Dickinson College.

A new session of this Institution opened last week, and under highly encouraging auspices, as we learn, although we don't know the exact number of new students. At the meeting of the Board of Trustees in July last, the vacancies in the Faculty were filled by appointments which are regarded as highly judicious by the friends of the Institution. The Faculty now stands as follows:

Moral Philosophy—President Peck.
Philosophy—Prof. Johnson.
Natural Sciences—Prof. Wentworth.
Ancient Languages—Prof. Marshall.
Mathematics—Prof'rs. Sudler and Tiffany.
Modern Languages—Prof. Blumenthal.
Principal of the Preparatory Department—Rev. James Devinney. Tutor, James Wilson, A. B.

Census Returns.

Mr. Craighead, Deputy Marshal, sends us the following report of the census of East Pennsboro and Hampden Townships:

East Pennsboro—Males, 809; Females, 782—total population, 1591. The amount of wheat raised in the township last year was 26,369 bushels; number of Horses in the township, 311; number of milk cows, 415; other cattle 330.

Hampden.—Males, 650; Females, 648—total population, 1298. Product of wheat, 34,270 bushels; number of Horses, 557; Cows, 523; other cattle, 442. This stock is only enumerated in the farmer's schedule. On their farms there are a number of horses and cows owned by persons that are not taken.

Many interesting incidents happen, says the marshal, in taking the census. I will relate you one amusing affair. I came to a farmer's house, and accosting him as politely as I could, asked the necessary questions, but he refused to answer. I then pretended to write down his stock, making a greater number than he had, such as six horses, one mule &c. This enraged him dreadfully. I made the way clear between me and the door, and then remarked, "oh, yes, I made a mistake—it is a jack-ass you have." He swore he had none, and wou'd'nt pay tax for one. I insisted he had one. His intelligent wife was looking on with a smile, for she had been to one of those whig nurseries, Free Schools. She joined in my fun. "Why yes, we have a jack ass," said she; "the gentleman means you yourself!" She knew exactly how to work him. He then got into a quite good humor, and enquired what the Census was for. She replied that she knew all about the Census—she had read it at her father's in the "Herald"—and you must take a newspaper and not always be a dummy." That lady is worthy of her country, and her interesting children, will profit by her intelligence and spirit.

Mr. Bretz, Deputy Marshal, gives us the following returns of Townships in his district:

N. Middleton, total inhabitants, 2,223
W. Pennsboro, total inhabitants, 2,040
Frankford, total inhabitants, 1,293

York and Cumberland Rail Road.—At the annual meeting of the Board of Directors, held on the 17th inst. says the Baltimore Sun, the report of the President and Directors was read, containing a statement of the progress of this road, from which we learn that it is fast approaching completion, and will undoubtedly be opened to public travel on the 1st of December next.

The laying of the new track on the Cumberland Valley Road is also going steadily on, and will be completed in a month or six weeks.

The trustees under an act of the Pennsylvania Legislature authorizing the sale of the Franklin Rail Road, advertise at public sale so much of the road as lies in this State, a distance of fifteen miles. The sale is to take place in Chambersburg, on the 25th of October.

☞ Mackey, the man who killed Mr. M. Boltzhoover, near Pittsburg, is lying very ill in jail, from injuries he received while committing the horrid deed

Jenny Lind.—Jenny's fourth and fifth concerts in New York were as crowded as the first. The receipts are about $30,000 a night. Contrary to the general impression, Jenny has thus far more than met public expectation. Her voice, manner, and execution of the most difficult musical compositions are said to be altogether incomparable. She has already given upwards of $10,000—the proceeds of her first concert—to several deserving charitable institutions in New York. It is also her intention to devote the entire net proceeds of her Concerts in this country, (which will of course amount to a princely sum) to the establishment and endowment of a system of Free Schools in Norway and Sweden. Here is munificence for you! No wonder talent and and goodness such as hers—should win all hearts and inspire more than ordinary respect and admiration.

A Golden Prospect Ahead.—Washington, Sept. 10.—Thomas A. C. Jones, of the Pacific Squadron, recently from California, estimates that the yield of that golden country next year, will not fall short of fifty millions of dollars.
