Was America Ever Discovered?

At the time when Columbus started in search of the new world, nearly every man, woman and child in Europe insisted that there was no new world to discover. When he came back, crowned with success, a large proportion of these good people adhered to their theory, and if they were alive to day would with the people of Juniata Co., go to W. F. Snyder's Furniture Factory where it has been discovered that the largest and best supply of furniture is kept in the county, and at prices to suit all parties, as he keeps all grades of furniture and can supply all demands. * * *

Fiery Fate.

A fiery fate sooner or later awaits the people of Findlay, Ohio, if the following despatch from Chicago under date of August 1st is true.—A despatch from Cincinnati says: Dr. Ernst Weissenbacher, professor of geology in the Heidelberg university, Germany, after a visit of scientific inspection to the natural gas wells at Findlay, Ohio, in the course of which he experimented with delicate instruments, has come to the conclusion that a great internal fire of a temperature of over three thousand degrees is raging underneath that city and vicinity. From the tremendous cracking which is heard by the instruments, he thinks an early catastrophe not only possible but probable.

The Poets' Chance.

The New York Daily Graphic has started a new feature, "Our Poet's Corner," and, as The Graphic announces, "the department is expressly designed for the profit and celebration of our poetic contributors," in which it is intended to publish all the verses sent that paper. This is, we believe, the 1st attempt of any metropolitan daily to encourage the development of American poetical genius and will certainly "fill a long felt want" as well as increasing the already exceedingly great popularity of The Graphic.

Here is an opportunity for our local poets to become celebrated by sending their effusions written on one side of the sheet to the Poetry Editor of The Graphic New York.
