

WONDERFUL POPULARITY OF THE RENOWNED MEDICINE.

The Greatest Curative Success of the Age - A Voice from the People. No medicine introduced to the public has ever met with the success accorded to Hop Bitters. It stands at the head of the best known curative articles in the world.

WHAT IT DID FOR AN OLD LADY.

COBURN STATION, N. Y., December 28, 1878. Gents - A number of people had been using your Bitters here, and with marked effect. In fact, one lady of over seventy years, had been sick for years, and for the past ten years I have known her she has not been able to get around half the time.

An Enthusiastic Indorsement.

GORHAM, N. H., July 14, 1879. Gents - Whoever you are, I don't know; but I thank the Lord and feel grateful to you to know that in this world of adulterated medicines there is one compound that proves and does all it advertises to do, and more. Four years ago I had a sore throat, which unimproved me to such an extent that the least excitement would make me shake like the ague.

A Husband's Testimony.

My wife was troubled for years with blotches, moth patches and pimples on her face, which nearly annoyed the life out of her. She spent many dollars on the thousand pills of Dr. Williams, with nothing but injurious effects. A lady friend, of Syracuse, N. Y., who had had similar experience and had been cured with Hop Bitters, induced her to try it.

A High Lady's Experience.

I traveled all over Europe and other foreign countries in a boat of thousands of dollars in search of health and found it not. I returned discouraged and disheartened, and was restored to real youthful health and spirits with less than two bottles of Hop Bitters. I hope others may profit by my experience and stay at home.

Punctuality.

Some one defines punctuality to be "fitting words before the time." At any rate, it is not one minute after the time. I must tell you an anecdote of the first Marquis of Abercorn. He invited a number of friends to dinner. The hour for which he had invited them was punctual, it only one of the others was.

The Hudson in Winter.

Some bright, breezy day you casually glance through the river and behold a sail - a sail like that of a pleasure yacht of summer. Is the boat in the harbor there? Is your first half-dressed inquiry there? Is the boat in the harbor there?

Human Hair from China.

When some one first made them fashionable by discovering that in the curious patterns of India rugs there were beautiful combinations of color, their importation to this country and England at once exhausted the native supply, and enterprising foreigners stepped in to stimulate their manufacture, especially for the foreign trade.

Comparatively few people possess uniformly cheerful dispositions.

But, whatever his disposition, a man is bound by the laws of his own being, and by those of his social relations, to cultivate the virtue of cheerfulness assiduously and constantly. He has no more right to injure his neighbor's happiness than to interfere with his pecuniary property, and he cannot indulge in a butler and waiter who are spending gloomy forebodings or complaints, or even carrying a sad, sour frown on his face, without sensibly diminishing his enjoyment or comfort of others, and thus infringing on their rights.

He Took the Hint.

Young Mr. Latham was sitting on the porch the other night watching a seventeen-year-old girl trying to keep awake long enough to see the morning star rise. They talked astronomy. "I wish I was a star," he said, smiling at his own poetic fancy.

A Nice Porterhouse Steak.

Mr. Setump came downstairs to a ten o'clock breakfast with a vacant countenance and a backward glance in his hair that made his two eyes ache. He sat down at the table and picking up his knife and fork, gazed in uneasy wonder at something in the platter before him. It had evidently been fried in butter and was not to be expected. Setump harpooned it with his fork and lifted it up bodily, gazing at it with ever increasing wonder. "What under the sun," he exclaimed, at last, "is this thing?" "Well," replied the wife, with a sidelong glance, "it looks like a hare you new soft felt hat, but that is what I thought it was, but you pulled it out of your pocket when you came home this morning and said it was a nice porterhouse steak and you steaked and broiled it for breakfast. You needn't give me any of it; I'm not hungry." And Mr. Setump, who was just wild to know what else he said when he came home, and what time it was, for the life of him didn't dare to ask. - Burlington Hawk-eye.

FOR THE FAIR SEX.

Fashion Notes.

Fancy furs are to be much used this winter. Purple will, it is said, be fashionable this winter. Changeable goods will still be worn this winter. Mottled cloth in dark colors will be worn this winter.

The Granary of the World.

Minnesota, although now claiming to be the greatest wheat-producing State in the country, surpassing with the 40,000,000 bushels of this year's crop the highest mark of California, heretofore the great wheat-producing State, is prepared to send her surplus farther westward and northward, into Dakota, a well-informed writer on this subject, in a letter from St. Paul, declares that the comparatively small farms of Minnesota, which are themselves monuments in size, according to the standards of past generations of agriculturists, cannot begin to hold their own in rivalry with the great wheat tracts planted and sowed by wholesale in the James River Valley and about the headwaters of the Red River of the North.

Tests of Ferreance.

The exact point where "forbearance ceases to be a virtue," is sometimes hard to determine. As a rule, we are required to accept of penitence and remorse of amendment from offending the law of God toward man, and a glad that "charity to cover a multitude of faults." But then the cloak of charity, large and elastic as it is, may be rent asunder in straining too far.

Work and Feed.

An instance of an inventive genius in an illiterate farmer's boy is too good to be forgotten. The boy, a farmer's youth, to assist him in the work of his farm as an indoor servant. The first piece of work he was set to do was to thresh out some corn.

Words of Wisdom.

It is easier for a man to descend to earth than to mount to heaven. However laborious the life of the good, it is less so than that of the bad. True virtue is like precious odors - sweeter the more incensed and crushed.

I am now a healthy man, and I feel that I have done more for myself than I could have done for myself in any other way. Yours, most respectfully, Mrs. DAVID CLARK.

J. BENTLEY, M. D., says:

The Suro Tunnel.

It must be fun to be a miner in the Suro tunnel, in Colorado. The rats and bats have it all their own way. The miner who brings his lunch basket is not at all sure that he will eat its contents.

A Big California Farm.

A former citizen of Missouri, Doctor Hugh J. Glenn, has now in the face of 65,000 acres in Colusa county, California, in the Sacramento valley, 45,000 of which are in wheat.

Scripture Practically Applied.

Many years ago when the mowing on the farm was done with a scythe, Farmer A. with his hired man were mowing together in the field. The hired man was ahead when he discovered that he was in close proximity to a large rat.

GEN HANCOCK.

GEN HANCOCK. The man cannot see which way the mule is going to kick, and the mule, who cannot see either out goes it blind, kicks at random, and is apt to hit the man where the rat hit him.

GEN GARFIELD.

GEN GARFIELD. The farmer ran when it was the hired man's to quote scripture, which he did by the following: "The wise man forsooth the evil and turneth aside, but the fool passeth on and is punished."
