James Notestine formerly of this town was knocked down at Lewistown Junction, a few days ago by a steer that escaped from a car. Notestine and others were trying to capture the animal, when it made for him, gored him down and severely hurt one one of his arms. Had it not been for others of the party it would soon have horned him to death. The beast was run into a barn near by and there killed.

The other morning Charles Corkins was coming to town with a lot of articles for market Just when the horse was opposite his son's place, north of Lost Creek ridge, about three miles from town, the beast lost its footing, and in a twinkle, horse, sleigh and Mr. Corkins slid down the hill a distance of about 45 feet, bang against his son's house. Eleven and a half dozen eggs were smashed; a shaft and cross bar in the sleigh were broken, and the horse in several places had the skin knocked off, all of which is a loss, but it might have been worse.

Harriet E. Hall of Waynetown, Ind., says: "I owe my life to the great South American Nervine. I had been in bed for five months from the effects of an exhausted Stomach, Indigestion, Nervous prostration and a general shattered condition of my whole system. Had given up all hopes of getting well. Had tried three doctors with no relief. The first bottle of the Nervine Tonic improved me so much that I was able to walk about and a few bottles cured me entirely. I believe it is the best medicine in the world. I cannot recommend it to highly." Sold by L. Banks & Co., Druggist, Mifflintown, Pa. Feb. 9 '93, 1y.

The nominations in Milford Twp., for the election to be held next Tuesday, were made by ballot. The names of the candidates were written on the blackboard in Locust Run school house where the elections for that district are held, and as the voters came in to vote, they selected names from the list on the blackboard, then wrote them on a slip of paper and deposited the ballot there made with the election board that was present in the school house.

The Stockholders of the Juniata Valley Canning Company met in the Court House on Monday, and elected Joseph Rothrock, Wellington Smith, W. N. Sterrett, William Puffenberger, Emil Schott, B. F. Burchfield and W. B. McCahan, a board of directors, and C. B. Horning, Treasurer. The capital stock was authorized to be increased from $4,000 to $6,000 for the purpose of enlarging the plant to a capacity of 1000 cans a day. The Superintendent C. B. McCahan read a statement of the business of the past season which was satisfactory to the stockholders.

A number of people came into the SENTINEL AND REPUBLICAN office, one day last week, and reported what they called a "rain of chaff." Chaff, they say, fell with rain and sleet, on the morning of the 6th inst., The McVeytown Journal of the 9th, speaks as follows on the rain of chaff. —A curious phenomin, in connection with the late storm of snow and sleet, was the chaff that fell with the same. Where it came from, is a query. But that it fell can be vouched by several of our citizens who noticed it. It was an interesting topic for discussion, and several theories were advanced, but it is one of those mysteries of nature, which cannot be satisfactorily explained.

Huntingdon Reformatory people are hunting for prisoners that escaped from the Reformatory, about 3 o'clock on the morning of the 6th, by scaling the walls. Following are the names and descriptions of the runaways: John Brown, aged 22 years, weight 150 lbs, height 5 feet, 6 inches, black hair, two scars on the back of his head, and two scars on left ear, initials, "J. B." on arm. John O'Bryan, aged 21 years, weight 140 lbs, 5 feet, 6 inches, light hair, scar and mole on right arm, and Warren Ecninger, aged 19 years, weight 130 lbs, 5 feet 3 inches, light hair, left arm vaccinated, bracelet mark in ink around his wrist.

A reward of $25 is offered for the capture of each of the prisoners.

The February Freshet as it is called, did not carry the ice out of the Juniata river, excepting about 13 miles of it, that which lay between Millerstown and Duncannon at the mouth of the Juniata. The ice on that stretch of the river passed off into the Susquehanna river. The ice between Lewistown and Millerstown, a distance of 26 miles is piled in the river at Millerstown, and will melt there unless another freshet rushes it out. The ice from Lewistown to Tyrone, lies in a three mile gorge at Lewistown, and will lie there to melt out unless a sudden rise in the river raises it and floats it down, and thus it will be seen that the ice in the Juniata river about 140 miles long is shoved together into two places, at Millerstown, and at Lewistown, with the exception of the 13 miles first stated above.

The Altoona Tribune of the 8th says:—Over at Philipsburg a double-frame tenement, one side occupied by a widow named Herring with five children, and the other side by Jacob Schneider and his family, was accidently set on fire by one of the children of the widow, who had gone into one of the bed rooms to secure a night dress, and before the fire was discovered it had made such headway that the entire block was consumed together with the 5 year old daughter of Mrs. Herring. The daughter and a little brother, aged 7 years, occupied a small bed room adjoining the larger room in which the fire started. The little boy aged 3 years by some means made his escape out of the room and down stairs. The remains of the little one were found about midnight underneath a lot of bed clothing. Its body was charred to a crisp. From the position in which it was found, it is thought the child had its head covered and was fast asleep, and that it was dead from suffocation before the flames reached it. Mrs. Herring was carried from the scene of the fire, as were also two or three of the children and taken to the homes of neighbors where they were kindly cared for.

Says the Liverpool Sun: The two revivals are in successful progress. The results of the Evangelical revival up to Monday were 72 conversions and 18 seekers * * * The barn of Jacob Hoffman on the old Daniel Wagner farm, about two miles east of Reward, was burned to the ground on Monday evening of last week, about seven o'clock. There was a lot of hay, straw, fodder and oats burned. The live stock was all gotton out. The fire is a mystery. There was an insurance. * * * Once in a while we meet a man or a woman, who thinks that he or she knows better how to run a newspaper than the editor himself, if he happens to omit something that they think should have been printed in the paper about them, or if something is printed that they imagine should not be there. They will try to bust up the editor by stopping their paper. Sometimes it is a windfall to the editor, as then they will pay up their arrears, which some may be mean enough not to pay at all. The editor generally survives, and the ex-subscribers will walk a half mile to get their neighbor's paper to read. * * * The log house of John Criswell, near Clark's Ferry, was destroyed by fire Monday morning of last week. Mr. Criswell is engaged in the timber business, and a few minutes after the men had left their work, fire broke out, and was at once discovered by Mrs Criswell, who attended to the cooking. She gave the alarm, and the men hastened back to save their tools and clothing. Harry Garman aged 58 years, rushed into the burning building to save some effects and was burned to death. After the fire was extinguished the charred body was taken out, one leg being entirely burned off, the other below the knee. Both arms and head were also burned off, nothing remaining but the charred trunk.

Chaff, Pebbles and Charcoal.

John B. Weaver of Walker township, was in the SENTINEL AND REPUBLICAN office on the 9th inst., and in a conversation about the rain of chaff, said that at his place in addition to the fall of chaff, there were small pebbles and some charcoal mixed with the sleet.

BEFORE AND AFTER USE.

LADIES' BEAUTY

IS but skin deep. There are thousands of ladies who have regular features and would be accorded the palm of beauty were it not for a poor complexion. To all such we recommend DR. HEBRA'S VIOLA CREAM as possessing those qualities that quickly change the most sallow and florid complexion to one of natural health and unblemished beauty. It cures Oily Skin, Freckles, Black Heads, Pimples, Blotches, Sunburn, Tan, Pimples, and all imperfections of the skin. It is not a cosmetic but a cure, yet is better for the toilet table than powder. Sold by Druggists, or sent post paid upon receipt of 50c.
