Eels are said to be scarce in the river. Fishermen conjecture that the bass eat the little eels.

The Republicans of Lawrence county have nominated a colored barber for Associate Judge.

The Altoona Democracy are out of harmony. Trouble, double trouble, discord rules the hour.

Mrs. Samuel Kepner, residing about one mile from Port Royal, was engaged in filling a two-gallon jug with hot tomatoes, last week. The first fruit poured into the jug did not fill it. The jug was corked until more tomatoes could be prepared. In time the boiling fruit was ready to be poured in onto what had already been jugged. The cork was drawn out, and was followed by the confined tomatoes, which escaped with such a rush that they were spurted into Mrs. Kepner's face, and onto her breast, scalding her wherever they touched to such a degree that the skin of the flesh was removed.

The Lewistown Gazette tells how, sometimes, a groom paid his marriage fee in the days of Rev. James S. Woods: "Rev. Jas. S. Woods preached as stated supply from 1822 till 1824, and was regularly installed as Pastor in 1824, he preaching at McVeytown half his time, Lewistown charge paying him $300 as its share of the salary. In those earlier days merchandise entered largely into the payment of the preacher's salary, as well as his wedding fees—Mr. Woods having taken many a bushel of potatoes, grain, &c., and sometimes allowing the groom to chop at the wood-pile to the amount of his fee, which was always left optional with the couple.

The following incident, and sympathetic mistake is related by the Pittsburg Gazette: A whoop-bang sort of a boy, with feet as broad and flat as a pie-tin, trotted through the market yesterday till he reached a stall kept by an unmarried woman about thirty years old. Halting there, he yelled out: "Say! say! Your little boy has been run over and killed, up by the City Hall!" "Oh, oh! Heavens—oh! oh——!" she screamed as she made a dive under the counter, came up on the outside, and started to follow the boy. After going ten feet she halted, looked very foolish all of a sudden, and remarked: "What a goose I am! Why, I ain't even married!"

The Democracy of Northumberland county in convention recommend Senator Dill, of Union county, as just the man for a candidate for Governor.

James Creswell has invented a trace-spring, that is highly spoken of by all who have used it for drawing heavy loads. By their use there is a great saving on the wear and tear of horse-flesh.

Rev. O. L. Ashentelter, of Carlisle, has publicly renounced his adherence to the doctrines of Christianity as sustained by the Reformed church, and asked for admission into the Universalist church.

James F. Milliken, District Attorney of Blair county, is held in $1,500 bail for his appearance at court to answer the charge of inciting the rioters in Altoona on the 21st of last July.

Miss Mary Nuney, an actress, won the heart of Senator Spencer, of Alabama, and to be nearer to each other they were married last Wednesday, in New York, privately.

Samuel Randall, it is said, will be a candidate for the Speakership of the Lower House of Congress, and will be for the Texas Pacific railroad. But how about the resolution on railroads as passed by the late State convention of the Democracy. Alas! and there again is Barquo's ghost.

The Rev. Mr. Leipsner, of the Red Bank Baptist Church, chose this method of announcing from the pulpit, last Sunday, an addition to his family: "My friends, my sermon this morning will be very short. I want to go home and help entertain a young gentleman who came to the parsonage late last night."

The rifle contest at Creedmoor on the 13th was won by the Americans. The English team did fine shooting. The best shot among the Americans was made by C. E. Blydenburgh, and the victory just spoken of at Creedmoor puts him forward as the best rifle shot in the world. Mr. Blydenburgh was a college, class, and room-mate of George Jacobs, Jr., of this place.

Mr. Tilden met the Prince of Wales. The proceedings were without formality. "Well, old fellow," he said, "I see you have been mi-behaving again." French actress this time, hey? Are you not aware, my friend, that reform is necessary?" "Yes," said the Prince of Wales, placing his finger on an American newspaper containing an account of the Wallingford matter, "yes, I think it is." "Good day, sir," said Mr. Tilden with intense dignity." "Good day, sir," said the Prince of Wales, bowing stiffly. The cable doesn't seem to have mentioned this.

Tell it everywhere but in Gath, that two of the delegates to the Berks county Republican Convention were colored men. The whole number of delegates present were 175. The Hayes resolution reads as follows: "That President Hayes, in his administration of the government, has evinced an elevation of purpose, a purity of patriotism and an enlightened statesmanship which commend him to the country, and that having been faithful to the principles announced at the Cincinnati Convention, and having honestly and earnestly endeavored to carry them out in practic, he is entitled to be regarded as the fitting representative of the Republican party."

Mrs. Sawin, of Kansas, is a plucky woman who has a farm of 360 acres of prairie land. This spring she harvested ten acres of wheat of her own plowing and sowing, and put down twenty acres more, besides some sorghum and broom corn. She is not a strong-bodied woman; on the contrary, when she began her plowing she was so feeble that she had an easy chair at the end of her furrow, and was obliged at every second row to stop and rest. She chose this life because she had more fitness for it than anything else that gave promise of a future for two little sons whom she desired to educate to usefulness. Her health improves, and a sheep raiser in the neighborhood has engaged her to plow ten acres of land for him and take her pay in sheep.

Mr. Christian K. Ross, in speaking of the numerous recoveries of his child, says: "Why, I have had five hundred, yes, nearly six hundred cases brought to my notice from all over this country, Canada and England, and in nine cases out of ten, when I traced them out they were either illegitimate children or women running away with the child from their husbands. Take that York child, for instance, the people up there were certain that it was my boy. I went up, and it didn't take me but a few hours to find out that it was an illegitimate child and was in the possession of its mother, its mother, its father being a Philadelphian. I have just finished up a case from England, where the child was called Ross by its reputed father, and there isn't a week passes but what I am called on to pass judgment about some child. I don't have much confidence in many of them, but I am afraid to let any slip by for fear they might be the right one."

The only business that has not become crazed over the swift methods of the present day, is court business. Business in the courts is done as measuredly as in days of yore. An exception is narrated by a Philadelphia paper, by which a fellow was put through on railroad time. The item reads: On Wednesday in Philadelphia a colored man picked the pocket of a lady at Broad and Arch streets at ten in the morning. Before eleven he had been arrested, bound over by a Magistrate, indicted by the Grand Jury, tried in the Quarter Sessions, convicted and sentenced to nine months imprisonment. When the State House clock struck eleven, the culprit was calmly awaiting the arrival of the prison van to take him to his new quarters at Moyamensing prison. The Philadelphia papers claim that this is the best time ever made by justice in any city in the Union.

A Cleveland, Ohio, despatch last week says: The cattle plague, which has broken out in the surrounding country, is supposed to be a species of Texas fever. The Texas cattle this year are covered with ticks of two varieties, the bite of which is poisonous to the blood. Many cattle are dying daily. Several cases of children's having been poisoned by drinking infected milk has already come to the notice of the city physicians. Beef is affected by the disease, but can easily be detected by spots. The disease is said to be very infectious. A veterinary surgeon who has treated about forty cases says that the symptoms with milch cows are, first a falling off of about one-half the yield of milk, their bloody passages and in a few hours death. He recommends as treatment to wash the animal in a lotion which acts as a disinfectant for the ticks and as an antidote for the poison.

A TYRONE despatch on Saturday, says: W. W. Hutchinson, alias Ware, of Altoona, and W. P. Funk, belonging, also, in that vicinity, having been suspected for some time of "shoving the queer" and dealing in counterfeit money were spotted by several Pittsburg detectives, and followed to the City hotel at Tyrone. One of the detectives gained the confidence of the shovers and proposed to take some of their money, as they had about $1,000 in greenbacks, halves and trade dollars in their possession. An agreement was made to have the transfer made in one of the rooms of the hotel, where the detective and the two dealers in the queer met according to appointment. The men produced a roll of greenbacks, which the detective said he could not receive unless they were wrapped up in muslin, as it was too dangerous to carry that kind of money around loose.

Hutchinson, who had a sort of suspicion of the detective, left the room with his hand on the butt of his pistol. While absent the detective seized Funk and a struggle ensued. Funk got on the top and tried to use his own pistol, but was prevented. The noise of the struggle brought chief detective Roger O'Mara, of Pittsburg upon the scene, and Funk was captured.

Meatwhile Hutchinson made his appearance, and was met on the stairway by Mr. G. W. Perkins, another detective from Pittsburg. The counterfeiter was commanded to surrender, but instead of complying with the order, he drew his revolver and fired two shots in succession, both of which missed the detective. Perkins then returned the fire, hitting Hutchinson in a vital part. The latter ran about a square and a half, then fell and sent to prison, Perkins, the detective, was also arrested, but subsequently released, by order of the coroner's jury.

Hutchinson is represented to have been a fine looking man, and was employed with a gang of counterfeiters and shovers who handled over $200,000 in spurious money.

When the full force of the water was turned on in the fountain at the Exposition last evening, a country chap, who stood close by, dropped his carpet sack ran over forty people, upset Tom Bradley at the door, and was down at the ferry-dock in five minutes, waiting to get across the river and go home. He told a man he "guessed the show about washed out, as the dern thing busted in four or five places before he left."—Courier Journal.

An Indian missionary has told a correspondent of the Somerset Herald how to preserve green corn on the cobs, as follows: "When your corn is in good eating condition, pluck the ears and remove all the husks but the last layer next the corn, being careful not to expose any of the grains. Then tie a string tightly around this husk at the end where the silk is; then take one-half gallon of clean hickory ashes, put it and three or four gallons of water in a deep vessel and, while it is boiling, dip the corn into it slowly eight or ten times, holding by the string you have tied around it. Hang away in a dark, dry place. Whenever you want roasting ears you will have them as fresh as when they came from the stalk. The Indians preserve hundreds of bushels in this way without a single failure."

Mr. Shouter and Miss Lagle, of Huntingdon county, were married in the Catholic church in Huntingdon town, last week, Father Murphy united them in the bonds.

THE Bloomfield Times says: On Wednesday last a sad accident, resulting in the death of Irvin Chisholm, a lad aged about 16 years, and son of Irvin Chisholm, Sr., of Duncannon, happened near "the loop" on Sherman's Creek. It appears that the lad who was killed was hunting in company with two other boys from that borough, and at about noon sat down to eat a lunch, and take a rest. While sitting there the gun of young Chisholm slipped from a stone on which it was resting, causing it to discharge the load, which entered his forehead, blowing his brains out. A citizen of this place, who was on the opposite side of the creek fishing, heard the report of the gun, and in answer to the calls of the boys crossed over to their assistance, but was only in time to see the unfortunate boy breathe his last. One of his companions at once started to Duncannon to inform his friends of the terrible occurrence.

On Wednesday evening, September 5th, Mr. Samuel Rice, in company with several friends and neighbors, cut a large bee-tree, on the farm of Mrs. Ellen Rice, in Tuscarora township. The swarm was a very large one, and yielded 50 pounds of excellent honey. Mr. Rice was paid wel for his trouble, and all present will long remember the pleasure which the occasion afforded.

The house of Wm. Sauceerman, on the ridge in Juniata township, was broken into during the absence of the family on Sunday afternoon, and robbed of a watch, clothing, etc.

THE Juniata County Agricultural Society will hold their Annual Exhibition on their grounds at Port Royal, on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, October 3d, 4th and 5th. By order of the President.
