"American mechanics live as well as any class of people in the world, and at the same time if they are prudent they save money and purchase homes. Mr. Frank Gibson, of Carroll township, brought into the Advocate office, last Saturday, a curious fossil formation picked up from near the base of the famous old Gibson's Rock. The rock, which Mr. Gibson says is Hamilton sand stone, has indented upon it the forehead, nose and jaw, of what appears to be those of a human skull. Falling face downward in the soft mud, the skull has left a perfect imprint upon what became hardened sand. By means of a plaster cast Mr. Gibson has brought out the features most prominently, the teeth especially looking quite natural. The vexed question is how did the face get there in that age which geologists tell us was aeons of time before the appearance of man or his immediate prototype. Mr. Gibson proposes to send the plaster cast to Prof. Claypole.—Bloomfield Advocate.

Farewell Meeting.

Westminister Presbyterian Church was filled with members of the different congregations of the town and vicinity on Friday evening upon the occasion of the farewell services in honor of Miss Emma Hays, daughter of Rev. L. Y. Hays, who took her departure on Monday, by way of San Francisco, for Tokio, Japan, where she will be engaged in Foreign Missionary work, as Teacher in the girls Seminary in Tokio, under the auspices of the Foreign Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Campbell, of the Port Royal Presbyterian Church officiated upon this occasion, and after music by the choir, and an appropriate prayer by Rev. Mr. Kelly, of the Spruce Creek Presbyterian Church, read from Luke XXIV chapter, which was followed by prayer by Rev. Miller, of the Methodist Church of this place.

Rev. Dr. Mendenhall, of Huntingdon, delivered a brief address upon the progress of Missionary work, and the progress of the work in Japan, and observed that if the Japanes continue to become christainized at the same rate of arithmatical progression until the close of the Century, Japan will be a Christian nation, and he termed Miss Hay's devotion to the great an good work as heroic, sublime and Christlike.

The choir was joined by the congregation in singing the 608th hymn which was followed by an address by Rev. Kelly, of Spruce Creek, who remarked the character and abilities of Miss Hays, and the great loss sustained by society, by the church, by the different societies for the promotion of God's work, of which she was an active member, and by her own family circle where the loss would be felt most keenly.

A solo was sung most beautifully by Miss Freeman, of Huntingdon who was accompanied on the organ by Mrs. J. W. Wagner, which was followed by Rev. Woodburn, of Academia with an address.

Rev. Philip Graiff, delivered an eloquent and very appropriate prayer, and the W. C. T. U. of Juniata county in a communication read by Miss Lyons, of Port Royal, expressed their regret at the loss of Miss Hays, who has been an active worker in that organization, but who now has been called to a larger and greater field of labor, but the Society, now fully realizes that congratulations and not regrets are more appropriate. Miss Louie Jackman, representing the Y. W. C. T. U. expressed the farewell of that organization by reading several verses from the Scriptures.

Mr. George Wilson in a carefully prepared address represented the Westminister Presbyterian Congregation in the farewell meeting and was followed by Miss Emma Hays, who expressed thanks to the interested and sympathetic audience for the interest taken and sympathy expressed and shown in herself and in her great undertaking. Many eyes were bathed in tears and the speaker's voice trembled preceptibly as she clearly and distinctly outlined her course in the Missionary fields, and many prayers were quietly offered up, for the preservation of the life, and health and for the success of this brave young lady, who leaves home and her native land, that the light of truth may be shown to the benighted of the heathen land. May success crown her efforts.
