Firing at the Oncen.

A Windsor (England) dispatch says that, as Queen Victoria was entering her carriage about 6 P. M. at the railway station, a man in the station-yard deliberately fired a pistel at her. The queen had been in London since Tuceday, where she gave a drawing-room reception on Wednesslay in honor of the Princess Helena, of Waldeck, who is to marry Prince Leopoid. She arrived at Windsor at about 5 P. M., and walked across the platform of the denot to her carriage which was of the depot to her carriage, which was waiting to take her to the castle. John Brown had already ascended to his seat behind the had aircady ascended to his seat bening the carriage, when a man standing at the entrance to the station-yard among a number of spectators pointed a pistol at the carriage and fired. To judge from the report the pistol was not heavily loaded. The queen, who was probably not aware what had happened, was immediately driven to the castle, but before she passed, the man had been seized by the superintendent of the horough palice, who was standing Thirry four farms, being the whole of Dursey island, in Munster, have been sold for non-payment of rent by the touants. From inter accounts it appears that MacLean fired the shot at the queen after the carriage was in motion. Princess Beatrice and John Brown saw him point the pistol at the carriage. He was exactly thirty paces distant when he fired. Two of he four loaded chambers of the revolver contained only bank cartridees. MacLean had walked from Por smouth to London a week aco. Upon his person was found a purse containing a penny and three farthin's and a pocketbook containing the following entries: "Fourth Path' a novel, by MacLean," and "Regnolds' Newspiper gives as correct an idea of the wide difference that divides the people of England as any newspaper in the word. Congratulations poured in upon Queen Victoria from all parts of the world for her escape from a would-be assassin's bullet. United States Minister Lowell has tendered to the queen the congratulations of the American queen the congratulations of the American nation. Minister Lowell's telegram to General Sir Frederick Ponsonby says: "I bez you to convey to her majesty my heartfelt congratu-lations on her escape." Telegrams expressing similar sentiments were arriving at Windsor throughout the night.

The London Times says: "If no more can be said for MacLean, the would-be assassin of the queen, than could be said for Guiteau, the assassin of President Garfield, or Lefroy, the murderer of Mr. Gold, he can as little expect to escape punishment."

The queen drove through Windsor on the day following the attempt on her life, and was welcomed with indescribable enthusissm.

When the prisoner left the town hall after the examination, twenty men endeavored to over-

At the examination of the prisoner MacLean two letters written by him were read. In one he said that he had been compelled to commit a crime against "bloated aristocracy" because of the insufficiency of relief offered him.
In the other he said that he did not intend to hit the queen. The evidence, however, was to the opposite effect.
He was remanded for a week. The bullet which he fired was found. It is said that MacLean's antecedents show that he is eccentric and addicted to drink. It has been learned that recently he has been an immate of several that recently he has been an immate of several lunatic asylums.

One of the drawbacks of married life is sickness of the little ones. For a Cold or Cough you cannot find a bet er remedy than Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. Nearly all physicians prescribe it, and no family should be without it.

A Woman's Ingenuity. Elizabeth Lloyd King, alias Kate Stoddard, who is well known as the murderess of Charles Goodrich, brother of the Hon. W. W. Goodrich, and is now confined in the Auburn State convict asylum, being denied the use of writing material, recently invented a new way of composing a letter. She was allowed books and magazines, a Bible and a Testament, and although not permitted to have scissors, had a needle and some thread. Taking the flyleaf of a book she stitched upon it single letters, and bits of words that would compose sentences, and very neatly made up out of fragments of print the following letter:

MR. PAVEY COUNSELOR AT LAW: SIR.—Please excuse this print and paper, for I have not been all wed to use my writing materials since last July. I would like to consult you as soon as I can. Will you please call here? Respectfully, ELIZABETH LLOYD KING. despectfully, ELIZABETH LLOYD KING Auburn State Convict Asylum, New York.

The following address was stitched tpon another bit of paper, which was fterward sewed on the reverse side of the card:

The stitches were taken with such care as not to tear the paper or to leave upturned edges that would be ap to cause any part to be torn off in handling. The edges of the paper were neatly hemmed. The letter was delivered to a visitor to mail, but it was taken up by an asylum physician, who has preserved it as a curiosity.

According to a recent calculation the total amount of paper made in the world from all kinds of materials is 1,800,-000,000 pounds, of which half is used for printing purposes, a sixth for writing purposes, and the remainder for miscellaneous purposes. For government purposes 200,000,000 pounds are used; for instruction, 180,000,000 pounds; for commerce, 240,000,000 pounds; for industrial manufacture, 180,000,000 was loud in its praise. Mr. Krem said that pounds; for private correspondence, bis experience with the St. Jacobs Oil justified 100,000,000 pounds; and for printing, 900,000 000 pounds. These 1,800,000,-000 pounds of paper are produced in 3,960 manufactories, employing 90,000 men and 189,000 women.

widely different, yet strangely slike. It is one of those rare occasions where the spiritual and physical meet on common ground, both operating differently, yet each working toward the accomplishment of the same purpose, vis., the constipation. happiness of mankind. Thus moralized the reporter after visiting the great Brooklyn revivals and subsequently interviewing several citizens of New York upon the work of the Great German Remedy. Calling upon Mr. John S. Krem, agent for the New York and Baltimore Transportation line, pier 7, North river, the reporter asked that gentleman if he or any of the employes of the company had been using the St. Jacobs Oil this season. Mr. Krem promptly answered that the Great German Remedy was well known by those doing business at the pier. He had used the Oil, and had recommended it to several of the men, and it had never failed to perform all that was needed. He was attacked with lumbago this winter, and, seeing the many good words spoken by the citizens of New York in favor of the St. Jacobs Oil, he concluded to give it a trial. It acted like a charm, subduing his trouble with almost magic celerity. He had not anticipated such rapid restoration, and confessed that the wonderful action of the great healer surprised bim. He had never found such quick relief in all his previous experience. and, since using the Oil, he has never had occasion to employ the services of any liniment for the reason that it had radically cured him of all rheumatic pain. The gratitying action of the St. Jacobs Oil in his own case gave him unlimited confidence in its great curative power, and he freely advised the men in the employ of the company to use it whenever they had occasion to need a liniment. It had given relief in several instances to the employes. The most pronounced instance of its power was in the case of a commander of one of the company's barges, Captain Samuel Jarrett, who was severely afflicted with rhoumatism. Captain Jarrett had suffered considerably with the rheumatism, and complained that he could not secure relief. He was told to try St. Jacobs Oil. The captain applied the Great German Remedy and found relief. He was then in Baltimore in his vessel. Mr. Krem also stated the janitress of the rooms he occupied was also healed by St. Jacob's Oil. The woman is subject to rheumatism of a severe type. She did not seem to get relief from any of the remedies she was using, so he gave her a bottle of the German Remedy. She used it, and afterward said it had relieved her, and she him in pronouncing it a superb remedy, and he emphatically recommended its employment by his friends and acquaintances. In 1881 the total catch of scals was nearly 500,000, and their estimated worth in European markets was $1,250,000.

The Great Revivals.

[Brooklyn (N. Y.) Eagle.]

While Mr. Bescher and Dr. Talmage are making special efforts this spring to save the souls of the people, the Great German Remedy is supplementing the good work by preserving and restoring health. The two influences are widely different, yet strangely alike. It is one acted, mental despondency is supplanted by a feeling of cheerfulness and the relish for food is augmented. The remedy is safe and unob-jectionable, and may also be relied upon to

What a Three-Cent Stamp Will Do.

It will do more than any other piece of paper of its size and value in the world. It secomplishes what would, a few years ago, have been deemed impossible. That talismanic placard on the corner of an envelope or package commands the use of capacious and leautiful buildings wherein to receive your letters, orders trains of cars to carry them, and starts an array of men to deliver them. It brings information from every section of the country and tidings of pleasure as well. But the crowning consideration is the fact that a three-cent stamp sent to A. Vogeliëra & Co., hallimore, Md., with the applicantic name and address, will procure a copy of Sr. Jacobs Calendar, replete with interesting reading matter, and better than all, containing specific instructions for the treatment and cure of rhaumetism, neuraligia and all painful diseases by the use of Sr.
