North Cambrians Told Of Methods To Attract Industry

Successful methods in attracting new industry were outlined at a meeting of some 40 business and professional men of several Northern Cambria towns Thursday evening of last week in the social rooms of St. Benedict's Catholic Church, Carrolltown.

The session was sponsored by the Northern Cambria Opportunity Center, an organization which for the past several years has been endeavoring to entice new industries into this section.

Guest speaker was G. Stanley Ruth, executive director of the Altoona Chamber of Commerce, who explained procedures adopted by Altoona businessmen which were successful in pulling new industry into that area.

He stressed the importance of compiling a complete brochure of advantages of the North Cambria district and of checking into all "leads" toward establishing other industries here.

Mr. Ruth also pointed to the advantages of hiring a full-time director to keep in touch with the potential new industries and to put into action plans of the committee.

A discussion from the floor dwelt on methods of financing the employment of such a promotion man, and of gathering all necessary data.

A suggestion also was made that the nearby Coalport-Irvona district be included in the organization.

Norman Nolan of Barnesboro, chairman of the industrial unit, presided. Ralph Hegner of Carrolltown, secretary, informed the meeting of progress made during the past year.

Dumping of Refuse In Watershed Area Punishable By Fine

Dumping of garbage, ashes and other refuse anywhere in Patton Borough or in its watershed may result in a stiff fine.

This was the word this week from Patton Council following complaints at a meeting Friday evening.

A special warning is issued for dumping in the "Klondike" section, both in and out of the borough.

Officials point out that although the section known as Klondike may be out of the borough, it is still in the Patton Borough watershed district, a fact that gives the borough jurisdiction over this area insofar as dumping refuse is concerned.

An investigation is being made of this section by borough and state health officials, and any evidence which is found that may be useful in establishing the identity of persons dumping refuse will be used in prosecution proceedings.
