not forbidden to use his reason for the same purpose. A prudent forethought for this life is as much the duty of man, as it is for the life to come And the man who provides not for his own, and especially for those of his own house, has denied the faith, and is worse than an infidel. So that the man who is careless as to providing for his own house, is far less of the Christian than infidel. And securing a life-policy would be pre em inently providing for his own house. Beware then, lest your scruples should induce your husband to act worse than an infidel.

But why scruple on the subject of Life Insurance? You s y, "It seems to be a distrust of Providence." But would you prevent your husband putting lightning rods to his house, or having it insured, or having his ship going to sea insurell, or having a bale of goods insured that he was about sending to the South or West? If not, why scruple as to the other? There is no difference as to the principle involved; and thus your conscientious scruple is simply an unreasonable prejudice!

But you say, "It is dreadful to have an insurance on my husband's life." But why so? He must die some time. The policy of insurance will neither hasten nor retard the event. And when he dies, if you survive him, you will receive the amount of his policy for your support: and if you die before him, your children will receive it. What is there dreadful in all this? A relative of mine, and a minister, too, died, within a few years. He left a helpless widow, and a family of children—all minors. He held an insurance policy on his life, which was promptly paid on his decease; and his widow and children are now, because of it, in comfortable circumstances. And there are many poor widows; who, to my knowledge, would like to be in circumstances equally dreadful!

But you ask, "would he not do as well by putting it into a Savi gs Bank or otherwise investing the sums he would yearly pay in premiums on a life policy?" Your husband is thirty years old, and for a policy of one thousand dollars he would pay annually twenty three dollars. Should he die in three years or in ten years, you can easily answer the question; and he may die in one year! Should he live to fourscore and ten years, and carefully invest twenty three dollars annually, I suppose the difference would not be much either way. But then you risk the chances of his continuance so long, which is a great risk; and you go on in the presumption that he will regularly invest twenty three dollars annually, which is a violent presumption. He might possibly do as well in the way you suggest; but the possibility involves a great risk, and a violent presumption. And on such a risk and presumption you would jeopardize a certainty for an uncertainty! Such wisdom is neither from above nor from below.

NOTICE.—We are daily receiving orders to send by mail some one or more of Dr. Hurd's Dental Remedies, which we cannot fill. None are available except the Neuralgia Plaster, which we send in an envelope on receipt of the price (15 cents) and one stamp. But to accommodate persons in places where the druggists and storekeepers are behind the age, we have put up packages in white embossed boxes, seven inches by four, with compartments—each box containing a bottle of Dr Hurd's Mouth Wash, and Tooth Ache Drops, a box of Tooth Powder, the Neuralgia Plaster, a valuable little Treatise on Teeth and their Diseases, the best means of preserving them, and the proper treatment of Children's Teeth, worth of itself the entire cost to every young man or women, or parents with young children, with sundry other necessary articles; price, per package, one dollar, or six packages for $5, sent by express as directed. As the express charges are not much, if any more on a dozen than on one, it is far cheaper to order six or a dozen packages at one time.—A large family will want all, or the surplus can be disposed of to neighbors with public benefit, for no one can estimate how much pain, suffering, unhappiness, and disfigurement, expense, loss of time and money would be saved to the country, if every family to-day had one of these packages, which is itself, is a complete set of Dental Remedies. Address Wm. B. Hurd & Co., Tribune Buildings, New York, and write name and address plainly. That remittances may be made with confidence, W. B. H. & Co., refer to the Mayor of Brooklyn, to G. W. Griffith, President of the Farmers and Citizen's Bank, Brooklyn; to the Editors of the American Manufacturer Gazette; to Joy, Coe & Co., Publishers' Agents, New York; to P. T. Barnum, Esq., who knows a good thing when he sees it and who has already ordered a second supply, etc.

1000 AGENTS WANTED

To introduce Dr. Hurd's Dental Remedies into every county. Men or women who want to make money quickly, can do better with these articles than anything in market. They are new, useful, low priced, and we are spending thousands in advertising them for the benefit of Agents. Boxes of samples, containing a dozen of the one dollar packages above specified, with circulars, will be sent, on receipt of seven dollars, about half price. Any person wishing to test his or her skill in selling, with a view of becoming an Agent, would rather pay salaries than Commissions to those who prove themselves efficient salesmen.
Now is the time to go into the business. For address and reference see above.
