

After Election Notes.

—Nevada gives Hancock about 500 majority.

—Robert Rothrock, Republican, was elected treasurer of Cameron county by a majority of nine votes.

—The latest advice from California gives the electors to Garfield by a plurality of from 500 to 1000.

—The New York Herald says that the election of Garfield gives the Republicans a lease of twenty-four years more.

—Sandy township, Clearfield county, of which DuBoise City is the principal part, polled 758 votes. This is a very large vote for one board to take in a day of twelve hours and will be seen to be a vote a minute and thirty-eight to spare.

—The Hon. Artemus Hale of Bridge-water, Mass., who is now 97 years of age, and who voted for Jefferson in 1804, also voted for Garfield on Tuesday. He is the oldest living ex-member of Congress.

—The latest returns indicate the election of Johnson, colored, Rep., to Congress in the First Arkansas District by 1,000 majority over Poindexter Dunn, Democrat. Johnson is a barber residing in Augusta, Arkansas. His candidacy was announced but one week before the election.

—Cincinnati, November 7.—The Secretary of State has returns from 80 counties in Ohio, showing that sixty-six counties give Republican gains over the vote for Governor in 1879 of 18,105; thirteen counties give a Democratic gain of 1,939; net Republican gain, 16,166. Garfield's plurality in eighty counties is 33,285, which will be increased in the remaining eight counties to 35,000.

—Tennessee elected a Republican Governor by a plurality of 22,000, Judge Hawkins being the successful candidate. The Republicans cast 92,000 votes, the largest number the party ever cast, as against 83,000 in 1872, when it made its greatest stand under General Grant. The aggregate Democratic vote will be about 120,000 a falling off of 13,000 in four years. The next thing we know Tennessee will be a Republican State, as it naturally should be.

—Red Bank, N. J., November 7.—The Board of County Canvassers last night finished recounting the ballots of the Third Assembly District, giving a certificate of Election to Charles Allen, Democrat, having found that he had a majority of one vote. Grover H. Lufburrow, the Republican candidate, will contest the seat when the Legislature convenes on the ground that an error of three votes was made, which would give Lufburrow a majority of two.

—With the campaign over, the Pittsburgh Telegraph inquires if there be any hope that the tragic events that followed close in the trail of the marching clubs of this county will be remembered outside of the numerous families afflicted by the loss of loved ones. At least thirty-five deaths may be directly charged to this species of political lunacy in this city alone. A halo of blood surrounds the history of the marching club, and it is time that, with other relics of a more barbarous era, it should be thrust into oblivion.

—"The principles for which Lee and Jackson fought" prevailed in South Carolina on Tuesday. Every county in the State but one gives a Democratic majority and the net Hancock majority in the State will be over 40,000. According to the recent census, which Superintendent Walker says is correct, there are only 391,071 white men, women and children in South Carolina against 604,235 colored people. At the usual ratio of voters to population there should be 78,000 white voters in South Carolina and 120,000 colored, or a colored or Republican majority of 42,000. If the Democratic members of Congress wish to investigate the election in any State South Carolina will furnish the opportunity.

English Talks. AND GIVES SOME OF HIS OWN REASONS FOR HIS DEFEAT. Indianapolis, Ind., November 5.—In an interview with a Daily News reporter this morning the Hon. W. H. English talked freely about the late election and its results. He thinks that Indiana has held up reasonably well considering the defeat in October, and that they have not had a majority since 1872 and then less than 1,200 for Hendricks for governor. Personally he feels no chagrin at the result while feeling the honor of a unanimous nomination. The Vice Presidency, without influence or patronage, had no charms for him, and he feels rather glad that he is left to a life more congenial and profitable. The Democracy with a Democratic Senate, a close House of Representatives and the Presidency decided by a small majority in a single State, will not die. The real cause of the Republican success was the prosperous times and business satisfaction. The country thought it wisest to let well enough alone and lack of party organization in New York, the October election in Indiana and some other things may have had a little weight, but the main thing was the good times and the disposition to let well enough alone. Mr. English bewails the corruption in party politics, so different from forty years ago when he first entered political life.

The New Outcry of Fraud.

(Philadelphia Press.) We are not disposed to treat the new cry of fraud raised by Barnum and Tammany as anything serious or menacing. Not that they are any too good to plunge the country into anarchy if they could, but that they are impotent against the decisive result and against the overwhelming sentiment of the American people. Their threat may be made to break the force of their rushing fall. It may be made to divert attention from their previous stupendous follies. It may be made as a foil against the wrath and curses of their deceived and embittered followers. It may be made as a possible avenue of escape from the heavy losses of their bets. But, whatever the motive, it seems incredible that it can be made with any hope of success or even of serious controversy.

This charge of fraud coming from Barnum and Tammany Hall is as flimsy and ridiculous in its substance as it is impudent in its source. No one knows better than they that there was no fraud and no chance of fraud on the Republican side in New York. No one knows better than they that, if there were any fraud at all, it was sure to be in the heart and hand of Tammany Hall, which has reeked with crimes upon the ballot-box ever since Tweed and Tilden struck hands in the fraudulent election of a Governor in 1868. Imagine a party which is in a minority of over forty thousand cheating the great majority in the count. Fancy a party which not only holds the vast majority, but the machinery of the election, being the helpless victim of a gigantic fraud. Such a claim is simply preposterous. There was no such fraud in New York as Barnum and Tammany pretend; they know it; everybody else knows it; and their assertion is a bold, barefaced, brazen pretense, which no man can make without branding himself a knave, and no man can countenance without sealing his own dishonor.

If this desperate resort shall assume the dignity of a serious question it will put the test of character to every Democratic newspaper and leader. Every Democratic journal is bound in self-respect to repudiate a movement so destitute of just foundation and, if serious at all, so destructive of the peace and security of the country. Every Democratic leader who has any honor or standing to preserve must condemn a proceeding which is as stupid in its political folly as it is criminal in its public character. Mr. Barnum is said to have invited a large number of Democratic representatives to meet in conference on the subject. If they have either sense or honesty, they will meet just long enough to throttle his wild and lawless scheme and rescue the Democratic party from the pestilential grasp of a trierster who has already covered it with disgrace and disaster. It is a matter of more concern to them than to anybody else. They cannot change the will of the people, on the one hand, but they can ruin themselves on the other.

For they may as well understand first as last that, whatever they may conclude or undertake the people will not tolerate any fooling in this matter. The country wants peace. The great business and industrial interests demand security and protection. All right-minded men of all parties ask and expect prompt and unhesitating submission to the plain will of the majority. The people want to have repose for a period from political storms and agitation; they want to lay disturbing questions at rest; they want to have a chance to go on with their great business advancements, and to harvest the fruits of their present splendid prosperity without distraction or uncertainty; they want to make the majority so overwhelming that there could be no contest over it, and that the day of election would be the dawn of absolute assurance. If now any conspirators attempt to befog the bright prospect, they will provoke a storm of wrath which will crush them. If they sow the wind they will reap the whirlwind. The people are in no temper to see the sacred interests of a great nation trifled with and tossed about as a foot-ball of desperate and unscrupulous triersters.

We repeat that we do not feel compelled to treat this as a serious question. We cannot believe that, however crazy Barnum may be, the body of the Democratic leaders are utterly lost to all public decency and all political wisdom as to sanction any such assault upon the public peace. We cannot believe that Speaker Randall and Senator Bayard and Abram S. Hewitt and other Democrats of their rank are ready to forfeit all fair standing before the American people, as they would by such an act. In no event can the scheme succeed. The judgment of the country will stand. And if any plotters undertake to thwart it they will dig their own graves.

Can be Laid Away. The Altoona Tribune makes these pertinent remarks: The campaign conscience can be laid away not to see the light again in four years. Its proper place is the garbage heap, where it should have gone months ago. How so utterly rotten a bit of property can hold its own so steadily, and how men who have better consciences can bring themselves to use so abominable a thing, are among the mysteries of life. Were such a conscience used in society its owner would quickly become an outcast; in business it would drive him at lightning speed to the penitentiary. Pack it away in sulphur; a little of the same purifier might do the owner a great deal of good.

Chairman Cessna's Congratulatory Address.

Chairman Cessna, of the Pennsylvania Republican State Committee, issued the following address:

HEADQUARTERS REPUBLICAN STATE COMMITTEE, Philadelphia, November 5, 1880.

To the Republicans of Pennsylvania: It affords me much pleasure to be able to congratulate you on the great victory you achieved on last Tuesday. No political struggle in this country for many years has been fraught with more serious and vital consequences to the whole people of our State and of the Nation than the one just ended. Indeed the interests of the whole human family and the very existence and perpetuity of civil liberty were at stake in the contest.

You have again proved, what should have been understood before this time, that Pennsylvanians are in favor of the protective policy of the Government, and that it is much more significant, as well as gratifying to our people, is the fact that it has been demonstrated not only that Pennsylvania, but that the nation is in favor of a protective policy.

This question became one of the chief issues of the canvass in the whole country. You have given our standard-bearer a majority, in round numbers, of forty thousand, and have secured a very large majority on joint ballot in the Legislature, thus insuring the election of a Republican United States Senator. You have made a clear gain of two members in the Congressional delegation from our State, and have done much to encourage and aid your fellow Republicans in the other States of the Union in achieving the great triumph over which all rejoice to-day. The triumph in the whole Union has been accomplished by great fidelity and devotion to the principles of your party against men and means unscrupulous and desperate beyond all conception in any past conflict. Detraction, deception, fraud, outrages and other crimes of the gravest character have characterized the efforts of your adversaries.

Twenty years ago a war was commenced, and continued for four long years, at immense sacrifice of lives and treasure to prevent the triumph of the principles you advocated and destroy the Union you loved. Great wrongs were perpetrated, innumerable crimes committed in favor of the cause then supported by your adversaries. This was all done in order that they might control the Government of the Confederate States. The stake this time was much greater. Your enemies of 1860 were now contending for the control and Government of the entire Union, and their desperation, violence and outrages were greater in proportion to the value of the prize. As in 1860, so in 1880, they have been overthrown at every point, and the principles and policy which you advocate and cherish have again triumphed. Not only your own interests, but those of the whole country and those of your adversaries alike will be benefited and promoted by the result. The Union has proclaimed in language not to be mistaken its decided and unalterable aversion to any change in the financial policy of the Government. Business, already revived, will continue to prosper, and that sense of security and safety which is inspired by your success will be the harbinger of an era of prosperity and success to all of our people not surpassed, if equalled, by any experienced within the last half century. While all these things are matters of congratulation, joy and rejoicing to our whole people, there are questions of grave and serious consideration as to the future of a country preserved by so much sacrifice and effort on your part. A solid South, generously forgiven for its treason and crimes, defiantly proclaims that it will use your discomfiture the additional representation conceded to it by your magnanimity.

The race emancipated, and to which this additional representation was given, is held in political bondage quite as galling as were the fetters broken by the bayonet and the sword. In the contest just closed they have been wholly unable to exercise the right of suffrage in favor of the party and the principles of their choice, or if, in isolated cases, they were allowed to vote their ballots have not been counted, and their very existence and numbers were used to swell Democratic majorities. It will become a grave question in the very near future to be heroically determined by the American people whether or not this loyal Union men of the South, both white and black, shall receive such protection as will enable them to enjoy, to their fullest extent, all the rights, liberties and privileges enjoyed by the men who overawe them by threats and violence; or substitute for their ballots, when cast, others representing men and principles they so heartily despise. When this issue shall be submitted to you, your verdict will be rendered in favor of the right as decidedly and emphatically as it was on Tuesday last.

JOHN CESSNA, Chairman Rep. State Central Com. Almost Young Again. My mother was afflicted a long time with Neuralgia and a dull, heavy inactive condition of the whole system; headache, nervous prostration, and was almost helpless. No physicians or medicines did her any good. Three months ago she began to use Hop Bitters, with such good effect that she seems and feels young again, although over 70 years old. We think there is no other medicine fit to use in the family.—A lady in Providence, R. I., Journal.

NEWS ITEMS.

—Snow is reported on Saturday from various points, Chicago, St. Louis, and thereabouts, which melted as fast as it fell.

—Eldridge J. Dawson, Assistant Postmaster of Leaville, and E. A. Clark, Stamp Clerk, have been arrested for the embezzlement of $6,000.

—The Minister of the United States at St. Petersburg, in a recent despatch to the Department of State, draws a gloomy picture of the present economic and social condition of Russia.

—Louisville, Ky., November 7.—Returns from about half the State indicate that Hancock's majority will be 63,000. It is generally conceded that White, Republican, defeats Turner, Democrat, in the Ninth Congressional District.

—Mayor Killoch has been arrested in San Francisco on an indictment by the Grand Jury charging him with infraction of the law in connection with the employment of labor on the new City Hall by days' work instead of by contract.

—London, November 6.—The six days' walking contest for the Astley Belt, which began on Monday morning last at Agricultural Hall, was concluded at 10:40 o'clock to-night with the following scores: Rowell, 569; Miles Littlewood, 470; Dobler, 470. Rowell beat Frank Hart's record of 575 miles at 10:34 o'clock amid great excitement and cheering. About 8,000 persons were present at the finish. The receipts for the week are estimated at £1,200.

—Cleveland, November 7.—A special to the Herald from Erie, Pa., says the heaviest gale in twenty years swept over that place to-day. The schooner Jara, with 10,000 bushels of wheat, from Toledo for Buffalo, put into the harbor to escape the storm. She dropped two anchors, but nevertheless drifted to Swinton's pier, at the eastern part of the bay, and is in great danger. The sea is sweeping her from stem to stern. The crew are safe. The schooner Porter, from Milwaukee, is lying near the buoy at Erie flying signals of distress.

—Washington, November 8.—A letter was received at the Post Office Department to-day from the British Superintendent of Foreign Mails at London, enclosing two postal cards mailed at Philadelphia for transmission from point to point around the world and final delivery to the sender, with the remark that the number of such experiments has increased so largely that it is now considered time to stop the practice, there being no provision in the postal union treaty for the transmission of correspondence from place to place, except in cases of genuine redirection. Our Superintendent of Foreign Mails is therefore requested by the English authorities to prevent such cards, etc., from being forwarded in future, and orders will be issued accordingly.

Every Family, without Exception, In City, Village, and Country, will find it highly useful to constantly read the American Agriculturist. It abounds in plain, practical, reliable information, most valuable for indoor as well as outdoor work and comfort, and its 800 to 1,000 Original Engravings in every volume are both pleasing and instructive. In this respect it is pre eminent and stands alone, and it should have a place in every household, no matter how many other journals are taken. Its illustrated Department for Youth and Children contains much information as well as amusement. Its Humberg exposures are invaluable to all classes. The cost is very low, only $1.50 from now to the end of 1881, or four copies for $5. Single numbers, 15 cents. One specimen, 6 cents. Take our advice and subscribe now for volume 40 (1881). One of the noteworthy features of the Republican victory in Pennsylvania is the annihilation of the Democratic majority in Montgomery county. Montgomery is the birthplace of General Hancock, and was alleged during the recent canvass to be his home. In 1879 Barr, Democrat, for State Treasurer, had 53 plurality in the county; in 1878 Dill had 158 plurality; in 1877 Noyes, Democrat, had 391 plurality, and in 1876 Tilden had 269 majority. Although the majority has been steadily decreasing since 1869, when it gave Packer 1,109 more votes than Geary, the county has usually been Democratic, and in 1878 the Republicans believed that they accomplished wonders when they elected two of the Assemblymen. This year the Democrats began the canvass by claiming at least 1,500 majority for Hancock. Toward the close of the canvass, and when the manufacturers and workmen began to be thoroughly aroused, they reduced their figures, but still insisted that Hancock's home would give him a round majority, and on Tuesday night they counted on "a small majority." Yesterday witnessed the official count, and the result is ten majority for Garfield, the election of the five Republican candidates for Assembly, and the defeat of the entire Democratic ticket with the exception of the Treasurer, who managed to escape with five majority. Norrisville, and Montgomery county, Pennsylvania, have done as well for General Garfield as did Mentor and Lake county, Ohio.

Manhood: How Lost, How Restored!

Just published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical cure (without medicine) of Spermatorrhoea or Seminal Weakness, Irregularity, Seminal Losses, Impotency, also, consumption, Epilepsy and Fits, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance, &c.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates from a thirty years' successful practice that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain, effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically.

This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land. Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, post-paid, on receipt of six cents or two postage stamps. Address the Publishers, The Culverwell Medical Co., 41 Ann St., New York, N. Y., Post Office Box, 4566.
