DEATHS.

BARDWELL-On Saturday morning, Oct. 8, 1881, at Bear Lake, Warren county, Stoddard Bardwell, aged 80 years, 11 months, and 1 day.

Deceased was the eldest of a large family all, except one, of whom have preceded him to the silent country. Born in Yates county, N. Y., where his father was one of the first settlers having builded the court house which is at Canandagua to this day Married sixty years ago his wife at 78 years still survives him. This long wedded life is something remarkable and seldom is it that a couple journey together from the spring-time of life to the last verge of such a green old age. Many children blessed their union, our townsman, Dr. J. S. Bardwell being a son of deceased. The last sad rites of respect were paid on Sunday last when the remains were followed to the grave by hundreds of people from miles around.

Washington, October 10 .- The as embling of the special session of the Senate was witnessed by a large num-ber of persons, who as early as 11 o'clock, filled the galleries to their utmost capacity.

The desk formerly occupied by Senator Burnside was tastefully draped with black, while several bouquets ornamented the desks of prominent Senators. The Senators-elect, Aldrich, Lapham and Miller, occupied seats upon the floor on the Republican side.

The Senate was called to order by Mr. Harris, who, after prayer by Chaplain Bullock, who alluded in a feeling manner to the deaths of President Garfield, Senator Burnside and Secretary Burch, said:

"I have been requested by a numboxes, and by single pound at Mor- ber of Senators on both sides of the chamber to call the Senate to order. -Dr. R. R. C. THE IRON MOUNTAIN TRAIN ROBBERS SENT TO PRISON FOR SEVENTY YEARS.

Little Rock, Ark., October 9 .- The case of the men who robbed the pass thony and Pendleton to escort the enger train on the Iron Mountain Railroad on the night of September 2 and were captured September 28, one in Texas and two in the Indian Nation. and brought to Washington, assumed Special Term Court held on Friday, when each of the robbers pleaded adjourned until 12 o'clock on the 11th. guilty to fourteen indictments, makieg the term of punishment seventy years for each man. The punishing party that captured two of the robbers -Stephens and Delaney-consisted of four men named Huddlestone, Belvines, Moore and Dollahode. When arrested the robbers had about $9,000 in their possession. Huddlestone proposed to his comrades to divide the money among themselves. Belvines objected, saying that the money ought to be returned to the Railroad Company, but ne finally agreed to its being equally divided among the four officers in the presence of Stephenlatter two keeping the matter secret each of the four officers took an oath that he would annually pay to the family of the train robbers $100, and leave no means untried to secure their release from the prison after conviction. The party reached Hope, turned over the prisoners to the authorities and came to this city, where offered by the State for the capture. All the captors appeared at the trial when Belvines divulged the whole matter to Superintendent Buchanan of the Iron Mountain Road. Huddiestone, Moore and Dollahode were examined separately. Each made affidavit that he knew nothing of the whereabouts of any of the money. Subsequently Moore approached Mr.

Republican Popular Sovereignty.

[Philadelphia Press.] The concluding words of Senator Warner Miller's temperate and manly speech before the Republicans of New York go to the root of a question which of late years has culisted the concern of Republicans and, more than any other consideration, divided the party into 'wings" in States in which it should alway be united. It touches the quickest nerve of the Republican organization, for it involves the popuble, there is scarcely a man to be lar sovereignty within the party lines. "The Republican party," said Senator Miller, "is a party of freemen, every one of whom is entitled to be considered and to be trusted in the party and its councils. Organization is necessary, machinery is necessary, for the carrying out of any political work, but the machinery and the organization must be broad enough and wide enough to take in every Republican and to give him a fair share of the government." This is the democratic-republican idea; it is the idea of the Republican party for government of the country and of itself. It requires no painful or dishonorable sacrifice of any party member. It does not deny to superior intelligence, character, industry, perseverqualities of right, draw with them. It does not attempt to smooth out those natural and fairly-acquired inequalities which make one man more to be respected and admired and trusted than another. It merely adopts the American idea of the freedom and equality of all men, but it appropriates and indorses that high men are to be held equal before the law, whether it be the law of the country or the law of the party.

Insisting upon its claim, to be considered a party of liberty-a claim which it has maintained in the field. in the balls of legislation, in whatso ever arena of contention-the Republican party can never deny to the numblest of its members the fullest declines to say anything yet except reedom of opinion and speech and that the Republicans have carried action without loss to its distinctive orable history and discrediting the illustrious deeds of its honored dead. Mr. Edmunds said that no reason tify him in fixing the estimated ma- It is a sound Republican doctrine be trusted in the party and its councils -a right only to be forfeited by infi delity to the sacred trust reposed in each individual member.

Senator Miller spoke to men who realized that this only true theory for the government of a free party has not always been respected in New York; but his words, are not more fitted to that locality than to this. In Pennsylvania there is serious and deep seated discontent because the equal rights of all Republicans have not at all times been allowed; because the popular will has been overruled by methods the reverse of Republican. The disaffected contingent of Repub ticans which has taken the field to further the election of a Democrat as a rebuke to the usurpation of party authority represent a small part of that great majority which feels as deeply, but with more patience and discretion bides its time. The true theory of Republican government again prevalls in New York. Popular sovereignty will regain the mastery in Pennsylvania. In New York the victorious people, still speaking through the temporary Chairman of the Convention, willing to forget the past, desiring to bunish or procribe nobody, anxious to take a new. harmonious and aggressive state, deciaires that "To-day we throw wide open the doors of the Republican party. We invite into it all classes, and say to them, one and ad, 'This is your party; come into it, take charge of it, and make it as it may seem best to yourse; ves.'" So it will be in Pennsylvania.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Ir is a most agreeable dressing, which is at once harmless and effectual, for preserving the hair. It restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray, light, and red hair, to a rich brown, or deep black, as may be desired. By its use thin hair is thickened, and baldness often though not always cured. It checks falling of the hair immediately, and causes a new growth in all cases where the glands are not decayed; while to brashy, weak, or otherwise diseased hair, it imparts vitality and strength, and renders it pliable.

The Vigor cleanses the scalp, cures and prevents the formation of dandruff; and, by its cooling, stimulating, and soothing properties, it heals most if not all of the humors and diseases peculiar to the scalp, keeping it cool, clean, and soft, under which conditions diseases of the scalp and hair are impossible.

As a Dressing for Ladies' Hair, The Vigor is incomparable. It is colorless, contains neither oil nor dye, and will not soil white cambric. It imparts an agreeable and lasting perfume, and as an article for the toilet it is economical and unsurpassed in its excellence.
