-Here's Just the Suit You Need- at a Price You'll Be Willing to Pay

PART of the joy of the day is in being properly and comfortably dressed. New scenes and new faces are wonderfully invigorating, and a new Suit adds much to the day's pleasure. Just now we hold the unique position of being able to show many unusual values in Spring and Summer Suits. These values are particularly proven in the ones we are offering now at

$25—$30—$35

Tweeds, Checks, Garderdines, Herringbones Serges and Cheviots in all the new colors and weaves.

Four Styles in Men's White Cheviot Shirts at $1.85

Three styles have soft collars, one with cuffs, another with wristbands and the other with button down collar and wristbands. The fourth has a neck band and turn back cuffs.

Cheviot takes well to the frequent launderings and is comfortable for summer wear.

at from
$4.50 to $8.00

A Remarkable Selling of Women's Pumps and Shoes at $1 Pair

Other Items of Unusual Interest for Women and Children

This is an odd group of patent colt pumps and black kid shoes that ordinarily would sell for three or four times this amount. To clear them entirely this particularly special price is put upon them. Styles are various. Sizes range from 2½ to 7. Very special, $1 pair as long as the supply lasts.

BIDS WANTED

Sealed proposals will be received by the school district of Clearfield Township for the erection of a one-story frame building to be erected at the Nagle school.

All bids must be accompanied with a certified check of $50.00, payable to the secretary of the Clearfield Township school district. Bids must be in the hands of the Secretary, F. G. Weakland, Dysart, R. D., on or before Saturday, June 10th, at noon.

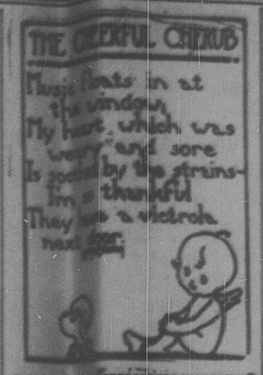
Plans and specifications can be seen at the home of the Secretary, F. G. Weakland, at St. Augustine, Pa. The School District has the right to reject any or all bids.

By order of the Clearfield Township School Board,

F. G. WEAKLAND,
Secretary.

The old building and foundation will be sold immediately after bids are let to the lowest bidder.

"Doggone it!" growled Spiffins. "That's the last time I lend Jencks my fountain pen!" "What's he done, busted it?" "No, but he's got the darned thing into the habit of signing promissory notes!"—Richmond Times-Dispatch.



THE WOODS

BY DOUGLAS MALLOCH

SUNRISE.

SOME days run to sunsets,
Some days run to noon,
Some days like the evenin' best,
With stars an' moon.
Seems my be party,
Seems fair to see,
But the mornin' I like most—
Some time for me!

Some days like at twilight
Just set an' dream
Of the day that's dyin' there
In crimson gleam.
What's the use of cryin'
For the day's mistakes?—
I'm lookin' for the time
When the sunrise breaks!

An', if at the mornin's,
All the days an' years,
Before mornin' that I ask,
Bring no only tears—
When life is over,
When my soul awakes,
I'll be lookin' to the east
When the sunrise breaks!

—O—

Old Blue Laws.

It is set down in New England that "blue laws" have prevailed. They were a part of the Calvinist religion, until one of religion was forced, in a measure, compromise with the times. In Conn., in the Eighteenth century, people had to rise at five o'clock in summer and six in winter, under penalty of a fine; they were allowed two meals at their tables; and no more than one fire was allowed in a room.

Wanted for Dogwood.

Shoe factories and other manufacturing plants use more than seven and one-half million feet of dogwood annually in this country.

Favorite Dish.

"No wonder men go into politics," ventured Miss Malloch; "men are such brutes devoid of sentiment. The other night I asked Will, in my sweetest way, what his favorite dish was, and he said, 'The ash-tray.'"
