat down to reflect, when he luckily hit on a better plan of warfare. He went and borrowed twelve cats, which with his own made fifteen; these he in the evening shut up in his granary with the rats, and the next morning he found, on examination, ten dead cats, one blind, and two with one eye apiece. The remaining two were unhurt, and by actual count he found one hundred and nineteen dead rats; of the dead dog there was nothing left but the bones and hair, the rats doubtless having eaten him while Mr. L. was hunting cats.

ORIENTAL, JUNIATA CO., PA.,
March 25, 1875.

MR. SCHWEIER:—Thinking that an occasional letter from the lower end of the county would not be unwelcome, I take the liberty of writing a short communication for the perusal of your readers.

Things generally are moving about in the usual order. By the best estimate we can make the earth, at our place, performs a revolution in about twenty-four hours; and that is, I believe, about as much as it ever did.

We, country people, don't pay attention to "dog fights," "caterwauling on the roofs by moonlight," "ground-hog," or "Dog shadows," &c., as editors of newspapers in towns, where they must take hold of anything to make "locals," and elaborate upon everything, to fill space.

Financially—well, there is no use talking of it; finances belong to the things which are past.

We had twenty-six snow-falls this winter, measuring in the aggregate a depth of seven feet. The cold at times was intense; but I suppose at your place, on the banks of the romantic Juniata, under the shadow of that magnificent structure on the public square, you were enjoying the genial rays of the Queen of Summer, and refreshing May breezes all the time.

I was amused the other day upon hearing an argument advanced by an intelligent Democrat, who has been holding an office for the last 12 or 15 years, against the Civil Rights bill. It was in substance this: If a negro would come to your house, abuse you, insult your wife, and in any and every respect violate and over-ride all limits of decency, peace and good order, and you would interfere, and not permit him to do just as he pleased, he could prosecute you and have you fined $500.

Well, now, let politics be politics, and when a man feels convinced that he is right, let him go ahead; but when men, who claim to be possessed of an ordinary amount (or a little more) of intelligence, argue such absurdities to their followers, it shows precisely what amount of intelligence and common sense they accord to them. It would be enough to insult even a Chinaman, and it would be almost a disgrace to offer such stuff to the credence of an Esquimaux, and yet such men have the audacity to offer it to educated Americans, and then say "follow us." Oh, shame! where is thy blush?

Mr. Amos Miller has retired from the mercantile business, on account of impaired health. He retires with the good wishes of the community. He is succeeded in the business by Mr. Augustus Dinger, formerly of Gratztown, Dauphin county.

USE THE BEST!

HAIR RENEWER

Nine years before the public, and no preparation for the hair has ever been produced equal to Hall's "Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer," and every honest dealer will say it gives the best satisfaction. It restores GRAY HAIR to its original color, eradicating and preventing dandruff, curing BALDNESS and promoting the growth of the hair. The gray and brashy hair by a few applications is changed to black and silky locks, and wayward hair will assume any shape the wearer desires. It is the cheapest HAIR DRESSING in the world, and its effects last longer, as it excites the glands to furnish the nutritive principle so necessary to the life of the hair. It gives the hair that splendid appearance so much admired by all. By its tonic and stimulating properties it prevents the hair from falling out, and none need be without Nature's ornament, a good head of hair. It is the first real perfected remedy ever discovered for curing diseases of the hair, and it has never been equalled, and we assure the thousands who have used it, it is kept up to its original high standard. Our Treatise on the Hair mailed free; send for it.
