GRAND LODGE HALL TO BE DEDICATED JUNE 5

The Building, Which is the Finest of Its Kind in the State, Was Erected at a Cost of $425,000 and the Furnishings Cost $205,000

The dedication of the Grand Lodge Hall of the Masonic Homes at Elizabethtown will take place on Thursday, June 5. Elizabethtown is destined to become historic in having located in its midst the greatest charity of the kind in any country. Prominent members of the fraternity became imbued with the idea of establishing such a home years ago, scarcely realizing that their ideas would become a reality so soon. It was largely due to the intense activity of Past Grand Master George B. Orlady, Superior Court justice of Huntingdon, Pa., in interesting the fraternity at large in establishing such an institution. The committee appointed by the Grand Lodge on December 2, 1908, and known as the Committee on Masonic Homes, was George B. Orlady, Geo. W. Guthrie, J. Henry Williams, Edgar A. Tennis, Spencer G. Gilbert, James G. Krause, David W. Sawdey, William Gorgas, Louis A. Watres and John D. Groff. This committee after viewing about twenty or more sites, selected Elizabethtown as the most desirable for various reasons too numerous to describe.

The main building or Grand Lodge Hall is located in the center of the former Jacob G. Olweiler farm, and here the dedicatory exercises will take place. Invitations have been sent out by the committee to all the subordinate lodges in the State and from the replies received it is estimated between 2,000 and 3,000 members and friends will be present. The members will assemble at 12 o'clock noon on the terrace facing the Grand Lodge Hall. While the officers are assembling instrumental music will be rendered. The officers of the Grand Lodge will enter the terrace in the following order: Grand marshal, grand tyler and grand pursuivant, grand stewards, grand deacons, grand chaplains, district deputy grand masters, Committee on Masonic Homes, past grand masters, grand treasurer and grand secretary, grand wardens, deputy grand master, grand master, grand sword bearer. Upon the entrance of the grand master the officers will assume their respective places. The building will be dedicated according to the rites and ceremonies of the order.

The following officers will have charge of the ceremonies: William L. Gorgas, Right Worshipfu Grand Master; J. Henry Williams, Right Worshipful Deputy Grand Master; Louis A. Watres, Right Worshipful Senior Grand Warden; James B. Krause, Right Worshipful Junior Grand Warden; W. B. Hackenburg, Right Worshipful Grand Treasurer; John A. Perry, Right Worshipful Grand Secretary, Chaplain and a number of others. The exercises will be interspersed with music. The procession of officers of the Grand Lodge will be formed by the grand marshal in the northeast angle of the terrace facing the east and will move three times around the terrace. When the grand master arrives at the east end the third time the procession will halt, and the grand stewards will place near the center of the terrace the Lodge of floor cloth with the vessels of corn wine and oil upon it and cover it. When the grand master takes his place and directs the officers, then the dedication will be completed.

An oration will be delivered by Mr. Maitland Alexander.

Ground was first broken Monday, June 12, 1911, for this building. The contracting firm of John R. Wiggins & Co., of Philadelphia, were the builders. Mr. E. E. Shelly of Elizabethtown, was the efficient general superintendent. The approximate cost of the building is $425,000. It is the finest building of its kind in the State, Elizabethan in architectural design. It is constructed of Holmesburg granite, trimmed with Indiana limestone and bluestone steps leading to the entrances. It is covered with Vermont slate of diminishing sizes. Its dimensions are 425 feet long by 56 feet wide, with a dining room extension 148 by 42 feet, and ceiling 58 feet high. The dining room contains 480 lights and will accomodate eight hundred guests. It has a culinary extension of 101 by 62 feet. The building is two and one-half stories high. At the west end of the building is a large fireproof library, which will contain thousands of books. The entire building is in hardwood finish oak and chestnut. It contains 310 rooms and will accomodate 125 guests and attendants.

The basement contains a large bowling alley, 204x25 feet. Connecting on the west is a commodious smoking and reading room. To the east is a fine barber shop and a four-ton ice plant, ice cream freezers, five large refrigerators, butcher room and storage room. The first floor has an outdoor sun parlor, intersecting a sun porch 204 by 25 feet. A large library room is on the northwest end and it is finely furnished. The ladies' reading room is 20 by 25 feet. All the columns leading to the basement are carved with ornaments of lions, frogs, owls and other figures. The building also has a committee room 25 by 56 feet; reception room 25 by 25 feet and a dining room with a 62 foot music gallery. The frames in this room are imported from England. The culinary department on the east end is equipped with steam tables, potato peelers, dish washers, freight and dumb elevators.

The second floor contains thirty-one sleeping rooms, 14 by 18 feet. All rooms are communicating with bath. Toilet and closet in each room. There are also four linen rooms.

The third floor has sixty-one sleeping rooms, sixteen bath rooms, thirty-two washstands and ladies' and gentlemen's sitting rooms, 40 by 20 feet. The building is sanitary throughout.

The entire building is finely furnished and all the rooms are made homelike. Beautiful rugs adorn the floors. The building contains 100,000 feet of wire with 1,500 lights, thirteen 52-horsepower motors, and direct and indirect steam heat, supplied by a power house 3,000 feet distant. The committe has spared neither time nor money to make this the most beautiful spot in the country. Thousands of trees and shrubbery of all kinds have been planted and are just giving a glimpse of the future.

A number of bands will be present to enliven the occasion. Lunch will be furnished on the grounds. Mr Geo. B. Wilson of Lancaster is the general overseer and manager of this great movement.
