Sam'l Pauling of Pauling, is clerking for G. Alfred Schoch.

The lawns are beginning to look beautiful in their green dress.

The next eclipse of the moon will be at midnight on the 22nd of July.

MRS. Daniel Reber of near Mifflinburg last week fell down a flight of stairs and broke her ankle.

Henry Moyer, of Jackson township fell from a ladder on Saturday and broke his shoulder blade.

This is the time of year when a man is apt to go to sleep during the sermon and dream of going a fishing.

Last week's gun club's score stood: John Francis 12, M. Z. Steininger 10, J. F. Stetler 9. H. H. Grimm, 8.

Howard Walter has returned from Lycoming county where he had been employed in an exchange stable.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Penny of Lewisburg were the guests of the editor and wife over Sunday.

The reason so many do not succeed in life is because they went to be rich at the starting point.

The Holy Communion will be observed in the Evangelical Lutheran church at Beavertown, Pa., on Sabbeth, 20th.

MRS. James Bickhart of Penns Creek left Tuesday for St. Louis to join her husband who is employed in a flour mill in that city.

Spring gardens and spring chickens don't grow well together. If the experiment is tried, the garden crop will grow into the chicken's crop.

PLASTER.—W. B. Winey has just received a car load of plaster which he will furnish at $9.00 per ton in grain bags.

D. Bolender's ware-house and coal yard was not sold at the public sale on Saturday. The price asked is $1,000 and the highest bid was $800.

Mr. and Mrs. Hebebrand have bidden their friends farewell and gone to their home in Cleveland, Ohio. They left on the 2:50 mail Monday afternoon.

W. I. Garman, the shoe man, will from this on accept all kinds of country produce in exchange for goods. He will always pay the highest price for it and allow full cash value.

The elements seem to be at issue with each other again and right here in the middle of May we find ourselves shivering under an over-coat and hugging coal fire. Let the congregation sing "December's as pleasant as May."

LECTURE.—Rev. A. H. Spangler will deliver a lecture in the Evangelical Lutheran Church at Beavertown on Thursday evening June 7, on the subject of "Strange People." Admission, Adults 25 cents, Children 15 cents. All invited. td.

An entertainment will be given by the students of the Preparitory Department of Central Pennsylvania College in the College Chapel, New Berlin, Pa., Saturday evening, May 26, ot 7½ o'clock. All are invited to be present.

The corner-stone laying at Manbeck's church will take place next Sunday, May 20th insted of "May 30," as stated in last week's paper but corrected this week. Revs. Aurand and Remer will assist Rev. Young, pastor.

Jacob Frock of Pleasant Point, (Battletown) Union county, met with a frightful accident on Saturday. He was engaged in felling trees when one of them struck him, crushing one of his legs and pinning him to the ground until his companions sawed off the section that rested on him.

W. R. Penny of Lewisburg, Superintendent Herman and the editor of the POST paid a second visit to Swift Run last Saturday and returned with sixty trout, all told. This small catch convinces us that the stream is about fished out and unless restocked from year to year, Swift Run will loose its record as a "Paradise for anglers.

Wm. Moyer of Freeburg placed a beautiful monument over the grave of John B, son of John W. Reininger, in our cemetery on Tuesday. He also placed two tablets over the graves of Martin Bowersox' children at Hassers, and one over the grave of Steiming. They are all of beautiful and appropriate designs and [illegible]

RYE.—The undersigned will commence to manufacture pure Rye Whiskey at the Shade Mountain Distillery about the 20th of April, when he will need 500 bushels of Rye, for which he will pay the highest cash price or take it in exchange for whiskey.

tf. D. K. HAAS.

The communion services at the Lutheran Church on Sunday morning was largely attended and one hundred and thirty-eight communed—the largest number for years. The church is in a healthy state and is constantly increasing in numbers under the ministration of Rev. Orwig. It seems that the inevitable is a new church, and our people had just as well wake up their mind to it and avoid an embarrasing delay.

CORNER-STONE LAYING.—The corner-stone of the Evangelical Church at Manbeck's will be laid, God willing, on the 20th. The services will be as follows: Saturday evening, English preaching; Sunday 9:30, A. M. a German, and an English, discourse. Sunday 3, P. M. English sermon. Eminent ministers will be present to officiate on the occasion. All are cordially invited.

N. YOUNG, Pastor.

D. D. Hess & Son's Fertilizers are slowly but shurely growing into popularity and our farmers are united in their opinion as to its superior qualities. Hess' Fertilizers contain the life and essence of Animal Bone, Blood, Muriate of Potash and other valuable ingredients. It contains the required substances that are adapted to every variety of crop orsoil It is permanent in its effects, produces large crops and leaves the soil better than when applied.

Miss Eva Schoch of Selinsgrove spent Saturday and Sunday with friends in Middleburgh and on Saturday evening gave a delightful exhibition of the wonderful musical talents before a social circle at the residence of Jere Crouse, with Prof. Paul Billhart as pianist. On Sunday morning she rendered the beautiful sacred solo, "Ashamed of Jesus" in the Lutheran Church. Miss Schoch is a skillful performer on the piano, a ready reader, and one of the very finest soloists in Central Pennsylvania.

Hon. Mortimer Whitehead, Worthy Lecturer of the National Grange, will deliver a series of lectures in Snyder county on topics interesting to farmers, as follows; At Bower's School House, Franklin township, near Middleburgh, on Monday, May 21st, at 2 o'clock P. M., same day at 7:30 in Boyer's Hall, Freeburg; Salem church, May 22 at 2 o'clok P. M., and at Shriner's church, Chestnut Ridge at 7:30 P. M. Hon. Whitehead is acknowledged to be one of the most brilliant speakars on Farm Topics. His power for presenting his views on any subject is beyond rival. All who come out to hear him on these dates will be amply repaid. His lectures are not only interesting but also amusing and instsuctive. All are invited to attend. See posters.

A case of rewarded charity came to our notice this week. A few weeks ago a young German came to Middleburgh and applied to Prof. Billhart for assistance. The young man introduced himself as a fresco painter, out of work and out of funds. He was an honest-appearing, intelligent-looking young fellow and Mr. Billhart advanced him enough money to pay his way to Shamokin. He had heard nothing of him until Tuesday when the young stranger re-appeared—but in a different garb and under different circumstances. He reported that he had made his way to Shamokin where he had been recommended to the kind consideration of Maj. Hamilton, lessee of Thomas Gellespie's Hotel. The young man stated his circumstances to the Major and he referred him to the owner of the House, who requested the young German to make a design for frescoing one of the rooms, which he did and it was so strikingly appropriate that he at once employed him to fresco every room in the House—a job which brought him $300 in solid cash over and above all expenses. He came here Tuesday, paid back the borrowed money with interest and gave the Professor an old-fashioned "gesellegkeit."

WEST BEAVER.—Lewis Manbeck has his house up and under roof and will be completed in a short time. John Hommel is the contractor.

Aaron Howell and brother will buy and ship a lot of bark from McClure this spring.

Any person who wish a variety of beans can have a small planting by calling on our land lord at McClure.

C. M. Middleswarth is getting over an attack of sore eyes, which seem to be making the rounds in this end of the county.

W. M. Brannen of Lewistown was in West Beaver last week, and made a general sweep among the potatoes, seventy-five cents being the price paid.

W. J. Steeley left a few days ago for Idaho, where he expects to stay during the summer months.

Your Bannerville correspondent didn't have his compass with him when he estimated the potato acreage of West Beaver at 300. I think 400 acres would have come nearer the mark.

Saturday last your humble servant took dinner with Henry Houser and while there was shown a fine lotof Black Spanish chickens. Henry is always on the improve.

Judging by appearance W. G. Wagner has his share of trade in West Beaver.

Troxel's saw mill was last week moved in L. J. Romig's woods where he intends cutting out the oak timber.

Dubert brings the finest shingles to this place that have been here yet. [illegible]

Musical College and Pennsylvania Normal Music School at Freeburg, has opened the 33rd session with a flattering attendence of students from principal towns of ten counties. The summer session will begin July 30, '88. For particulars address

NEWARK, N. J., May 12, 1888.

MR. EDITOR.—It affords me pleasure to introduce to you the Newarker who was formerly known as a Middleburger. He will endeavor to give a brief description of his new home.

The city of Newark is situated on the Passaic River, which is navigable for a number of miles and regulates the climate; but in the line of business it is situated about halfway; yet there is always a wave of busines back and forth which moistens it so as to make it grow—and it certainly does grow. If Middleburgh had but five per cent. of the energy these cities have it would undoubtedly be a city, too, inside of ten years.

The city is healthy—if you keep away from the gas factories and beer saloons. In summer it is quite warm, and the mosquitoes are plentiful as I hear it said—and in which I will soon have an experience—and in winter it is quite cold, but at present it is "just lovely," especially to be out on the river in a little yacht on a moon-light night with your best girl.

Newark has a population of about 160,000 inhabitants, and among these you will find foreigners of almost every nation—generally off-scourings—though occasionally you find among them very intelligent and valuable citizens.

The city is well supplied with educational institutions of which Coleman's National Business College is one of them. This College is such an institution that will make a man or woman understand business before graduation, it matters not what length of time it requires. There are about one hundred students in attendance now who study type-writing, short-hand, etc., but the majority take the business course.

Send me the POST to No. 38 Fulton Street until otherwise ordered.

A. C. SPANGLER.

CENTREVILLE.—Thursday, Ascension Day was spent by a great many along Penns Creek fishing. They have a peculiar superstition here that every body must go a fishing on that day. From whence it comes or what was its origin nobody pretends to explain. The young folks only know that it is so, and they follow the rule, and it matters not if they don't get the ghost of a nibble, they are carrying out the unwritten law and keeping up with the superstitious procession.

J. E. Mohn and wife visited relatives in Fremont last week.

A handsome monument was placed on the grave of Mr. and Mrs. George Herman in the Union Cemetery last week by the heirs of the said deceased. The monument is the workmanship of R. H. Lance of Mifflinburg and is a neat and tasty job of work. It is 8 feet high and cost $110.

J. M. Hartman was registered in Williamsport a day or two last week.

Mrs. H. C. Sampsel is visiting relatives and friends in Montoursville, her native home.

Communion services were held in the Reformed church on Sunday. Rev. T. R. Dietz officiating.

Capt. J. D. Kise of Philadelphia Sundayed here.

Dr. D. N. Sampsel of Winfield made a short visit to his friends here on Sunday.

Centreville like all small villages has its share of gossipers who must be continually giving some one the length of their tongues.

J. K. Snyder, 'alias Muckle' the vateran sawyer of Spring Mills, Sundayed with his family here.

Uriah Weirick and S. F. Sheary paid Winfield a business visit on Monday.

TROXELVILLE.—The five rainy days last week belated some corn planting in this neck o' woods, although most of our farmers were through before.

If blossoms tell the truth we will have more fruit this year than we ever had.

Our wheatfields have improved amazingly during the last few weeks, and we now have fair prospects for a good crop.

Saturday after-noon "mule-whacker John" came home drenched to the skin—which is now almost bronzed.

On Saturdry last "Trapper Jim" caught 11 trout that averaged 11 in. by actual guessment. Let's see, "leven leven's leventy-leven." Gee, whiz! What a lie!

Well, Tom, the trout came at last. Better late than never.

To-day (Monday) a week ago, Jacob Bingman left for a tour through some of the Western States. He will go as far as Kansas. Hope he will have a pleasant journey and safe return.

Miss S. Jane Good left for Ohio, where she intends to remain for some time. Jane is a fair sample of our beautiful girls, and we are all sorry to loose her.

Geo. Krebbs and Miss Sarah Knaus were joined in matrimony on the 6th inst., and on Tuesday started on their honey-moon trip to North'd county.

Howard Troxel has employed another teamster in the person of Hardy Ulsh. It suits Hardy first rate as it brings him a little nearer his sweetheart.

The first pic-nic is not yet announced, but it won't be long a-comin'.

Goss & Greenhoe intend painting their large store house which they purchased of the Myers estate.

J. E. Fetterolf has his new house ready for the roof.

A. H. Swartz has the plastorers at his new house.

Miss Ida Eisenhower of Kansas is here on a visit—the guest of her uncle, Jacob Nehrhood.

This the season that the crow and the old hen join claws in raising Cain in the corn-fields.

FOR SALE.—A house and lot in the town of Franklin, about twelve rods from the Middleburgh station, it is the property of Benjamin Wittenmyer, dec'd. For particulars inquire or address
