We tender to the happy twain our warmest thanks for their liberal remembrance, and our kindest wishes for a future of unalloyed happiness.

On the 31st ult., near Monmouth city, Illinois, by the Rev. H. J. Meek, Mr. JAMES NIES, formerly of this county, to Mrs. ELIZABETH S. HILL, daughter of Bernard Hendel, deceased, of this county.

On the 25th ult., by the Rev. J. Evans, Mr. JOHN STITZEL of Waynesborough, to Miss AGNES F. RHOADS, of Newville.

At Cincinnati, on the 18th ult., by the Rev. W. H. Harrison, GEORGE SPANGLER, formerly of this place, to Miss ELMIRA GRIFFEN, of Cincinnati.

On the 27th ult., by Levi W. Weaver, Esq., W. A. MORRETT to Miss A. VICTORIA SINGIZER, all of Churchtown.

Deaths.

On the 8th inst., after a long and painful illness, Mr. ROBERT C. STERRETT, Esq., of South Middleton township, in the 52nd year of his age.

In Lancaster city, on the 31st ult., after a lingering illness, Mr. ABRAHAM HENDEL, aged about 48 years.

On Wednesday morning, after a short illness, JANE, daughter of James Widner, Esq., aged about 15 years.

Farewell to you, my father dear,
Dry up your tears of love,
Though we meet not on earth again,
We'll meet in heavens above.

Farewell, all friends, I must be gone,
I can no longer stay with you;
I leave you here and journey on
'Till I a better world can view.

Sweet bud of promise, thou art gone,
Unto a happier clime,
Where angels' harp in endless song
Shall be for ever thine.

OBITUARY.

FRANCIS GIBSON, whose death took place a short time since, at his residence in Perry county, was the oldest son of the late Col. George Gibson, of the Revolution, who fell at St. Clair's Defeat on the fatal 4th of November, 1791. Francis Gibson was born at Silver Spring, in Cumberland county. His father being on frontier service, his mother removed him when an infant to his grandfather's, in what is now Perry county. Francis when yet a boy, gave evidence of great mechanical ingenuity. He made with a small plane, knife, and chisel, a violin of very sweet tone, and long before he reached manhood was an accomplished musician. In after years he proved himself a firsterate millright, the best gunsmiths and cabinet-maker—in short he could work in wood, iron, and brass as well as the best workmen. He not only made the best rifles but was himself the best rifle-shot of the day. When in the army, and stationed at Fort Mifflin, below Philadelphia, he very much improved the carriages for heavy cannon. He possessed a strong mind and wonderfully retentive memory. His high standing at school proved also his fondness for intellectual culture. Owing to his superior literary taste and his great love of reading, his attainments were remarkable. The originality and eccentricity of his genius, together with his great information and brilliant conversational powers, made him a delightful companion, and many now recollect with pleasure, the hours made doubly fleeting by being passed in his society.—He was early a member of that fine old military company the "Carlisle Infantry," and marched in it to Pittsburg, to assist in putting down the Whiskey Insurrection. He was the last living member of that time-honored company. In 1798, Mr. Gibson was appointed first Lieutenant in the corps of Artillery; after a few years' service, he resigned his commission, and returned home. In the war of 1812, he marched to Philadelphia in Captain John Creigh's company, of which he was Orderly Sergeant, and performed the double duty of Sergeant and fifer. Governor McKean in his last term appointed Mr. Gibson Recorder of Deeds and Probate of Wills, for Cumberland county, but he went out of office with the Governor, and once more retired to Sherman's Valley. The people of his township recommended him to the new Governor for the appointment of Justice of the Peace. It was given to him, and he continued to act until the office became elective, when he wished to retire, but the people elected him almost unanimously,—a thing highly honorable to him as a magistrate. He was an ardent friend, and as is usually the case a warm enemy. The perpetrator of a mean or dishonest act, was never again in favor with him.—Francis Gibson was a kind husband, an affectionate father, and an honest man.

RAKES! RAKES! RAKES!
FARMERS, ATTENTION!
SANDERS' IMPROVED HORSE-RAKE.

Patented June 7, 1852.—The subscriber, having purchased the interest of his partner, Moses C. Eberly, is prepared to manufacture the above Rake on reasonable terms, at the old stand, opposite the Steam Sawmill. This Rake is simple in construction and not liable to get out of order; it is well adapted to the raking of hay or grain, and works well in rough or stony ground, having metallic spring teeth. Its operation is most easy and simple—the operator, instead of operating the rake with his hands, rides, and controls it with his feet. Even a lame or lazy person can earn good wages with one of these rakes without
