THAT WONDERFUL FIND.

Assuming that a gigantic skeleton was recently found up in Shohola with bowls, knives, axes and other paraphernalia surrounding it, and a stone tablet bearing a lot of undecipherable hieroglyphics—and it must be so because it was in the newspapers—it is a wonder that some savant has not been called on to read the inscription and give an opinion as to the historical value of the find. It might throw light on the early settlement of that township by the Dutch. However, we are inclined to doubt the authenticity of the discovery. This may be shocking to the veracious gentleman who carefully concocted the details but we think a more plausible explanation of the find is that it was a quasi petrifaction or paralyzation. The discoverers were likely more or less disturbed and agitated by the sitting apparition and perhaps did not fully note the dress and accoutrements. Might it not have been some last summer's excursionist who, after partaking freely of the invigorating rice productions with which Shohola Glen is said to abound, wandered away to sleep off the cheerful effects. Naturally he would have a pipe and perhaps to fortify himself still further would take a few bottles and a bowl and possibly a German newspaper. The case of Rip Van Winkle is in point, only he was not found; he came to of himself. Had there been in those days prying hunters digging a foundation for a hut they might have surprised him and themselves by a discovery. Probably the Shohola explorers were bearing burdens of their own. The ascent of the hill may have been difficult to them, especially if they had visited some of the saloons in the vicinity. They were clawing their way up when the surprise came. They took a hasty glance, beat a retreat, wrote the thing up and there you have it. Now let some Shoholaite write a play about it, give it to a second Joe Jefferson and so make the county really famous.

DIRECTORS DIRECTING.

Elsewhere appears an article from the New York Tribune calling attention to the careless manner in which some accept positions of trust and the indifference shown in fulfilling the obligations assumed by such acceptance.

This is, indeed, no light matter. Small stockholders are not eligible to directorships and must entrust their interests to others. Generally those acting as directors are, in case of loss, fully able to bear it without deprivation or difficulty while to the small stockholder it may mean financia ruin or sweep away the accumulations of years and cause great distress. If persons accept the position of directors in a financial institution they should as a bounden duty to all interested know the situation and be conversant with its affairs. If they fail in this they are derelict in duty.

Every one should procure and read the message of President Roosevelt to congress. It is a statesmanlike presentation of his views and in general meets the approbation of people of different political faiths.

AGAINST THE GOVERNMENT.

The United States supreme court has decided a test case against the government and holds that the Philippines are United States territory and have been such since they ceased to be a foreign country and that this condition went into effect when the islands ceased to be Spanish; that goods coming from the island are not dutiable under the present law; that this decision must stand until congress under its constitutional rights enacts such legislation as will bring the Philippines under the cloak of the customs laws.

There is talk now that the state convention to nominate a governor may be held in March. This it is surmised, if done, will be to frustrate opposition to the slated candidate, whoever he may prove to be, by preventing organization on the part of the anti-machine men. There is no real occasion for holding the convention thus early and those who advocate it should remember that the people vote in November and thus have the last say. Better do things in the usual orderly way. It will be best for the party in the long run.

The voters of Sussex county at the late election declared by a decisive majority in favor of the Roe free fishing and park law but, curiously enough, two of the three commissioners appointed to carry its provisions in effect were decided opponents of the bill. They are John A. McBride and Luther Hill. This would look to people outside like a travesty on propriety.

The New York Tribune Farmer, which has succeeded the weekly, is a bright, up-to-date, profusely illustrated paper for the farmer and every member of his family. It is good reading, instructive and helpful in many ways and will be a great addition to your fireside the coming winter. Notice the combination offer and send in your subscriptions now.

The town council has procured tile pipe to lay down on Harford street at Fourth. This is a proper move and one that should be followed by the laying of such pipe at all street crossings where culverts are necessary and at other points where the water is liable to damage sidewalks or streets.

HOME AND CHILD

Does your horse "feel his oats"? What a difference between the grain-fed and the grass-fed horse! The first strong and full of ginger, the second flabby, weak and tired out before he begins. The feeding makes the difference.

Children are not alike either. One is rosy, bright-eyed, full of life and laughter, another is pale, weak and dull. The feeding again is responsible.

Sickly children need special feeding. They don't "feel their oats". Scott's Emulsion adds just the right richness to their diet. It is like grain to the horse. The child gets new appetite and strong digestion.

Scott's Emulsion is more than food. It is a strong medicine. It rouses up dull children, puts new flesh on thin ones and red blood into pale ones. It makes children grow. Scott's Emulsion makes ordinary food do its duty.

This picture represents the Trade Mark of Scott's Emulsion and is on the wrapper of every bottle.

All Stuffed Up

That's the condition of many sufferers from catarrh, especially in the morning. Great difficulty is experienced in clearing the head and throat.

No wonder catarrh causes headache, impairs the taste, smell and hearing, pollutes the breath, deranges the stomach and affects the appetite.

To cure catarrh, treatment must be constitutional—alterative and tonic.

"I was afflicted with catarrh. I took medicines of different kinds, giving each a fair trial; but gradually grew worse until I could hardly hear, taste or smell. I then concluded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after taking five bottles I was cured and have not had any return of the disease since." EUGENE FORBES, Lebanon, Kan.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Cures catarrh—it soothes and strengthens the mucous membrane and builds up the whole system.

THE CHURCH COLUMN

(By REV. C. E. SCUDDER.)

The service next Sabbath morning will be a communion service. There will be a baptismal service in connection with it, and also the reception of any who desire to unite with us. The church is the home of those who love God and are devoutly seeking to lead a Christian life. The church doors are wide open to the sincere. Let those who desire to be hypocrites stay out till they are better minded.

The evening topic is "Asleep in Sin" There is a sleep that is refreshing and there is a sleep that is produced by drugs that leaves the body weak. Is there not the drug of sin that has brought upon the people of the world a moral sleep from which in is all but impossible to arouse the sleeper?

This week closes the revival services for the present. Next week being institute week it is impossible to continue them. It is our purpose and hope that the revival spirit may continue to burn on the altars of the church and that the unsaved may continue to give reverent attention to the question of personal salvation till many more shall find their way to the possession of a genuine Christian life.

The Christmas season will soon be here and with it will come much work and a great deal of happiness. We are at work as usual and hope to have a Christmas of unusual interest. It is a joyous season; let us all rejoice together.

The winter has come. We love the winter season. The snow so pure and white is suggestive of that other purity without which no man can see the end of this life in peace, and the protection that the snow gives to the earth is suggestive of that protection that the Creator gives to every creature. We hope for a season of good sleighing for both pleasure and profit.

Hemorrhoids, or piles, whether protruding, internal, bleeding, itching or blind, can be effectually, quickly and painlessly removed without surgery by using the greatest discovery of the century for the cure of this painful malady. We refer to Dr. A. B. Clark's Pile Remedy, now purchasable for the first time through the Sole Agents, the Clark Medical Co., Pittsburgh, Pa., and costing for a complete treatment only One dollar by mail postage paid. So convinced is the doctor of the efficacy of his remedy in removing forever every vestige of this dread disease that he has instructed his agents to refund the price paid in every case of failure. This gives the public a much needed protection as against certain remedies that have nothing to recommend them except price. A treatise on Hemorrhoids mailed to readers of this paper. 3
