There is a bill in the Legislature on its passage to give honerably discharged survivors of the war preference in appointment or employment at public works, in county, township and city government. The bill is not a wise one, and if it is passed will result in the organization of the people to defeat every soldier that seeks an elective office.

With no public necessity that requires increased revenues it is an outrage on the rights of the property holder to propose an increase of tax valuation of farm land. With wheat less than a dollar, and still declining, corn at forty cents, oats at 25 to 27cts a bushel it is enough to arouse the indignation of property owners against proposal of an increase of valuation.

From the Liverpool Sun. Miss Rena Shuman, of Pottsville daughter of W. H. Shuman, while attending a dance on Saturday, was suddenly taken with excruciating pain in her hip, which caused her to faint, and she was immediately removed to her home. Three physicians were summoned, and they found the point of a needle protruding from the skin. An operation was performed and the needle drawn out. Miss Shuman stated that several days ago, after hanging a picture, she jumped from a chair, and immediately felt very severe pains in her hip, but they soon passed away and she thought nothing more of the occurrence. The doctors are of the opinion that the jump saved her life by bringing the needle to the surface.

From The Fulton Republican, of last week. McConnellsburg, not to be behind any part of the uncivilized world, comes to the front with a group of veritable "White Caps." The first victim was Samuel F. Dively, who resides in the the eastern part of town. He was returning home between eleven and twelve o'clock on last Friday night, after closing up his oyster saloon, and was carrying a lantern in one hand and several packages under his arm. When within a short distance of his house he was confronted by two men in disguise. Mr. Dively, who does not lack courage, admits he was considerably startled at being suddenly called to a "halt" by two masked men wearing white caps, and, although he was armed, the summons came so quick and unexpected that he failed to use anything except his lower limbs.

The sheriff of Berks county is reaping a rich harvest by the sale of many farms in that fine agricultural region. A few years ago designing men induced the land holders to submit to the placing of fictitious values on their farms. They were told that a high valuation made no difference in the amount of tax to be levied. That was the talk of the jobbers. As soon as the valuation was increased the tax was increased. That was what the township and county jobber was after The high taxes, expenses of keeping up repairs and incomes that are not larger than those derived from their farms 25 years ago have bankrupted hundreds of good men. People in Juniata should profit by the outrages perpetrated in other counties and not allow a few men who pay nothing to place a burden upon them by placing fictitious values upon their property.

Lawyer Seth Crews, Mrs. Rawson's counsel, played a cute trick on Dr. D. J. Kiernan, insanity expert, in a Chicago Court on Monday. Crews asked the witness if he did not testify at the Guiteau trial that the assassin was insane. He said he did. "Still," observed the lawyer, "Guiteau was hanged?"

Mr. Crews picked up a book which he said was "Ray's Medical Jurisprudence." "Now, doctor," he said in a bland way, "I want to read you two cases which I read to the experts who testified before you."

Dr. Kiernan thought the lawyer was reading from the book, but those who were sitting behind Mr. Crews saw that he had two sheets of manuscript, closely written, inside the volume.

"That first case you read," said the expert, "I remember very well. I have read it, but that was a chronic case of hysterical insanity."

"Look here, doctor," said Crews, taking the two sheets of paper out of the book and handing them to the witness, "these cases are not in the book, nor in any book. I made them up myself."

The doctor's face became very red when he saw what a trap he had walked into.—Ex.

The committee on "Permanent Certificates" will meet in the public school building in Mifflintown on the 23rd day of February 1889, at 8 o'clock.

A Burning Shame.

A case that should command the immediate attention of the powers that be, has been incidentally reported to us from Henderson township. We learn there is a young girl in the hold of one or more men lodging in a cabin formerly used by wood choppers, on the opposit side of Stone creek from the Simpson farm. A reliable person saw the unfortunate girl on Tuesday and tells us that she was in her bare feet. Speedy steps should be taken to have this girl released, and if she has no home, placed in the county institution for such subjects of care and charity The constable of Henderson might look the affair up and report.—Huntingdon Globe.

Try to control your temper till the 14th is past;—Valentine day.

It seems this beautiful country with the Grandest Government upon the face of the earth will never get entirely rid of the indolent, filthy, low lifed and dregaded humanity commonly known as,—Tramps—which infest the country. With the bloom of health and vigor hidden underneath their filth and rags they tramp from place to place and beg from door to door. At night sleeping under the shelter of some wide spreading tree which afterward droops its branches in mute humilitation for having sheltered so base and degraded a being. Or perhaps while the shades of night have hidden him from eyes that can only look at him with disgust, he, like a dog that has killed sheep, slinks into a barn among the cattle, and on a bed of straw he does away a few hours of his miserable life. Should we divide our hard earned store with him? He, while we were toiling through the hot summer months to lay up our winters store.—He the lazy indolent pup was lying under some shade tree watching us. If we should shut down on him, and compel him to earn his own living, would we on the day of judgement be accountable if he should present himself, and say. "I was naked and you clothed me not." "I was hungry and you gave me no meat," etc. I will leave this friends for your own consideration.

VIDE UT SUPRA.

A Chinaman Trick.

A new trick just discovered at Whatcom, Washington Territory, has almost taken away the breath of the Federal officials, for they know that it must have been very successful for a time. The large number of squaws coming into the country from British Columbia finally attracted the attention of an official, and he took a party of them to jail. On close inspection it was found that the creatures were not squaws at all, but able-bodied Chinamen who had painted and otherwise disguised themselves so as to resemble the typical Indian squaw of the frontier. In one instance two young and rather comely Chinese women came across in the gard of American woman.

The Bustle.

It appears that the bustle industry has not only survived the blow given to it by Mrs. Cleveland some time ago, but is actually more flourishing than ever. This is no doubt largely due to the fact that Mrs. Harrison, the coming first lady of the land, has pronounced in favor of the bustle, thereby earning the gratitude of all who think the female form can be improved upon by a protuberance on the south side. The popularity of the bustle is proven beyond dispute by an investigation made by a New York evening paper, which included observations on a thousand women at the opera, on the street, in the shops and other places. Of the thousand, 899 had bustles, only 78 were without bustles, and in 33 cases the investigator could not tell whether it was a bustle or nature, and was perhaps too modest to ask. This is a glorious victory, indeed, for the bustle, and sweet woman may continue with its aid to exercise her divine right to use four seats in a street-car and to look sour when some brute asks her to move up.—North American.

A Life Lesson.

BY JAMES WHITCOMB RILEY.

There! little girl; don't cry!
They have broken your doll, I know
And your tea-set blue,
And your playhouse, too,
Are things of the long ago;
But childish troubles will soon pass by.

There! little girl; don't cry!

There! little girl; don't cry!
They have broken your slate, I know;
And the glad, wild ways
Of your school-girl days
Are things of the long ago;
But life and love will soon come by.
There! little girl; don't cry!

There! little girl; don't cry.
They have broken your heart, I know
And the rainbow gleams
Of your youthful dreams
Are things of the long ago;
But heaven holds all for which you sigh.
There! little girl; don't cry!

MASON & HAMLIN

The highest organs were introduced in the present form by Mason & Hamlin in 1861. Other makers followed in the manufacture of these instruments, but the Mason & Hamlin Organs have always maintained their supremacy as the best in the world.

Mason & Hamlin offer, as a distinguishing feature of the unequalled excellence of their organs, the fact that at all of the great World's Exhibitions, since that of Paris, 1867, they have been awarded Medals under such conditions as to place their instruments in competition with best makes of the world. ORGANS Illustrated catalogues free. $22 TO $900. PIANOS Mason & Hamlin do not hesitate to make the extraordinary claim, for their pianos, that they are superior to all others. They combine all the high excellence achieved by other makers with many valuable features of piano building, but still claimed exclusively by them, and not to be found in other pianos. The improvements introduced by them in the best pianos, and now known as the "Mason & Hamlin Piano Construction," by which the tone is secured to the fullest extent, with a quality resembling in tone and other important attributes the qualities of the best Cremona violins, are fully described in our catalogue, which we will send free on application.
