Local Matters.

WAYNESBURG:

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1866.

TO OUR FRIENDS.—SEND US ALL LOCAL ITEMS OF INTEREST THAT THE FACTS BRIEFLY AND WE WILL PREPARE THEM FOR PUBLICATION. GIVE YOUR NAME AS GUARANTEE.

HALF SHEET.—Yielding to the overwhelming press of job work this week, we have presumed so much on the liberality of our patrons as to issue but a half sheet. This, as it will cost us the latest news of interest, we are compelled to offer as a substitute for the whole.—It is not often that we are so "crushed" and had it not been for the imposition we would like to have suspended entirely and made more of it than we did. However, we will try and be satisfied if our friends are.

Two hundred and twenty bottles of perfumery just received at Hoffman & Roberts' Drug Store.

NOTES FOR NOVEMBER.

At length the slanting chill November rain
Usurps the landscape wide, and with its hand,
Aguish and blue, with penetrating cold,
Closes the slumberous barn, and every door,
Most hospitable, shuts

—T. B. READ'S New Pastoral.

Chill November terminates the operations of the farm and garden in most localities. The joyful harvest has been housed home. Golden grain is all securely garnered. Luscious fruit and delicious vegetables have been gathered in. The beautiful flowers of the field are gone. The birds have flown with their music. The buzzing of the busy bee and the humming of myriads of insects, teeming with life and activity, have ceased. The flocks and herds are being gathered into their winter retreat. The sweet fields and green meadows have laid aside their beauty; the gorgeous robes in which the trees of the field, the groves and the forests, were clad, has been rudely plucked off by the biting frost; and nature, with her yearly task well done, is laying herself down to repose during the reign of winter.

With November, farmers and gardeners prepare for winter; and, on many farms, this is a busy month. Let each one see that cold winter does not seal the ground and cover the fields with drifty snow before all crops have been gathered, and comfortable quarters prepared for domestic animals.

If a person has but one cow or a single horse, or only a score of sheep, let him see to it that they are fed and protected, before he supplies his personal necessities. Our best and most successful farmers, gardeners and others, make it an undeviating rule, in cold and stormy weather, never to sit down to their own food until every animal is well fed and sheltered from the cold and storm.

A cow that yields a bountiful supply of milk in warm weather, if not protected from cold storms by a good shed, must, of necessity, appropriate a liberal proportion of the material that would make milk, to the purpose of maintaining the heat of her body. And so it is with a horse, or with any other domestic animal: if the animal heat is not maintained, in part, by sheds, nature draws largely on the food for that purpose. It is much more economical to keep animals by a shed of boards that will cost $10, than by consuming fat, flesh and feed worth $20 to accomplish the same end.

Lawns and meadows should be top dressed before winter sets in. All decaying substances are now tending downwards into the earth, for which reason it is better to top dress in autumn than in the spring. When bone dust, or raw bone superphosphate, is employed as a top-dressing on lawns, let it be sowed and harrowed in to the soil in late autumn. By the time the next growing season has commenced, the fertilizing matter will have settled down among the grass roots, where it will promote the growth of plants, as soon as spring opens.

Before the ground freezes up, let a little mound of earth be raised around every fruit tree where field mice are liable to gnaw off the bark in winter—This is a certain protection against mice.

During the latter part of the month lay down grape vines, and all kinds of berry bushes that are ever injured by the intense cold of winter. When there is no danger that mice will find a refuge beneath the protection of such things as are covered with straw, it will not be necessary to cover them with earth, but with straw only.

Keep winter apples in cool places until there is no danger of freezing. One of the best ways to manage winter apples is to select the fairest and soundest, late in November, and pack them in barrels, or small boxes, between layers of cut hay, cut straw, or clean chaff.

Let Indian corn be assorted, before the ears are put in the crib, that the soft corn may be spread out on a floor where the grain will cure, so that it may be ground into meal for feeding sheep, or cattle, in the former part of winter.

See that young colts, calves and lambs are not allowed to grow poor in their transit from grass to hay. If animals grow poor in autumn, it is a hard matter to raise them again to their former condition during the foddering season.

Go to Hoffman & Roberts' Drug Store and get a bottle of Zozodont, it will preserve your teeth.

HOW SAD—I pressed her gentle form to me, and whispered in her ear; it when I was far away, for me she did drop a tear: I paused for some cheering words, my throbbing heart to cool and with her rosy lips she said "Oh, go to Guither's you fool," and buy your Dry Goods and Groceries.

READ the advertisements! Nearly every one contains something of interest, perhaps, to those that overlook them. Read, then and see who it is that has lost a horse, what estates are for settlement, who it is that has received the latest and newest styles of merchandise, what new articles, schemes, and enterprises are engaging the public attention generally. Try it, and keep yourself posted always bearing in mind the fact, that the man who advertises liberally deals fairest with the people.

WE have received one or two anonymous communications which we are compelled to lay aside, or violate our rules. Persons writing must send their names.

A SPECIMEN NUMBER—The Phrenological Journal for November contains sketches of the King and Queen of the Belgians, with likenesses; Chief Men among the Mormons, with many excellent portraits and other illustrations; besides Lyceum Lecturers: Dr. J. Fossati, the celebrated French Phrenologist; Public Opinion, Women who Talk; Family Dogs; and a host of other reading suggestive and profitable to all. Price 20 cents, or $2 a year. Address Fowler & Wells, 389 Broadway, New York.

B. F. Babbitt's concentrated Potash, Sold at Hoffman & Roberts' Drug Store.

"HOLLER" Eve.—Last Wednesday night was duly observed by the juvenilies of our place as "Holler" Eve—and "Holler" Eve it was, too, in dead earnest. Troops of urchins, from those "knee high to a duck" up to some "who were old enough to know better," kept from dusk till time when they "ought to have been in bed," made a hideous and pandemonium as would delay the bad notes of Scanlon to equal. No wanton destruction of property occurred that we are aware of, beyond the breaking of a few lights of glass in the Recorder's office, for which our "devil" gave the coolies "the benefit of a cold shower bath." We have such a regard for the "new generation" that we drop the matter, lest we be wrong to say any more of them.

FOUR FOLD Liniment sold at Hoffman & Roberts' Drug Store.

THE WEATHER.—The weather during the last few days has been very variable, now treating us to bright rays of sunshine, anon to copious showers of rain, and again to cold, gusty spells, above all the most disagreeable. Especially are those days last mentioned disagreeable to ladies, whose elegantly arranged toilets—the result of unceasing toil before the mirror—are tossed and tumbled about by the capricious wind with a recklessness that we must say is deserving of the severest censure by the comparative few who delight not in the revelations thus indiscreetly made. The feminine noses that on leaving the parental roof, rejoiced in a beautiful coating of lilly white, or Laird's bloom of youth, are suddenly metamorphized by the chilly air into blood red objects that have a decidedly watery tendency. But enough, the weather is too disagreeable even to deserve the slightest notice.

FACTS IN PIANO HISTORY.

The following interesting facts in regard to the history of the improvement of the Piano, we clip from the New York Evening Post: "To Chickering & Sons the modern piano is indebted for its most important improvements. The entire iron frame was first used by Chickering & Sons, and was exhibited by them at the first great International Exhibition in London, where it created a profound excitement, receiving the first medal ever awarded to an American piano forte manufacturer, and the approval of all the eminent makers of Europe, who afterwards adopted the principle, thus giving rise to the expression 'manufactured after the American plan.'

Chickering & Sons first introduced the elegant scale, from which springs all the present excellence of the American piano.—The adoption of this scale, which the Chickerings generously left unpatented for the benefit of the whole trade, has given to the piano depth, power and beauty of quality of tone; in short, it has opened the way for the splendid qualities which distinguish the piano of to-day from the piano of fifteen years ago.

The application of agraffes and overstringing are of European invention. Agraffs have been used there for thirty, and here for many years. Chickering & Sons have used them in their grand, square and upright pianos for the past twelve years. Over-stringing was used in New York thirty five years ago, by an Englishman named Sarsine, and subsequently in Boston, but it was found of no value to instruments of that day, when the bass was as small and tinkling as the treble; but when the 'scientific scale' came to be developed, giving that magnificent sonority to the lower tones of the square pianos, the length of string afforded to the middle and upper notes by overstringing became of manifest advantage, and was speedily adopted by all the trade, it being a good thing, and the special property of no one. The principle became popularly known in London in 1851, when over strung Russian pianos were exhibited at the great International Fair. Thus the 'Scientific scale' of Chickering & Sons made the over stringing of value; and to that, and nothing else, is traceable the present acknowledged superiority of the American square pianos.'

Persons desirous of seeing the Chickering Pianos, with all the latest improvements, can do so by calling at the rooms of Meeker & Co., 81 Wood street, the exclusive agents for these renowned instruments.—Pittsburg Commercial.

SPECIAL NOTICES

SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC.

This medicine, invented by Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, is intended to dissolve the acid and mucous which is the first process of digestion. By cleansing the stomach with Schenck's Mandrake Pills, the Tonic soon restores the appetite, and food then could not be eaten before using it will be easily digested.

Consumption cannot be cured by Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup unless the stomach and liver is made healthy and the appetite restored, hence the Tonic and Pills are required in nearly every case of consumption. A half dozen bottles of the SEAWEED TONIC and three or four boxes of the MANDRAKE PILLS will cure any ordinary case of dyspepsia.

Dr. Schenck makes professional visits in New York, Boston, and at his principal Office in Philadelphia every week. See daily papers of each place, or his pamphlet on consumption for his dates for visitation.

Please observe, when purchasing, that the two likenesses of the Doctor, one when in the last stage of Consumption, and the other as he now is, in perfect health, are on the Government stamp.

Sold by all Druggists and Dealers, price $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 for the half dozen. All letters for advice should be addressed to Dr. Schenck's Principal Office, No. 15 North 6th Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

DUPLEX ELLIPTIC

(OR DOUBLE SPRING)

SKIRT.

The Wonderful Flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any lady wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt will be experienced particularly in all crowded assemblies, operas, carriages, railroad cars, church pews, arm chairs, for promenade and house dress, as the skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a Silk or Muslin Dress, an invaluable quality in crinoline, not found in any Single Spring Skirt.

A lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort and great convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Steel Spring Skirt for a single day, will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For Children, Misses and Young Ladies they are superior to all others.

They will not bend or break like the single spring, but will preserve their perfect and graceful shape when three or four ordinary skirts will have been thrown aside as useless. The hoops are covered with double and twisted the set, and the bottom rods are not only double springs, but twice (or double) covered; preventing them from wearing on when dragging down stoops, stair, &c.

The Duplex Elliptic is a great favorite with all ladies and is universally recommended in the Fashion Magazines as the standard skirt of the fashionable world.

To enjoy the following institutable advantages in Crinoline, viz: superior quality, perfect manufacture, stylish shape and finish, durability, durability, comfort and economy, engage for J. W. BRADLEY'S Duplex Elliptic, or Double Spring Skirt, and be sure you get the genuine article.

CAUTION.—To guard against imposition be particular to NOTICE that skirts offered as "DUPLEX" have the red ink stamp, viz: "J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic Steel Springs," upon the waistband—none others are genuine. Also Notice that every Hoop will admit a pin being passed through the centre, thus revealing the two (or double) springs braided together therein, which is the secret of their flexibility and strength and a combination not to be found in any other Skirt.

For sale in all stores where first class skirts are sold throughout the United States and elsewhere.
