New Approach To Good Friday

A new approach to the observance of Good Friday will be presented at St. Luke's Episcopal Church, in Mount Joy, on Good Friday, March 31, beginning at 12 noon and continuing through 3 p.m.

Johann Sebastian Bach's "The Passion According to St. Matthew", considered by many music critics to be the greatest choral work ever written, will be presented in stereophonic sound. Recorded in Europe and sung in German by the Boys Choir of the St. Hedwig's Cathedral, Berlin, and the Chorus and Orchestra of the Berlin Radio, the "Passion" describes musically the entire sequence of events, as recorded in the Gospel of St. Matthew.

English translations will be issued at the church door and each choral offering, recitative and aria will be numbered so that listeners may become oriented at any time they happen to arrive during the 3-hour service

As a further aid to religious meditation, colored slides will be projected onto a screen at appropriate intervals; these slides will depict Good Friday scenes In order that this audio-visual meditation will not be disturbed, there will be no spoken word during the entire service.

St. Luke's Church invites one and all to share with them this beautiful and inspiring presentation of our Lord's Passion.
