SENTINEL & REPUBLICAN

MIFFLINTOWN.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1887.

B. F. SCHWEIER,

EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

BRIGHAM YOUNG's oldest son has only three wives.

MOST, the Anarchist has seen the shadow on the wall and has put a plaster on his mouth.

SINCE Buffalo Bill and Sullivan have appeared in England, the British people believe something good can come out of America.

JACOB SHARP was chiefly convicted on his own evidence or testimony, and the higher Court ruled that testimony out He is to have a new trial, and is out on $40,000 bail.

SULLIVAN the slugger is said to be a fine singer, and is particularly fond of sacred music. He has startled the English people almost as much by his singing ability as by his pugilistic ability.

MOST the anarchist complains that he is deprived of free speech. His plea is like that of the thief, who put in the plea for freedom and liberty when he was lodged in jail for having stolen his neighbor's pocket book.

THE Sabbath day observance question is a broad question and from present appearence it will be thrust upon Congress, where it should be dispassionately discussed, so that good may come from the introduction of the question to Congress.

ILLINOIS preachers are up against the Sunday newspaper. They will ask Congress to stop telegraphing on Sunday; they will ask Congress to stop the sending of mails on Sunday; and they will ask Congress to stop the running of cars on Sunday So then from present appearance, Congress, will hear more of Sunday this winter than it has heard in many years.

A MAN named Smith charged his friend named Ovington $180.00, for acting the part of groomsman on the occasion of Ovington's marriage, recently in Louisville, Ky. They compromised the matter on one hundred dollars and a break of friendship. Ovington is of the opinion that he cannot afford to keep his friends in pay. Smith is a New York professional society man.

REPRESENTATIVE OWENS of Huntingdon county wants Governor Beaver to call the Legislature in extra session and proposes that the Governor write to each and every member of the Legislature. "Will you vote for the bill and offer no amendment?" meaning the late revenue bill. Representative Owens doubtless never dreamed of the improper step he advised the Governor to take. What an act it would be on the part of a Governor to write to members as to how they will vote on a certain bill.

How to Kill Rabbits.

M. PASTEUR suggests that a good way of ridding Australia of the teeming rabbits by which it is overrun would be to inoculate one of their number with chicken cholera and then let him loose to spread the infection among the rest. This it is said would exterminate the rabbits in no time, as the cholera would spread and get in its work even faster than the animals can breed. All that sounds plausible enough, but can M. Pasteur guarantee just where the infection he proposes to disseminate shall stop? Suppose it didn't discriminate properly between rabbits and sheep, and suppose that in some modified form it were to extend to cattle and finally to human beings? We don't believe the Australians will adopt the Pasteur plan.—North American.

From the Philadelphia Times of December 1st. The case of the blatant anarchist Johann Most, just convicted a second time in New York, for inciting to lawlessness raises the question whether this land should be a place of refuge for persistent criminals. This Most was convicted of treason in Austria in 1869 and imprisoned one year; was convicted a second time in 1870 and sentenced to five years imprisonment, but pardoned by general amnesty; was convicted in 1872 in Berlin for lawless speech and sentenced to one year; was convicted in 1874 for revolutionary language in favor of the commune and imprisoned for one year and six months; was convicted and imprisoned for blasphemy in 1877, and was convicted in England in 1881 for applauding the assassination of the Czar, and imprisoned for eighteen months. When liberated he fled to this country, and has now been twice convicted in New York. He is a confirmed criminal in taste and profession, and is just the sort of a fellow who should be kicked out of the country and kept out with all of his tribe. We refuse paupers admission to our shores; why not those who must be paupers unless they can live by theft and advising murder?

Letter From Washington.

SPECIAL TO THE SENTINEL AND REPUBLICAN.

WASHINGTON D. C., December 1.—A man can no more forget his native place than he can forget his mother, and that is my reason for sending you a special letter at the opening time of every Congress. Before you have this letter in type the fiftieth Congress will have convened. There are more than a hundred Congressmen here now, buzzing over the prominent questions that stare Congress in the face, such as the so called tariff revision and reduction of internal revenue tax. In connection with these different types of the tariff question loom up Randall and Carlisle. If you have a belief that there is to be a great split between these two men get rid of that belief at once, for such a thing will not be permitted by the administration, if it can prevent it. Cleveland it is well known is entered for the Presidential race of 1888, and for that reason he will use all influence of the administration to preserve the peace between Randall and Carlisle, and then too Randall has a Presidential bee in his bonnet which will keep him on his good behavior. Samuel is more of a politician than a statesman. He keeps himself straight with the appointing power and keeps himself up with the live issues and that makes him appear as a remarkable man in the eyes of the public. During the late Presidential campaign, when the surplus was a question, he went about making speeches about the 400,000,000 surplus in the Treasury. Since the election he is tame on that question. Now he is riding the tariff question, and just what he believes would take a dozen search warrants to find out. The tariff question will always be a question for disputation until there has been a well digested tariff system provided by Congress. Carlisle is riding the other undefined side of the question from Randall, and by this agitation they have centered a great deal of attention on themselves

The Republican party is the only one that holds a well defined position on the question of tariff protection. Randall is a sort of a go between on the tariff issue, and if it were not for the nomination of Cleveland next year they would kick him overboard, but they need him. He's a great meddler. I am told that he wrote letters in Pennsylvania, to parties outside of his district telling them what to do at the recent election. He would make a nice Democratic boss for the Presidency.

Carlisle must be on his good behavior for the seat he holds is in contest, and if he antagonizes Randall and his friends there is no telling what they may do with his contested seat. So then you observe there is no chance for a big fight among the Democracy in Congress this winter.

It is a surprise that Cleveland has such a hold on the party. He is a consumate politician, or he could not hold his position in the face of his record, or the people of the Republic have grown lax on the question of morals. He was elected in the face of revelations that it was believed no man could be elected to office under Some of his friends have the temerity to declare that he never was as great a woman's man as David and Soloman and they are counted good men by people who want to be considered good.

The land grant question looks as if it may be come an important one this Congress. The American Congress has done great injustice to the people who it presumably represents by the land grants. It has squandered away the public lands by land grants comprehending millions of acres. Congress has never understood that it is only a trustee for the people. It has acted as though it owned the public lands and could dispose of them at pleasure. It is a question whether its acts bestowing land grants are constitutional. Some able man is now needed in Congress to champion the rights of the people on the land grant question.

From a few clouds on the horizon it is predicted that the Sunday observance question may be brought before Congress. Many of the preachers throughout the country are restless on what they call the desecration of the Sabbath, and they want Congressional action against the carrying of the mail, and the running of cars, and the sending of messages by telegraph on Sunday, and I would not be in the least surprised to hear of large petitions on the above question sent to Congress. It will be something new for Congress to consider the Sunday question. It is a broad question and should be productive of some fine speeches.

The question of Lamar in the Supreme Court is a good deal talked about. I hardly believe he will be appointed. He will be opposed by two great interests, the northern element that triumphed over rebellion are against him. He believed or professed to believe in the right of the South to secede, and if the South had the right to go out of the Union it follows as night follows day that the government had no right to keep the South from seceding, and that all the work of the government was unlawful, unconstitutional, &c. If Lamar believes all that, he will be an unsafe man on the Supreme Bench, for his rulings might soon prove detrimental to the northern system of civilization that crushed out the slave, or Southern system of civilization. Indeed there are men here in Washington, who make bold to say, that if Cleveland gets a second term, the old slave element will do its best, through intrigue to capture the Supreme Court, and through it declare a number of things unconstitutional, that are now thought to be established. The other great interest against Lamar is the land grant interest. On the question of the land grants Lamar is with the people, but they have little voice here except through their representatives and on the question of giving land away, past Congresses, as I said above did not seem to comprehend that Congress is only a trustee for the whole people—they give the land away just as if they owned it, when in point of fact government does not own a foot of land. Our government is only a protectorate to secure the individual in his personal and property rights, but I have trespassed already too much on your space.

A Bogus Indian.

While a number of Indians were taking a ride on the platform of a mail car near Pocatello, Utah, recently the trainmen noticed that one of the redskins was shunned by all the others. The grimaces of disgust bestowed upon the ostracized member of the party led to an investigation, which revealed that the lonely one was a tramp disguised as an Indian in order to get free transportation.

Right of Action.

The Supreme Court recently decided a case that may be of interest to some people beside the parties directly concerned. A Harrisburg furniture dealer sold goods to a married woman, notwithstanding the husband had notified him orally and by letter not to do so on his credit The furniture man brought suit against the husband and the jury found a verdict in his favor The husband had ratified the wife's purchases, permiting them to remain in the house and using them. The Supreme Court decides that this was an error, that there was no ratification on the part of the husband in permitting the goods to remain in the house, and that it was not his duty to remove the goods nor notify the dealer to take them away. If the latter choose to take his chance of recovery after notice not to sell, he had the right, but he could not improve the right of action against the husband.—Ex.

Bathing The Baby.

The Tyrone Herald says. Down at Pemberton quarries in Huntingdon county the other day a Hungarian woman became the mother of a child. She was attended by a well known physician of this place, and a woman of her own nationality, but the latter was master of ceremonies and seemed to not only know how such matters were managed in Hungary, but was determined that they should be run in the same manner in that part of free America. A tub of hot water was in readiness and when the infant arrived it was at once wrapped up in woolen cloths so as to cover it all over, and the squirming bundle thus formed was unceremoniously soused into the hot water which covered every part of it but the face. The medical gentleman tried to object to this sort of procedure but he was given to understand that he was not running that part of the show and had to be satisfied. The babe thus treated, seemed to enjoy the hot bath and calmly went to sleep, after which it was taken out and put through the usual course pursued on such occasions. All is now serene at Pemberton.

A Fiend's Work.

COLUMBIA, S. C., November 29th.—Stephens Baily, who a week ago cremated her in a furnace, has died from the effects of the wounds in his throat made by himself in attempting to commit suicide shortly after being arrested. Before dying Baily confessed to being a triple wife murderer. He said:

"I am about 70 years old. I have been married three times. I killed my first wife with a club. Her name was Catherine. I buried her in the garden and then dug her up and buried her in the graveyard. We had six children. My second wife's name was Mary. I killed her with a brick by hitting her on the head. I will not tell what I did with the body. She had one child—a boy—by me. My third wife's name was Sallie. She was unfaithful to me for a long time. My wife and me had not been on good terms for three or four weeks.

"That day I lay in wait for her in a foot path, and as she came along I hit her on the head with an axe and killed her, and dragged her body to the bushes until that night Then I sent my boy to the yard for a wheelbarrow, and when he came I sent him back to the house. Then I put the body in the wheelbarrow and carried it about a mile and put it in the furnace. At sunrise I started a fire and about 8 or 9 o'clock it was found out Sallie had seven children by me."

In making his confession Bailey evinced no regret for what he had done.

A despatch from Columbia S. C dated on the 27th, ult., says: Some curious earthquake phenomena have just been discovered in an isolated section between Summerville and Charleston, which bears terrible evidences of being one of three foci of the great shock of August, 1883 The ground for miles is literally overturned. In consequence there are to be seen many deep pits on the margin of which have been thrown up pure white sand as is seen only on the seashore. On the white sand thus upheaved has sprung up a dense growth of sea plants such as is found on the tops of the white sand hills created by the wind currents on the islands of this coasts It is evident that the seeds from which these plants have sprung have been ejected from great depths, where they have doubtless been buried many centuries without losing their germinating powers."

Thirty-four years ago Clark Cleveland, of Kansas City, then aged thirty-six years, was united in marriage to Marion Clinton, aged nineteen. The couple lived together for nearly fourteen years, when they became estranged, and finally, twenty years ago, were divorced. Last week the two, who had all this time been living in one city, and neither of whom had remarried, met accidentally at a mutual friend's house. The old man, now aged seventy, fell in love again with his aged ex-wife and proposed and was accepted. Thereupon they went quietly before a magistrate and were married.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 30.—Gov Beaver to day fixed January 26th as the day for the execution of David L. King, convicted in Clarion county for the murder of a man named Davemore.

At a carriage builders' convention at Wilmington, Delaware, it was decided that a uniform track of four feet eight inches, for carriages, should be built.

From the Bloomfield Advocate. Samuel Rice, the oldest citizen of Madison township, died near Sandy Hill, on the 22d inst, aged 89 years, 9 months and 25 days. Mr. Rice was a native of Juniata county He married Miss Sarah Ree on the 10th of April, 1823, and in 1833 he moved to Perry county, taking up his residence on the farm now owned by Mrs Susannah Boden In the spring of 1841 he bought and removed to the farm on which he lived until his death. He and his wife attended the same school in their youth, received catechetical instruction in the same class, under Father Heim, and both connected themselves with the church the same time. They lived together in the holy bonds of wedlock for 64 years, and the wife preceded the husband to the grave a little over six weeks. * * * It would appear from a sample of butter sent to this office by C. W. Smith, wholesale dealer in butter, eggs and poultry, of Newport, that at least one of the butter-makers in the upper end of this county is not strictly honest. The butter before us was part of a fine large roll, and was brought to Mr. Smith by one of the hucksters who gather butter from the farmers. This roll of butter was fine looking on the outside, but when cut through it was found that the inside of the roll was well-filled with lard. This was a cheat and a swindle.—We hope, for the good name of our people, that this kind of swindling will never again be repeated.

From the Huntingdon Globe of last week: On Wednesday of last week the body of a man was found on an unfrequented road in Fulton county, near, Cove Gap, leading from the old Thom place to the Little Cove, by Joseph Hollinshead, of the distillery, who was in search of a stick of timber. It proved to be the body of Denton Cline, of near Fort Loudon, who left his wife on account of domestic infelicity, and had been working in Hancock, About six weeks ago he was notified that his son, now deceased, was very sick, and it is supposed that on receiving the information he hastened homeward, this being his most direct route. When found his head was severed from the trunk and lay a considerable distance from the body, which was badly decomposed, and the flesh torn away by dogs or wild animals. His face was also mutilated in a similar manner. Whether it was a suicide, death from exposure, or alcoholism is a mooted question. Near the body was found a pistol, filled jug of whisky, a bottle of laudanum and a knife.

COMBINATION.

SENTINEL & REPUBLICAN

AND

THE WEEKLY PRESS.

One dollar and fifty cents in advance will secure you the SENTINEL & REPUBLICAN and THE WEEKLY PRESS for the period of one year.

The SENTINEL & REPUBLICAN gives nearly twice as much reading as any one of the other papers in Juniata. Its reports of all important home news and enterprises is full and within the period of a year its variety of reading matter comprehends within its scope almost every topic. Consider that in addition to this, the best local and literary paper published in Juniata county, you can have the Philadelphia WEEKLY PRESS, one of the best papers published in America, you have an offer that comes seldom to a man and his family.

After children have learned to read, the greatest educator is the newspaper. Every man should do justice to his family by subscribing for a public journal.

Subscribers who are in arrears can avail themselves of this combination offer by paying arrearages and paying one dollar and fifty cents in advance, thereby securing the two papers.

When you have subscribed for the SENTINEL AND REPUBLICAN you are certain in your securement of the county paper that gives you a larger quantity and greater variety of reading matter than is presented by other journals published in Juniata county, and when you accept this combination offer of the two papers you have secured for yourself and family a newspaper prize of inestimable value for a price so low that it amounts to almost a marvel.

In this day and generation it amounts almost to a wrong to one's self and family to deny themselves the advantage of a good paper like the SENTINEL & REPUBLICAN and a state paper like the WEEKLY PRESS. There are more than a thousand and one things during the passage of a year that interest and sometimes directly benefit the individual and family, that appear in the home paper but like the rain, sunshine and air, that we are so familiar with, we do not appreciate as they merit.

Do you appreciate a first rate offer? Have the kindness to mention it to your neighbor if your neighbor has not already found it out, and if he has it will not do harm to speak him concerning it.
