An Extra Session.

The mistake of the President of the Senate, or the purposed withholding of his name from the late Legislative Revenue Bill, has been discussed to a greater or less degree every day since the Legislature adjourned. The bill contained wise provisions, and the one that diverts a portion of the revenues of the Commonwealth to every county in the state to lessen local taxation is popular, as much so as the one that requires a more equal taxation on corporation, and if the people of the Commonwealth felt certain that an extra session of the Legislature could be convened to pass the bill within the period of a few days, they would ask for an extra session at once. But the Governor Pattison extra session is fresh in their minds, and they object to the calling of another, unless under the most pressing public necessity. There is no public necessity for an extra session. Regardless of the fact that there are a number of members of the present Legislature who would speedily pass the Revenue Bill, there is a just suspicion in the public mind that there are enough political roosters in the Legislature to so confuse, or hinder, by parliamentary filibustering tactics, and by amendment, that the passage of the Revenue Bill would consume all winter and perhaps the half of next summer. It would be a fat job for Legislative roosters. Next fall 1888, a new Legislature will be elected, and the Revenue Bill provisions can be carried before the people, in the canvass for the election of members, and thus a new Legislature fresh from the people can be secured to Legislate on this important question of tax revision.

D. G. SHELLENBERGER

Our enterprising contemporary, the Democrat and Register in its discussion of the merits of John N. Howe, as a candidate, emphasizes the fact that Mr. Howe lives in town, and for that reason should be elected. It is rather a bold position to take by insinuation, that because a man lives in the country, and became his competitor lives in town, the town man should be elected. That argument of the Democrat and Register must be intended as a joke on Howe. If that stand point is not a joke, then all the candidates should live in town. People who live contented and happy lives, in their quiet homes in the country, will certainly think that is sweet doctrine to be advancing, and they may not see it in that way. Indeed the probability is that they will see it in the very opposite light and determine to send one of their worthy number to serve them as County Treasurer and elect D. G. Shellenberger to that office. Mr Shellenberger can move to town if he is elected County Treasurer, just as easily as John N Howe moved to town from the country. It is a commendable thing for a man to be contented and recommended by his surroundings to his fellow men, but we hardly expected that our friends of the Democrat and Register should fall so desperately in love with town life as to object to any man but a town man for county financier or County Treasurer. Vote for Shellenberger.

A Pointer.

The Democrat and Register last week directed a pointer at the present efficient Prothonotary, Theodore H. Meminger by declaring that it is in favor of the one term system of holding office and for that reason it is not in favor of the re-election of Mr. Meminger. That pointer is not as good a joke, as the one got on off on Howe, that he should be elected because he lives in town. If the Register had carried its Howe joke to a reasonable conclusion it of necessity must advocate the election of Mr. Meminger for he lives in town. But that isn't the string that is being pulled against Meminger. The pointer is that he has already held office. Well he has filled the programme in making public office a public trust, and for that reason will be re-elected. His nomination was fairly extended to him by a majority of the popular vote of his party, and he has the confidence of the whole people, who will be called on to choose between him and Mr. Deen at the November election. To talk about him being the owner of property is the best recommendation that can be given him, for it is proof positive that he saves his means and puts it, where it becomes a fund for the county tax gatherer, the poor tax gatherer, the school tax gatherer, and the road tax gatherer, to gather an annual sum to carry on the affairs of a civilized country. Mr. Meminger has been an exemplary man in walk and conversation, since he moved to town. It would be a good thing to have other good men of his stamp move to town. Such is the Pointer to the honest voter, when he comes to consider the claims of Mr. Meminger for the vote of his fellow citizen.

Accounts to report Franklin Co., has four candidates in the field for the office of President Judge next year. The present incumbent Judge Rowe, it is said will run for Congress.

Spies, one of the Chicago anarchists has to a certain degree given Nina Van Zandt up for some other woman. Just what might be expected. Such people as Spies can only be true to disorder and appetite. What they need is rope

Cleveland is no longer a non partisan, but a full fledged Democrat, if his St. Louis speech means what it says. He declared in that city to a Democratic club, that in his official conduct he had been governed by the "adoption of the principals and practices of Democracy," "and that the Democracy is the party of his choice." Exit Civil Service.

Rev. Joseph Parker, of London, England, was imported to deliver the eulogy of Henry Ward Beecher. Mr. Parker is an eloquent divine, and since the delivering of the eulogy has been lecturing in this country. His speeches have been correctly reported, in some cases in brief chosen terms. The day for such speaking and writing has gone by. The age of the reign of plain English has begun and technical phrases and terms belong to the past languages in which they are expressed. They are dead

The Fair.

It was not for the reason that it is a new broom, that Port Royal Fair, swept into its capacious grounds last week, the largest crowd of people that has appeared on any fair ground since the year the Court House removal question assembled the large gatherings on the old Fair ground, south of Port Royal.

There was no public building question to rally the people by thousands into the new and most commanding fair ground in Central Pennsylvania. They came because of the merit of the fair, because of curiosity, because of politics, because of sociability, because of gain and other causes. Nineteen acres, are enclosed by a fence that is pailed so far apart that small boys cannot pass through, but through which people may look and catch glimpses of the scenes within, from a magnificent distance.

The track is on the east end of the enclosure, and is a full half mile round, and of easy curve, on which Ike Sieber collied his milky with that of Jeff Middah, who was driving Dave McCulloch's stallion, and there by threw the Boss turfman of the Juniata Valley, out with such violence that he appeared on the ground at the Thursday races on crutches, and on Friday he was compelled to remain in bed to nurse and have the bruises of limbs and body doctored.

THE RACES.

The county race on Wednesday for one hundred dollars, premium, and such pool money and bets as sportsmen under their own judgement and caprice chose to put up among themselves, was competed for, by a sorrel mare owned by William McCulloch, and a stallion, owned by David McCulloch, sired by a brown mare owned by Jos. Graham. The stallion won the race on 2.40 and 2.45 time.

Thursday's 2.35 class race, for the two hundred dollars premium was competed for by Blanch, owned by T. J. Middah and by Blue Girl owned by Edwin James, of Baltimore and was won by Blue Girl.

The free for all race for a premium of two hundred and fifty dollars was competed for by Matilla G., owned by T. J. Middah, and by E. J. owned by Edwin James, and was so animated that a slight collision of the sulkies took place whereby E. J. became unmanagable and ran the track almost its entire length, the race under the rules was accorded to Matilla G. on a 2.36 time. The decision in favor of Matilla G. created a great hubbub: Men took sides, and outsiders, in large numbers took sides with the James trotter, and all that evening, the question of the race was discussed, for and against. The James horse men wanted the race considered a draw and the premium equally divided between the contestants. The Middah horse men declared that the judges were compelled under the rules to decided just as they did, and it looked as if a complete halt in the races advertised for Friday had been called.

On Friday up to a late hour in the afternoon the James men continued to claim of the management half of the two hundred and fifty dollars premium on the race, and they refused to take a hand in further racing finless their demands were complied with. The outside multitude did not know what the matter was and blamed the halt in the race programe on the management. Meanwhile Middah, by a despatch ordered his horses home, however Dr Graham by most persistent and energetic work succeeded in having the matter adjusted, and the 2.40 class race, for a premium of one hundred and fifty dollars was trotted by Matilla G. and Blue Girl and was won by the former on time 2.38 2.38½ 2.37½.

A running race, for a purse of five dollars, raised on the ground—three dollars for the first horse, and two dollars for the second, was run by a sorrel horse owned by John Bergy, and rode by James Anderson and a gray horse owned by J. J. Patterson, and rode by Thomas Patterson, and was won by the sorrel, on one minute and two seconds time, half mile.

A foot race by boys Cloyd Todd, John Moyer, Ed. Louder, and Frank Hagan, all of Patterson, was won by Cloyd Todd.

On one of the previous days, a foot race was run on 2.40 time and won by Wm. Haylock of England on 2.23 time, Haylock came recently from England as keeper of the Doty imported horses.

Robert Sartain, was grand Marshal on horse back and herald of the races.

OTHER FEATURES

The races attracted professors, preachers lawyers, editors, ladies, children, almost everybody, and County Chairman McCahen tall as a Highlander, and chairman Caveny, genteel and compact as an Oriental, looked on with a sort of indifferent air, as if they were humming in their mind.

"The field of the dead rushes,
Red to my sight,
And the clans of the other fellow
Are scattered to flight."

One candidate declared that the races were almost as interesting as running for an office, but it lacked the importunity for indorsement. He had been asked to endorse to the extent of $30,000.

On the south side of the enclosure are the stalls for horses, which were filled with splendid stock. On the west side are the stalls for cattle, sheep and hogs filled with animals of choice breeds. In the north west corner was the poultry, and agricultural machinery was in place on the high ground, west of Floral and Agricultural Hall, which occupies the highest ground on the north side of the enclosure. The view from this place up and down the valley is grand. This large building was brilliant in its display of needle work, pictures, and in its arrangements of jellies and fine butter, and grain, it was a silent but important witness to the skill and success of the husbandman and his helpmate in the house. One of the unique cases in the building was that of G. W. Hock of this place which concerned that no premium would be asked for the contents of the case.

AMUSEMENT GAMES.

The amusement that took best was "a flying horse," from Snyder Co. It was a paying institution for its owner and was run to the time of the dulcet strains of a hand organ. It is said that several of the candidates for county office took a number of rides with the boys, which they had the right to do. The falkers were there. Ring throwers beguiled many, and the fellow with a hole in the head of a barrel found people who for 5 cents a throw tried to pitch a ball into the opening. The sweat cloth was used in some places, and other games of chance with the little joker, "now you see it and now you don't see it," was played in a number of instances. One woman took a shy at the tiger, invested a dollar and won three.

A three card monte man played his art, and it is reported that an important candidate for county office lost five dollars. A citizen of this place won twelve dollars, while another lost ten dollars. The gamblers gathered in the money and left nothing for their victims, but experience. "The management of the fair learned of the gambling that was going on and put an end to it. The gamblers had secured the right to "open up" under the name of some other calling and thereby deceive the management of the fair as to their real business. There was a show on the ground the wonder of which consisted in a blind folded woman announcing the name of any article that might be handed to her confederate actor. Of course the confederate had some means by which he told her what he held in his hand. The Port Royal band furnished the music, and the fair throughout was a success.

A High-Priced Cherry Tree.

"Six hundred dollars seems a large price for one cherry tree, but that was the sum paid for one in Santa Clara county, Nev. It was required to be removed to make room for the New Almaden Railroad. The owner demanded $300 for it; experts were appointed, and it was proved that the tree had for years yielded the owner crops of fruit which sold for sums equivalent to the interest on the amount claimed. By a compromise $600 was accepted for the tree."

The Potato Bug in Germany.

"The potato bug made two simultaneous appearances in Germany this year, one in Saxony and one in Hanover. The German government at once had men at work, who carefully picked all the bugs and larvæ off the plants. The stems of the vines were then cut off and placed in baskets lined with sacking, which were thoroughly soaked in benzine oil and buried deep in the ground. After this the land was ploughed twelve or fourteen inches deep and well harrowed, and the surface picked over for any insect that might be on it. Finally, the land was saturated with benzine oil. In one case eight acres and in the other three quarters of an acre had to be treated in this way."

Theodore Crow's barn in Hunter's valley, Perry county was destroyed by fire some evenings ago. The Liverpool Sun say of the fire: The fire was seen while the family was eating supper. All the animals in the stables were saved, but everything else in the barn was burnt. The contents destroyed were 300 to 400 bushels of potatoes, about 40 bushels of wheat, about 200 bushels of oats, some rye and other grain in the sheaves, about 25 tons of hay, a mower, threshing machine, plows and other implements, and some phosphate.

There was no insurance of $800 on the building and about $200 on the contents. The fire was without doubt the work of an incendiary.

A tract of several hundred thousand acres of land, adjoining Baxter City, Kansas, is to be thrown open to white settlers by a recent order of the president. The land includes the reservations of the Quapaws, Ottawas, Wyandottes, Senecas, Modocs, Miamis, Peorias and Pottawatomes.

Knapp is rather a small town in Northern Wisconsin, but it will have a toboggan slide a mile long in operation next winter.

Many of the principal streets in the central part of Paris are having their former stone pavements changed to wooden ones.

Berlin is the only large German city that refuses to velocipedists the freedom of the streets.

Topeka, Kansas.

MR. EDITOR.—We have just passed through a week of profit and pleasure, with our state fair which was attended by thousands, then the eastern delegation to the Odd Fellow's meeting stopped, over a hundred of them. We fed them and gave them a drive around the city. Then came the old soldiers from California to St. Louis to the encampment, 800 of them. We fed and entertained them. Governor Martin in his speech of welcome said it was the intention of every Kansan that the chickens should roost low when the California veterans stand with us. They were surprised at the growth of our city with its twenty additional miles of street rapid transit railroad built this year and 2500 new houses built this year, and not one empty house, and our lovely state house that we pay for as fast as it progresses. We have the wings in which the Senate and House will sit finished, and work at the middle or dome is progressing. But three years time will be required to complete the whole building.

I regret that my Pennsylvania friends could not have looked in on our fair, at the fine stock that was on exhibition. A Thompson has a horse that took the blue ribbon at the fair. Thompson is now in old Mexico. One day while there he shot 150 partridges. These partridges are much larger than any in our country and are pretty bung of a greyish brown plumage with a "top-knot." I will show you one in our collection of birds at the State House. Our collection in that building numbers over 10,000. We owe this collection to Goss an eccentric old bachelor, worth $95,000, who like Adam gives his time to naming the birds that he kills, and mounts for the state.

We have bored through a veln of rock oil near the state house.

Last Congress made an appropriation to experiment at making cane sugar. The plant was placed at Fort Scott, where there is natural gas, and the results have been more than hoped for. They have made as high as a hundred and fourteen pounds of sugar, and 12 gallons of molasses out of 10 tons of cane. Sixty pounds pays.

If any of our Pennsylvania friends pays us a visit write which railroad they will come in on, for, we are not fortunate enough to have a Union Station or Depot. We have four different stations, but you can take a street car from any of them and come to our door. The Rock Island Railroad gives you the best scenery, running on high prarie and passes Pattawattime reserve 14 miles N. W., of Topeka. There are 80,000 acres to look over with nothing to obstruct the sight. The green grass and the blue sky seem to meet in the distance. If Congress puts this reservation on the market for homestead and preemption, take the first train for Kansas. It will be all settled in three months. Come girls we have lots of them on these homesteads. Don't be afraid, as I heard a Kansas preacher say once, "who ever heard of a woman being insulted on the frontier. Strange but true, these rough but honorable men, that shoot and die to resent an insult, respect, trust and worship a woman.

We are having fine rains, which means good crops next year.

T. B THOMPSON,
1014 Topeka Avenue.

From the Bloomfield Times: Perry county has 352 pensioners, to whom was paid in the last quarter ending June 3rd, $10,352 00. * * On Tuesday night last, a spider crawled or dropped in the ear of Mr. A. S. Kitner, of Carroll township, and all efforts to remove it failed. For a time it caused him intense pain, and he came to town for medical aid. Dr. Strecker put some preparation into the ear which made the spider crawl out. * * Last Saturday a hunter shot a tame turkey belonging to Wm Adams, on the Steel farm north of town. The turkey was within gunshot of the house and got into the corn field where it died. Why didn't that hunter go after the turkey when they are on their roost and the owner in his bed and thus save ammunition. * * Gen. Langhorne Wistar's farm in Penn twp, turns out about two hundred pounds of butter each week. It is put up in pound lumps and each pound is stamped "L. Wistar" so that no inferior butter shall be sold as his. The whole lot is taken by two customers in Philadelphia at from 35 to 40 cts per pound. * * Rather a comical accident happened to Mr. Sohn Rice, on Thursday last. Among his other marketing was a keg of cider, which worked till it blew out the spigot with great force, throwing the cider thirty or forty feet in the air. The coming down of this on the horse, closely following the loud noise scared the animal and caused a broken shaft and cross bar. A hickory withe repaired the damage so that John was able to get into town. On his way home, when near Wm. Bruner's, the tire came off one of the wheels, and he had to come back, looking as good-natured as usual.

From the Lewistown Gazette: The apple crop along the back mountain road from Milroy to Sigleriville is good. * * Joseph Kelley killed a steer last week, the live weight of which was 1640 pounds. This is the largest ever killed in Reedsville. * *

The prohibition ticket which was nominated in Reedsville, on Monday a week, is rather of a peculiar nature, as the secretary has sent out to the different nominees to know whether they will serve before the ticket will be made public. * * Miss Coldron of Juniata visited her cousin Mrs. Hetrick of Sigleriville. * * The entire family of four children of William Cargill, of Siroud has been swept away by diptheria. * * The boldest robbery in the history of Reedsville was committed near about 3 o'clock on Sunday morning. Frank K. Sterrett was awakened by hearing some one is his room. Turning over he saw a man crawling on his hands and knees toward the door. Frank having no thing with which to defend himself left him go. Following him down stairs he heard his companion on the outside of the window say, "Come this way," and they took their departure. On returning up stairs he missed a suit of clothes worth $12 or $15, in money, office and station keys, and silver watch and chain, which was his father's and very highly prized, and the pocket book contained two notes, all of which were taken. The pocket book with the notes was found afterwards near the house and returned to the owner. Near about the same time the residence of Joseph Strunk was entered through the bay window. If is supposed by the same party. They set the flowers off the window and carefully going up stairs into the bed room of Mr. S. and wife took a dress and a pair of pantaloons down stairs, where they went through the pockets and secured some change and left with the pantaloons and a hand satchel. This was all done without awakening any of the family.

From the Perry County Freeman: Mr. S. A. Douglas, of Greenwood twp, in this county, has shipped to the Missouri State Fair, a lot of imported Holstein cattle for exhibition. * * Mr. Sterrett Sheaffer of Tyrone twp., had subscribed one hundred dollars to the Perry County Railroad, payable when it shall have been graded. On last Saturday he came to Bloomfield and paid that sum to the Treasurer of the Railroad Company, saying that he believed the money was more needed now than it would be after a while, and that he wanted the work to be pushed on as rapidly as possible. The example of Mr. Sheaffer is worthy the imitation of others in the Western end of the county, who have made conditional subscriptions, and we hope it will be generally followed.

From the Bloomfield Advocate: A son of Daniel Fisher, of Marysville, fell from a chestnut tree a few days ago and broke both his arms near the wrists. * * Mr. Clarence Barnhart has returned from Bedford county, where he was teaming, and says he prefers old Perry yet, if the salary is low. * * Last Wednesday a small child of Geo. Hoffman, of Centre township, fell into a pail of boiling water, and, upsetting it, badly scalded itself on its arms, neck and legs. * * Most of the farmers in this valley have threshed their crops. They are very good with the exception of wheat, which they report as being an entire failure.—Our most extensive farmers realized not more than 30 and 40 bushels on an average, while one realized but ten bushels off of a very large field. This, with the fact that it was put out on the shares, is very unfavorable.

From the Chambersburg Repositary: Messrs. Frank Duke and George Miller the other night saw a man in Mr. Christ Caseman's field back of Water street stealing corn. They threw some stones at him and he ran across the field, Messrs. Duke and Miller following him throwing stones. The man ran into his own house and thus gave himself away. If he does not pay for the corn he will be arrested. * * A Nevin Pomeroy one of the editors of the Repository has been appointed to a position in the State Department at Harrisburg and entered upon his duties on Monday. He Will not sever his connection in any way with the Repository. * * As the man and his trained bear were about to commence their entertainment Monday noon the Chief of Police appeared and added some variety. "A right: your first and last chance" said the man solemnly as he started in the direction of West point and was seen no more. * * That stalwart Republican Mr. Jacob Stewart, of Amberson Valley, came to town on Saturday and left at the Repository office a bottle containing 1580 grains of buckwheat. This number was the growth of one seed, which Mr. Stewart planted upon his farm. After the stalk had grown a short distance out in all directions until they covered several square feet. The stalk and branches measured 120 inches, and contained the above remarkable growth.

MANHOOD

How Lost, How Restored!

Just published, a new edition of Dr. CULVERWELL'S CELEBRATED ESSAY on the radical cure of SPERMATORRHŒA or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, IMPOTENCY, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., also, CONSUMPTION, EPILEPSY and FITS, induced by self-indulgence, or sexual extravagance, &c.

The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self abuse may be radically cured; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

Private Sale.

The undersigned will sell at private sale, a farm of 25 acres, in Milford township, midway between Millin and Port Royal, along the railroad. The land is nearly all cleared and tillable, watered by a spring. The land is underlaid with iron ore near the surface. Sloping to the sun, it is a desirable situation for fruit growing, especially peaches. The improvements are a good house, and bank barn, all kinds of fruit and a peach orchard of six hundred trees just coming into bearing. I will sell it for seven hundred dollars.
