-It is amazing on what slight grounds some people base their expectations of what they hope will turn out to be true. The New York Sun, for instance makes the remark that "the statement of so high an authority as Col. Alexander McClure that Republicans are generally complaining of the waste of the public Gen. Grant, is a striking indication that Grant is not so very popular in his own party." Quoting Alexander McClure as "high authority" among Republicans will flatter neither him do so except for its expressed "hope to see this tide of disapprobation swell." the Republican party and the country the infliction upon them of Grant as a candidate. The Sun may with propricty, we think, retire from a contest in which it stands little chance of ultimate success,-that of opposing Grant's nomination. That seems to be almost that he possesses a hold upon the popular heart never enjoyed by any Washington, and irespective of polities, would bring with him in case of a foregone conclusion. He has proven cold air, and heated to 70°, two quarts ex President, perhaps, since the day of have to warm-air heaters have arisen his election a sense of assuned political peace and quietude, which is is possible for no other man, of any party, to produce. His nomination would that of no other could, while thousands of Democrats would not object even by their votes to seeing him again made President. The cry of intended Caserism. Imperialism and that the election of Grant would be a step toward turning the government into a monarchy is all foolishness, There is already a tendency in that direction, however remote and carefully concealed it may be among some of the leaders of the Republican party, and we believe that while Grant would remain in office he would frown

Dampen the Air Now.

[Am, Agriculturist for Jan.] We can hadly too often suggest the importance of providing ample moisture in all rooms heated by stoves, furnaces, steam pipes or bot water pipes. There are sound scientific reasons for this, as well as in the results of practical experience. As money in the entertainments given stated in "Short notes on Air" above, every degree of heat added to the atmosphere in a room gives it a power of absorbing and secreting moisture. The air in a room 20 by 20 feet and 10 feet high, at 32°, holds, secrets, about 11 them. The Sun would not probably nor pints of water. The same air heated to 70°, secrets upwards of two quarts of water, and unless this is supplied, It thinks that if it did it might save it is hungry for more water, absorbs it from every accessible source, from the furniture, from our bodies, and especially from the breathing organsthe mouth, throat, and lungs leaving them dry and husky. Therefore, every time the air in the room is changed by the admission of fresh, of water should be evaporated into the room. The strong objections some mainly from this cause. In using furnace heaters we always put into the hot air chamber extra water-pans besides any that are supplied by the manufacturers, and take good care to always have them filled with water. In stove-heated rooms there should usually be an evaporating surface of water equal to one square foot for every 12 feet square of flooring, and more if the water is not on a hot place enough to keep it rapidly evaporating. Plants in a room are mainly destroyed, or have a sickly growth, because the warm air becomes too dry and sucks out the very juices of the plants. The 'house plants"-"olive" or otherwise -suffer similarly. In a warm room. a large towel frequently wet and wrung so as not to drip, and hung over a chair back near the stove, will

I was aware of the word-wide reputation of this eminent firm, for the character and quality of their goods, and remember well their agents in London, Messrs. Newberry, in St. Paul's Churchyard. Having a leisure | Celia Miller hour, I determined to examine the contents of this case, myself, and I was surprised to see the delicate perfection to which they have brought their household remedies. I was chagrined at the reflection that, while we have at home the most skiiful and, pre-eminently, the best physicians in system is running down or going into the world, these Yankee doctors disdecline; cures Female Weakness and lance us so far in the line of popular Townie Cole Chronic Rhemastism, and relieves medicines for family use. They have high scientific discoveries among us and make pills and potions as palatable as they are salutary. I was told by a leading druggist in Philadelphia. Honey will relieve any cough in one that Dr. Ayer's manufactory was the largest in America, giving employment to hundreds. I must go to Lowell and see it on my way home .-Correspondence of the London (Eng.) Telegraph.

DEATH IN THE JAIL.-For several weeks Sarah Grey, a young woman of seventeen or eighteen years of age, the mother of a child about three months old, has been confined in the county jail, and at the recent term of court was convicted of fornication, but the Judge taking pity upon her owing to her helpless condition, ordered that she be dismissed and sent to her home in Knox township. This privilege she did not take advantage of but remained with the jailor, Mr. L. C. Smith, helping to do the work of the family. Last Sunday morning, at about five o'clock, she rapped at Mr. Smith's door and asked to come in, saying that her baby was dead. She was admitted and Mr. Smith summoned a physician, but it was too late, death having already taken place, caused no doubt by strangulation, done accidentally by the mother in her anxlety to make it comfortable. The Sheriff provided a coffin for the corpse and it was decently interred in the old grave yard on Sunday evening. The mother, we understand, is an illiterate creature has not a particle of education and is the victim of some scoundrel who should have languished in prison in her stead. Hers is a case that calls for sympathy, but we are afraid that it will be given in such particles as to be entirely valueless, even professing christians wrapping themselves up in self-righteousness so closely that charity cannot find its way out to such poor creatures as her, who is hardly capable of a proper appreciation of her pitible condition. - Brookville Republican.

-An Erle county colored gentleman stole a hog recently, which he killed. A string was tied around its legs, and the animal thrown around his neck. While crossing a fence with the stolen property, he slipped, the hog going on one side, the darky on the other, breaking his (Sambo's) neck causing instant death. This is evidence conclusive that it is wrong to steal.

-About four o'clock Monday morn-100 100 98 89 97 ing an explosion occurred in the Painterstown coal mine, near Irwin's Station, on the Pensylvania railroad some sixteen miles east of Pittsburg. Samuel Kistler, a married man, and Michael Kessler, who leaves a wife and four children, were instantly killed. Chris. Fry was seriously burned, This is the first explosion which has ever occurred in these mines, and it is intimated that it was caused by foul 100 .00 100 42 98 play, which could have been produced by reversing a trap or draft door thus shutting off air from the working entries. If the explosion had occurred an hour later sixty men would have been in the mine.

-Eli Vasbinder, Been Smith, Jao. Clark and Robert Steward, the hunters who left Brookville last October for the purpose of hunting in the Michigan forests, returned home last week. They say deer are exceedingly plenty in that locality, and, although this was a very poor season for the business, they succeeded in bagging forty-one. This was done by three of them, the other party failing to make even one bite the dust. They say they are confident fully twenty-five more were killed, which they failed to capture, on account of not having either dog or snow. They report a very pleasant trip.—Brookville Democrat.

-Pittsburgh, December 28,-The indications are that Alleghany county will be able to effect a very satisfactory compromise on the railroad riot losses, A consultation was held yesterday morning between representatives of the Pennsylvania railroad company, the county authorities, and a number 92 100 100 72 91 of prominent citizens. -On Christmas Eve, during a ball at the Shiffler Hose-house Lancaster Pa., a fight occurred, in which George Groff, aged 23 years, was struck on the head with a blackjack. Little attention was paid to the matter at the time, but at 5 o'clock on Christmas morning Adam Groff, living in the vicinity of the hose-house, was awakened by knocking at his door, and. responding to the summons, he went down and found his injured brother sitting on the step. He helped him in, and soon after sent for a physicion who did all he could to relieve the sufferer. The latter remained unconscious from that time untill ten o'clock this morning, when he died. SOME OF THE TRICKS RESORTED TO BY SWINDLESS-THE REVOLVER DODGE AND THE SOLARAGRAPH

Many schemes are resorted to by swindlers to cheat people though the agency of the mails, and among the eleverest recently discovered was that known as the revolver dodge. A firm pretended to send "good revolvers" to each purchaser resultting $3. The goods were purchased from a firm in New York, and thousands of revolvers were sent out through the mails, After a time, however-and when the business had become very extensivethe sending of revolvers suddenly ceased. The proprietors of the establishment then confined their attention solely to the receipt and division among themselves of the remittances which were coming in great numbers.

This, of course could not go on forever and one morning the proprietors all decamped. They, however, left written orders with an agent for the receipt of their mails from the postoffice, and private instructions to deliver the enclosures to the wife of one of the proprietors.

A day or two later the proprietor of the New York establishment from whom the revolvers had been pur chased, and who seems also to have been a victim of the swindle, appeared ipon the scene and took possession of dl he could lay his hands on, as satisaction for his debt. He seems to have attempted to make himself whole by continuing the business of sending recolvers in return for remittances reeived, but he declined to fill the orders which had been received pre-

A sample "solargraph watch" is found among the papers dealing with the subject. The "neat metallic case" is of the value and general appearance of a small blacking box. The "neat chain" is of the kind found by lucky ourchasers of penny prize candy. The nternal "works" of the "wateh" condst of a paper dial and a tiny magnetic needle. The whole arrangment may have cost five cents The "unparalleled offer" of the Bristol piano company is such a manifest humbag that it is a marvel that anyone should have been duped by it. The sitions to offer. It is probably that a significant condition is appended that public meeting will be held at an early the persons sending the list shall enase $2.25 "to cover expenses of box fully discussed and recommended for ing. packing, etc." Of course the whole affair was a barefaced swindle.

AWFUL ACCIDENT.-Mrs. Elizabeth Hill, of this borough, was burned to death on Thursday night, December 19th, under the following painful circumstances: Her husband, having returned home about 12 o'clock, retired to bed, and Mrs. Hill, finding the oil in the lantern very low, proeceded to fill it. By some means the oil was spift and her clothes caught fire. Hearing her wild screams, Mr. Hill jumped up from his bed and seized his wife, took her out on the back porch, where he stripped her of the burning garments, and then assisted her to bed. The unfortunate woman died the next morning from her injuries. - Houtzdate News. A TERRIBLE FALL.-A young married man named George Richards, residing in the "block-house," in West Clearfield, near the lower bridge, and who was employed as a carpenter at the new tannery buildings, met with an unfortunate and rather seri ous mishap on Tuesday forenoon of last week. He was working at the roof of one of the buildings when he accidentally fell to the frozen ground below, a distance of about thirty feet, alighting on his head and shoulders. Both of his arms were severely fractured and he was hurt internally, having had several hemorrhages. He was immediately carried to his home, where a physician gave his injuries the necessary attention, and his recovery is probable, although the result of the accident cannot yet be determined.—Clearfield Republican.
