OHIO

IOWA

Official returns from Ohio have not been received, but enough is known to give Foster, Republican candidate for Governor, a majority of 25,000 over his Democratic competitor. The Legislature is Republican by 14 majority on joint ballot ertain, and the official count may make the majority even greater. Thus Republican United States Senator is secured in Thurman's place, and the Buckeye State pledged to the Republican candidate for President in 1880. The Greenbackers polled only 8,000 in the State against 32,-000 last year.

Iowa rolls up a Republican majority of 50,000 to 100,000 as she usually does.

Pennsylvania will be there with 20,000 Republican snajority in just one week from next Tuesday. Vote for Ames.

—How many rumors a stranger visiting a village will sometimes make.

For instance, a stranger by the name of Wurzell, who has been stopping at St. Mary's, Pa., for some time past, has made our town two or more visits has made our town two or more visits in the last two months causing the nature stands aghast, the whole counrumor to be set affoat that he is about try anxiously awaits to hear from us new railroad that starts at Alton runs to Ridgway, and from Ridgway to the low grade road; another rumor is that Wurzell is a candidate for District Atmaking a contract to build part of the | because these return torney, but we can't believe the latter, uncertain sound on this momentous for if Wurzell was running for office issue. It is the duty of every Republican and loyal Democrat in our State we would have known it. He would to so yote that the settlement of the certainly have told some of his friends | war shall stand; that liberty and had them looking after his interest. Mr. Wurzell comes to Ridgway but never says anything about being a candidate for office, it may be that he be forever banished from among us as is going it on a still hunt, we can't sustained the Union against the think for one moment that he has any idea of running for District Attorney if he did he would not keep it so quiet. He would have Jim, and Jim's Man Friday and the dog with the brass collar out working for him. The stranger Mr. Wurzell, if he were running for mittee. office could not expect any votes in Ridgway, for he is not known to over two or three in the township.

Q. Suppose Mr. Wurzell is a candidate for District Attorney, will be get many votes in Ridgway township? A. I can't see where they will come

Q. What will Hall do in this election?

A. I rather think Hall will keep

Q. But suppose he does take hold to elect Mr. Wurzell, how then?

A. I don't think Hall is foolish enough to make a fight on such a small office, but if he should go in the fight he can't do very much this year.

Q. Why not this year has he not the Messenger family to help him?

A. He may have Grove. Q. Where does the Judge stand in the contest, can't Hall bring the Judge into line? A. Hall can't survey close enough this year to bring the Judge in. Q. Then you think Hall stands alone?

A. Very nearly. Q. What makes you think Hall will take no part in this fight?

A. Because Hall was treated very kindly last year by the Republicans. Q. Do you think Hall cares now how well he was treated by the Republicans? A. No, but it would look bad on Hall's part.

Q. Then you think Ames will be elected?

A. Of course I do. Q. Ames is a good man for the place. A. Yes Ames is the man and will be elected. -Prints.-The most desirable assortment in Western Pennsylvania, now on exhibition at Powell & Kime's mammoth sales rooms.

Address of the Republican State Com-mittee to the People of Pennsylvania.

The solid South only requires the aid of a few Northern States to reverse the verdict of the war; to indemnify unrepentant traitors for losses incurred and it is interesting to note the varyin rebellion against the nation's life; to destroy the public credit by plun- different presidential "booms." That dering the National Treasury, and to word is a misnomer as applied to the blast the restored prosperity of the canvass of some of the candidates, but people by repealing the financial and it's what they all call it now. Of owe the revival of business. Does with the result, but they don't all agree this overstate the danger to which our as to who will reap the benefits, pros country is at this moment exposed? The unrestrained rule of the rebel Democracy means ruin. The leaders and House of Representatives, and that this Democratic majority in each house would be composed of two rebel officers to one Northern Democrat; that the rebel general second in command under Lee at Appointtox it seeming to be rather widely accepted would be a Senator from Georgia; that Ewing was not a traditional Demthat the Postmaster General and Vice President of the Southern Confederacy would be in the House, with more than a hundred rebel veterans, making laws to govern and to punish their conquerors—the man then making such a prediction would have been believed on the road to a mad-house, when it was settled beyond a doubt that what would have been one. and yet what would have been con-sidered insane ravings in 1865 is dis-graceful history in 1879. With this fact in remembrance, who will dare to mark a limit to Southern arrogance and Democratic cringing? Will the salutary laws protecting industry, will the public credit, will the nation's henor be maintained and defended by the malignant enemies of them all? Shall our heroes continue on the pension rolls or will they be forced to retire in favor of the veterans of the rebel armies? A rebel Democratic restoration in this country means that "lost cause" has been regained, and no sane man can doubt this coun-try means that the "lost cause" has been regained, and no sane man can doubt this, no honest man can deny it. The safety of our country demands the eternal exclusion from power of that party in which every unrepentant rebei finds a congenial home and a hearty welcome, and finds it there because he remains in his sins and for that réason only.

We are admonished by the rebel

Washington Letter.

[From our regular correspondent.] WASHINGTON, D. C., OCT. 20, 1879. The Ohio election has been the allabsorbing topic here for some days, ing opinions as to its effect upon the protective legislation to which we course the Republicans are all gratified pectively speaking, as it were. Secretary Sherman returned home on Wed-Democracy means ruin. The leaders of this dangerous coalition will never hesitate to carry out their schemes if the power to carry them out can in any way-be grasped.

Democracy means ruin. The leaders needed, and, in the language of the street gamins, "you bet" he's tickled. He had a sort of a reception at his residence Wednesday evening to give his friends a chance to congratulate. the power to carry them out the power to carry them out any way-be grasped.

Remember this—any man who, on the night when the whole North was shouting over the surrender of Lee, had predicted that in fourteen years the Democratic party would be in the the United States Senate in th ocrat, and that his candidacy weakehed instead of strengthening the that both State and legislative tickets had been captured by the enemy. As a matter of fact the result, or at least the election of Foster, was generally expected here. Ohio is naturally a Republican State, and the party could not well afford to lose it this year. Some newspapers in discussing the prospects of Thurman, Bayard and Blaine as Presidential candidates have stated that the road to the White House is not through the Senate Chamber, and that no United States Senator ever became President. The truth is we have had at least nine President who were members of the United States Senate, and with three exceptions—Washington, Taylor and Grant—every one of the Presidents had either passed through the House or Senate. Adams was Vice President: Jefferson, before he became President, was Secretary of State and Vice President; Madison had had a term of service in the House and had been Secretary of State; Monroe had been Senator, Secretary of State and For-cign Minister; Adams had had the Democrats and their brevet assistants same experience; Jackson was a mem that State issues alone enter into the ber of the House. Senate and Foreign present campaign, The Republicans have nothing to avoid, in even a harsh review of their record since 1860, in the conduct of State affairs. But member of the House and Vice-Presi-State issues must wait. A mighty dent; Polk was a member of the national issue confronts us. Political murder has cemented the member of the House, Senator, Secremember of the House, Senator, Secre-tary of State and Foreign Minister; Lincoln a member of the House; Johnson a Representative, Senator after he had been President and Vice-President; Grant even had been Secre-tary of War, and Hayes was a member of the Lower House. With these facts of history it would seem that any member of Congress might be pardoned for having an ambition for the Presidency, The Post-office Department is making some lively times. In his war on the lottery companies, and refusal to deliver mail to them, the Postmaster General will be sustained by public sentiment; but in one of his late orders about imperfectly addressed letters, Deacon Key has raised a very large sized hornet's nest about his ears. Under this order all postmasters are for-bidden to forward letters not addressed dead-letter office, or to the writer, if he is known. The postal clerks know that Boston is in Massachusetts, and that Chicago is in Illinois; but Mr. Key thinks it is better that they should assume not to know anything about it, and that the writer should be punished for omitting to put the State on his direction. Heretofore letters so addressed that the destination was wel understood have been sent along, but hereafter postmasters and clerks are to e just as ignorant as they can. Post-office Department is maintained for the convenience of the people, but Key thinks it is simply kept up for himself and employes to draw their salaries. It used to be the pride of the Department that even badly or imperfeetly addressed letters promptly found their destination. Now the P. M. G. flatters himself that it takes a pretty smart man to so address a letter that the authorities can not find some ex cuse for sending it to to the dead-letter office. It is stated that this new sys tem causes the accumulation in such offices as Boston and New York o from 500 to 1,000 letters per day, which formerly there was no trouble in delivering. By the way, this reminds me of the singular history of a letter which, seven years ago, Mr. Albro L. Parsons, a resident of Nashville, Tenn., wrote to Miss Julia Mays, of London, England, which, from marks on the envelope, certainly reached London. On the 5th of last month it was found very mysteriously in a street letter box in Louisville, Ky. From that city the postmark being Nashville, it was sent to the dead-letter office, where it was opened and returned to Nashville for delivery, with a request for an explanation. The Nashville postmaster, ascertaining that Mr. Parmystery is how the letter got back to this country, not being marked un-claimed, and how it found its way into the street letter box at Louisville. The returns to the Department of Agriculture for the past month show an average condition for the cotton States of 81, being a decline since September 1 of 4. Compared with October, 1877, there is a decline of 9 per cent. Storms of great severity have visited Louisiana and Mississippi, causing great damage. Insect injuries are not reported to any great extent. The condition of the tobacco crop has improved over last month in nine of the large producing States, has de-clined in two, and remained the same in one. Early planted tobacco ripened well, and has been harvested in good condition, showing, in general, excellent quality. Late crops were materially damaged by frost in Ohio, and slightly so in a few localities in Viroriginal manuscript seven years after he wrote it, and when Miss Mays, the
