HENRY A. PARSONS, JR.

Dr. C. R. Earley was fifty-eight years of age on Sunday May 1, 1881. A large dinner party was held at the Doctor's residence on that occasion, which was participated in by many of the members of Grace Church and the Grace Church Sunday School. May the genial hearted Doctor yet celebrate many anniversaries of his advent into this wicked world.

Last Monday a three-year-old child of Frank Marshal, who lives across the bridge at Eagle Valley, had a narrow escape from injury. A young man named Akers fired at a duck from a Winchester rifle, the ball glanced on the water, struck a stone, from which the child had just arisen, and landed in the open doorway of Mr. Marshal's house a few feet from the stone. The man who fired the gun was forty rods from where the ball struck.

$606.51

This sum is just the amount Elk county is obliged to pay through the unwarranted blundering of District Attorney Wurzell. In the Hau murder case at Centreville the District Attorney took on himself the responsibility, under cover of a certain act of Assembly which places great power in irresponsible hands, to engage a private detective to ferret out the perpetrators of the murder at the Hau brewery last July. The private detective presents his bill for the amount which heads this article. The court under the act of Assembly approves the bills for there are three of them, they are certified to the county commissioners who have no discretion in the matter and issue order to the amount of the bills. From a first glance at the case it seems that this money is lost to the county through the stupidity or officiousness of that worthy official the District Attorney. Gentle reader, time presses and space is limited but in our next issue we will give as full an account of the story of $306.51 as is possible under the circumstances.

M'CAULEY—In Ridgway Borough, Wednesday, May 4th, 1881, Roy, infant son of James M'Cauley, aged about 10 months.

A raftman named Christ Frankhouser, whose home is near Curwensville, and a river policeman, named Decker, got into an altercation about a raft at Look Haven on Saturday last, which resulted in Frankhouser striking the policeman on the head with a heavy club causing serious injuries. Frankhouser was arrested and is in jail at Look Haven. It appears that Frankhouser had a raft tied, and the policeman wanted him to move it farther down. This Frankhouser refused to do. The policeman picked up an ax and was about cutting the rope, when the former picked up a piece of a lash-pole and struck Decker on the head and the result may prove fatal.—Clearfield Republican.

If Clarendon has reached the climax of its greatness, it is owing in part to the high price of oil territory in the vicinity, the low price of oil and the rates charged for town lots. High prices for property and a low price for oil is having its effect. A radical change in this respect may start Clarendon to booming again, or rather carry the boom along. Operations were more active during the winter months than since spring opened. But these things will correct themselves. Property owners sometimes have to learn some things, and those in and about Clarendon are learning.—Warren Ledger.

Torpedo-shooters will hardly appreciate the elaborate care taken by the Russian conspirators to ensure the explosion of the bomb that killed the czar. It was a tin cylinder, six inches long and three in diameter, containing about a quart of nitro-glycerine. Down the centre was a copper tube, filled with Bertholet's salt and anti-mony, and through this ran a glass tube, hermetically sealed, containing sulphuric acid. A leaden weight was so placed as to break the glass tube when the bomb struck. The flame occasioned by the contact of the sulphuric acid with Bertholet's salt passed by a small channel to a cartridge with a fulminating composition at the head and gun cotton below. The fulminate fired the gun cotton and the explosion of the gun cotton ignited the nitro-glycerine with which the cylinder was charged. All this rignarole would seem senseless to a moonlighter, who would be apt to insist that if there was a quart of nitro-glycerine in the bomb that would be enough to throw, and it would need no fulminate to explode it. The missile would weigh about four pounds.—Bradford Sunday News.

Convention of School Directors.

Tuesday, May 3, 1881, the school directors of Elk county met in convention at the Court House, pursuant to previous notice by advertisement in the several county papers, to elect a person to fill the office of County Superintendent for the ensuing three years, from the first Monday in June, 1881.

Supt. Dixon called the meeting to order a few minutes past one o'clock. He stated in a few words the object for which the meeting was called, viz: to elect a County Superintendent for three years, and fix his salary. Hon. Charles Lahr, of St. Marys, was elected President of the convention.

Henry A. Parsons, Jr., of Ridgway Borough, was elected Secretary. A roll call of the Directors of the county was made with the following SCHOOL DIRECTORS PRESENT:

Benzinger District—Geo. J. Frite, John Kukler, Joseph Schauer. Fog District—John Collins, J. J. Taylor, Smith Parker, William Mireldeth.

Highland District—Emmet Hoven-camp, Levi Ellithorp, Theodore Van-kirk, William Shrey, Samuel Gardner, Robert Womlerly.

Horton District—Fred Raywinkle, Joseph Chamberlain, Wm. Eagleton. Jay District—A. E. Goff, James Campbell, E. H. Dixon, Geo. L. Fawcett.

Jones District—A. T. Aldrich, John Pister, H. Horner, Jacob C. Mefter, Robert Manett.

Millstone District—Adam Zimmerman, James Aharrak. Ridgway township District—G. T. Wheeler.

Ridgway Borough District—Fred Schoening, Dr. J. S. Bordwell, Henry A. Parsons, Jr., W. S. Handlen, H. M. Powers, E. E. Willard.

Spring Creek District—Perry R. Smith, Edward Rogers. St. Marys Borough District—Hon. Charles Lahr, Geo. Kreffler, Leonard Wittman, Anthony Auman, John B. Forster.

Nominations for County Superintendent being in order Mr. Kreffler nominated Geo. R. Dixon of Ridgway. On motion nominations were closed. A ballot was then taken resulting in 35 votes for Mr. Dixon; two votes, Messrs. Wheeler and Rogers, were cast for Col. W. W. Ames, of St. Marys, Mr. Willard voted for Emmet Hoven-camp, of Highland.

Mr. Dixon having received the highest number of votes was declared elected county Superintendent for the ensuing three years.

The next business being the fixing of the salary, Mr. Gardner moved that it be $1,000 per annum.

Mr. Willard read a list of counties giving number of schools in each and the salary paid the Superintendent.

Mr. Parsons asked the gentleman to answer a question. Mr. Willard refused to be interrogated whereupon Mr. Parsons made a few remarks to the effect that extent of territory as well as number of schools should be taken into consideration in determining the salary of Superintendent.

Mr. Pister said he was in favor of paying $1,000. A vote on Mr. Gardner's motion resulted, 32 for and Messrs. Taylor, Parker, Mireldeth, Thurston, Wheeler, Powers, Willard, Smith, and Rogers, 9 against.

Sitting Bull.

HIS SPEECH BEFORE THE SIOUX COMMISSIONERS (City Herald.)

The following speech of Sitting Bull has been translated and reported by our Indian editor, who is also wholesale and retail dealer in deceased languages, and general agent for home-made Sioux rhetoric and smok-tanned Indian eloquence. New laid Indian laments with bead trimmings. Compiler of novel and desirable styles of war-dances. Indian eloquence furnished to debating clubs and publishers of school readers.

"Warriors and war-scarred veterans of the frontier. Once more the war path is overgrown with bunch grass, and the tomahawk slumbers in the wigwam of the red man. Grim-visaged war has given place to the piping times of peace. The cold and cruel winter is upon us. It has been upon us for some time.

The wall of departed spirits is on the night wind, and the wall of the children answers back from the warrior's wigwam.

Children of the forest, we are few. Where once the shrill warwhoop of the chiefdom collected our tribe like the leaves of the forest, I might now yell till the cows come home without bringing out a quorum.

We are falling away before the march of the paleface, and sinking into oblivion like the snowflake on the bosom of the Stinking Water.

Warriors, I am the last of a mighty race. We were a race of Chiefstains, Alas! we will soon be gone. The Bull family will soon pass from the face of the earth. I do not fear very well myself. We are the victims of the paleface, and our lands are taken away.

A few more suns and the civilization and valley tan, and hand-made sour mash, and horse liment of the paleface will have done their deadly work.

Our squaws and paposes are scattered to the four winds of heaven, and we are left desolate.

Where is The Daughter-of-the-Tempest? Where is the Wall-Eyed Maiden-With-the-Peele-Nose? Where is Victoria Regina Die Garcia Siting Bull? Where is Knock-Kneed Cheontoo? Where is Sway-back Sue and Meek-Eyed Government Sooc?

They have sunk beneath the fire-water of the joggled-eyed Caucasian. They have succumbed to the delirium tremens, and when I call them they come not. They do not hear my voice. Their moons are heard upon the still night air, and they cry for revenge. Look at the sad remnant of the family of Sitting Bull, your chief. One sore-eyed squaw is left alone. Her face is furrowed o're with the fainne of many winters, and her nose is only the ruin of its former greatness. Her moccasins are worn out, and the soldier pants she wears are too long for her. She also, is drunk. She is not as drunk as she can get, but she is hopeful and persevering. She has also learned to lie like a white man. She is now an easy, extemporaneous liar. When we gather about the camp fire and enact our untold lies in the gloaming, Lucretia Borgia Skownegan Siting Bull, with the inspiration of six fingers of agency coffee, proceeds to tell the prevarication, and then the house adjourns and nothing can be heard but the muffled tread of the agency corn beef going out to get some fresh air. Lucretia Borgia is also becoming slovenly. It is evening, and yet she has not donned her evening dress. Her back hair is unkempt, and her front is unbing. Pretty soon I will take a tanaluk and bang it for her. She seems despondent and hopeless. As she leans against the trunk of a mighty oak and scratches her back, you can see that her thoughts are far away. Her other suspender is gone, but she don't care a cold smooth clam. She is thinking of her childhood days by the banks of the Minnehaha.

Warriors we stand in the moccasins of a mighty nation. We represent the starving remnant of a once powerful Sioux. Our prairie stands idly on the shore. I don't know what a prairie is, but it stands idly on the shore.

When the spring flowers bloom again, and the grass is green upon the plains, we will once more go upon the war-path. We will avenge the wrongs of our nation. I have not fully glutted my vengeance. I have seven or eight more gluts on hand, and we will shout our war-ey once more, and mutilate some more Anglo Saxons. We will silence the avenging cries of our people. We will spatter the green grass and gray greasewood with the gore of the paleface, and feed the white-livered emigrants to the coyote. We will spread death and desolation everywhere, and fill the air with gun overshoves and remains. Let us yield our live dearly while we mash the paleface beyond recognition and shoot his hired man so full of holes that he will look like a suspension bridge.

Warriors there is our hunting ground. The buffalo, the antelope, the sage hen and the jackass rabbit are ours. Ours to enjoy, ours to perpetuate, ours to transmit. The Great Spirit created these animals for the red man, and not for the bilious tourist, between whose legs the chestnut sunlight penetrates clear up to his collar bone.

Then we will ride down on the regular army, when he is thinking of something else, and we will scare him into convulsions, and our medicine men will attend to the convulsions while we sample the supplies.

Then we will take some cold sliced
