That old skunk was on file all the same. Thursday morning he dangled at the end of a pole on the court yard fence and performed the air to the entire satisfaction of the passers-by. The battle is to the strong.

Dr. Philip F. Fulton, father of Mrs. Jerry Thompson of this place, died at his residence at Loch Sheldrake, N. Y., on Tuesday, October 12, 1880, aged seventy-two. Deceased was a highly esteemed and valued citizen of that place, where for a number of years he has carried on an extensive business, dealing in drugs and compounding medicines. He was a kind-hearted benevolent and christian man and will be greatly missed by his many friends.

The next morning after election an effigy with broken neck hung between Hall's brick building and Dr. Earley's office. At first sight it was difficult to tell whose neck had been broken, but on closer inspection it was discovered that the lay, or rather hanging figure was labeled "Earley." That's all right, but some fine day when John, the Baptist, goes hunting around in the wilderness for wild honey the result may prove that the effigy was wrongly labeled after all.

Pennsylvania's Vote. The latest returns from Pennsylvania, covering all sections of the State, show a Republican majority for Presidential Electors of 53,286, a Republican majority on joint ballot in the Legislature of 64, and the election of eighteen Republicans, seven Democrats and two Greenbackers to Congress.

California. The very latest advices from California indicates that the State has gone Democratic by a small majority, although completed returns may place the State in the Republican column. If Democratic the result may be attributed to the Morey letter. The Republicans have hopes of saving one elector as Judge Terry, Democrat, was extensively scratched.

Various estimates are made this morning of the probable complexion of the next House of Representatives, Hon. Edward McPherson, Secretary of the National Republican Congressional Committee, claiming a Republican majority of twenty-three. Our returns from our special correspondents and the Associated Press do not bear out these figures, which however, may be verified by later returns. According to present information, and making no claims that are not well founded, the Republicans will have a majority of at least seven in the next House. This is not much, but, as Mercutio said of his wound, which, in this case is in the side of the Democratic party, it will do, and it is a great deal more than was expected when the campaign opened, and when the solid South, with its one hundred members, confronted the rest of the country.—Phila. Press, Nov. 4.

Horse Diseases.

The new prevailing disease afflicting horses called Cold, Catarrhal Cough or Epizootic is a Catarrhal Cold, affecting the air passages to the lungs, and sometimes affecting the frontal and nasal sinuses of the head and if left without treatment frequently terminates in what is called Glanders, the horse lingers along a few weeks or months and dies.

THE REMEDY.

For many years past a brother of mine in Corry, E. Bordwell, has been using a compound which has saved nearly every case that he has treated, especially if taken in the first stages of the disease, and he has treated thousands of cases.

ITS ACTION.

In the first place it cuts the membrane in the air passages. Secondly it is loosening. Thirdly it acts as an absorbent. Fourthly it gives an immediate appetite.

In looking up the properties of this compound I find it is good. I have tried it. Others have tried it in this place and have not lost any cases.

I am the sole manufacturer and dealer.

The medicine is put up in pound bottles with directions.

Those in my acquaintance living near and responsible can take trial bottles and if it does not cure if given in the first stages, need not pay for it. Price per pound $1.00.

By the half dozen or dozen a liberal discount.

All orders should be marked for Bronchial Elixir.

A Fearful Revenge.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 30.—A despatch received from Wytbeville gives the particulars of a shocking tragedy which occurred in Carroll county. Mr. Frank Allison, a merchant, doing business with a young man named Hanks, as a partner, at Woodlawn, Carroll county, near the Grayson and Wythe county lines, had reason to suspect that Hanks was too familiar with his wife, and on Wednesday last he set a trap by which he fastened the guilt of both parties beyond doubt, and which resulted in the death of his false friend and partner and the mortal wounding of his faithless wife. Mr. Allison told his wife that day that he would be absent until the next. He secreted himself until night, when he returned after bedtime and entered the room of Hanks, in the rear part of the store, which building was in close proximity to his residence. Here he discovered his wife and Hanks together and commenced firing upon them, killing Hanks instantly and mortally wounding his wife with two shots. Five shots were fired. Allison then surrendered himself. The family is one of the highest respectability and the shock to friends and relatives is distressing.

The Queer Adventure of a Mysterious American Singer.

The Boston correspondent of the San Francisco Bulletin tells this story:—

Some years ago a man who had more money than good reputation advertised that he would give $5,000 to any respectable white woman who would walk unveiled from the Adams House entrance down Washington street with him at an hour when all the fashionables were promenading. For weeks that offer remained untaken for his reputation was such that no respectable woman would be seen with him, and the advertisement had said "that none others need apply." Finally, this woman who has just passed us, agreed to his terms and to join him at the appointed place and time. When the hour came Mr. — was on hand. Soon a carriage drove up with the lady. It had been noised abroad that the offer had been taken up, and quite a crowd had gathered to see him pay his $5,000. He helped her alight, offered her his arm, walked a few steps with her, when she removed her veil at his request and revealed to his gaze a face as black as night. "You have deceived me," he said; "this is not fair." "I am not a darkey," she replied, and to prove it she pulled off her gloves and showed a pair of hands as white as yours are this minute. The man turned toward the carriage, paid her the $5,000, and she drove off leaving him to the laughter and hoots of the amused crowd of bystanders. It turned out afterwards that the girl was very poor, and that to cultivate for want of money, and this is the way she overcame that obstacle. She went to Europe and studied five years, and has returned one of our most brilliant singers.

The Census Work.

THE TABLES TO BE READY FOR CONGRESS IN DECEMBER.

The census bureau is making rapid progress in summarizing the results of the work done by over 30,000 enumerators employed last summer. Delaware is the first state to be completed, but several others lack only a few districts, and their totals will soon be announced. Gen. Walker said lately that he hoped to have tables showing the whole population of the country ready to transmit to congress when it meets in December. This will be two months earlier than the results of any previous census were made up, and will render it possible for the present congress to make a reapportionment of representatives for the next ten years. Heretofore it has been so long after the census was taken before returns were completed that the work of reapportionment necessarily went over to the next congress after the one that was in existence when the enumeration was made. If the Republicans should elect a majority of the next house, the Democratic majority of the present house might think they could gain some party advantage by making the reapportionment themselves. There would be really, however little that they could gain, except that they might make the fractions which are generally left over after dividing the population of a state by the basis of representation count in favor of Democratic rather than Republican states. The arranging of districts to correspond with the new appointment is made by the state legislatures.
