Endorsement of the American Legion's program for relief to disabled ... which was adopted by the investigating committee, named by President Harding, was voted at the regular meeting of the Maine legislature. A memorial resolution was passed requesting Congress to adopt the Legion's legislative recommendations.

After it was announced that there were 3,000 former service men in Los Angeles, Cal., out of work and that an average of 500 men apply for employment to the American Legion headquarters there daily, the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association of that city decided that it was time to act. A campaign of relief has been started and the funds will be administered by the chairman of the American Legion Interpost Council.
