A Picture Worth Echolding.

Hanging between two small windows, and catching the light from a larger one opposite, in one of the offices of Adams Express Company, at 59 Broadway, New York-the office occupied by Mr. W. H. Hall, head of the delivery department-is a plainly finished but neatly framed chromo about 21 by 3 feet in size, which is looked upon by hundreds of people daily, on many of whom it has a wonderful and salutary effect. It represents a flight of half a dozen rough tone st ps leading from the swarded bank of a placid lake to a little rustic temple set in the rugged side of the mountain which rises in stupendous proportions in the back-ground all covered with a rank luxuriant growth of foliage in brush and tree. In the open door of this little temple stands a half concealed figure, with an arm and hand extended, holding forth a small, dimly defined package, while scated on the sward at the foot of the steps an aged pilgrim, barefooted, lame and decrepid, bears a staff in one hand, and in the other holds before his dim eyes a small bottle, whose label he eagerly scans. This label bears the words "St. Jacobs Oil the Great German Remedy. Simple as this little chromo appears in its unostentatious position, it has an influence which it would be difficult to estimate. " It is to that picture and the persuasions of Mr. Hall," said Mr. Edward J Douglass, a gentleman connected with Mr. Hall's de-partment, " that I owe my peresent ability to perform my work. Some weeks ago I was violently attacked with sciatic rheuma-tism, and hour by hour I grew worse, and nothing my family or the doctor could do gave me any relief. I began to think in a few days that my case was hopeless and that I was doomed to be an invalid and helpless cripple for life. But at last I thought of that picture which I had so often looked at with but little interest, and then Mr. Hall came to my bedside, and telling me how St Jacobs Oil had cured him of a worse and longer standing case than mine, urged me to use the same remedy. I did so that very night, directing my wife not to spare it but to apply it thoroughly ac-cording to the directions; this she did with a large piece of flannel cloth saturated with the Oil, and then bound the cloth to the worse and longer standing case than mine, the Oil, and then bound the cloth to the affected parts. The next morning I was free from pain, and although a little sore in the hip, was able to dress myself, and the next day resumed my duties in the office as sound as a dollar. Here I am now in full health and strength, having had no touch of rheumatism or other pain since. Whenever I see one of our drivers or any other person who shows any symptoms of lameness or stiffness, I point him to the picture in Mr. Hall's office, and then direct

Editor Detroit Free Press :

Some time ago a reporter of your paper had an interview with me which he said he would like to publish. I consented on condition that you would not mention my name until I gave you permission. I have now accomplished the purpose I had in mind, and wish to say to you (which you can oublish or not as you see fit) that I had debated for a long time whother I that I had decaded for a long time whether I would shake off some of the professional fetters which bound me with others for years, and tell the trath, or not. When I looked back, and thought of the toriores, like those described by Dante in his trip to the informal regions, which I endured from dy-pepsia, and recalled how much I would have given at that time for the relief which I have since obtained I determined relief which I have since obtained, I determined that I would take the step so long meditated and thereby discharge a duty to my follow men. If I could thereby save one poor mortal one night of the terrible suffring I endured { would be fully satisfied, be the other conse-

This pro-duced derangement of the stomach, inflammation of its coats, dyspeps a, constipation, head-sche, depression of spirite, yellow complexion, fat-covered evec, chills and fover; in short, I was miserable to the last degree. I sppealed in vain to my books, to my skill and to my fellow physician. The mystery of my ill-health grew deeper. I traveled everywhere-exhaused all authorized expedients-- but to no exhaused all authorized expedients—but to no purpose! When in this frame of mind, desperately in need of help, but expecting none, one of my unprofessional friends called my attention to some unusual cures wrought by a promi-nent remedy and urged me to iry it. I em-phatically declined. But secretly, and with the firm determination that I would never let anybody know what I had done, I began its use. It was only an experiment, you know, but, for that matter, all medical treatment is experimental. Well, to make a you know, but, for that matter, all medical treatment is experimental. Well, to make a long and surprising story short, I experienced a sort of physical revolution. My skin got a better color. My liver resumed its functions. I no longer had to arouse the bowels with catherics. My headaches disappeared. "Na-ture did it," I reasoned. But, determined to push the investigation to the extreme, while I was in active work. I tried the effect of the remedie on my unitants afficied with kidney. was in active work, i fried the effect of the remedy on my patients affitted with kidney, liver and urinary diseases, watching every de-velopment carefully and studionsly. "Here is a remedy," I said, "that has done for me what the best medical skill of the country could not accomplish"—and as an honorable man I will not suppress the facts. I therefore write you and most unhesitatingly assert that for all diseases of the kidneys, liver, stomach or wine commendations which are an another to be to for all diseases of the kidneys, liver, stomach or urinary organs which are amenable to treat-ment, Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure surpasses any remedy I have ever known or used, and since physicians have so much ill-success in the treatment of diseases of these organs, I am prepared to accept all the conse-quences when I say that they are, if conscien-tions, in duty bound to use this pure vegetable compound it, their practice. compound in their practice, Yours very truly, J. W. SMITH, M. D.

Statements so outspoken as the above and coming from such a reliable source are valu-able beyond question. They conclusively show not only the power of the remedy which has become so well known and popular, but the great importance of attention in time to the first indications of declining health. When professional men of such high standing sink their prejudice and willingly declare their be-lief in that which they know to be valuable. lief in that which they know to be valuable, the public may confidently follow their example.

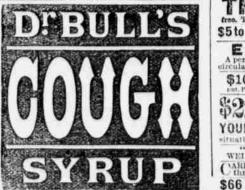

What ails you? Is it a disordered liver giving you a disordered skin or costive bowels, which have resulted in distressing piles, or do your kidneys re-fuse to perform their functions?
